Definite Jap Action Is Demanded To End Bombings

Eden Warns Tokyo First Future Repetition Means Serious Blow to Relations of Two Powers

LONDON, Dec. 15—(CP Cable)—Great Britain today presented a note to Japan demanding definite Japanese action to prevent a recurrence of attacks on British shipping.

Recurrence of these incidents, Foreign Secretary Eden told the House of Commons, "must impair relations between the two countries."

It was the third successive day on which Clement Attlee, leader of the opposition, rose to ask the Foreign Secretary on private notice whether he had any statement to make on the far east.

Mr. Eden, replying, said immediately he learned of the attack on British shipping on the Yangtze, he instructed the British Ambassador at Tokyo, Sir Robert Craigie, to make the strongest representations to the Japanese government.

Yesterday the Japanese government addressed a note to the British ambassador at Tokyo in which the Japanese government "deeply regret" that three British ships were accidently bombed December 12 in the neighborhood of Wuhu and Nanking and offered an advance apology.

Emphasize Seriousness.

"His Majesty's government," Mr. Eden continued, "are sending a communication to the Japanese government acknowledging receipt of this note and defining their attitude towards the whole series of incidents, emphasizing the seriousness of the situation which has thus been created and the requirements which has thus been created and the requirements which, in their judgment, flow from it.

"His Majesty's government further are drawing attention to aspects of the recent grave incidents not covered by the note of the Japanese government. nI particular they wish to be assured that the actions being taken are of such a character as will definitely insure that there will be no repetition of these incidents which, as the Japanese government themselves realize, must impair relations between the two countries."

Mr. Attlee then asked Prime Min-

SINKING GUNBOAT MACHINE-GUNNED BOARDED BY JAPS

SHANGHAI, Dec. 15 (AP)—The United States cruiser Augusta received today an eyewitness story of the Panay bombing which declared that two Japanese launches machine-gunned the vessel after Japanese airplane bombs tore gaping holes which sent it to the bottom.

All of the more than 70 foreigners involved in the incident, except three known dead, were reported safe and either aboard British and United States gunboats or ready to embark for Shanghai. The Augusta listed 16 Americans wounded, but other reported listed two more.

The eyewitness account by Colin MacDonald, correspondent of the Times of London; said Japanese planes bombed the Panay from a great height and that before she went down, with flags flying, crews of the launches machine-gunned her and boarded her for inspection.

(President Roosevelt and State Secretary Hull awaited a direct reply to the United States note demanding reparation for the Panay sinking and a guarantee of no further "unlawful interference" with American rights.

(The British cabinet was debating whether to reinforce its China fleet and at the same time was considering a strong note of protest to Tokyo against Sunday's attacks on British gunboats.)

Premier King Back Silent On Power

OTTAWA, Dec. 15 (C.P.)—Prime Minister Mackenzie King arrived home to-day from a fortnight's vacation at Lake Wales, Florida, and said he was much refreshed and ready for the busy season that faces the Government. He would not discuss political or other official matters.

At Lake Wales, the Prime Minister was guest of George T. Fulford of Brockville, Ont., who maintains a winter home there. Although the temperature was at times lower than usual in Florida, the Prime Minister said he spent all his time in the outdoors and enjoyed considerable sunshine.

Mackenzie King genially turned aside all questions bearing upon his relations with Premier Hepburn of Ontario over Hydro power export.

SHOTS IN TIRES STOP 5 SUSPECTS

TORONTO, Dec. 15—(CP)—Five men were arrested and charged with car theft today after a wild chase at 70 miles an hour through city streets in which police fired several shots at a fleeing car.

The car was halted finally when bullets pierced its rear tires. Arrested in the automobile were Peter Peace, Mike Bernard, Paul Moore, Arthur Cooper and James Greico, all of Toronto.

Police had been asked to look out for a sedan with five occupants by Orillia authorities who said they had surprised five men attempting to break into a drug store. The men escaped under gunfire.

Last Minute News Flashes

WASHINGTON — The offices of Fox Movietone News here said today word had been received from its cameraman, Eric Mayell, said to be a Canadian, saying he escaped unhurt when the U.S.S. Panay was bombed Sunday. He was taken to Shanghai on a Japanese vessel.

SUDBURY—Two Coniston men who pleaded guilty to the armed attempt to rob a Canadian Bank of Commerce branch December 8 were sentenced today to two years less a day in Burwash industrial farm. The two International Nickel Company employees, Cecil Squires, 34, and Harry Williams, 30, attempted a midnight entry into the Coniston bank where the Nickel company's $30,000 payroll was.

NEW YORK—The United States government today filed a lien in United States district court against Max Schmeling, German heavyweight contender, for back income taxes totalling $23,711.56.

Japan Apologizes State officials of Japan, at home and abroad, have offered profound apologies to the governments of United States and Britain for the bombing of warships of both nations on the Yangtse River. Admiral Kiyoshi Hasegawa (LEFT), pictured aboard his flagship during the drive up the Yangtse and commander-in-chief of the naval forces responsible for the attacks, offered personal apologies to British and American authorities in Shanghai, while ambassador to United States Hirosi Saito is shown (RIGHT), as he left the office of Secretary of State Cordell Hull after offering his government's apologies. Captain of the gunboat Panay, the American vessel bombed and sunk, was Lt.-Commander James J. Hughes (TOP CENTRE), who suffered a broken leg in the attack and one of his passengers J. Hepburn Questions Power Export Ban

Prepared, With Quebec Aid, to Challenge Validity; Thinks King to Weaken—No Rate Jump Regardless

TORONTO, Dec. 15—(CP)—Premier Mitchell Hepburn of Ontario announced today that unless the federal government agrees to permit the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission to export surplus power to the United States, the Ontario government, with support of Quebec, will challenge the validity of federal legislation imposing the prohibition on export.

This decision was reached Monday at a conference between himself and Premier Maurice Duplessis of Quebec in Montreal, Mr. Hepburn said. He, however, declared his confidence Prime Minister Mackenzie King would reverse his decision barring export of surplus power.

"I can't see how the federal government can reasonably deny our request to export a surplus product derived from the natural resources of this province," said Mr. Hepburn. "In fact I question the validity of the dominion legislation under the provisions of which they exercise the power of refusing permission. However, I don't think it will be necessary to resort to the courts to gain our end."

110,000 H.P. Deals Made

It was learned contracts for the export of 110,000 horsepower at $14.50 a h.p. to two New York State power companies have been negotiated and wait the lifting of the federal export ban for their consummation. It is estimated the contracts would give Ontario a profit of $220,000 without additional capital cost.

(Financial circles here to-day reported one contract was with the Niagara-Hudson Power Company for 90,000 horse-power and the other with the Aluminum Company of America for 20,000.)

Mr. Hepburn said there would be no increase in rates to Ontario users even if power is not exported. But if it is, it might be possible to reduce Ontario rates because of the profit. The Federal Government

No '38 Baby Delivery Till Doctor Paid

Tooele, Utah, Dec. 15 (AP)

BABIES, 1938 model, will be cash before delivery if Dr. J. H. Peck is their usher.

The physician inserted this notice in a newspaper here:

"In 1937, I delivered 75 babies in Tooele. I got paid for 50 of them in the most prosperous year in Tooele's history. I do not need the experience but I do need the sleep.

"I will do no deliveries during 1938 that are not paid for before delivery takes place."

Milkman Strike Faces London

LONDON, Dec. 15 (CP-Havas).—A milkman's strike threatened London today as negotiations between two large milk companies and deliverymen represented by the Transport and General Workers' Union broke down.

The employees demanded a basic salary of 24 ($20) per week, and recognition of the union by milk companies.

$200,000 Benzol Unit Is Destroyed As Fire Follows

Four Others Reach Exits as Explosion Rocks Area; Brigades Battle Flames Two Hours to Get Control

HAMILTON, Dec. 15—(CP)—An explosion in the benzol unit of the great Steel Company of Canada plant here killed three workmen today shortly after the day shift reported for work. Bodies of the three were recovered.

Only a half-dozen of the plant's 3,000 employees were in the benzol building when the explosion occurred in a section where distillation retorts were located. All available city firemen fought the subsequent flames more than two hours, preventing fire from reaching a benzol storage tank.

One of the bodies was identified as that of James Osborne, an employee in the benzol department. The other two were not identified immediately, but earlier it was reported Barney Nicholson, assistant foreman, and Primo Ripanti, track man, were missing with Osborne.

One of the mutilated bodies was found outside the building, force of the blast having hurled him through a window or door. In the wreckage of the structure, 75 feet high and built of steel and brick, the other two bodies were found when the fire was under control.

Benzol Flows Into Harbor

When flames shot up from manholes on the lines carrying benzol from the wrecked building to other parts of the plant, the flow of benzol was diverted through a main sewer into Hamilton harbor. Firemen checked the spread of fire in the lines by throwing sand down the manholes.

Situated in northeast Hamilton, several hundred yards from the nearest homes, the steel plant is one of the largest in the empire. While firemen worked in terrific heat, the neighborhood was cleared by police who kept spectators at a safe distance.

A trucker from Brantford, Ont., H. Winters, was loading coke on his truck nearby when the explosion occurred.

"There was a big 'crack,'" related Winter. "The sky lit up. Then another 'crack' and a pall of smoke. I saw three men run out, when the building burst into flames."

The building was filled with billows of black smoke and quickly-spreading flames that firemen believed at first could not be prevented from reaching a big benzol storage tank. It was two hours after the blast before they conceded the dan-

CHARGE HEPBURN OUT AFTER POWER BEFORE ELECTION

TORONTO, Dec. 15.—(CP). — Leopold Macaulay, Ontario Conservative House leader, addressing a luncheon in his honor, said to-day he had information Premier Mitchell Hepburn of Ontario "or his representatives were negotiating the terms of the agreements with the Quebec power companies," before the general election Oct. 6.

Mr. Macaulay said Premier Hepburn had led people to believe during the campaign that never would the 1929 contracts between the Ontario Hydro Power Commission and the Quebec companies, declared null by the Legislature, be renewed.

"I challenge Mr. Hepburn to deny that he was advised before the election, and when he was poo-pooing the power shortage and saying Hon. Earl Rowes statements of an impending power shortage were a desperate bid for office, that at that very time Mr. Hepburn had reports showing there was an impending power shortage," he said.

"Therefore, he not only suppressed this information as to the power situation, but falsified it by making statements exactly to the opposite of his available information. We have further information that prior to the election, Mr. Hepburn or his representatives were negotiating the terms of the agreements with the Quebec companies.

"What He Should Have Told."

"Therefore, instead of telling the people his policy was 'back to Niagara,' he should have told them that he was already on his way 'back to Montreal.' That would have been dealing with the electorate candidly.

"Now we know why the Ontario election was sprung on the public out of a blue sky. One of the many issues was Hydro. Mr. Hepburn deliberately fooled the people of the

LINDSAY TRYING TO CUT FROM TOURIST BODY

Rotary Club Leading Opposition to Scheme

"They are doing their best to sink this association," Mayor H. D. Logan of Lindsay warned the annual meeting of the Kawartha Lakes and Haliburton Tourist Association here last night. He reported that the move to cut Lindsay away from the association which came to the surface during debate in the Lindsay Council meeting Monday night is engineered by a faction backed by the Lindsay Rotary Club. "At the present time I want to warn this association that that is what is happening in Lindsay."

Dr. Logan told the gathering the faction is planning to put out a Lindsay tourist advertising booklet for 1938 independent of the Kawartha Association. Complaining that the Lindsay district did not get its share of the association advertising benefits this year, the faction intends to devote exclusive attention to Victoria and Haliburton counties in the booklet, he said.

The Lindsay mayor declared he did not hold with that view, believing one united body should work for the entire region, local municipalities supplementing those efforts if they so wish.

Fair Share

"We've done everything possible to try and give no municipality anything more than any other municipality," G. K. Fraser, president of the association, declared to the meeting. "I'm sorry Lindsay feels the way they do but I don't think it is the fault of this association. We have done as much for Victoria and Haliburton as for any other districts. I believe our work helped Lindsay to a more profitable share of the tourist business this year."

C. K. Howard, manager of the Canadian National Railways Tourist and Publicity Bureau who was guest speaker of the evening, urged that a thorough understanding of the tourist promotion business by both parties in the Lindsay-Peterborough dispute will settle the trouble. He warned that duplication of booklets should be avoided. One booklet advertising a district will obtain more results than a half-dozen, he declared.

Lindsay names figured prominently along with names from other centres throughout the Central Ontario district as directors were named for the coming year. Given power to name their own executive, the directors selected by the meeting

Peterborough Bright Spot In Christmas Buying

Merchants Across Dominion Expect Boom Season, Most Business Up 10 Per Cent.

TORONTO, Dec. 15 (C.P.). — Those capricious institutions, the weather and the stock market, have played fast and loose with Christmas season trade in many centres across Canada, but shopkeepers to-day report the beginnings of what may swell into a tidal wave of purchasing in the next ten days, hitting its crest on the eve of the holiday.

The mild November left retail shoppers lethargic, particularly in Eastern Canada where expectations were high for a boom season.

Last week's blizzards in Ontario and generally more seasonal weather had a definitely stimulating effect in some cities; but in smaller centres it was just another extreme. For some days after the heavy snowfall, roads were blocked and traffic could not flow naturally to the shopping districts.

Most of the weather difficulties have been stabilized, however, and retail dealers are beginning to cater to the golden horde.

In Ottawa, for instance, trade was poor until last Saturday, but store executives report that it is booming this week and just as good as last year. Two thousand clerks have been absorbed temporarily in stores to handle the seasonal rush.

HELD ON $1,000 BAIL

DETROIT, Dec. 15—(CP).—Mrs. Epherine M. Lucier, 32, Dover Centre, Kent County, Ont., was held under bail of $1,000 pending action by the federal grand jury following a plea of guilty to a charge of entering the United States illegally. Mrs. Lucier was said to have re-entered the U.S. No. 11 following a previous deportation.

Bareheaded Lady Upsets Cadis

WEYBRIDGE, Surrey, Dec. 15—(CP).—A woman caused a rift at the Surrey Quarter Sessions Bench. Colleagues of Mrs. G. D. Barton, one of the magistrates, objected to her appearance on the bench without a hat. They have taken their protest to the Lord Chancellor, Viscount Hailsham.

Mrs. Barton can't see "that wearing a hat helps justice," but if the Lord Chancellor can find a ruling on this, she is willing to abide by it. "I don't wear a hat because I never wear one out-of-doors; so I find it trying to sit for two hours in court wearing one," she said.

CHURCH, SCHOOL BURN IN RAMORE

RAMORE, Ont., Dec. 15 (CP).—The Roman Catholic Church and School in this village, 40 miles east of Timmins, were destroyed by fire last night. It was some time after the school fire broke out that residents realized the church was also doomed. Flaming embers showered on the church roof from the nearby school.

The church and school were the most imposing buildings in the village. The town has no fire-fighting equipment and bucket brigades were helpless, water freezing before it could be carried to the fire.

Rev. Phillip Leduc, parish priest, entered the church soon after it took fire and carried out the Blessed Sacrament and the sacred vessels. Church vestments were also saved.

Nearly 200 pupils attended the four-room school, the only one in the settlement. The church was the only one in the village too, practically the whole population being Roman Catholics.

The two buildings were insured, and it is intended to rebuild immediately.

Secret Defence To Keep Britain Safe From Air Raids

AN EXPERT'S JOB

LONDON, Dec. 15 (CP)—Filling Christmas stockings may sound like child's play but it isn't. Some fillers are in the business three years before they are considered experts.

The nuts must fit in the toe, the trumpet in the foot, the orange in the heel and a gaily-colored book in the calf just so. "The stockings must be well padded or they'll hang limp and uninviting," a filler explained. Stockings never contain the same features two years in a row. This is airplane and speedboat year.

British Expert Claims 95 P.C. Present Battleships Can Be Sunk From Air By Persistence

SYDNEY, Australia, Dec. 15 (CP-Reuters)—Scientific research is producing new ways of nullifying air raids, and it is likely that in any future war methods will be used in Great Britain which will make a raiding force sorry it came.

H. E. Wimperis, late director of scientific research at the British air ministry, gave this hint at a meeting of the New South Wales Aero Club in Sydney. He did not disclose any details, however, of the actual plans evolved.

Mr. Wimperis is at present in Australia in an advisory capacity to the Commonwealth government.

Speaking of the vulnerability of warships to air attack, he said Royal Air Force and naval experts were evolving types of battleships which would be substantially proof against air attack. Probably 95 per cent of the battleships at present in service throughout the world could be sunk by persistent attacks, he added.

At present, air attacks on Australia could only be carried out by aircraft brought by carriers, but Australia would have to look ahead and provide herself with an adequate interceptive fighting force to meet a possible future menace.

Panay Goes Down Guns Blazing Until Last Minute

Japs So Low They Must Have Recognized Ship Says Wounded Writer

SHANGHAI, Dec. 15 (A.P.).—Jim Marshall, Collier's Magazine Far Eastern correspondent and survivor of the Panay bombing, said to-day the Panay opened fire on attacking Japanese planes when bombs started dropping and "kept her guns blazing until the last minute."

Marshall arrived in Shanghai by airplane to-day from Wuhu, Yangtze River port to which he had made his way after the attack which on Sunday destroyed the Panay and damaged three Standard Oil Company ships.

"The Japanese planes dropped 12 bombs around the Panay and the Standard Oil vessels," the writer related. "They came so low it was impossible for them not to know the Panay was a foreign ship.

"The visibility was excellent. The first bomb hit the forecastle. When the ship began sinking the captain ordered her abandoned.

"All passengers and crew members jumped overside. I landed on the deck of the Meian (one of the Standard Oil vessels) and helped the captain pull up anchor to get under way. I was on the Meian when I was struck in the shoulder by shrapnel."

Marshall was wounded severely, but his condition was not serious. He was suffering from exposure and went to hospital.

1,000 Tons Turkey From Alberta

Calgary, Dec. 15 (CP)

ALBERTA makes a big contribution to the world's Christmas tables—turkeys.

Producers expect to ship about 40 carloads this year — around 1,000 tons, 2,000,000 pounds or 200,000 birds—according to estimates made by a Calgary produce dealer today.

Shipments have been made to the Old Country but the bulk go to British Columbia and Eastern Canada.

Sudbury, Dec. 15 (CP)

CONSTABLE A. Lamontagne of the Sudbury police force, Victor Gettre and Leo Blondon were arrested last night charged with theft of a sum of money, dropped on one of the street corners by a businessman on his way to the bank Monday.

The three are alleged to have picked up a bank book, containing $690 cash and $150 in cheques, belonging to W. H. Dorsett, and to have converted the money to their own use.

They were scheduled to appear in Sudbury police court today for remand.

Flight With Frozen Teeth Stops Train To Save Hotel Water Jug

Prince Albert, Sask., Dec. 15

RAILWAY men here swear this one is true.

Travellers en route to Flin Flon, Man., usually snatch four hours sleep at Hudson Bay Junction hotel while awaiting departure of the northbound train from the Junction village. Flin Flon is in Northern Manitoba about 200 miles northeast of here.

On a recent morning, as the engineer tooted his last warning to call commercial men from the hotel, one was observed to rush from the hotel doors, his coat tail flipping behind him in the frigid wintry air. In one hand he carried a travelling bag, and in the other a white porcelain water jug of the type invariably found on wash stands in country hotels.

As he neared the train, the conductor shouted: "Hey you, you're stealing the hotel crockery."

"I know," came the shouted reply, "but my teeth are frozen in this darned water jug."

Obligingly the C.N.R. trainmen thawed out the teeth and the hotelman got his water jug back before the train departed.

1,000 NOTED MEN HONOR DR. BRUCE FOR FINE SERVICE

TORONTO, Dec. 15 (C.P.).—Recognition of Dr. Herbert A. Bruce's public services in the five years he was Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario was given at a banquet in his honor last night by a brilliant assemblage of more than 1,000 distinguished men.

"You have been a worthy laborer in life's vineyard," 92-year-old Sir William Mulock, former Ontario Chief Justice and chairman of the banquet committee, told Dr. Bruce in a brief address. "And you have won the respect and love of your fellow-toilers. May unbroken happiness be your reward."

The venerable Sir William later waved a handkerchief as he stood at the head table, leading three cheers for the distinguished surgeon who was the King's representative in Ontario from 1932 until a few weeks ago. Three times during the night leaders of church and state rose to cheer Dr. Bruce. They sang also the traditional "For he's a jolly good fellow."

The former Lieutenant-Governor hoped programs he advocated while he was in office had aroused interest and would be carried out successfully. Many of his addresses in that time dealt with slums and the "heart-rending scenes in Canadian cities and towns where poverty and dilapidation are even now in dark conspiracy against all that human beings deem most precious and therefore most desirous."

Other addresses had dealt with the mentally deficient "and their ceaseless propagation" with health insurance and with other matters.

Great Aid in Wife.

Dr. Bruce spoke feelingly of the help his wife had been to him during his term. At one time, he was almost overcome with emotion and stopped speaking for a moment before continuing his address.

The toast to Dr. Bruce was proposed by Sir Thomas White, former Federal Finance Minister. Dr. Bruce, he said, was acknewledged by common consent of all classes of the community "to have discharged the duties of his office, during an exceedingly trying period, not only well and faithfully, but with great credit and disinction."

The throng of men who attended the banquet was swelled afterwards by their wives and other women who attended a reception for Dr. and Mrs. Bruce. Mrs. Newton W. Rowell, wife of the present chief Justice of Ontario, presented Mrs. Bruce with a bracelet during the reception.

At the banquet, the former Lieutenant Governor was presented illuminated addresses by Sir Thomas White on behalf of the Citizens' committee who organized the banquet, and by Mayor W. D. Robbins on behalf of the city of Toronto.

Mrs. Bruce and a company of guests listened to the speeches from a balcony above the banquet hall.

JAPS CELEBRATING IN FALLEN NANKING

SHANGHAI, Dec. 15 (AP)—General Iwane Matsui, conqueror of Nanking, was reported today to be setting up headquarters in the fallen city from which to direct efforts of Japanese to pierce the interior of China.

While Japanese celebrated capture of the evacuated capital, its erstwhile defenders estimated by Chinese sources at 140,000 men dug in at Puchen, about five miles northwest of Nanking, for further combat.

Japanese forces still were mopping up in the war-ravaged city, according to the meagre advices filtering through to Shanghai. Casualties of the hand-to-hand struggle for Nanking apparently were high.

Word was still awaited regarding majority of foreigners who remained in Nanking through the four-day assault on the city's walls and the

U.K. LIVESTOCK NOW MAY BE IMPORTED

OTTAWA, Dec. 15 (CP) — Although the Canadian government is prepared to issue permits for importation of livestock from the United Kingdom through the London quarantine station, none has yet been issued, it was learned yesterday at the department of agriculture. Officials confirmed a statement made by Dominions Secretary Malcolm Macdonald in the British House of Commons yesterday to this effect.

Movement of livestock from the London quarantine station to Canada was banned when the British government imposed a "standstill order" on the London area following an outbreak of foot and mouth disease. This order was lifted Dec. 4 and, following the usual practice, Canada now will permit imports from that station.

Foot and mouth disease, a dangerous and infectious malady affecting cattle and other livestock, has never been found in Canada. Strict precautions are taken to prevent it getting into this country.

DEFINITE TOKYO ACTION DEMANDED

ister Chamberlain for a day to debate the Far East situation in the Commons. Mr. Chamberlain suggested that question should be taken up when business for the coming week is discused between the party whips.

Asked by Lieut.-Commander Reginald Fletcher, Labor, whether the government planned to strengthen the fleet in Far Eastern water, the Prime Minister said:

"The honorable gentleman may rest assured that the protection of interests in the Far East is a constant preoccupation on the part of His Majesty's government. I have no further statement to make on this matter to-day."

J. J. Davidson, Labor, asked Mr. Eden if he was "fairly satisfied the Japanese government is giving the consideration to these protests we should expect them to give."

"Satisfaction is an almost unknown sentiment for a foreign secretary," Mr. Eden replied.

Over Billion Investment.

The situation, it is felt, cannot be allowed to continue. Apart from the question of the treaties broken when Japan launched her attack on China, British interests are heavily involved. Great Britain, it is estimated, has £250,000,000 ($1,240,591,250) invested in China. About one-half lies in Shanghai.

As Japan, by the creation of puppet states, strengthens her grip, the fate of the International Settlement in Shanghai, coupled with the service of foreign loans, becomes more doubtful.

To worry over the International Settlement is now added concern over Hong Kong. The International Settlement, although administered by a municipal council mainly representative of the foreign residents, remains Chinese territory. But Hong Kong is a British Crown colony. China ceded it to Great Britain by formal treaty 90 years ago.

ger of a further explosion was past.

Cause A Mystery

Following statement was made by H. G. Hilton, workers manager:

"As a result of an explosion, the origin of which is still undetermined, the benzol recovery plant of the Steel Company of Canada, Limited, was destroyed by a series of explosions and the fire which ensued, at 8.45 a.m.

"The building contained several stills and storage tanks filled with inflammable liquids. It is assumed that the force of the explosion broke some of the pipe connections, thus releasing the liquid, which was ignited and filled the interior of the building with flame almost instantaneously.

"Of the seven employees in the building at the time of the explosion, three were apparently blinded by smoke and unable to find their way to one of the several exits, although their bodies were found within a few feet of the exit. The remaining four employees escaped unscathed with the exception of Frank Bates, who suffered slight burns.

"The damage was confined to the building proper due to the excellent work of the Hamilton fire department."

The plant was erected about eight years ago at a cost of approximately $300,000. It is thought to be totally destroyed.

TWO LOSE LICENSES

HAMILTON, Ont., Dec. 15—(CP)—Lewis Wood, St. George, Ont., and Mike Toth, Galt, Ont., convicted of reckless driving, were sentenced to 30 days in jail yesterday and fined $25 and costs or an additional 14 days in jail. Driving license of each was suspended.

Wood's auto was involved in a smash on Dundas Mountain, November 30, and Toths car figured in a crash with another machine in Sheffield village the same day.

To-day Japanese warplanes are reported to have bombed within two miles of the British Hong Kong frontier.

British naval strength in Chinese waters at present consists of three large cruisers, one aircraft carrier, one mine-layer, one destroyer flotilla, six sloops, 15 submarines with a depot ship, 13 gunboats on the Yangtze, and five gunboats on the West River.

Hints have been given of the Government's intention to create a Pacific Fleet, including capital ships, when the armament program is sufficiently advanced.

provinces on that main issue. I suppose he hopes by the next election this will be forgotten," said Mr. Macaulay.

The Conservative chief contended the government had no mandate to make contracts with the Quebec companies. The original contracts had been condemned by Mr. Hepburn because they were made without the approval of the Hydro municipalities or the Legislature.

"Now Mr. Hepburn has done exactly the same thing only under far more questionable circumstances," he said. The 1929 contracts had been made on the advice of engineers. In 1937 they were made despite the Premier's assurance there was no power shortage "and he was going to keep the greedy power barons' hands out of Ontario's pockets."

"If Mr. Hepburn can get away with deception of this kind, he can get away with anything," he said.

The B. N. A. Act.

An objective ahead of Ontario Conservatives should be the unprejudiced study of the British North America Act to see if it serves the purposes of 1937 and the future, said Mr. Macaulay.

"The Rowell Commission is now studying the problem and I am not going to say anything to embarrass it," he said. "I do think the provinces in geographical or other groups should 'gang up' on that Commission. Each province has a right to submit its economic and political problems to that body, but they should avoid anything resembling sectional or mass attacks.'

Political patronage was the greatest evil of public life in Canada today, said Mr. Macaulay. One out of every seven persons in Canada to-day was on the public payroll or dependent on some one who was.

"In Ontario the civil service, notwithstanding Mr. Hepburn's promise to reform it, is not only much greater in numbers than ever before, but is being added to every day," he said.

Mr. Macaulay prophesied that if something was not done to reduce taxes "the people are going to rise up in their might and abolish some of the taxing bodies."

Conservatives must fight twin foes of liberty, Fascism and Communism, he said. Where British democratic institutions flourished, these doctrines would melt away.

"We must have toleration for minorities, treating them with sympathy ad understanding, but we must have backbone and decisiveness in calling for law and order by every citizen and by others that come to this country. When we find them using this new freedom to torpedo our institutions and customs, we will have to find effective means of stopping them converting liberty into license."

PHILIPPINE RICE CROP

Although drought and the typhoon caused great damage to the rice crop in Luzon, P.I., the island will produce 194,000,000 pounds of the grain this season.

NIPPONESE READY TO GO FAR TRYING TO PACIFY STATES

TOKYO, Dec. 15 (AP)—Japan, already having apologized and offered indemnity for war-like attacks on the United States gunboat Panay and three American-owned steamers, was prepared today to go "even further if necessary" to meet the diplomatic emergency, government officials said.

As an additional gesture of regret, it was said, a national salute to the United States flag and military honors for the Americans killed Sunday in the Yangtze River incident were under consideration.

The public was deeply concerned, although the Japanese press published virtually nothing of the sentiment in Washington or the United States and refrained from editorial comment.

The newspapers, however, did print a long statement of the imperial headquarters, the highest Japanese military and naval organ, in which it was charged that three gunboats among the several vessels attacked by naval fliers fired on the Japanese warplanes when the Panay was sunk.

The headquarters statement said the Japanese airmen had reported the vessels "carried no flags" and that "many soldiers, apparently Chinese, were sighted aboard them."

Press Carries Apology

The press also carried Foreign Minister Koki Hirota's note to United States Ambassador Joseph C. Grew in which Japan tendered "sincere apologies," and promised "indemnifications for all losses" and to "deal appropriately with those responsible for the incident" and announced "strict orders" had been issued to prevent a recurrence of the incident.

A foreign office spokesman, saying that "nobody is qualified to say anything about the emporer,' declined to confirm or deny a report the em-

CASE OF THEFT IS TAKEN FROM JURY

A motion for dismissal by the accused's counsel, Emmett F. Sheehy, won freedom for Hilliard McIlmoyle of Burleigh Township after a brief trial on a charge of stealing timber in Burleigh Township at the concluding sitting of the General Sessions of the Peace Tuesday evening. Judge D. B. Coleman directed the jury, when the Crown had completed its case, that evidence presented did not justify putting McIlmoyle on his defence and by a show of hands without leaving the jury box the jury agreed upon a not guilty verdict.

A complex story of timber cutting in Burleigh Township by various persons under the authority of various timber cutting rights was told by the Crown witnesses who testified. The Crown alleged McIlmoyle stole logs worth $25 from James Freeburn and Hilliard Dunsford. Moving for dismissal, Mr. Sheehy submitted as grounds that the Crown had not definitely identified the accused and that what he did do in his logging operations he might have done with a color of right due to confusion concerning survey lines and land titles.

Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C., acted for the Crown. The jury was composed of Frank Hickey, George Lindsay, Percy Heard, W. J. Whatman, B. Jones and Harry Helson, all of Peterborough; Thomas Harrington and J. J. Cadigan of Enniskmore; Alex Meeks of North Monaghan, Bernal Harvey of Smith, Austin Hogan of Otonabee and James Comstock of Asphodel.

POWER EXPORT BAN QUESTIONED

would get $1.50 a horse-power in export tax and Quebec would gain $1.50 a horse-power in water rentals, both charges to be paid by the companies receiving the power, he said.

"I want the public to know that if we don't win the right to export power, there will be no increase in rates, and if we succeed in our efforts there will possibly be a reduction," the Premier repeated.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

Insufficient December wheat offerings to meet demand caused that option to move ahead more than four cents for the second consentive day on Winnipeg Grain Exchange to-day. Other futures gained more than two cents. Recessions occurred near the close with final prices 2¾ to 1 cent higher, December $1.26, May $1.18 to $1.18¼, and July $1.12¾ to $1.13.

Rising Buenos Aires future, firmness at both Liverpool and Chicago and expectatio nof a bullish Argentine Government crop report later to-day provided incentives for buying at Winnipeg after an irregular opening.

Although trade was active in the first hour, the dominating influence was scarcity of offerings in all wheat positions. Volume for the session was not large. Dealings in the final two hours thinned considerably.

ere: G. K. Fraser of Burleigh Falls, W. T. Thorn of Lindsay, J. J. Dorris of Peterborough, T. H. Stinson of Lindsay, F. D. Kerr, K.C. of Peterborough, Arthur Robson of Fenelon Falls, Roy Bottom of Bobcaygeon, Dr. W. L. Crowe of Minden, T. P. Lancaster, ex-M.L.A. of Havelock, R. J. Currie of Haliburton, Alex. Elliott of Peterborough, Bert McLean of Lindsay and F. L. Erskine of Lakefield. To this list will be added the three 1938 wardens of Haliburton, Victoria, Northumberland and Peterborough counties.

President Fraser extended thanks for support he said he received throughout the year after the meeting had heard words of encouragement from Mayor George Macdonald.

Charles Howard

First recognized tourist figures for Canada were obtained in 1920, Mr. Howard declared. They revealed that in that year $84,000 was left in Canada by tourist visitors. The industry had been almost unaided by advertising at that time.

Gradually the annual tourist revenue increased until the peak was reached in 1929 and revenue totalled $309,000,000, he continued. The depression years brought the annual total down to $117,000,000 in 1933 but this year the total, yet uncomputed, will run very close to the peak $309,000,000.

"With support by citizens throughout the Dominion there is no doubt in my mind that in the next 10 years the total will be not $309,000,000 but $500,000,000. To get that we need the support of the entire Dominion. I see that you are well organized here. We need groups like yours in every district."

Mr. Howard advised his hearers to remember that the wild life of the province is its leading tourist attraction. "I don't think there is any province in the Dominion which has any more definite idea of the value of wild life than Ontario," he said. "Ontario receives the greatest share of tourist sportsmen. The sportsmen spend more money per capita than any other class of visitors. The man who comes in to hunt has a definite object and is willing to pay the price. I hope to see the policy of maintaining game preserves continued and expanded."

Very fortunate

"You in this district are very fortunate," the speaker said. "You have 50,000,000 potential visitors at your door. You have excellent transportation and lots of wild life. You are situated at the gateway to a beautiful country. All you need is to tell about it."

T. H. Stinson, ex-M.P., of Lindsay, called attention to the fact Canada's tourist trade equals the export of two annual crops of 700,000,000 bushels of wheat, without the depletion of any resource. Mr. Thorne took the floor to suggest that the association needs seriously the support of the men most interested in bringing tourists to this district such as the hotelkeepers and suppliers of tourist needs. The men who have been most active are men who stand to gain nothing, he said.

Jack Hambleton, director of the Ontario Travel and Pupblicity Bureau, introduced Mr. Howard and gave various sidelights on the tourist business from the provincial viewpoint. He warned his hearers not to "hope for too much" from the maskinonge hatcheries with which the province is experimenting. Never yet have efforts to propagate lunge been successful but the province has not yet given up.

Speaking of the question of Ontario as a winter attraction to tourists, he said little chance of ever competing with Quebec or centers of the Eastern States exists, the annual supply of snow in Ontario being too uncertain a factor.

Among those in attendance was Leonard Hughes, president of the North Bay Tourist Association.

A balance of $282.98 in the association treasury was reported by Mr. Dorris, secretary-treasurer.

British War Minister Confers With Chief Of Staff

His shakeup of the Imperial Army General Staff well under way, British minister of war, Leslie Hore-Belisha, holds a private conference with his new appointee to the post of chief of staff, General Viscount Gort, V.C. Viscount Gort (RIGHT), succeeds Sir Cyril Deverell in wide-spread changes designed by Mr. Hore-Belisha to re-vitalize the important executive staffs of the army. The war minister is explaining to his new staff head some of the plans he has in mind for making the Imperial army more attractive to recruits.

PETERBORO BRIGHT SPOT IN BUYING

chants' Association of Canada, R. Messier, said business is a little better than last year at this time, but buying has been deferred until this week due to the unseasonable weather. Executives of Montreal department stores confirm Mr. Messier's report. A peculiar trend is noted in that Charlie McCarthy the radio imp, has replaced Mickey Mouse as the favorite of children in toys and books.

Hoping for a Spurt

Moncton, Fredericton, and Saint John, in New Brunswick, are hoping for a spurt in buying between now and Christmas. Mild weather is handicapping trade throughout the province, with indications that buying will be up to the average of recent seasons.

Prince Edward Islanders habitually wait for the last two weeks before Christmas to do their heavy shopping, and Yuletide activity is just beginning to accelerate its tempo in Charlottetown.

L. A. Saunders, secretary of the Halifax Board of Trade, said money seems to be looser in the coastal city this year, due chiefly to greater activity in construction. Christmas trade is somewhat higher than last year, but the warm weather has had a retarding effect. Situation is similar in Sydney.

In Toronto, effects of the unsettled stock market are reflected in lessened Christmas buying, especially in luxuries. The weather has had a slowing influence on clothing and footwear sales. But department stores and smaller shops are remaining open nights in the downtown area from now until Christmas, and the evening shopping crowds are growing in size.

Winnipeg reports seasonal buying slack compared to last year, but expect a late rush which might bring business up to the 1936 level. The Canadian Credit Men's Association states that merchants all over Manitoba note an unusual quiet for this period of the year.

Business Up 10 Per Cent.

At Regina the reports are that more people are at work than for several years and business is 10 to 15 per cent. better than a year ago.

Lethbridge merchants say fair crops in Alberta have been a big factor in improved retail business, but farmers are using much of their money to pay back taxes and meet other obligations. Calgary shopkeepers declare business is better than normal, with some retailers holding that cash transactions are not as numerous as they were in 1936.

The Chamber of Commerce at Edmonton reports more mail order business from the North Country than in previous years.

Store executives in Vancouver say indications are that there will be a fair increase in Christmas buying over last year. A tendency to question price less than usual, and to seek more expensive and more practical gifts, is noted in Vancouver.

Victoria retailers see a general improvement over last year, with activity in jewelry, footwear, and wearing apparel.

Trail and Nelson, in the interior of British Columbia, provide the information that the tinkle of cash registers has been pianissimo lately but is building up to a crescendo.

Expect Big Season.

Ontario merchants generally appear well satisfied with this year's trade. They said the seasonal impetus to business was somewhat slower than usual in getting under way, but present indications were that retail and wholesale trade would be larger than for some years.

A particularly bright spot was Peterborough. Merchants in that Eastern Ontario city said a "vast" improvement in Christmas trade this year as compared with 1936 was noted. Stratford businessmen said farmers in that Western Ontario district apparently had more money available for Christmas spending this year.

How the Ontario Situation Looks

Toronto — Slow to get started, Christmas buying is showing a decided pick-up, though prevailing mild weather has had a slowing influence on clothing and footwear sales.

Kitchener—Retail trade has shown a marked increase in the past few days. Colder weather apparently has supplied a needed stimulant.

London — After a slow start, Christmas trade has increased steadily during the past week. Many merchants express a belief Christmas trade this year would be much better than in 1936.

Galt—The recent cold spell has resulted in a decided pick-up in trade. The majority of merchants report business as good as last year.

Stratford—Volume of business in many lines is ahead of that of a year ago. Leather goods are said to be selling exceptionally well.

Woodstock—Christmas trade has been slower in developing than was the case last year. However, an appreciable pick-up now is beginning to be felt.

Owen Sound—Heavy snowstorms last week gave a temporary set-back to business, but leading businessmen now say they anticipate a bumper trade in the next two weeks.

Niagara Falls—Ten per cent better than last year, is this city's estimate of the Christmas trade. Shoppers appear to be purchasing more expensive presents than for some years.

Brantford—Better than for some years, is the opinion of leading merchants. Indications are for a 10 per cent increase in trade over last year.

Credit Cold Weather

St. Thomas—Christmas shoppers went into action in earnest this week. Colder weather apparently was the cause. The pick-up came after a rather slow start.

Guelph — Indications are for an exceptionally brisk Christmas trade. One merchant said "our business has been 25 per cent better this year."

Sarnia—Business is about on a par with last year, in the opinion of most retailers.

Ottawa—"Booming" is the report on current trade and indications are for a volume of sales at least as good as 1936.

Peterborough — Retail Merchant Association says business booming. Marked improvement being shown generally in all lines.

Kingston — A 10-to-20-per cent gain in sales as compared to last year is expected here. Early shopping this year apparently is greater than for some years.

North Bay—Christmas stock moving earlier than in 1936, most merchants find. A tendency to purchase better quality merchandise is noted.

Saulte Ste. Marie. — Trade fairly brisk, but not as good as had been hoped for, say leading merchants.

CHRISTMAS MEET MILLBROOK W.I.

(Examiner Correspondent.)

MILLBROOK, Dec. 15. — The Christmas meeting of the Women's Institute was held on Saturday at the home of Mrs. Melville Ball, Prince Street, with the president, Mrs. R. J. McKnight, in the chair, and about twenty in attendance.

The roll was answered with a parcel for the "Christmas Cheer" baskets, which will be sent out again this year. The committee, which consists of the president, secretary, Mrs. Harkness and Mrs. E. C. Richards, will meet at the home of Mrs. T. G. Harkness on Tuesday, December, 20, to secure further supplies and pack the boxes.

The treasurer, Mrs. Ball, reported one dollar in rental from the Town Hall piano, and the delegate to the Provincial convention, Mrs. J. W. Hilton, returned one dollar from the expense money voted for her trip.

Copies of the Health magazine, and a magazine specially devoted to babies' interests, were passed round for inspection, decision being arrived at to secure a number of the latter for the use of mothers who are W.I. members. The secretary reported no reply to her letter sent to the county road superintendent asking that a reflector light be placed at the top of Allen's hill, with a view to preventing accidents. As this is an actual danger point, particularly for strangers approaching the village, another letter will be sent.

On motion, the Institute members will be divided equally as groups under the various heads of standing committees, Mrs. G. O. Fallis, who has the department of Education, to be responsible for the January meeting, which will be at the home of Miss Burnham, Main Street.

The hostess, assisted by the committee in charge, served refreshments during the social hour at the close, Mrs. Hilton and Mrs. D. Olan sponsoring the usual votes of thanks.

BAITING WOLVES

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., Dec. 15 (CP) —Freeman Burband claims he had a system of baiting wolves that would beat the strategies of the Algoma Wolf Club, members of which like to capture the animals alive. After chasing a wolf from his door the other night, he said if he had been younger he would have pulled its tail off. Wolf club members were skeptical.

Several months ago he was outfitted and sent to Timagami to work in the bush after applying for relief here. He returned to Toronto and was arrested after he applied to the House of Industry for assistance.

National Viewpoint Needed

It is related that Chief Justice Rowell in opening the sittings of his Royal Commission in Winnipeg prayed that the spirit of Confederation might be recaptured. Judging by the news from Quebec there is going to be need of a lot of prayers toward that end. The lining up of Premier Hepburn of Ontario and Premier Duplessis of Quebec under a "Hands-Off-the-B.N.A." banner is not a development that augurs well for a happy ending to the work of the Rowell commission. It is an alliance that tells the world that the leaders of these two great provinces propose to think in terms of their own jurisdiction, rather than of Canada and it betrays the existence of a parochial viewpoint that, had it been so strongly in evidence at the time of confederation, would have effectively killed off any chance of bringing the provinces together into a united Dominion.

It does not seem to have entered the thoughts of these two provincial potentates that if this country is to have any worthwhile program of social and economic reforms and a national program of social services these things can come only through the Federal government and that to give the Federal government the necessary authority the British North America Act must be revamped and modernized, even stream-lined. It was an instrument drawn up under conditions totally different from those existing today and surely it was never intended that sensible people would go on forever accepting the limitations set down in 1867.

In any case our approach to this whole question should take the national rather than the provincial view. As the Ottawa Journal says "Politically, geographically and economically Canada is a unit and there is no room within that unit for the setting up of separate principalities at the whim of separate mandarins."

Mr. Hepburn and Mr. Duplessis seem to have lost sight of that fact, completely—if they continue to maintain that attitude then we might as well realize there is no real nation Canada but merely a collection of selfish provinces each battling for its own advantage and oblivious of what happens to the rest of the country.

Gallant Young Sportsmen

The invitation that was sent out by the city fathers in connection with the banquet to be tendered the members of the Peterborough Collegiate Institute and Vocational School football team, interscholastic champions of Ontario tonight, speaks of the players as a "group of splendid young sortsmen" and that seems to be a very happy and appropriate choice of words. The council has done well in honoring the Collegiate players upon their splendid feat in capturing the Ontario championship for while they have already had their reward in the thrill of successful achievement and of victory over worthy opposition, provincial titles do not come this way so often as to become common place and it is fitting that when players have triumphed so gallantly as have the Collegiate team, their home community should pay them proper honors.

In that connection, too, it is well to remember that the championship was not won merely by the games that were played on Saturday afternoons with the inspiration of cheering crowds to drive the players on to their best efforts; it was won in reality in long hours of gruelling practice in all kinds of weather, in mud, and snow, and on frozen fields, drilling away night after night on the plays that worked so smoothly when put into execution because they had been cleverly planned in the first place and because these young sportsmen had rehearsed them so often that they became routine by the time they were needed.

A team that goes through to a football championship in Ontario, in any series, has worked long and strenuously to accomplish the feat and that is why we say that the Collegiate players have earned the honors that will be showered upon them tonight. It has not been an easy task but they stuck to it until victory finally perched upon their banners.

It's A Bit Puzzling

There were a couple of things said by the Globe and Mail the other day in regard to the new power contracts that did not seem to us to make sense. Perhaps we have been duller than usual on this occasion but at any rate after mulling the statements over for a day or two we have still found it impossible to put them together and make them mean anything.

The Toronto morning journal reminded Mr. Macaulay that it was his party that had "saddled the province with a load of unsaleable power" and then in the next sentence remarked that "Dr. Hogg and his fellow commissioners have served the best interests of the people in writing new contracts."

There was where we stuck. If what Ontario contracted for in the first place was "a load of unsaleable power" isn't it practically that same load that we have been saddled with in the contracts just announced. And the stuff is still to a large extent unsaleable, which explains why Mr. Hepburn has enlisted the alliance of Premier Duplessis of Quebec in an effort to persuade the Federal government to permit the sale of large blocks of this power Ontario has contracted for to United States interests.

The new power deal may be the best possible way out of the mess and the price is $2.50 a horse power better than under the old contracts. But what puzzles us is why it should have been all wrong for one government to enter into an arrangement to buy large blocks of power in Quebec and on the other hand possible for another administration to "serve the best interests" of the people by agreeing to take practically the same amount of power from the same sources.

Making The Punishment Etc.

We have, at times, said so many things in criticism of magistrates for what seemed to be undue leniency in the treatment of reckless and negligent drivers that it is refreshing today to be able to hand out a bouquet to an Ontario cadi who apparently has found the way to make the punishment fit the crime.

Magistrate Browne of Toronto is signalled out for editorial applause for the manner in which he has dealt with a particularly flagrant case of drunken driving. This offender had just been convicted for the third time within fifteen months for driving an automobile while intoxicated and while he had been fortunate enough to escape an accident on all three occasions the court felt that his conduct merited drastic punishment. Accordingly the magistrate sentenced him to three months in jail on the drunken driving charge, and fined him $100 or thirty days for driving while his permit was under suspension, the sentences to run consecutively.

But that was not all. Declaring that an automobile out of control in the hands of an intoxicated driver was a dangerous weapon, Magistrate Browne announced that he would recommend that the prisoner be refused a permit ever to drive again and it is upon that phase of the sentence that the Examiner wishes to commend the court.

We believe that when a man is guilty three times within a short period of anything so dangerous as trying to handle a powerful machine in traffic while he is under the influence of liquor, he has put himself in the menace class and must be expected to be treated as such. In the interest of public safety he should be kept permanently away from the wheel of a car.

That is the plan that is followed in the United Kingdom and it is a weapon that should be used more often here.

Election Slates

Rumors of "slates" being already lined for the municipal election are drifting about the streets these days and may have some foundation in fact. Frankly we have never been greatly impressed with that method of electing candidates for public office, preferring to see the best man chosen from a field of candidates, rather than have a bloc supported, regardless of the individual qualities of those lined up on a particular slate. The danger in the slate plan is that weak candidates are sometimes carried through to victory while other aspirants for office who possess far more ability and who would be capable of excellent service are left at home simply because their names do not appear on the slate lineup.

However, the very fact that slates are being talked of at this stage of the campaign can be accepted as a healthy sign. It at least indicates that interest is being aroused in the municipal election and that is a development not to be sneezed at just now when a number of municipalities are complaining of the very small vote polled at recent elections. If the lining up of candidates in groups helps to bring out more people and causes attention to be directed toward municipal issues and problems, perhaps the practice may not be such a bad thing after all. At any event anything is better than an electorate that is 65 or 70 per cent indifferent to the whole business of electing civic bodies. The surest way to inefficient municipal government is for the mass of the electors to refuse to take the trouble of voting.

Getting Out The Voters

The problem of how to get folk out to vote at municipal elections seems to be bothering a good many municipalities. The experiment of shifting voting day from New Year's Day to the first Monday in December which was considered as likely to bring out a more pronounced expression of public opinion has not, in the main, worked out that way and now a number of places which tried the thing out are considering the advisability of changing back again. Toronto electors as a matter of fact have already voted in favor of a return to the New Year's voting.

Whatever the cause, a very small vote was registered in a number of Ontario centres at the recent civic elections, some reporting only 35 per cent of those on the list exercising their franchise. Chatham which polled but 50 per cent of the possible vote admits that the December experiment has come far short of living up to what was expected of it and that unless better results are secured a reversion to the former date might be worth considering.

From the Chatham News comes the suggestion that conditions might be improved by keeping the polls open until 9 o'clock in the evening, giving extra time for those who are busy during the day and also affording an opportunity for candidates and their workers to locate and canvas the electors who had not visited the polls before night.

We doubt very much that any great improvement would be effected in the percentage of the vote polled by this plan. The date of election day and even the hours have not a great deal to do with the business of voting inasmuch as those who are interested will make sure that their franchise is used no matter what the conditions while those who are not will not vote in any case.

The problem seems to be to drive home to the electors the thought that the choosing of municipal bodies is an important duty and that by neglecting it they are running the chances of finding their municipal affairs slovenly and extravagantly manged because the indifference of large numbers of citizens has made it possible for inefficient and incapable candidates to get elected.

There is no use staying home on election day and then spending the next 364 days grumbling about the way in which civic business is handled. Once that is recognized there should be no trouble about apathetic voters.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Add 1937 list of similes; Caused as little surprise as the election of Josef Stalin in Russia.

The United States government is providing sixty squirrel houses at Washington. It likely feels that there is no need to furnish nuts.

Oshawa is the latest community to pass anti-noise regulations. What we are awaiting for, however, is to see which municipality is going to be the first to enforce such rules.

Speaker addressing local audience said that 5,000 Fascists were drilling on the bank of the St. Lawrence. We would have thought they could have found a warmer spot than that.

Wisconsin boasts a rooster that has a record of crowing 25 times in ten minutes. We are not sure about roosters but we have people around here that crow like that.

British Columbia trapper, lost in the woods ate nothing but moose meat for six months. We imagine he will shudder every time he passes a Moose lodge hall from now on.

Col. Lindbergh is buying airplanes in the United States and off hand we cannot think of anybody who is more capable of getting what he wants in that line.

It is quite sporting of the Japanese to express their sorrow at "accidentally" sinking American and British vessels. Anyway what are a few bombs among friends.

A Japanese composer says that modern war makes good music. We would rather put it that some modern music sounds like war and some like what Sherman said war was.

When it can be reported that "everything is harmonious" in a conference between a Liberal premier and a former Conservative premier of Quebec politics in Canada must be softening up a bit.

Even the fact that 50,000 men are to participate in United States manoeuvres in the Pacific does not seem to cause the Japanese to exercise very much care as to where their bombs are dropping.

Coal gas fumes are reported as causing danger in a number of Canadian homes recently. As the trouble is caused almost always by faulty furnaces the desirability of having heating equipment thoroughly checked over should be generally recognized.

Interest in the Russian election has been kept down considerably by the realization that the affair has been in the bag for the government since the beginning. Only allowing one candidate per riding is an innovation politicians elsewhere would be glad to imitate.

LATE AUTUMN

Some strange beauty crowns this land
When autumn days are chill
And bitter winds chide where the trees
Stand bleakly on the hill.

No bird song stirs the listening wood
O'er which the grey goose flies,
A moving shadow, winging high
Against the lowering skies.

The dull grey dawn that brings the day—
How hesitant it breaks!
How swift the night sweeps like a hawk
Across the stilly lakes!

Drear may it seem to stranger hearts,
Whose joy is sunnier clime,
But to the native-born this scene
In beauty is sublime.

A NEW British industry that will employ several thousand workers and will involve the expenditure of at least $20,000,000 to $25,000,000 has just been launched.

As a result of the consideration of a committee set up earlier in the year Britain is now to establish her own carbide industry, a product now almost entirely imported from different foreign countries and for which there is an increasing demand.

Factories for the manufacture of carbide are to be built in South Wales and in Scotland, the South Wales factory costing over $5,000,000 and the one in Scotland more than $15,000,000. Several thousand men will be given employment in the next two years in erecting the factories, powerhouses and other works necessary. Similarly after they are completed the factories will give permanent employment to a large number of workers in the plants and in the mines and quarries from which will be drawn the raw material from which carbide is produced.

Carbide, of which Britain imports between 50,000 and 60,000 tons every year, valued at $3,000,000 is made from lime and coal by means of certain heating processes.

The importance of carbide lies mainly in the fact that from it is made acetylene from which more than 150 other important products are derived many of which are being increasingly used in industry.

These include acetic acid, used in the production of acetate silk, acetone, a base material for solvents, synthetic rubber, explosives and airplane "dope", and acetic anhydride used for the manufacture of plastics, dyestuffs, photographic film, aspirin and other drugs.

The raw materials of carbide exist in abundance throughout the British Isles. There are unlimited supplies of lime and anthracite coal but to transform them into carbide and then acetylene requires a great amount of electric heat and power which must be obtained cheaply. To secure this cheap power and heat the factory in South Wales will be built almost alongside a coal mine while in Scotland the water power from a number of lochs will be harnessed. It is expected the two plants will consume 200,000,000 units of electricity a year.

Fighting Pneumonia.

IN MEDICINE, at least, the horse hasn't outlived his usefulness, points out Newsweek. The noblest quadruped makes his chief contribution to human welfare in the big drug houses as a source of serum.

Pneumonia, for instance; Bacteriologists shoot billions of heat-killed microbes into horses; as their blood automatically develops high resistance to pneumonia infection the animals are bled. The white portion of their blood then contains anti-bodies—a submicroscopic armor against disease. A refining process produces a serum ready for human use.

Tests have proven that serum treatment cuts pneumonia mortality by something like 40 per cent. But before a doctor can inject a serum he must first determine which of 32 distinct types of pneumonia his patient has contracted. If physicians could diagnose quickly and accurately they could halve pneumonia's annual death toll—100,000 in the United States.

To handle this diagnostic job, New York city last week opened five municipal laboratories. One in thickly settled Manhattan will offer day-and-night service, the remaining four, one in each of the outlying boroughs will operate only by day.

Henceforth a doctor can act promptly, when he detects the symptoms and the job of determining the type of pneumonia can be quickly done by the bacteriologists.

Shasta dam, key to the vast Central Valley reclamation project, will be 560 feet high and 3,100 feet long, backing up the waters of three rivers, the Sacramento, Pit and McCloud.

An Exiled Lama.

THE Tashi Lama, exiled spiritual head of Tibet, died recently in Jyekundo, Western China. Until 1924, he shared control of the autonomous Buddhist province with the Dalai Lama, temporal leader. Tibetans regarded the Tashi Lama as a reincarnation of Buddha and the Dalai Lama as the rebirth of the ancestor of all Tibetans.

In 1924 the Dalai Lama seized complete power and forced the Tashi Lama's flight to China where he quickly adopted Occidental habits. The Dalai Lama died four years ago and the Buddhists still have not found his successor—the child born at the instant of his death.

The Tashi Lama's death leaves Tibet's 3,000,000 inhabitants, one-fifth of whom are priests without either of their Grand Lamas.

Mrs. Frank E. Hayward of Seattle has been awarded the national crochet championship of the United States and $250 by the American Women's Association. Her winning entry was a flawless, full-sized bedspread which she took ten years to make. Mrs. Hayward used 101 spools of No. 60 mercerized cotton which cost from 10 to 15 cents a spool and the finished spread contains more than 6,000 1-inch squares. It is recorded that when she showed the finished product to her husband three months ago he merely grunted "Humph."

Another use for sugar has turned up. In the motion picture industry spun sugar is used to represent spider webs.

Beavers Which Answer the Dinner Bell

Industrious Animals Come Out to Eat As Soon as They Hear Signal Sounded.

(From the Fish and Game Bulletin.)

TWO MILES south of the village of Orwell is a mill pond owned by Mr. F. W. White, in which there is a colony of beaver. Having business with Mr. White one day, we learned that he was friendly with the beaver, and that he had been feeding them daily for several years. As a consequence they had become so tame that he was able to pick them up and handle them much as a small boy might handle his favorite dog.

It was growing dusk when Mr. Brown, the overseer, and I, joined Mr. White and proceeded to the beaver dam. There we found a varied assortment of food such as apples, grain and screenings from the mill scattered around. There was also an old chair with a school bell and a comb lying on the seat.

Our host picked up the bell and began to ring it lustily, following this up by calling loudly to his unseen friends in a very coaxing manner. "In about two minutes," he assured us, "if the beaver are still in the dam"—they often wander further afield—"you'll see them swimming across."

It was probably ten minutes later when we noticed the first beaver swimming under water in our direction. As it neared the bank it came to the surface, and finally waded ashore where we were standing. The beaver, quite undisturbed by our presence, waddled up on the beach and commenced eating the food scattered around.

Mr. White went up to the beaver and began stroking it as one might a cat. Then he gently slapped its sides, grasped its large flat tail, and held it up so that we might see it better. The beaver, meanwhile, continued to eat quite undisturbed. Our host suggested that we might try the petting process, "but," he warned "speak to it as you approach." We picked up the comb, opened up a rapid-fire conversation intended to dispel any doubts as to our friendly intentions, and stepped up to the beaver. It kept on eating, apparently unmindful of our aproach. For two or three minutes we combed that valuable pelt, stroked the glistening sides, and examined the trowel-like tail. It was a fascinating experience when one considers that beaver are usually unapproachable.

"They get very nervous," said our friend, "if you step between them and the water," saying which he walked behind it, and the beaver immediately turned and went back into the water. It was probably just the instinct of self-preservation, on finding itself shut off from its native element. As the beaver swam away Mr. White threw it a branch of leaves and twigs which it grasped as it swam off with towards its den.

"There are other two, they must be around somewhere," remarked our amateur Grey Owl, as he set off to explore the bank, while we followed him. A moment later we found number two. He was half-way out of the water eating some grain that had been left on the bank to attract ducks. This beaver also responded confidently to the voice and advances of our host. Then we discovered that the third animal was now on the bank where the first one had visited us, so we returned there and witnessed a repetition of this unusual friendship.

Are We Partners in British Empire?

French-Canadian Doubts Whether This Country Is Carrying Its Fair Share of the Burden

(Letter in Sons of England Record.)

EDITOR, Sons of England Record,

I have seen copies of the Sons of England Record, and enjoy the friendship of several of the members of the society known as the S.O.E. With these friends I listened to the Hon. J. L. Ilsley's address on the League of Nations recently, and felt glad that Great Britain's part in the League was so extensive, and that the League is still a vital factor in world affairs.

But when Mr. Ilsley said that he felt a strongly armed United Kingdom was the best assurance of world peace, I felt that I, as a Canadian, must bow my head in shame.

As I realized that Canada, an equal partner in the British Empire, gets the protection of the United Kingdom in naval insurance for the goods she ships all over the world, and that a Canadian of the position of the Hon. Mr. Ilsley, our own Minister, advocates that Great Britain's armed strength is the Empire's strength, I felt that sense of very real humiliation which is so often expressed in our newspapers — that Canada is sponging on Great Britain and hiding behind the Monroe Doctrine.

How much better and nobler would it be for Canadian statesmen to publicly proclaim that they repudiate the Empire responsibilities of partnership and defence; and by so doing, frankly and fully tell British taxpayers that while British trade for Canada is wanted, yet responsibilities are not accepted.

Honeyed words and cheap platitudes are all right for tea parties, but to call for and applaud the United Kingdom's armed strength and enjoy its protection, without contributing to the upkeep of that defence, is neither sincerity nor justice.

One wonders what would happen if John Bull literally called a spade a spade and demanded that trade should go to those who buy from John Bull on a basis of equity, rather than on the basis of sentiment and one-way preference.

We Canadians ask the question, "Why doesn't England do more to defend the Chinese, the Ethiopians, and the Spaniards, etc., from the cruelties of the past and present regimes?" But do we offer to find homes for the poor little Spanish children as France and England have done?

Yes, we criticize and tell John Bull to do the fighting and the paying; but when it comes to sharing in the risks, the expenses, and the losses, we are silent except to again criticize.

We can raise our voices loudly when business is wanted or effected; but that's for business only. For the partnership ideals and the straight talking which would show the world that we Canadians are real partners in Empire, in responsibilities as well as benefits—we pay by silent homage, in platitudes, and evasions—nicely expressed, but unconvincing to real league members or real Empire builders.

I bow in shame as a French Canadian, but thank God that some Canadian newspapers still know what the words, "fair play" mean, and to your Sons of England I reverently say, "Thank God they are true to fair play."

I have had handed to me the various letters you publish in your official organ, and they do help me to realize that quietly, yet effectively, your publication is unafraid of truth and justice.

It had been my privilege in the past to contribute a letter to the Record, and these few notes are, I feel, due you at this time when perhaps we lack, in our public men and our public utterances, that frank speaking which will bring to Canadians that sense of justice, upon which Canada can establish the right—in precept and practise—to carry the title of "Partner in the British Empire."

My criticisms may, to some ears, seem hard; but they are true, and that is the essential thing to get home to our minds, and our heads.

If geography is to be the limit of human feelings for other parts of the Empire, and distance the excuse for non-action, then God grant that the Master we profess to serve in our Christian claims will repeat His message to us in no uncertain way, and so show us that no matter where or who we are, if we are true to the faith we hold, then no limits of right and wrong justify our silence and our inaction when fellow human beings are cruelly mistreated.

Canada's voice—Canada's statement in no uncertain terms, that Canada would lead if necessary in denouncing the aggressors, and at all events join with other nations and the Empire to the limit; these statements, publicly made, by our leading statesmen, would be of more value than platitudes and honeyed words, and would leave no room for doubt in the minds of those whose only ideals are aggression and world domination.

I only regret that I, for business reasons, cannot join in greater measure with those who feel so strongly about these matters; but I do want the Sons of England to know that in the hearts of some French Canadians there is that bond of sympathy and hope for united Empire in its real sense.

Yours respectfully,
HENRI CHOLETTE.

WHERE THEY ORIGINATED.

(Hamilton Spectator)

WHO ARE these people who appear to be conquering China? Many years ago they came from the mainland of Asia. They came in droves—Korean colonists, Mongols and Malays. Thus the present population of Japan is heterogeneous in origin, but it is predominantly of the same stock as that from which their Chinese enemies sprang. The Japanese came from China, which was old when their own islands were barely settled. They have no indigenous culture. Their literature and their art are borrowed from China.

The modern trend is all against accepting theories without due investigation and analysis. After a stirring sermon by a St. Thomas pastor in denunciation of beverage rooms, the choir sang the anthem "O Taste and See."

TABLE TALK.

(St. Catharines Standard)

THIS IS the season of the year when people talk turkey. Market observers say that the supply this Christmas will be plentiful and the price slightly below that of last year. All of which is good news to the householder.

Why do Canadians go so strong for turkey for the Christmas festival? One family man put it to the writer recently in the following terms: "Christmas comes only once a year. It is, therefore, unusual as regards the family menu. To go without turkey at Christmas dinner would almost be a sacrilege. I was brought up that way. My only worry is about families who are without."

That expresses it entirely. Turkey at Christmas and Goose at New Year's Day, seems to be the habit of the continent, but after all, a good word can be said for the Roast Beef of Old England, if you can possibly get a store any more which specializes in Christmas fed beef.

INSULTED COWS.

(Brandon Sun)

DR. LEIPOLDT, a Capetown, S. A., doctor well-known as a poet and an epicure, has set all local temperance and dietetic enthusiasts by the ears by announcing, at the Cape wine show, that it is better to drink a glass of wine than a glass of milk. Milk, he said, is only condensed sewage, whereas wine is a clean and natural food. He suggested that the league of nations had begun propaganda for the dietetic value of milk under pressure from temperance fanatics and vested dairy interests. Dairymen indignantly reply that the purity of their product is guaranteed by strict health regulations. The insulted cows, ignoring Dr. Leipoldt, continue to yield their milk, and mothers have not yet been induced to put wine instead of milk in their babies bottles.

GOOD OLD DAYS.

(Charlottetown Guardian)

A BIT TOPSY-TURVEY, according to modern standards—but the good old days had their points. Wagon whips and curry combs were in greater demand than silverware, to judge by prices, and foodstuffs were so cheap that a dollar bought enought to load one down like a pack horse.

Whiskey, according to an 1837 account book which turned up at a country general store the other day, sold then at 12½ cents a quart, although one could get a better grade at 16 cents. "Cigars, which nobody hardly called for, went at eight for 2 cents; a dozen teaspoons cost 8 cents; one dozen eggs, 12½ cents; one pound of ham, 12 cents.

But the price of a buggy whip was 87 cents and of a horse collar $1.

HYDRO A FOOTBALL.

(Windsor Daily Star)

HYDRO has been a political football since the death of Sir Adam Beck. The latter, first chairman of the municipal commission, was a Conservative but only a nominal one. Hydro, to him, was much bigger than any political party or any political consideration. He never hesitated to let both friends and enemies know how he felt about such things. And Sir Adam had enough personal power and prestige to keep Hydro just where he wanted it—in a non-political position. After his lamented death, however, the situation began to change and in recent years it has been deplorable, with politicians throwing the great utility back and forth on public platforms, each party trying to get credit for this or that.

Kawartha Booklet Is Given Black Eye By Lindsay Council

Those Who Benefit Directly Fail To Co-operate With The Association

LINDSAY, Dec. 15.—Lindsay Town Council has decided to confine any tourist advertising, in booklet form, to the immediate district, namely, the Counties of Victoria and Haliburton, rather than in a booklet issued by the Kawartha and Haliburton Association.

"Last year," said Mayor Logan, "Lindsay was asked for $300 by the above association for a page display in a booklet issued by the association, while the City of Peterborough only put up $350 for its page, or two pages, as the case may be—that's not playing the game fair."

Ald. W. T. Thorne, a vice-president of the association, stated that in his opinion the idea of having an association for the entire district was first-class. Muskoka County has a similar association. "The trouble last year was that those who directly benefited from the tourist business in Lindsay and district did not co-operate. The hotel and restaurant owners and merchants did not get behind the idea, although a large number of the tourists in this section last summer were brought here by that booklet. The trouble was there was too much see-sawing here."

Ald. Clarton claimed that the most of the see-sawing was not done by the town of Lindsay, but by other members of the association. Personally he thought that seven or ten thousand booklets (the number issued last year by the association) was but a flee bite. He also questioned if they reached the right people.

Town Clerk Alley stated that of the 1,500 booklets left in Lindsay, that most of them were distributed by Mr. George Goodwin, in Lindsay, to tourists he encountered. "These booklets will not have their advertising effect until next summer," he commented.

Ald. Clarton—"If we had enough money we could do much more good attracting tourists by putting out an attractive booklet of our own."

Rotary Booklet.

Ald. L. W. Jordan stated that the Lindsay Rotary Club contemplates issuing a very attractive and substantial summer tourist booklet next year, and he thought the town would be well advised to co-operate.

Ald. Butler voiced the opinion that as long as the present officers are in charge of the Kawartha Tourist Association that Lindsay would not fare well.

Reeve Horn stated that the Rotary Club contemplated putting out 50,000 booklets, and if the work was properly done the County Council would probably increase its grant and he felt sure that some of the benefiting townships would also make a grant.

Ald. Laidley claimed that the County Council should be the prime mover in the effort to attract tourists. He also advocated placing a man at the juncture of the Dorset-Huntsville highway, pointing the route via the new scenic highway from Dorset, through Lindsay, to No. 2.

STRIKE IN COLLEGE

KALAMAZOO, Mich., Dec. 15 (CP) — The Canadian-born president of Kalamazoo College, who dismissed a Canadian member of his faculty for not becoming a citizen of the United States and for "lack of versatility," had a students strike on his hands today.

The students quit classes when Dr. Stewart Grant Cole, native of Brockville, Ont., and the college president, asked Dr. Carey E. Ganong, professor of economics, from Jemseg, N.B., to terminate his contract next June.

French Aviatrix Freed Of Charge

Just before she was freed by a French court sitting at Versailles, Mlle. Irene Schmeder, French airwoman and star of an aerial love drama that featured the shooting of a pilot and Mlle. Schmeder's flight to Britain enters the courtroom in charge of a gendarme. Mlle. Schmeder was accused of shooting M. Lallement in the cockpit of his aeroplane after which she assertedly landed to oust pilot and took off immediately for Britain. Her aeroplane partially crashed in a Croydon landing, and Mlle. Schmeder was arrested and returned to France. Lallement recovered.

Palace Rings To Children's Laughter On King's 42nd Birthday

London, Dec. 15 (AP)

HAPPY, childish laughter rang out in Buckingham Palace today for the first children's party there in many a year.

The occasion—a Christmas party for Princesses Elizabeth and Margaret and several of their playmates—rivalled for attention a small family party arranged in celebration of the King's 42nd birthday.

Preparations were made to receive the princesses' guests when they were driven up to the palace in mid-afternoon in spick and span party clothes, accompanied by nurses or parents.

On the program were a variety of games and a Christmas play by members of the Scottish Children's Theatre. The King's birthday will not be observed publicly until June.

ARCHDUKE GIVEN $25 ALLOWANCE

VIENNA, Dec. 15 (AP).—Leopold Marie Alphonse, Archduke of Austria and Knight of the Golden Fleece of the Holy Roman Empire, yesterday won a lawsuit against his mother, Archduchess Blanka, for a weekly allowance of $25. He is 40.

A Vienna court ordered the Archduchess—who had been giving him a room and a package of food and 95 cents daily because he was a "wastrel"—to pay him the allowance for three years.

To qualify for the allowance, the court said the Archduke, member of the Tuscany branch of the Hapsburg family, must leave his mother's palace before noon today and never ask her for more money.

The slender Archduke celebrated his court victory by drinking new wine, eating bologna sandwiches and singing and dancing with Viennese kitchenmaids and housemaids at a restaurant.

In his palace bedroom he packed his few belongings into a small trunk ready for moving, and said:

"I am starting a new life. My mother treated me like a prisoner. I had to ask her cook for food and money.

"My mother can afford to keep me. She has about $1,000,000. But she's a Bourbon and she expects the whole world to obey. It was to exact obedience that my mother treated me this way."

LINDSAY HOLDING HALF BOXING DAY

(Examiner Correspondence.)

LINDSAY, Dec. 15.—Boxing Day, Monday, December 27, will be observed in Lindsay, but only for a half day. The town council was divided on the question of observing the full or half day. Mayor Logan casted the deciding vote in favor of the half day.

A resident of Bobcaygeon named Young was sentenced Monday to three months in jail by Magistrate Gee for having illicit spirits in his possession. Rather than pay the $100 fine Young took the sentence. The young man was picked up on the streets of the village by Corporal Woods, R.C.M.P., and the illicit liquor was found in his possession.

Lindsay men on relief will have to quench their thirst with aqua pura. This was the decision of the council last night. "Beer guzzling at the public expense has got to stop," said one member of the council. The council received a letter from Commissioner Odette, of the Liquor Control Board, who asked for a list of the names of those men on relief who frequented the beverage rooms. These will be forwarded by the town clerk, and the Commission will return a list to each of the local beverage rooms.

BOERS GET BOOK BANNED

LONDON, Dec. 14—(AP).—Stuart Colete learned to-day that his novel, "Turning Wheels" had been banned in South Africa following protests by a section of the population which speaks a Dutch-African dialect.

It was understood they objected to the book on the ground that it reflected on the moral character of the original Boer trekkers. Colete said:

"They venerate the Boer trekkers and won't admit that they could have defects."

Health Run Down Housework A Burden

Nature intended women to be strong, healthy and happy instead of sick and miserable, but is it any wonder that when they are run down in health they become nervous and irritable, weak and worn-out, and the lightest household duties seem a drag and a burden?

Milburn's Health and Nerve Pills are a remedy that all nervous, tired-out, weary women should take to help them back to the blessing of good health, and when this is done their household duties will be a pleasure instead of a burden.

Mrs. A. K. McLean, Pleasantfield, N.S., writes:—"A short time ago I was in a badly run down and nervous condition. I got so that my housework became a burden to me. I started taking Milburn's Health and Nerve Pills, and now I feel like a different person, and again am able to do all my own housework.

Hereafter I shall always recommend H. & N. Pills to my friends."

TWO MORE WOMEN FEARED MURDERED

PARIS, Dec. 15 (A.P.). — Two women who had answered help wanted advertisements, inserted in newspapers by Eugene Weidmann, confessed executioner for a murder-for-profit ring, were reported missing to-day.

Investigating police said they feared the two women may have met the same fate as Mme. Janine Keller, sixth of Weidmann's known victims, whose body was found in a Fontainebleau forest grave yesterday. His confession that he had killed Jean de Koven, young Brooklyn, N.Y., dancer, started the probe-and investigation.

Detectives found want ad clippings in Weidmann's suburban St. Cloud villa and started a search for persons they said had answered his offers of employment. The investigators said they found all but two women, who were reported to have disappeared. Their names and nationalities were not disclosed.

Police also said they found papers which led them to list Weidmann as a possible suspect in the slaying of Thomas Brown, 29, of Montreal, in Canada in 1929. Weidmann was deported from Canada in 1930 after conviction of theft.

An assistant of investigating Magistrate Georges Berry said the magistrate regarded the discovery "of such importance that he decided to send a commission to Canada to make inquiries."

(Havas News Agency, however, reported Magistrate Berry, in charge of the investigation, denied the Brown case was being investigated.)

Weidmann denied participation in any crimes outside French territory.

Hastings Man Falls Through River Ice

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HASTINGS, Dec. 15.—While Harry Lemoire and Bill Armstrong were walking on the ice, going up the river, near the railroad bridge, shortly after dark, Monday night, the former had a thrilling experience when he put one leg through the ice into the chilly water. Both men had been working about fifteen feet from shore, when the near accident took place, but they decided afterwards to pursue their journey by the road, a few feet from the shore, is being much the safer route.

Deny Verendrye Saw Rockies

SASKATOON, Dec. 15 (C.P.). — La Verendrye, French explorer credited by some historians as the first white man to see the Rocky Mountains in Canada, never got near the mountains, Dr. A. A. Morton, Saskatchewan University history professor, said last night at a Saskatoon Archaeological Society meeting.

As La Verendrye had not allowed for compass deviations, accounts of his journeys were not always accurate, Prof. Morton said.

Some years ago near Pierre, S.D. a tablet left by the explorer's son was uncovered and definitely established that mountains referred to in the annals of the La Verendrye journey were the Black Hills of South Dakota, the professor claimed. The farthest west the Frenchman travelled was on a longitudinal parallel east of the forks of the Saskatchewan River, he said.

A clock which records the frequency of highway accidents is on display in London.

Striking 4,000 Keys A Minute Proud Record Of Piano Player

Vince Boyd Appears As Accompanist In Peterborough Amateur Programs

"Nothing in the world requires such speed in thinking as fast piano playing," Vincent "Flying Fingers" Boyd, who has been appearing as accompanist at the Capitol Theatre amateur programs, said to-day. And Vince Boyd ought to know, for Believe-it-or-not Ripley cites him as the fastest piano player in the world.

"Striking piano keys at the rate of 4,000 a minute, you can imagine how fast your brain must work," the well-known pianist said. "As your eyes slide along the musical score, your mind must assimilate the significance of the many characters for each chord and transmit motor impulses to the finger tips with lightning speed. I have always thought the mental exercise involved in piano playing akin to mathematical exercise."

Of course, even Flying Fingers Boyd doesn't strike piano keys at the rate of 4,000 a minute for very long at a stretch and, he points out himself, it must be remembered as many as ten piano keys can be struck simultaneously. So, fast piano playing cannot be compared directly with, for instance, fast typewriting where only one key at a time can be struck.

No World Championship

There is no accepted world championship in fast piano playing, Vince Boyd explains, for no one has ever established an accepted standard basis of speed test. Vincent Lopez, famous orchestra pianist, was long popularly regarded as the fastest of ivory dusters by reason of a timing on one piece which gave him a record of 3,600 keys a minute. Some claim he could strike keys at the rate of 8,000 a minute, but just for a few seconds at a stretch.

Vince Boyd established his mark of 4,000 keys a minute, using one of his own compositions with a known number of notes and timing accurately the playing of various portions of the piece. He demonstrated to an audience of many millions of radio listeners over the Ripley NBC program last year.

Toughest Job

Though fast piano playing is no cinch, Vince Boyd says, it is not the only piano playing job which is difficult, for the job of accompanist on amateur programs is one of the toughest going.

"Sixty per cent. of amateurs have not the slightest sense of musical timing or rhythm and you must be ready for just about anything when you are working with an amateur," he states.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Harmful poisons go into the body, and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

A mere bowel movement doesn't always get at the cause. You need something that works on the liver as well. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmless and gentle, they make the bile flow freely. They do the work of calomel but have no calomel or mercury in them. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name! Stubbornly refuse anything else. 28g

Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Steer of Inverlea Avenue have left today for Midland, Ontario, called there owing to the death of the former's father, the late James H. Steer.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Urquhart, formerly Miss Clara Pethuk, of Vancouver, B.C., are the guests for this week of Mrs. O. H. Nichols of the Crown Apartments.

The marriage is taking place quietly on Saturday in the Church of the Redeemer, Toronto of Miss Hilda Harrington, daughter of the late Dr. and Mrs. A. J. Harrington, to Arthur Robert Payne, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. George H. Payne, of Lindsay.

The tea and sale of home-made cooking, which had been planned for Friday of this week by Queen Mary Home and School Association, has been indefinitely postponed owing to the death of the late James H. Steer, father of O. M. Steer, principal of Queen Mary School. The pupils have already spent a good deal of time decorating their classrooms for "open school" on Friday, so permission has been given for any parents to visit the school on that day, and view the rooms.

The afternoon branch of All Saints Women's Auxiliary was addressed by Miss Greta Clark on Tuesday afternoon. Miss Clark gave a most interesting and instructive illustrated address on her work among the Chinese students and women in the Cathedral parish at Kaifeng, in Honan province, China, where she is a deaconess. Following the address, the Rector, the Rev. Canon Paterson presided for the nomination of officers for the coming year.

The Young People's Society of St. Paul's Church held a Christmas meeting in the primary room of the Sunday School on Tuesday evening. An opening carol service was conducted by the president, Miss Marion Armstrong, and was followed by an interesting talk by Mrs. James Walker. The members brought toys to the meeting to be given to the Ladies' Aid for the Christmas baskets, and these decorated a large Christmas tree. Refreshments were served by the executive of the society to the members. About thirty-seven young people were present.

Dolly Lewis
Jolly Birthday Party.

A jolly party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Allan Lewis, 278 Simcoe street, to celebrate their eldest daughter, Gladys (Dolly) Lewis' seventh birthday.

Mrs. Lewis was assisted by Mrs. Henry Jay in entertaining the kiddies with songs and games. A delightful birthday tea was served, when the table centred with the birthday cake, and decorated with rose, red and white baskets filled with candy. Paper hats, balloons and noise makers, presented to each little guest added to the fun of the party.

Playmates present were Beverly Hutton, Ann Pitchford, Lorraine Sexsmith, Corinne Buller, Mary Lou King, Shirley Buller, Barbara and Gloria Lang, Barbara Harris, Barbara Lewis, Frederick Jay. Adele Fitzgerald was unable to be present.

Christmas Meeting
St. Andrew's W.M.S.

The December meeting of the St. Andrew's Women's Missionary Society was held on Tuesday afternoon in the church parlors, which were decorated in keeping with the Yuletide season.

Miss F. Dixon presided and opened the meeting with a Christmas hymn and prayer. Mrs. F. E. Johnson read the Scripture lesson, which was followed by a responsive prayer led by Mrs. E. Shirley.

The very interesting Christmas story, "The Angel," written by the late Ralph Connor, was the main subject of the meeting, and was read by Mrs. W. F. Nelson, after which Miss M. Ferguson led in prayer.

Miss Dixon made fitting reference to the loss which the society had sustained in the recent death of Mrs. B. L. Barns, who for a number of years had been a very active and valued member, whose leadership and inspiration in missionary work will be sadly missed by the society.

During the meeting, Martin Luther's cradle hymn, "Away in a Manger," was very sweetly sung by Miss Olga Westbye, with Mrs. Ormann playing the piano accompaniment.

Tea was served at the close of the meeting under the capable supervision of Mrs. W. Zelhr and Mrs. H. McClelland.

With the leader, Mrs. Ruth Reynolds, presiding, the meeting was in keeping with the Christmas spirit and opened with a Christmas hymn, followed with prayer by the leader. The roll call was answered with a Christmas verse. Mrs. McDonald read the Scripture lesson, and Mrs. J. Fairbrother led in prayer. A very interesting chapter of the Study Book was taken by Mrs. H. McHoull, and Mrs. A. P. Hagerman read a Christmas story. Very lovely solos were sung by Mrs. C. Foster and Mrs. T. E. Curvin, accompanied by Mrs. W. P. Purdy and Mrs. H. A. Bonney.

A vote of thanks to Mrs. McKee was voiced by Mrs. J. C. Wood, and also to all who took part in the program. Thanks to the leader and the executive for faithful work during the year was also expressed by Mrs. Wood. Refreshments were served by Mrs. H. McHoull, social convenor, and her assistants.

The rest of the program was in charge of the Young People of St. Andrew's, and included a few words from the pastor, the Rev. E. W. Young, who spoke of the visitors' pleasure at being present. Jack McKone, the president, was in the chair, and the program included an address by Miss Frances Clark on "Pioneers of Missions," and "Current Events," taken by James Harvey. Two solos were well sung by Adam Hawley, who was accompanied at the piano by Gordon Harle, who also played a piano solo.

A hour's recreational period was in charge of Knox Young People, directed by Don Charlton and Orm Benson, and refreshments were served to close the evening, with Miss Inez Barrer in charge, with Mrs. J. T. Donaldson and Mrs. I. Oesch.

The presentation was made by Mrs. J. Douglas, and an address read by Mrs. E. Brown. A presentation was also made to one of the oldest members, Mrs. J. W. Poor Speech Keeps You From Success

Poor Ted, you think, he's his own worst enemy. If he'd listen more, talk less, he might see how his poor vocabulary holds him back.

"I sure am having the time of my life," he tells you, "such a hotPITable hostess, such nifty music." People he admires would say: "I'm having a delightful time; such a HOSpitable hostess, such lively music."

Listen to yourself to avoid such blunders. Do you "choose the tayble-de-HOTE"? Table d'hote is pronounced TAH-ble-dote. Or do you "want to go SOMEwheres" SOMEwhere, no final "s," is right. Perhaps you annoy by tacking "fine" or "swell" of everything you like. Try "delightful," "amusing," "pleasant."

Our 32-page booklet tells how to burish up your vocabulary. Points out right and wrong phrases; gives fresh vivid words for overworked ones; adds poise and zest to your talk.

A former San Franciscan, Miss Owen flew to San Francisco from Santa Barbara, while waiting for the official okeh.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

LEADING TO A TENACE

THERE ARE times when it is absolutely correct to lead up to an A-Q in the dummy. This is so if you can read that the declarer has a singleton of the suit in his hand, and therefore there is only one entry to bring in the dummy's suit, which is not yet safely established. The doubt of its establishment can be, because there is one honor out against it or because you or your partner may happen to hold a hostile trump.

(Dealer: South. Neither side vulnerable.)

North and South reached a contract of 6-Clubs on this deal. South started with 1-Club, North bid 1-Spade, South 2-Clubs, North 2-Hearts, South 3-Diamonds, North 3-Hearts, South 5-Clubs and North 6-Clubs.

Against this bidding, West elected to lead the heart 9, which the declarer covered with dummy's 10 and which East allowed to ride. The club 3 was now finessed and the club A cashed, showing that East held the remaining trumps. Declarer cashed the heart A and then put East in with the club K, figuring that he could draw all the outstanding trumps and use the remaining hearts in dummy, provided the suit broke, to discard his diamonds.

However, East had read South's holdings perfectly from the bidding and knew South held six clubs, four diamonds, and possibly only one spade. He therefore returned a small spade up to dummy's tenace, in the hope of killing the heart suit. His play accomplished this and the contract was set.

Tomorrow's Problem

(Dealer: West. North-South vulnerable.)

How can North and South reach a contract of 7-Hearts on this deal?

CALGARY, Dec. 15 (CP).—Parisian women will decide whether the "golden-silver" pelts of two "freak" foxes bred in Alberta are worthy adoption as a new style for the smartly dressed woman.

The pelts were shown to members of the Alberta Silver Fox Breeders' Association at their annual meeting here last night. Called golden silvers by some experts, the pelts were exhibited by William Clarke, Blackfalds, Alta., on whose farm they were raised.

The golden silvers were a mystery even to the owner who could not explain how the peculiar strain developed. The pelts will be sent to Paris for exhibition.

YARMOUTH, N.S.—(CP).—Beavers in Nova Scotia are increasing rapidly, it was reported to the Yarmouth County Fish and Game Association. Members believe an open season will soon be required to keep the number down.

Women Suffrage Martyrs Meet

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15 (AP) — Women who picketed the White House and went to jail for women's suffrage 20 years ago held their first reunion here today to organize a campaign for passage of an "equal rights" amendment.

Attending the biennial conference of the national woman's party, delegates who had been in jail were recognizable by "prison pins" given them for "distinguished service" in the war-time crusade for women's right to vote in the United States.

Their leader in a jail experience "confession" symposium was Betty Gram Swing of New York, a dynamic little woman with bobbed gray hair, jailed five times and on hunger strikes twice.

"My most dramatic experience was in solitary confinement," she said. "I was in a cement cell seven-by-seven and had no food for three days. I opened by Bible by chance to a verse in Proverbs which read: 'Eat not the food of the man whose heart is not with thee'."

Scores of women were arrested in 1917 after demonstrations at the White House. When police broke up the parades, disorders resulted.

"Now women have the vote," Mrs. Swing declared, "but it is only a symbol of freedom."

PAINT WELL COOKED

HALIFAX—(CP)—A church supper in the Kay Memorial United Church was slightly delayed when the stove—heated and ready to cook the food—was opened and flames burst forth. Hot paint also poured out, as several cans of the fluid had been left there when the fire was started.

London Society Goes Victorian With Variation

LONDON, Dec. 15.—(CP)—Royal parties are giving a lead to current fashions. Women's dresses and men's costumes for evening are taking on a sumptuous dignity. This trend is in keeping with the gold plate used at state dinners such as that for King Leopold of the Belgians and the magnificent chandeliers and brocade of spacious palace ballrooms.

Slinky, seductive gowns of the night club era are becoming as out-of-date as long cigarette holders and scarlet nail polish. Victorian necklines—whalebone bodice and skirts many yards around—are worn by pretty young things with flowers wreathed in their hair. Heavy-jewelled brooches belonging to their grandmothers are worn by older women. White-gloved hands once again wave lace and feathers fans.

A new variety of Court evening dress was worn by men attending the Buckingham Palace ball in honor of King Leopold. This change, sanctioned by the Lord Chamberlain, may have a definite effect on men's evening fashions. The invitations instructed the men guests to wear evening coats with breeches made of a similar material, black silk stockings and pumps. For the first time cloth breeches were worn to a Palace ball. The usual black satin ones are correct costume for a State ball; this was considered a private party—with a difference.

London tailors and hostesses heartily approve of the move and express their belief that it is a step in the direction of more attractive evening costumes for men. Many stated they hoped that by next season breeches would appear at other evening affairs.

More Home Affairs

There is also a change in the form of evening parties. The Duke and Duchess of Kent have been giving small informal entertainments, a few friends to dinner, several invited to come afterwards and cabaret artists to amuse the guests later in the evening. In other words, the artists go to the party, not the guests to the night club. The Duchess has on several occasions appeared in a black velvet dress made in crino-line style and her sister, Princess Paul of Yugoslavia, has worn a similar gown.

Children have already begun to taste the joys of the holiday season for there have been a number of parties. At one the problem of whether or not each little guest would like the favor-present chosen for it was solved by the hostess presenting every one with a sum of toy money in a little purse. The children then proceeded to buy the presents their hearts desired.

The royal children are to copy their parents and be present at a Command Performance. There will be this difference however—the Command Performance for Princess Elizabeth and Princess Margaret Rose will take place at a children's party at Buckingham Palace on Dec. 14, and will be given by the Scottish Children's Theatre Company, a talented group of young players organized about 100 years ago who have come only twice to London.

In the meantime the "two little ladies of Buckingham Palace" are busily engaged in following in their mother's and grandmother's footsteps. They knitted for Queen Mary's needlework guild. Princess Elizabeth presented a blue wool jacket for a child invalid and Princess Margaret Rose a salmon pink scarf. This guild, organized by Queen Mary in war time, continues to sew for the poor in the hospitals and every year the work is sent direct from various branches to her at Marlborough House and by her to where she considers it is most needed.

Slim Princess Line And Peasant Rule

Season of Contrasts Divides Style Between Two Silhouettes

(By Lisbeth)

The slim princess and the peasant maid both rule the fashion world today, dividing the realm between them. A woman can go svelt for one social event; and the next day she may be picturesque in a wide-skirted dress—yards around the hem.

It is a season of contrasts, and one wardrobe may contain such utterly different types of dress as the two rather extreme models pictured here.

The Far Eastern influence—the harem—inspired the lines of the softly draped mustard yellow silk jersey dinner frock shown left. Notice the effective draping of the slit skirt, the molded bodice, the tight, wide girdle, the draped short sleeves and the ruffle of fabric that completes the high neckline in jabot-fashion. It is a gown that would make a sensation at any dinner party. A turban of the same material is topped with fur to match a short jacket which is worn with it. It is from Stein and Blaine.

Black and White Striking

Even more picturesque and striking is the black and white evening ensemble displayed right. It combines black silk velvet and white silk net. The fitted basque jacket has short sleeves. The dress is outlined with the same silk velvet as the jacket in a leaf design at the hem.

With this dress is worn a sequin headdress and Schiaparelli's silk velvet mitts.

With sheer fabrics more used than for many seasons all through the colder months of the year, the silk jerseys in soft, exceedingly drapable versions are also favored. Stiff fabrics, too, like silk taffetas and ribbed silks, are much used, and will be seen a great deal at the southern resorts.

Revivals of duchess silk satins broche silk faille and other ribbed silks in two shades or monotones are reported from Lyons, the home of the Lyons velvets.

Silk taffetas are going to be seen for daytime as well as evening wear. Taffetas are being shown for blouses and afternoon dresses, not only in plain colors, but in changeable versions, some in small prints on dark grounds—which look very new—and some in dashing stripes.

Draped mustard yellow silk jersey dinner frock, turban to match, from Stein and Blaine; right, black and white ensemble combining black silk velvet basque and white silk net skirt outlined with velvet in leaf design.

JUST BETWEEN US WOMEN

A Daily Chat With Examiner Neighbors, Conducted by Roberta.

RIGHT and wrong are in the nature of things. They are not words, and phrases. They are in the nature of things, and if you transgress the laws laid down imposed by the nature of things, depend upon it, you will pay the penalty.

—John Morley.

Dear Friends:

How often we hear those two words, right and wrong, and sometimes we take little heed of them until something we have done rises up and hits us in the face.

What we must realize is, the things that are right or wrong for us. Never mind what the other fellow does, it is what we do that gives us peace or torture.

If you stick your hand into a hot stove, you must pay the penalty of being burnt. If you run in front of a car you pay again in being hurt.

If, in your anger, you allow your tongue to wound and hurt some other, you pay again in the loss of that one. So many seem to think that if they say they are sorry, it clears everything up, but you cannot take back words once uttered, nor erase bitter memories.

The dictionary tells us: "Right. That which is correct; that which accords with truth, justice, virtue, propriety, etc.; not mistaken; healthy, as to feel all right." And much, much more. Look it up yourself.

And it tells us this about wrong: "Amiss; out of order; not morally right; an evil or injury; false; unjust; not lawful." And more to it too.

When we are well in health, we say we feel good, or if someone says "How are you?" we say all right. But when our head aches, or we have a cold we are all wrong. See what I mean.

And it is the same when we do not act as we should, for we do not feel right, so apart from the penalties we must pay, it is to our own interest and peace of mind to try and be as right as ever we can.

Not just right in an argument, but living the right way, doing the right thing both for ourselves and for others. There used to be a slogan "Get right with God" and the idea is good. But as we live day after day, we must choose the right or the wrong way. Whichever we choose we pay the penalty, either in peace and happiness, or in wretchedness and misery.

The worst trouble anyone can suffer is in the knowledge that they brought it on themselves, or, as the modern youth has it, "we asked for it." What others do to us is bad enough, but when we must admit it is our own fault, then our suffering is doubled.

It is hard to be right all the time, but we can be right most of the time if we try. Why stumble through life when a little taking care will make all the difference.

And for pity's sake don't keep shoving your rightness down people's throat all the time. They will know it, be sure of that, without your making a parade of it.

You can be just as sinful by too great a parade of it as those who are wrong more often. So, get right with God first get right with your family, with your friends, with your neighbors, and you will reap a rich reward. Believe also that I am right with you in being.

Your Friend,
ROBERTA.

FRUIT-A-TIVES LIVER TABLETS

Amateur Night St. John's A.Y.P.A.

A large audience enjoyed an excellent program last evening in St. John's Parish Hall, when the Anglican Young People's Society staged the second "amateur night' of this season.

The first half of the program was confined to amateur talent up to the age of sixteen, when the first prize honors went to that talented little tap-dancing and singing team, Shirley Garner and Kenneth Simmons, aged seven and nine years respectively. The other prizes were awarded as follows: 2nd, eight-year-old Jean Millard, who danced the Highland Fling; 3rd, Regina DeCarlo, thirteen years, song and tap dance; 4th, Beverly and Joan Reynolds, six and eight years, tap dance. Consolation awards went to Ross Cribis, concertina; Angeline DeCarlo, Sylvia Duignan and Irvin Parnell, Teresa Crough, Betty Monahan, and Donald Spargo, who all gave lively and delightful song and tap-dance numbers.

The adult competitors received enthusiastic applause during a talented and happily arranged program, with first place awarded to a guitar trio, composed of Velma Scott, Ruth Harrison and Jean McElwain. 2nd prize was won by Mickey McManus, step-dance; 3rd, Miss Frances Wells, piano selection. Other contestants were Harry McDonald, violin solo; Mrs. Busby and J. Maudesley, duet; Emmett Kearney, piano solo; Bob McKinlay, imitations; Bill Guerin, song; Jack O'Dette, mouth organ; Bernie O'Toole and Jack O'Dette, clarinet and mouth organ.

During the intermission, members of St. George's A.Y.P.A. presented a clever little skit, "Waiting at the Church,' in which parts were taken by Bernice Curtis (bride); Ken Gibson (groom); Grace Fallis (sister); Mabel Busby (Mea); Annette Lafebre (Pa); Curly Fallis (minister); Jack Adamson (cop); J. Maudesley (rich uncle); Art Kenworth (telephone boy). Mrs. R. King accompanied as pianist.

Judges for the evening were Miss Cathleen McCarthy, the Rev. Canon W. P. Robertson and W. L. Hepburn. Jack Marshall was the able master of ceremonies, and also accompanied at the piano for a number of the contestants. Two door prizes, a chicken for the children's and a turkey for the grownups, were also awarded, and were won by Hilda Noble of 429 Chambers street, and Bert Graham of 610 George street. The four main prizes in the competitions were cash vouchers to be redeemed at Knox Jewellers.

The performances were enhanced by the delightful stage setting, representing a living room at Christmas time, completed with decorated trees, and lighting effects in red and green, and lighted fireplace. Jack Marshall had supervised the painting of the scenery which had been smartly carried out in black and silver.

Italian officers and men lost in Ethiopia since January 1, 1935, now total 4,056.

THE STARS SAY . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLLE

For Thursday, December 16

Very progressive and expansive and solidifying factors figure in this day's activities, judging by the lunar transits. There may be a fine incentive to fulfilled ambitions in a large way, with the co-operation of influential persons or major institutions. Elders also assist in these worthy projects, and there are likely to be advantageous and happy reactions in new friendships or social contacts.

Those whose birthday it is are confronted by a year of splendid opportunity for growth, expansion and increased finances, and personal popularity and standing, both in business and social relations. Elders should offer practical co-operation. Speculation is also under good auspices.

A child born on this day may be ambitious, progressive and responsible, although much given to social life, fashionable functions and diversions. Its fondness for splendor and show will not prevent its arrival at a high and respected position.

peror would grant an audience to the foreign minister for presentation of a memorandum from President Roosevelt.

(The United States president on Monday directed State Secretary Hull to tell Japanese Ambassador Hirosi Saito the president was "deeply shocked and concerned by the news of indiscriminate bombing of American and other non-Chinese vessels on the Yangtze and that he requests that the emperor be so advised.")

Earlier a high Japanese official said that the gist of the Roosevelt memorandum had been delivered to the emperor.

JAPS CELEBRATING IN FALLEN NANKING

street combat that preceded Monday's formal announcement of Japanese victory.

Japanese authorities notified United States naval officials at Shanghai that two American newspapermen and a newsreel cameraman were safe at Nanking and might proceed to Shanghai on a Japanese gunboat.

These were C. Yates McDaniel of the Associated Press, Tillman Durdin of the New York Times and Arthur Kenken of Paramount Newsreel.

Unverified accounts of tremendous loss of life among Chinese civilians and troops increased fears here regarding the unreported foreigners.

Spearing out 35 miles northeast of Nanking last night, a Japanese force surprised Chinese defending Yangchow and captured the walled city.

The Yangchow attack followed a defiant rejection by General Mah Siao-Chen, commanding the Chinese force there, of General Matsui's request that he surrender.

Chinese press reports of the exchange pointed out that Mah and Matsui had been fellow students at a Japanese military academy.

"There can be no personal friendship between us while there is war between China and Japan," the Chinese general said.

Another Japanese column advancing along the Yangtze River captured fortifications and 22 large guns outside Nanking.

A Japanese army spokesman here said that while Nanking was in Japanese hands occupation of the area was not complete because Chinese guns at the Lion Hill forts had not been silenced and other batteries in the western hills still were firing.

BRITAIN STUDIES REINFORCEMENTS

The known dead in the Panay incident were: Charles L. Ensminger, Ocean Beach, Calif., Panay storekeeper; Capt. C. H. Carlson, commander of one of three oil company ships bombed in the attack; and Sandro Sandri, Italian newspaperman.

In addition, a Chinese crew member of one of the vessels and an unidentified seaman had been reported killed. It was believed at first the unidentified seaman might have been Ensminger.

American naval authorities were informed that the United States gunboat Oahu and the British gunboat Ladybird were bringing refugees to Shanghai, and that the British gunboat, Bee, with some of the survivors aboard, was proceeding to Wuhu, upstream from the scene of the tragedy, presumbaly to pick up two other foreign survivors.

A Japanese spokesman said minesweepers must precede the rescue ships, because of mines.

Four newspapermen survivors on the rescue ships messaged that the refugee band was suffering from shock and exposure and added that "it was a miracle any escaped" the bombing an dthe Chinese-Japanese fighting near Hohsien where they landed after the attack.

RUSTLER ADMITS STEALING 5 COWS

WHITBY, Dec. 15.—Mike Mackey, alias Nick Boris, Pickering Township, pleaded guilty to charges of cattle rustling and burglary before Magistrate F. S. Ebbs in District Police Court yesterday afternoon.

The accused was remanded a week in custody for sentence.

Because evidence pertaining to similar charges against Fred Beliskiy, Pickering Township, would be given by Mackey, while still awaiting sentence, counsel for Beliskiy argued that Mackey would be placed in a position whereby his evidence might be colored by hope of a lighter sentence by the court.

Beliskiy, through his counsel, elected trial by jury on a charge of burglary, and Magistrate Ebbs committed him to a higher court after the preliminary hearing. The charge of cattle rustling was remanded for hearing until February 8.

Both accused were charged with stealing five cows from the farm of Arthur Percy, Pickering Township, on November 19, and with breaking and entering by night the residence of Isaac Weiner of Toronto, situated in Pickering Township, where a quantity of clothing and household effects, valued at over $200, was stolen.

Provincial Constable Clark displayed a bundle of blankets, pillows and linen which Weiner identified as being stolen from his summer home at Pickering. Clark stated the bundle had been picked up at Sudbury as an express office, where it was despatched from Toronto by a person giving his name as Fred Boliskiy.

Suburban Section of Monaghan Prepares Election Slate Three Candidates Picked

Alex. Archibald And Wm. J. Grady Give Their Assent To Contest Council Seats

Alex W. Archibald and Wm. J. Grady gave their assent to prospective nomination for seats in the North Monaghan council at last night's meeting of the Suburban Ratepayers' Association, and a committee was appointed to request Reeve James Milby to present himself again as a candidate for the position of presiding officer of the council of 1938.

The meeting was held in May's School with Harold B. Rye, president of the Association, in the chair, and about forty of the ratepayers from the Brownton district present. Next week's meeting will also be held in May's School next Monday night.

The committee to interview Reeve Milby is composed of Mr. Rye, Herb Doig, C. Wilson, J. S. Roberts and Arthur Pagett; and the men who were deputed to nominate the Association's candidates on Thursday, December 23, are Mr. Doig, Isaac Hammond, John Shaughnessy and Leslie Bristow.

The first two organization meetings were held in Confederation School, and the move to May's School last night was prompted by a desire to enlist the support of ratepayers in that section of the township's suburban area. Mr. Archibald was proposed as a representative of the Brownton district, and Mr. Grady as the representative of the Clarsday neighborhood on the eastern sector of the township.

Claim of Suburbs

In explaining the general purpose of organization Mr. Rye said it was only fair to the suburban ratepayers that they should have more numerical influence in the council of next year. The county's new equalized assessment had increased North Monaghan's assessment by $240,000. "The farmers are now assessed for $244,413, and that is just $4,000 more than the total increase on the whole township. So we are paying county rates on what the whole township used to pay."

Mr. Rye presented the following comparative statement of North Monaghan assessment according to school sections showing the change that had taken place in ten years. School sections 1, 3 and 4 are in the rural area of the township, and school section 2 comprises the suburban section including Confederation and May's Schools.

In 1927 School section No. 1 assessment was $131,629; S.S. No. 3—$130,505; S.S. No. 4—$51,726. Total $313,940.

School section No. 2—$536,494; Separate School assessment, $114,-250. Total, $647,674.

Total for the entire township in 1927—$961,623.

The assessment for 1937 was quoted as follows: No. 1 section, $106,475; No. 3 section, $101,514; No. 4 section, $36,227. Total, $244,213.

No. 2 section, $654,940; Separate school assessment, $93,925. Total, $748,865.

Total for the entire township in 1937—$993,078.

Continuing his comparison on a percentage basis Mr. Rye said the assessment in No. 2 section showed an increase of 22 per cent; assessment in No. 1 section had declined 20 per cent; and the change in comparison with No. 2 was 42 per cent.

No. 3 section assessment was down 23 per cent; and the change in comparison with No. 2 section was 45 per cent.

No. 4 section was down 30 per cent; and the change was 52 per cent in comparison with No. 2 section.

Separate School assessment was down 16 per cent, or 38 per cent in comparison with No. 2 section's assessment.

"Fair Representation"

"We want to see if we can get a fair representation in the council," Mr. Rye said. "Our school accommodation in this section will have to be attended to before long. The only way to get things adjusted is by way of more representation in the council. At the same time we want to see that everybody gets a square deal, and it is our intention to work in harmony with others. Our object is not to take up any little private grievances that any individual may have. We want to work for the benefit of this section and for the township in general. We want to co-operate with the council, not to embarrass them. The residents of Claraday have no axe to grind, but we believe that if all the suburban ratepayers bring out candidates for offices in the township we can accomplish something. In view of the fact that we are the heaviest contributors to the township's tax roll we should have more representation than the other sections have. The figures show clearly how our assessment has increased."

Mr. Rye said he had heard that Reeve Milby desired to retire from the council because of his personal affairs, "but I think we can persuade him to stay for another year at least. He has shown himself capable of handling the affairs of the township. Our sewer connection charges have been reduced, and that is important especially to residents in the Claraday section, and two of our roads have been taken over by the county this year, Monaghan Road from St. Peter's cemetery south to Cameron Street, and also the road west from the end of Sherbrooke Street to the Cavan boundary. I know that Mr. Milby has done a lot for the township at his own expense."

Mr. Grady Accepts

The ratepayers decided to cast about for possible candidates for nomination day, and Mr. Grady was unanimously urged to offer his services.

"I consider it an honor to have my name mentioned as a prospective candidate," Mr. Grady said; "and I believe a man owes service to his municipality. I don't feel like sidestepping the issue if you want me. With your support I feel confident we'll have some success. If I should find myself in the North Monaghan council next year I will do my utmost to show fairness and just dealing to all classes of the township."

Promises Square Deal

Alex Archibald had been previously mentioned, but he seemed diffident about consenting to enter the election contest. Finally he also expressed his willingness in the words "If you insist and are backing me, I am at the back of you." The meeting was unanimous for him, and when he was asked for a speech, Mr. Archibald said that if he was elected he "would stand for fair and square dealing. I'll say no more till I get in and have a trial."

Reeve Milby will be invited to attend next Monday night's meeting at May's School.

UNABLE TO PAY DRIVER OF CAR GOES TO JAIL

Joseph Delore of this city appeared on an adjourned charge of operating a motor vehicle without a driver's permit, this morning and took three days' imprisonment because he was unable to pay a fine of $10 and 75 cents costs imposed by Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C.

On his original appearance a week ago, the defendant pleaded guilty to the charge and obtained a week's adjournment in an effort to raise the money to pay a fine. This morning he asked a further adjournment until after Christmas, but His Worship after hearing Provincial Highway Traffic Constable Lloyd A. McClure's observations, refused the request.

"Even though it is near Christmas Your Worship," Constable McClure declared, "the fact is Delore was driving a car that should not have been on the road. When I asked to see his driving permit, he produced a license that had belonged to a dead man. He had erased the original name from it and had substituted his own."

"You presented the officer with a dead man's license; you were driving all year without a license and I told you last week you'd have to have the money or go to gaol," the magistrate exclaimed in disposing of the matter.

For unlawfully driving a commercial motor vehicle on Park street without a chauffeur's license or operator's permit, a young woman paid a fine of $10 and $2.50 costs.

Carl Ailt of Actinolite contributed a fine of $2 and $3 costs on pleading guilty to a charge of operating a motor truck without proper lights. Constable McClure told the court that on a recent evening Ailt was driving an old model truck on Highway 28 without lights. The truck was equipped with acetylene lamps of the old type.

The officer declared the defendant in attempting to get to Peterborough before nightfall reached Springville garage and then had someone tow him into the city. A red lantern was hung on the rear of the old truck.

For angle parking in contravention of a city by-law some local motorists were ordered to pay fines of $2 each and costs. "There is a lot of angle and double parking on George street and it is a shame traffic in the business section should be impeded in this way," Magistrate Langley observed.

VENTURES LIMITED HAS INVESTMENT IN NEPHELINE PLANT

John F. Pierce, O.L.S., has completed the extensive survey of Methuen Township on which he had a group of men engaged for five months this year. The commission was received by Mr. Pierce from the Ontario Government for the special purpose of determining property limits in the vicinity of the Blue Mountains where Canadian Nepheline Company is operating their mine. Further to the north-east of the township the Canadian Flint and Spar Company has acquired important holdings, and both these interests engaged Mr. Pierce for the purpose of the exact location of their lands.

Reference to the Canadian Nepheline Company's activities in Methuen appeared on the financial page of the Toronto paper on Tuesday showing that Ventures Limited has become interested in this Peterborough County industry. That fact was known here and there nearly a year ago, and the information that Lindsleys were behind the quarrying east of Stoney Lake was accepted as assurance of progressive development.

The Toronto paper's comment in its financial section follows:

"One of the newer developments of Ventures, Ltd., in the non-metallic industrial minerals field is its investment in Canadian Nepheline, Ltd. This company is engaged in the mining of nepheline syenite, a rock of high alumina content which is of particular importance to the glass industry in its production of glass of relatively great strength and brilliancy. The deposits, which are located at Lakefield, Ontario, are remarkable for uniformity of mineral content, which lends itself to low-cost quarrying and treatment. In addition to a plant at Lakefield, a mill has been constructed at Rochester, N.Y., for further treatment and distribution among the American glass trade. The latter mill is presently operating at 125 tons a day. The Lakefield property has extensive deposits, several million tons being estimated already in sight.

"The high alumina content is claimed in some quarters to lend the operation possibilities other than in the glass industry. Similar deposits found in the Kola Peninsula, Russia, are being investigated for its possibilities of replacing bauxite as a source of aluminum. It is stated that treatment of nephelite ore with hydro-fluoric acid offers some prospect of commercial success. The many by-products available from nephelite ores make the investigation interesting, in view of the fact that the relatively low market value of aluminum does not of itself offset the expenditure on re-agents. Production of aluminum might pay, however, along with other products, in addition to the use of the mineral in glass making."

Social Service Worker Will Be Named As Superintendent Of Children's Aid Society

Resignation Of John Edgar Is Accepted By Society's Board

Adopting the report of a committee specially appointed to deal with the situation, the Children's Aid Society Board, at its regular meeting on Tuesday afternoon, accepted the resignation of Superintendent John Edgar, and decided to seek a qualified social service worker to succeed him, in accordance with a recent recommendation of an official of the Ontario Department of Public Welfare.

The committee's report, adopted on motion of Alderman Walter Stocker, assured Superintendent Edgar his twelve years of service to the local society were appreciated by every member and further intimated he retained the goodwill of the board.

In Consultive Capacity

After his resignation takes effect, Mr. Edgar is to be retained in a consultive capacity for a period of four months at the sum of $50 per month, "in order that the society may avail itself of his experience should necessity arise," while it goes through the process of reorganization.

"It will be the last time you will sit in with us as superintendent of this society, and I personally wish to express my appreciation to you. I have enjoyed your co-operation and your fellowship," the Rev. Dr. A. T. Barr, president, acknowledged, after the board had accepted Mr. Edgar's resignation. He expressed the opinion that under the circumstances the superintendent should be permitted to say a few words by way of his "valedictory."

After some further business had been transacted by the board, Mr. Edgar addressed the members, thanking them for "the kind words you have spoken regarding me." He remarked on the fact that he had spent a total of 21 years in the work of the Children's Aid Society and the last 12 years as superintendent of the local branch.

Has No Regrets

"During the whole of that time I have tried to do what I thought was right. In fact, I have no regrets to express for any of my actions. In a great many cases I would probably do the same thing over again. Perhaps a little better with the added experience," he declared.

While resident in Peterborough, Mr. Edgar stated he had always tried to conduct himself in a manner befitting a man in his position. "I have never had a liquor permit. I was never in a beverage room and my name is free of the police records," he said.

Mr. Edgar told members of the Board some of them had entertained mistaken ideas of the duties he was supposed to perform as superintendent, and he commented on the fact that when he was once ordered by the Board to act on the purchasing committee, "some of the ladies were not too friendly towards me."

Mistaken Idea

He claimed members of the county council got it into their heads he had been responsible for an increase in the amount the county was contributing to the work of the Shelter. "Reeve Anderson shakes his head," Mr. Edgar observed glancing in the direction of Otonabee's representative, "possibly he does not believe it, but there are members of the council who do."

So far as preventive work was concerned, Mr. Edgar believed members of the county council and other county officials, "know what I have tried to do and the efforts I have made to keep expenditures of the society down."

Critical of the attitude of two representatives of the Department of Public Welfare who were here in recent months, Mr. Edgar claimed. "The visit of Mr. Ecker was not made with the intention of helping the office."

"Smooth-tongued Orator."

Of Mr. Heisey who was in the city more recently, on whose recommendation the Society is to seek the services of a qualified social service worker, Mr. Edgar asserted: "He is a smooth-tongued orator who would make you believe black was white."

"Why," he demanded of the members of the Society, "did you hear him behind closed doors and not give me the opportunity of hearing him? I do not think that was right."

"I have during the past twelve years given you the best of my life. I leave the work of the Society with a great deal of regret. I have made some marvellous friends throughout the city and county, probably more than you realize," he told the Board.

While there were but a few days left for him to serve the Society, Mr. Edgar promised "my remaining days shall be spent in your service as well as any other days I have given you." In conclusion he wished the members of the Board "A very Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year."

Reeve James Gifford of Ennismore assured Mr. Edgar he had never heard any member of the County Council blame Mr. Edgar for the additional charges in respect to the Children's Aid Society, which the Council was paying. And Reeve Gifford added, "I do not care for the insinuation."

To Seek Successor.

On motion of Alderman Walter Stocker, seconded by Reeve James Milby, E. B. Fowler, C. A. Saimonsen, Alderman James Dutton, Reeve James Gifford, and Rev. Dr. A. T. Barr were appointed a committee to look into the matter of appointing a successor to Mr. Edgar.

Standing committees were appointed as follows: Purchasing, Mrs. J. S. Fanning and Mrs. J. Welch; Housekeeping, Mrs. W. H. Gibbs, Mrs. J. J. Lynch, Mrs. W. Darcy, and Mrs. Lawrence.

The chairman and the treasurer of the Board executed a document formally accepting from the trustees of her estate a legacy of $404.67 willed to the Society by Mrs. Georgina Butler. Moneys from the legacy are to be placed in the capital account.

The Society decided by resolution that every item of $500 or more in the capital account shall be invested in bonds. It was stated the capital account as at the annual meeting in March last was $6,187.10. Of this sum $5,000 was invested in City of Peterborough bonds, it was pointed out.

A donation of fifteen dollars to the funds of the Society from Peter Robinson Chapter I.O.D.E. was accepted by the Board with appreciation.

As being the lowest of three tenders submitted, that of F. G. Wallace for $150 for plumbing at the Shelter, was accepted on motion of Messrs. Stocker and Milby.

Accounts for November as passed for payment by the Board totalled $352.64. Of this amount $314.68 was under head of maintenance and the balance of $37.96 for investigation work by the superintendent.

Preached Jailed For Bigamy

CAMPBELL'S BAY, Que., Dec. 15 (C.P.). — William Newell, itinerant preacher from Westboro, Ont., today was sentenced to three months in jail by Judge R. L. Millar on a charge of bigamy, dating back 21 years. The term will date from the time of his arrest.

Newell was arrested a month ago at Kazabazua, Que., while conducting revival meetings. He was charged with marrying Martha Owens at Ladysmith, Que., in 1916, knowing Emma Jane Moran, whom he had married in Ottawa in 1910, still was [illegible].

Publicity Given Children's Aid Bring Offers Of Christmas Treats

THE publicity which detailed proceedings at the recent adjourned meeting of directors of Peterborough Children's Aid Society had the unexpected result of bringing offers from several organizations in the city to stage Christmas treats for the little inmates of the Shelter.

Presiding at the regular meeting of the Board on Tuesday afternoon, the Rev. Dr. A. T. Barr commenting on the other meeting of a few days ago declared, "Whatever we got out of newspaper publicity, we certainly received a list of offers from organizations to put on Christmas treats at the Shelter".

Indeed so many offers were received that instead of having their own celebration for the children Christmas Day, the Board decided to have it on some other day. Mrs. W. J. Oke, Mrs. J. S. Fanning and Mrs. J. Welch were named a committee to look after details in connection with the Christmas tree entertainment and to spend the twenty-five dollar grant donated for Christmas goodies for the Shelter children by the city fathers.

Next Monday was suggested by some members of the Board as a suitable time for first of the series of Christmas treats to start, but the chairman in all seriousness voiced the reminder, "Monday is wash day at the Shelter."

So it was that details in connection with the Board's annual Christmas treat and the time it shall be held, were left to the discretion of the committee of ladies.

Found Not Guilty Of Serious Charge Already Spent Eight Months In Jail

FOUND guilty by one court and sentenced to penitentiary and lashes, George Selmes of this city was acquitted of a serious charge by a jury Tuesday afternoon after re-trial at the General Sessions of the Peace. Judge D. B. Coleman discharged the prisoner honorably and commended him for the care he took of his family.

"I find from the evidence you supported your family to the best of your ability," the judge said.

Selmes' first trial was by Judge J. A. McGibbon without a jury. On being found guilty, he was sentenced to five years in prison with six lashes. His counsel, W. J. Arthur Fair, took the case before the Appeal Court and obtained an order for a new trial before a jury.

Charging the jury Tuesday, Judge Coleman advised the jurors there were many contradictions in the Crown's evidence and reminded them that one Crown witness completely denied the eye-witness story she told at the first trial.

Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C., prosecuted. Although found not guilty yesterday, Selmes spent a total of eight months in jail here this year by reason of the charge.

In Going Down Cellar To Fix Furnace Man Finds Hound Taken Possession

THE Cecil Wolff's of Downie street had a fright last night, in fact two frights and are still uncertain whether their collie is a dog-napper or not.

It seems supper was abruptly disturbed by a "terrible" dog fight on the front lawn. But when the head of the house sallied forth duly armed with the poker the street and surroundings were bare of dogs except the family guardian and Cec came to the conclusion his dog had gone in for dramatics—or had literally "eaten" his adversary, hide and all.

Came 10.30 and furnace fixing time and Cec went down — but came up doing the flight in one leap flat—for there before the furnace sat a huge black and tan hound—looking as if he owned the cellar—and Cec was for taking no chances.

Pow-wow with Mrs. Wolff and the Wolff's decided son John had hatched an idea for a dog team and put it into action by collaring a pooch and hiding it in the cellar.

John, dragged out of his cot sleepily squelched that theory however and the family had to try over again. It was finally solved when Cec with plenty of backing from the "better half" finally coaxed the invader from his throne room. Investigation of the front lawn showed a scuffle near the coal chute and apparently the hound fighting with his back to the wall had pressed on the hinged door which promptly popped him into the cellar and snapped shut. Cec is thinking of

Harry McLeod Receives Honor Millbrook School Exercises

Winner Of Dr. Norman Allen Scholarship—Clever Musical Program

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MILLBROOK, Dec. 15.—The annual Commencement Exercises of the Continuation School drew large and appreciative audiences to the Town Hall on both Friday and Saturday evenings, December 10 and 11, frequent and prolonged applause showing enjoyment of the excellent program presented.

Opening choruses by the massed pupils of the school appropriately opened the program, Marie Douglas being the accompanist of the evening. W. H. Coombe, chairman of the school board, gave a brief address of welcome and stressed some matters that were of interest to the ratepayers, included in these being the very fine report regarding the work being done by the staff of the Continuation School, which the inspector had given after his recent visit; also his statement that Millbrook is one of the three Continuation schools that are outstanding in his inspectorate. The speaker closed with mention of the Public School staff and their work, giving these also a well-deserved share of praise.

W. A. O'Brian of the School Board, presented the diplomas, the pupils so honored being highly commended by the principal, Miss F. Morgan, B.A., for their cleverness and diligence in their studies, the names including: Lloyd McMahon, Charles Foster, Douglas Carveth; Marian Belch, Marie Douglas, Gwen Staples, Jack Whittington, Harry McLeod, Dorothy Anderson, Jack Arundel, Betty Carveth, Esther Might, Dorothy Smith, Jean Trumpour, and Alvin Porteous.

Scholarship Winner

Mrs. L. H. Winslow, a niece of the donor of the Dr. Norman Allen Scholarship, which carries with it a framed certificate and a cheque for $50, presented the winner, Harry McLeod, with the coveted trophies, bestowed on the boy with the best all-round record in the school for the current year. The recipient made suitable reply, and his fellow pupils, as well as the large audience, applauded heartily.

A characterization drill, "On the Railroad," with appropriate dress and actions, by William Ridge, Grenville Trumpour, and Robert Theobald, with the song, "I've been working on the Railroad," brought a great hand from the onlookers, as did the other drills given at intervals throughout the program. These included Haymakers and Dairymaids, the former (Betty Carveth, Dorothy Armstrong and Joyce Trumpour) wearing blue overalls, white shirts, "cow breakfast" hats, and carrying wooden rakes; while the latter were attractive in checked skirts and sunbonnets, white blouses, and with shining new milk pails on their arms. The Dutch Dance made an especial appeal, the quaint costumes, complete with real wooden clogs, together with the graceful dancing, and song, making this an outstanding number; those taking part were: Jean Gillies, Dorothy Sisco, Mary Smith, and Velma Sweeting.

A pleasant surprise was given the staff, Miss Flora Morgan, B.A.; Miss Doris Bannister, B.A.; and Mr. Chas. J. Ireton, B.A., when they were called to the platform at this point, and presented with gifts; Jack Arundel voicing the gratitude of the pupils for their patience and painstaking care in preparing the Commencement program; Betty Carveth, Dorothy Smith, and Jean Trumpour offered the gifts, and the recipients expressed their appreciation briefly.

Present Clever Play.

During the intermission, while the stage was being made ready for the three-act comedy, "Be an Optimist," which was uproariously funny with every character well chosen and well played, the Dutch girls and other pupils sold home-made candy throughout the audience.

The caste for the play included Ken Kidd, whose interpretation of the character, Isaac Goldfich, 'antiquer,' of the Goldfich Art Shop, was exceptionally well done; Becky, his daughter (Bea McDowell), who helped her father in his business of making 'genuine' antiques; as did also his two assistants, Pietro D'Angelo Cacciatino (Harry McLeod), who was a 'true to life' Italian recently come to America, and rapidly picking up street language and customs, and Mike (Jack Whittington) 'just what his name suggests'; the constant wrangling of these two gave the audience many a good laugh as the play proceeded.

The part of Mrs. Clinton "why mother-in-law jokes are true," and whose hobby was the collection of antiques, was adequately filled by Marjorie McDowell, and that of her daughter, Mildred, "who is in love and likes it," by Eleanor Bigelow; while Orval Wainman met fully and cleverly the demands of an exacting and difficult role, as Jimmie Maynard, Mildred's lover, particularly when, in an effort to overcome Mrs. Clinton's objection to his marriage with her daughter, he allowed himself to be transformed into an Egyptian mummy, delivered at the Clinton home and placed in an upright position as part of the furnishings of her Oriental room; that meant probably an hour and a half in the uncomfortable trappings before the final curtain, and a happy ending for 'love's young dream.'

The seance with Madame Goopher (Gwenyth Staples) 'dispenser of spirits,' when the mummy suddenly intervened with a message delivered in sepulchral tones, causing the 'medium' to faint, and bringing Mrs. Clinton to a different attitude toward her daughter's marriage with Jimmy, was a highlight in the play; other characters who 'lived' their parts quite naturally and with marked ability, were Ray Hudson (Jack Arundel), "a friend in need, if not in deed"; Miss Hull (Beatrice Fallis), an interior decorator, who arranged the room for the seance; Spencer (William Kerr), a private detective who attended the party; Maggie (Leatha Rowland), Mrs. Clinton's Irish maid; and Ethel Peabody (Leitha Edworthy), Mildred's friend and confidant.

On Saturday night the medals won at the annual Field Day in October, when the Millbrook and Orono Continuation Schools meet in friendly competition, were presented by Dr. J. W. Wright, member of the School Board, the list of those receiving the valued awards being: Senior girls—Kathleen Smith; Intermediate girls—Beatrice McDowell; Junior girls—Mary Smith; Senior boys—Orval Wainman; Intermediate boys—Jack Arundel; Junior boys—Melville Wood.

Over $97 was taken in at the two nights' entertainments, but expenses were heavy, and include the royalty of ten dollars on the play, with five dollars for the second night's use.

HAVELOCK CHURCH IS RE-OPENED

HAVELOCK, Dec. 15. — A somewhat unique service took place in St. John the Evangelist's Church, Havelock, on Sunday evening, December 12, when before a large and attentive congregation the Venerable Archdeacon Simpson of Millbrook re-opened and re-dedicated the building and furnishings of the church to the glory of God and for the service of man. At the commencement, the choir, together with the Wardens, Dr. D. J. Holdcroft and Ernest Leeson (T. P. Lancaster deputizing in the absence of Dr. Holdcroft) and the incumbent, Rev. R. E. Lemon, and the Archdeacon assembled at the entrance, and then proceeded up the centre aisle towards the Holy table reciting Psalm 118, verses 19-27. When the choir had taken their places a hymn was rendered kneeling, followed by special prayers of dedication.

The following articles were dedicated: The organ, chancel carpet, the lighting system, a silver bread box, reburnished lectern, and other ornaments. Then followed a special restoration hymn. During the regular evening service special Psalms 84 and 122 and Lessons I Chronicles chapter 29, verses 9-17, and Ephesians chapter 2, were rendered.

Choosing for his text St. Matthew, chapter 27, verse 32, the Archdeacon preached an eloquent and inspiring sermon on the theme of "Cross-bearing." In applying his remarks to the occasion he congratulated the members on the beautiful appearance of the restored building. Referring to the debt upon the church, he intimated that they would go on until they would see their cross crowned with victory.

During the service the incumbent made reference to the splendid workmanship of those who had been employed, and commended the devotion of the wardens who had assumed the responsibility of planning and supervising the work. During the receiving of the special thank-offering the choir rendered very acceptably the anthem entitled "O Give Thanks."

At the conclusion of the service the Archdeacon dedicated the fine oak floor in the chancel and sanctuary, which had been presented by the Women's Guild to the memory of the late Mrs. T. P. Lancaster, who was for many years a faithful member. After the benediction many assembled in the basement to inspect the work there.

FOOT BADLY CUT CHOPPING WOOD

(Examiner Correspondence.)

APSLEY, Dec. 15.—Two motor accidents occurred to local residents on Saturday, who were fortunate to escape serious personal injuries. Fred Hampton skidded on the Mill Hill in Apsley, and the car went over the steep embankment into the gravel pit. The three occupants managed to extricate themselves and escaped with no more than a shaking up. The second mishap occurred near Burleigh Falls to Hubert James and his son and daughter on their way to Peterborough, when their car also skidded and turned over twice. The car was badly wrecked, but again the occupants suffered no bodily injuries.

Allan Hall, a young man of Apsley, while chopping wood on Saturday, cut clean through his foot, and was taken to Peterborough by Dr. Car Harris after he had dressed the injury, for X-ray examination. The foot was almost severed in half, it is reported.

Dr. Car Harris of Belleville has taken up residence in Apsley, occupying the house adjoining the Red Cross Hospital. His arrival is hailed with great enthusiasm in the district, which has been for so long without the services of a resident medical practitioner.

HIGH PRICE PAID FOR BUTTER-FAT KIMBERLY PLANT

(Examiner Correspondence.)

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 15. — Receiving the highest price per pound butter fat of any factory reported so far this season the Kimberley Cheese and Butter Company was commended by J. D. Mills of the Bank of Montreal, Campbellford, who addressed the patrons at their annual meeting held on Monday afternoon. The price averaged 34.9 cents per pound.

Dairy Inspector John Murray spoke of the probable causes of second grade cheese and indicated that the new plan of grading milk when adopted would probably do much to improve the situation.

The officers elected were S. G. Grills, president and secretary; directors were Messrs. Neil Third, Sam Diamond, James Brady, Herbert Tinney, Henry Looke, William Bennett. Owen Hoey was returned as auditor for another year, and David Wallace was re-engaged as cheesemaker at an increase of one mill to 12.5 mills.

The auditor's report indicated a substantial increase in production with 1,276,061 pounds of milk being supplied by the patrons, from which 113,861 pounds of cheese were produced with a butter fat content of 41,753 pounds. Milk averaged 12.11 per pound of cheese and the average price per pound of cheese was 13.39 cents. Cheese brought a total of $15,230.49 and whey cream $634.36 to make a total of $15,454.85.

Herbert Tinney who presided at the meeting remarked on the improved conditions and consequent better prices of the past season.

The matter of purchasing equipment for the manufacture of whey butter was left in the hands of a committee who will look into the problem and report on the cost of installation.

THE GHOST OF CHRISTMAS PAST LED SCROOGE INTO A BUSY CITY. IT WAS CHRISTMAS TIME. AT ONE SHOP THEY ENTERED. "WHY, I WAS APPRENTICED HERE," SAID SCROOGE. "THERE'S OLD FEZZIWIG! BLESS HIS HEART; IT'S FEZZIWIG ALIVE AGAIN!"

"YOHO, MY BOYS," SAID FEZZIWIG TO YOUNG SCROOGE AND HIS FELLOW APPRENTICE. "NO MORE WORK TONIGHT. IT'S CHRISTMAS EVE. LET'S HAVE THE SHUTTERS UP BEFORE A MAN CAN SAY 'JACK ROBINSON'."

IN A TRICE, THE SHOP WAS TRANSFORMED INTO A SNUG, CHEERY BALLROOM. ALL THE FEZZIWIGS CAME IN, AND THE COOK, THE BAKER, THE MILKMAN AND HOUSEMAID. SOON ALL WERE DANCING TO THE FIDDLER'S MERRY TUNES.

COOLING HIS FACE IN A POT OF PORTER, THE FIDDLER STRUCK UP "SIR ROGER DE COVERLY." THEN OLD FEZZIWIG STOOD OUT TO DANCE WITH MRS. FEZZIWIG. CHRISTMAS GREETINGS FILLED THE AIR WHEN THE CELEBRATION ENDED. To be continued

DEPARTING FROM THE FEZZIWIGS, THE GHOST SHOWED SCROOGE ANOTHER SHADOW. SCROOGE, IN HIS YOUTH, AGAIN SAW HIS SWEETHEART, BELLE, REFUSING HIM BECAUSE OF HIS MISERLY HABITS.

"SPIRIT," SAID SCROOGE, "SHOW ME NO MORE! WHY DO YOU DELIGHT IN TORTURING ME?" "ONE SHADOW MORE," SAID THE GHOST. "NO MORE," CRIED SCROOGE, "I DON'T WISH TO SEE IT." THE GHOST FORCED HIM TO OBSERVE WHAT HAPPENED NEXT.

THEY ENTERED ANOTHER SCENE. SCROOGE SAW BELLE AND HER HUSBAND WITH THEIR CHILDREN. "BELLE," SAID HE, "I SAW MR. SCROOGE TODAY. HIS PARTNER LIES UPON THE POINT OF DEATH, I HEAR; AND THERE HE SAT ALONE. QUITE ALONE IN THIS WORLD, I BELIEVE."

SCROOGE, UNABLE LONGER TO BEAR SIGHT OF THE PAST, IMPLORED THE GHOST TO HAUNT HIM NO MORE. SUDDENLY HE WAS CONSCIOUS OF BEING OVERCOME BY DROWSINESS AND ALSO OF BEING IN HIS BEDROOM. HE BARELY HAD TIME TO REEL INTO BED BEFORE HE SANK INTO HEAVY SLEEP. To be continued

Bruins Top American Section With 3-1 Win Over Leafmen

Sands Clinches Victory For Boston—Apps Helps Toronto Cause

BOSTON, Dec. 15 (CP).—After a winless streak of five games, Boston Bruins last night defeated Toronto Maple Leafs 3-1 and remained at the top of the American section of the National Hockey League.

Leafs on Defensive.

Bruins, off to a flying start, made two impressive threats during the first five minutes of play. The forward line of Dumart, Schmidt and Bauer had little trouble penetrating the Toronto defence, and Dumart slapped a hard drive at Goaler Turk Broda after taking a pass out from Schmidt. When the lines were changed, Red Beattie led a charge that carried him behind the Toronto net.

He rapped a backhander at Broda as he made the turn and the goalie barely saved.

Bruins kept applying pressure, then cut loose with a furious attack when Murph Chamberlain was sent off for tripping. Broda was under terrific fire while his team played short-handed, but came up with a half-dozen almost impossible saves while holding the attackers under control.

Fourteen minutes elapsed before Eddie Shore and Red Horner collided. The Boston star soloed down the left lane, but the burly Leaf gave him a lusty check as he crossed the blue line and the play was broken up before it could be developed.

Leafs continued on the receiving end until the fifteen-minute mark when, after a five-man Boston wave dashed against the stout Toronto defence, Chamberlain trapped the opposition and bore down on Goaler Tiny Thompson.

Weiland Clicks Twice.

The Toronto rookie sped down the centre lane unchallenged, but his vicious close-range shot was smeared by the brilliant Thompson.

With two minutes to go, Art Jackson broke out of the Boston zone, but his rush was ruined when Bob Davidson tripped him. When Davidson was banished, Bruins renewed their efforts, and little Cooney Weiland scored twice in seven seconds. His first score came with Eddie Shore and Roy Goldsworthy assisting, but his second was all his own.

Weiland's second tally was a bit freakish. Cooney, after facing off with Buzz Boll at the spot, batted the puck into the Toronto zone and swooped in after it, his charge carried him almost to the right boards, from where he lashed home a 30-footer.

Leafs were unable to get out of their own territory during the first five minutes of the second frame, but Broda was not seriously threatened during that lively interval.

Leafs finally got an opening when Getliffe was boxed for interfering with Pep Kelly. Nick Metz led two charges and Kelly tried to break through from right wing, but Thompson refused to budge, and Bruins maintained their 2-to-0 lead until they regained full strength.

Syl Apps Clicks.

Leafs mobbed the Boston cage at half-time, but their passing game was erratic and Thompson weathered the storm without difficulty. Late in the period, Conacher tried several bursts through the Boston defence, but none of his mates could feed him a forward pass he could reach.

With less than a minute remaining in the period, Syl Apps gave the Leafs a goal by caging a rebound. The score ended a play started by Busher Jackson, who rushed with Apps and Gordon Drillon. Jackson managed to slip inside the defence, but Thompson turned back his close-up shot. Drillon then had a try and, after he failed, Apps rammed it into the cage.

The Apps - Jackson - Drillon line made several threatening trips through the Boston defence early in the third period, but Thompson held them at bay with some spectacular stops and Dit Clapper cleared efficiently.

Boston Defence Holds.

At half-time Milt Schmidt dashed down the right lane and after swinging inside of Reg. Hamilton, aimed a blistering four-footer that called for one of Broda's best stops.

This threat inspired the Leafs and for the next minute or so, Conacher, Thoms and Boll applied heavy pressure while deep in the Boston zone. Bruins' defence was so tight, however, none of those forwards got anywhere near a scoring position.

Bruins clinched the game at 15:42 when Bill Cowley got a break in centre ice and rushed with Charley Sands on his right. Cowley carried over and forward passed through the defence as Sands cut in. Sands then lashed a blistering ten-footer into Broda's cage as Davidson and Hamilton bore down on him.

Sands made three more threats before the game ended, for during the last three minutes the Bruins kept the Leafs penned up in their own zone.

SCHMELING EARNS $30,000 FOR BOUT WITH HANK THOMAS

NEW YORK, Dec. 15 (AP)—Jubilant Max Schmeling tucked a cheque, for $30,153.56 in his pocket Tuesday night and prepared to sail today for Germany to spend the holidays and receive the acclaim of "der VaLterland" for his eight-round knockout of Harry Thomas.

Schmeling's cheque represented 45 per cent of the gate of more than $74,000 the fight attracted. After a brief rest he goes to Hamburg to fight Ben Foord, the South African, Jan. 30, then hopes to return to the United States for a third fight.

Admitting he let the game and rugged Thomas "ride" for awhile, Schmeling nevertheless said the Chicagoan packed a wicked punch. To prove it he displayed two badly bruised arms from blocking Harry's pile-driving rights.

"That first right he hit me in the face hurt like everything," said Max. "I kept wondering what would have happened if it had landed three inches lower."

Tickled at almost filling the spacious Garden despite an anti-Nazi boycott, Mike Jacobs went ahead for the Jan. 21 meeting between former Champion James J. Braddock and Tommy Farr in the Garden. Farr is due here soon after Christmas. Braddock has already begun light training.

Joe Louis and his managers left for Detroit confident the negro will retain his world's title and avenge last year's knockout when he meets Schmeling in June.

"We thought Schmeling looked terrible Tuesday night," said Julian Black. "Our worry now is that somebody will beat Max and ruin him as an attraction before we can get to h... We've asked Mike Jacobs not to let Max fight again after he meets Foord."

Louis has agreed conditionally to return in February to fight the winner of Friday night's contest between Buddy Baer and Eddie Hogan. Later Joe will be matched for a tune-up in Detroit.

Thomas received $6,467 for his eight rounds with Schmeling or 10 per cent of the gate.

Looks like a local Who's Who in manufacturing, business and professional circles, what? Vern Dawson succeeds Ed Riley as prexy. The whole active slate is made up of experienced, influential sportsmen.

IT CAME about that 20 of these gents got together Monday eve in the Chamber of Commerce to take definite steps toward fielding a stronger squad in the C.O.B.L. next year. They felt that this was the time to start building if we wanted a first-rate ball club. After making certain plans which point toward a bolstered Petes' team in '38—with maybe several star imports—the gang decided that it would be a long time before such an influential baseball crowd would again be together, so they up and elected their 1938 slate of officers. And will call another meeting in about four weeks. It was all rather sudden and we didn't sit in at the session, either. But that's a mighty promising and prominent bunch of officers to head our club next summer.

WE SAW this item in the Toronto Star the other day, concerning Art Lepper, who used to pitch for the Petes: "Two young police officers from No. 8 division subdued James Medley, Woodbine Ave., Sunday. He was arrested on charges of attempted shopbreaking and having burglar's tools. A second man escaped after P. C. Lepper (133), a probationer, dragged him to the ground from the roof. Detailed to watch for alleged shopbreakers, P. C. Lepper and P. C. Porter were crouched by a fence at the back of the store when Medley jumped over, almost on top of them. Porter grappled with Medley while Lepper climbed to the roof where he collared the second man A free-for-all ensued. Lepper was cut about the ear and Porter received knee and shin injuries." Had him trapped off first, we surmise, but threw wild.

OUR OWN humble—but not too humble, doggone it!—suggestion for a name for the local O.H.A. intermediate "B" team this winter is to call the crew the Bees. We have the Petes and the Colts, so why not the Bees seeing as they play in the "B" category and the name is nice and short for newspaper headlines or foggy memories? We can then slap these sort of heads on columns: "Bees Swarm Over Port Hope," or "Bees Sting Motor City Gang", or "Bees Make Honey In Whitby." Yes, indeed. Or should we maybe just let the intermediate "B" Bees be? Oh, well . . .

AND THIS from the Belleville praise agent: "The Liftlock scribbler seemis rather irked over some of our recent statements. 'If you'd listen to the Belleville scribe you'd believe that the Quinte crew of Carling-Kelly, Burrows and Thomas were running hockey in Central Ontario,' says he. Maybe he's still smarting under that 37-7 defeat of the Orfuns at the hands of the Dundas gridders"—and what did Belleville's rugby team do?—"Saturday. At anyrate, the Quinte trio got exactly what they went after at the recent meet'ng, which is more than others could say. The Peterborough scribe still does not understand that the four teams—Queen's, Belleville, R.C.A.F. and Peterborough—all start from the barrier as senior 'B' clubs, so where does he get this interlocking stuff?" Well, we'll tell you, pal. On account of the bottom two teams, likely Belleville and Queen's, will go into intermediate playdowns after going through a so-called senior "B" schedule. Yeah, all four teams get into playoffs. And please quit trying to kid the customers about it.

EN PASSANT, as we Parisians put it, we might correct the same scrivener on another point. He says we are in the best group the Petes have been included in since away back when—and no fooling. Well, not quite. Three years ago, there was a dandy intermediate circuit of Petes, Campbellford, and Belleville. The latter was the longest trip, all the games were tight ones, the fans flocked to see every scrap, and every one made dough that winter. It was when Campbellford had a swell squad made up of the Ingrams, Whitton, Hendy, Bush, et al—and the Petes had a tough time nudging 'em out. An excursion train ran from here to the Hydro Town one night and it was packed. Local pucksters still fondly recall the way the melon was sliced up that season!

THREE TEAMS officially entered the Junior City Hockey League at a meeting last gloaming in Duffus'. Bill Prindible of the Peterborough Hockey Club—chairman of the minor loop—informs us he is after a fourth team, maybe All Saints, but that anyone interested should get in touch with him within the next week. P.C.I. will be in along with Monarchs and a squad (unnamed yet) handled by Jack Lewis. Rules are about the same as last winter, games being at the Brock, starting after New Year's. Each team may use one Senior City League player, if he's young enough, but no O.H.A.-ers are allowed. The circuit is sponsored by the Hockey Club.

* * * * * *

LOOKS LIKE no sudden-death playoff between Montreal Rocklands and Dundas Red Bombers for the unofficial intermediate grid title of Canada. Dundas offered to play the game in Hamilton giving Montreal most of the gate receipts, but the Rocklands asked for a guarantee of $500—and there isn't that much dough in intermediate football anywhere in Ontario. So it'll likely be forgotten. The Frenchies, if they're wise, will just forget it as these big Bombers are very tough babies, indeed. Our Orfuns are gradually getting over their bumps and bruises, though Hendren is still laid up and Crowe is limping around painfully. That final fixture was a rough affair with several fights breaking out and a lot of stingarino in line plunges. Some of the Bombers bore souvenirs of the scrap afterward, too.

* * * * * *

HITHER AND yawn: Lindsay Blue Bombers will hold a rugby dance on New Year's Eve; rugbyists of the district will be invited . . . C.O.S.S.A. cage schedules are listed tonight . . . P.C.I. grid champs are being banquetted by the City Council tonight at the Empress . . . Local senior ball moguls hope to bring in a playing manager for next summer . . . Southend Intermediate Puck Loop re-organizes Friday at eight p.m. when a meeting will be held at the Sacred Heart rink . . . Ice is coming along okay at the Brock St. rink and an O.H.A. practise may be called for tomorrow eve . . . McNabb, junior goalie from Owen Sound, who lives here now, is also a good junior baller . . . Two of our O.H.A. schedules will be drawn up this week . . . We hope Joe Cheevers remains here for lacrosse next summer—the Orillia ace would aid muchly . . . How is the Y.M.C.A. cage league shaping up? . . . POME: Cheer up, Belleville, don't you cry; you'll be in the playoffs by and by!

THIRD PLACE TIE IN SENIOR O.H.A

TORONTO, Dec. 15.—(CP)— It was all even today on the Western Ontario front of the senior division of the Ontario Hockey Association.

Kitchener Greenshirts and Brantford Redmen tore around the ice so hard in the first two periods of their 2-2 draw last night they failed to score in the third and overtime session.

Earning their first points of the year, the teams went into a tie for third place in the 'A' loop standing and left the cellar club, Port Colborne, the only pointless team. Toronto Goodyears remained at top position, followed by Oshawa.

Brantford opened scoring in the 70-minute battle when Right Wing Cooper took a pass from Torti and slammed the puck into the top corner of the net. Just 45 seconds after the second period opened Kuntz took Bauer's pass to tie the score.

Schnarr sent Kitchener into the lead about a minute later to end scoring for the Greenshirts. Webster's goal halfway through the period deadlocked the game.

The speedy down-ice rushes of both tams in the first two periods were lacking in the last sessions and both outfits appeared content to end matters tied. Honsberger and Torti were banished in the third for fighting and threats on the nets were few.

Port Colborne will have a chance to make third place a three-way tie Wednesday when the Sailors play at Oshawa. Other Senior 'A' games this week will be played Friday, when Brantford plays at Toronto Goodyears and Oshawa mixes with the Greenshirts at Kitchener.

JOE LOUIS LIKELY TO SIGN FEB. BOUT

NEW YORK, Dec. 15.—Negotiations were virtually completed Tuesday for a ten-round bout between Joe Louis, world heavyweight champion, and Detroit's sensational young knockout artist, Jim Adamick, at Madison Square Garden on Feb. 23.

These negotiations featured activities at Promoter Mike Jacob's office yesterday in the wake of Monday night's Max Schmeling-Harry Thomas brawl which ended in an eight-round technical knockout victory Herr Maxie, the No. 1 challenger.

If the Louis-Adamick match has been or will be made, it probably will not be announced until after Friday night's bout between Buddy Baer of California and Eddie Hogan of Waterbury, Conn., at the Garden. The 20th Century Club insisted Tuesday that Friday night's winner would be Louis's oponent on Feb. 23. This angle helps to build up the Baer-Hogan encounter.

Hockey's Big 7

(By the Canadian Press)

Sylvanus Apps of Toronto and Johnny Gagnon of Canadiens were the only members of the National Hockey League's circle of scoring leaders to step ahead last night, though their clubs were beaten. Apps got the lone goal against Boston in a 3-1 reverse and Gagnon contributed an assist in the Habitants' 3-2 loss to Maroons. Previously tied with Apps and Gagnon at 13 points, Red Horner of Toronto, Marty Barry of Detroit and Cecil Dillon of Rangers remained deadlocked on the edge of the big seven.

The leaders:

CURLING

Echoes From No. '8'
By HERB MARTIN

As advertised, the curling season opened last night (Tuesday) and all the oldtimers and a lot of new ones were out. They came from the north, south, east and west, and we understand Mike Cruthers made a quick trip from Vancouver just to be in on the kill. Downey was there, Sedgewick, the Hamley Bros., also the Green boys, Westbrooke, Metcalfe and a host of others. The president was also among those present and the executive out in full force too.

To George Walter Green goes the honor of having thrown the first stone down the ice; he pulled a sneaker play on us Tuesday morn. Some of the boys moved in bag and baggage and it looks as if they meant business. To the boys who could not get a game last night, we will be open again tonight, so come along.

The jokers are at it already. The phone rang and of course we had to answer it. A voice over the wire asked, "Is that the curling rink?" We replied, "Yes," and the voice came back, "Does Charlotte Street run past the rink?" Well, we fell for it and said "Yes." To which he told us to run out and try to stop it. One more crack like that and we are having the phone discontinued.

Regina Dales Willing To Meet Best Junior Team In The East

Have Kept In Training Since Winning Western Football Title

REGINA, Sask., Dec. 15.—Blowing right out of the west on the gale of a prairie blizzard are the Regina Dales, western Canada junior football champions, seeking the Canadian crown in the first East-West junior football final since 1932.

By their nickels, dimes, quarters, halves or what-have-you-to-give this rampaging bunch of junior footballers earned the money to pay their own expenses—$1,500, no less—just to trek east and battle for a mythical championship with what is considered the best team in the east. They want that junior crown and they are going to get it—there's plenty of cold cash still left on the drought-stricken prairie to say they will. Interested?

It seems anything else than time to talk football in Canada, but this bunch of juniors has been talking, eating and sleeping it for weeks, hoping against hope they would get a chance to tackle the best the east has to offer. Now it has apparently come, and they are (just as good as) on the way. Hamilton, it would seem, will be the jumping-off point. The battle won't be played under the eye of the C.R.U. That august body quit arranging junior football championships a few years ago on the plaint it cost too much, and who cared?

Sweet-Looking Club.

Sure, the Toronto Argos and Winnipeg Blue Bombers will draw bigger. Why not? But we'll lay it on the line to say the scrappy juniors will give a prettier exhibition of football any day than the seniors. If the eastern outfit is on a par with this Dales gang, then it will be a meaty battle. The Dales are the sweetest-looking football club the west has seen for a long time. They even offered to play the Blue Bombers in an exhibition game. Winnipeg turned the offer down. It did sound rather nervy of a junior club to challenge the seniors. However, any junior club whose first team averages, 170 pounds per man is worth looking at, even by seniors. What's more, Winnipeg hasn't a kicker like the Dales' "Toar" (Do you know your Alley Oop comic strip?), Springstein. He has an educated toe that has the Regina Roughriders so enthused they're going to draft him into their 1938 edition, though he's only 18 years old. But he's 242 pounds of speed, muscle and kicking ability.

"Toar"—and it's true, a proven fact, or what-have-you — has been consistently kicking field goals from 25 to 40 yards out, into the wind, or under ideal conditions. He also is a deadly tackler, a surprisingly speedy runner, and a dandy ball carrier.

Kept In Training.

Winnipeg's Y.M.H.A. squad found that out when the western junior final was staged in Regina last month. They were pounded down under a 34-6 decision by a team that has never suffered a defeat this season. Right after that win the Dales stayed in training just in hopes they would get a crack at the best the east had to offer. Negotiations have been conducted for weeks between clubs and now the final seems assured.

The Dales had no "sugar daddy" like most clubs. The only help they got was what they gave themselves, and some equipment from the Roughriders. When the "Ruffles" lost out in the Western Conference this season, they turned available equipment over to the Dales, and also came around to assist a bit in the coaching. To their surprise they found little assistance needed. The Dales boasted a well-balanced outfit that was tops in passing, running line plays and booting.

Credit for the plays, some of the best seen in the west, goes to 23-year-old Paul Dojack, coach and "papa" of the team. He has nursed the gang since the Dales first started and he was quarterback. That was six years ago, when the Forty Thieves, a neighborhood club, challenged the kids over on Broad St. They had to have a name and chose that of a nearby tearoom where they used to meet. They became the Dale Rats. When they jumped into junior company three years ago they dropped the latter half of the name and became the Dales. Paul Dojack has seen few American football games, but the movies have helped. His plays smack plenty of American touches. Trying to revamp those plays to the rules played in eastern Canada —western Canada rules being more elastic—has been his problem since Mid-November. But his young charges, who worship him, have responded nobly. Practices have been held in the riding school of the R.C.M.P., so the boys feel pretty fit.

VERNON DAWSON IS 1938 PREXY BASEBALL CLUB

Vern Dawson has been elected president of the Peterborough Baseball Club for 1938, succeeding Ed Riley. About 20 prominent local sportsmen held an informal gathering at the Chamber of Commerce on Monday night to discuss ways and means of bolstering the Petes for next summers C.O.B.L. schedule. At the conclusion of the discussion, it was decided to re-organize the executive at this time so that an early start migh be made in strengthening the Peterborough club.

Cranfield, Russ Kitchen, Bill Prindible, Cec Wolff, Dr. J. C. Green, Fred Ash, Chas Mowry, Wm. Kay, Max Swanston, Vic Hamilton, Robt. Ross and Frank Buckland.

After considerable general discussion, with certain definite plans in mind, and the intention of holding another meeting early next year, the session adjourned.

Prospects Remote For Montreal Game

HAMILTON, Dec. 15—(CP).—Arrangements for an Eastern Canada intermediate football final between Dundas Red Bombers and Montreal were in the laps of the gods last night as Dundas officials reiterated they had had no satisfactory reply from Montreal rgarding a sudden-death game here on Saturday. The Montrealers, in challenging for a game, asked for a guarantee of $500, something far beyond the realm of possibility and the Bombers offered to meet them here with the split in gate receipts in favor of the visitors.

CLEVELAND CLUB ADDS TO STRING WITH 5 TO 4 WIN

CLEVELAND, Dec. 15 (CP).—It's time for the boys to pay more than passing attention to Cleveland Barons, who have been going places with a minimum of fuss in the International - American Hockey League. And it's time too for Coach Bill Cook to do a quiet bit of celebrating.

Cook, famed former National Hockey League star with New York Rangers, certainly couldn't have felt like turning handsprings with joy in the first week or so of the season as Barons started off slowly. But all that is changed now and Barons have only been beaten once in their last nine games.

In that run, which carried them into a tie with Syracuse Stars for the top position in the league's western section, Barons won four games and tied four. Only loss came last Sunday when New Haven Eagles topped them 3-2. Latest link in their streak came last night when they defeated Springfield Indians 5-4 in the night's only game.

Four teams, however, swing into action tonight on two fronts. Philadelphia Ramblers, leaders in the eastern section, take on Pittsburgh Hornets, while Providence Reds, second place team in the eastern division, play Eagles at New Haven.

Down in The Cellar.

Barons had to draw upon their full scoring power in overtime to win against Indians, former eastern section leaders who have slipped down to the cellar on a run of nine games without a victory. Barons scored twice and Indians once in the overtime session.

Bert Connolly, who used to play with Rangers in the N.H.L., scored twice for Springfield in the first period, but Cleveland ended that session even on goals by Les Cunningham and Phil Hergesheimer. After a scoreless second period, Hergesheimer scored again in the third but Hub Wilson tied it up in the last minute of regulation time.

RANGERS SECURE FOURTH VICTORY TO PRESS BRUINS

NEW YORK, Dec. 15 (C.P.). — All that Dave Kerr and Bill Beveridge needed to gain recognition for their goal tending was a little consideration from their mates. Now their clubs are beginning to go places in the National Hockey League.

Note that the team's records are comparable, for Kerr's New York Rangers are pressing the leading Boston Bruins in the American Division, and Beveridge's Montreal Maroons are trailing in the Canadian section. But both goalies have been handicapped until lately by penalties to other players, leaving protection poor.

Rangers stuck to hockey in front of Kerr last night and registered their fourth straight win, 3-1 over Detroit at New York. Maroons recalled that penalties lost them Sunday's game at Chicago, so they straightened up and ended Canadiens' long string of no defeats, 3-2 in overtime, to gain an edge in the intra-Montreal duelling. Boston Bruins behaved in front of Tiny Thompson at home as usual and whipped Toronto 3-1.

Pacing the Netminders.

Kerr and Thompson are pacing the netminders, having been scored on 22 times each. But Kerr's mates have been dealt 145 minutes in penalties and Thompson only 79, while the Boston defence is recognized generally as the N.H.L.'s best. Beveridge has had 34 pucks go by him, but Maroons have hung up a record of 210 minutes in penalties, equivalent to 3½ games, in penalties.

Kerr and Beveridge, both big men as goalies go, are the league's chief exponents of the angle-playing system. They stand well out from the goal-line and cut down the amount of net the puck-carrier can sight. They don't flop as often as others, and they give the attacker plenty of time to move.

Breaks Kerr's Record.

Kerr would have had his fifth shutout of the season if Captain Doug Young of the Red Wings had not been on hand to sink Hec Kilrea's rebound in the second period last night. That made up for Mac Colville's goal in the first, but Mac passed to Neil Colville a minute later and Rangers led again 2-1. Lynn Patrick topped off the scoring in the late minutes.

The last game Rangers lost was to Chicago by 2-1. Bryan Hextall and Phil Watson were serving time when the Black Hawk goals were tallied. Now Rangers have won three games in four nights through sane measures.

The picture was something the same when Maroons were beaten 2-1 at Chicago on Sunday. They drew three penalties in overtime and the Hawks scored on one of them.

Canadiens, who hadn't been beaten in exactly a month, levelled the score against Maroons at 1-1 in the second period while the opposition was short a man. Toe Blake's counter equalling Baldy Northcott's. Then the Habitants sped to the front on Paul Hayne's drive from the blue line and it appeared they were on the way to their tenth game without defeat.

But the Frenchmen let Bob Gracie stand uncovered near their net and he tied the score with nine minutes to play on a relay from Stew Evans and Gus Marker. With less than two minutes of overtime to go Dave Trottier flipped the puck from behind the Canadien net. Goalie Wilf Cude had his eye fixed on potential pass-receivers in front and the rubber rolled down his back and over the line for the winning goal.

N.H.L. All-Stars

(By the Canadian Press.)

Bill Beveridge, Maroons, blocked brilliantly in goal as Maroons handed Canadiens first loss in 10 games, 3-2.

Clooney Weiland, Boston, started Bruins away to 3-1 victory over Toronto with two first-period goals within seven seconds.

Mac Colville, Rangers, opened scoring in 3-1 triumph over Detroit, then assisted Brother Neil in second Ranger goal after Red Wings tied count.

Regina, Hamilton Meet In Grid Final

HAMILTON, Dec. 15 — (CP). — Italo-Canadians, junior champions of the Big Four, put thoughts of a game with the O.R.F.U. champions definitely aside Tuesday and made plans for the entertainment of the Regina Dales, junior Western grid champions, at the H.A.A.A. Field on Saturday.

Horned Frogs Play Intersectional Foe

FORT WORTH, Tex.—(UP).—The Horned Frogs of Texas Christian University will play a ten-game schedule next year that includes two international foes, Marquette and Temple.

The Christians will tangle with the Golden Avalanches in Milwaukee, October 22. They are scheduled to tackle Pop Warner's team October 1. It will be the first meeting of the Frogs with the Temple Owls, and the second with Marquette, T.C.U. having beaten the Golden Avalanche in the 1937 New Year's Cotton Bowl game in Dallas.

The game with Temple should prove interesting, as T.C.U. employs the Warner system of single and double wing backs. The Frogs will play Temple in Philadelphia.

In addition to the two intersectional scraps, T.C.U. will play the regular six Conference games.

PEACOCK FEATHERS

By—Temple Bailey

READ THIS FIRST:

Jerry Chandler, son of a country clergyman in modest circumstances, after a course at Yale, finally meets Mimi Le Brun, now a StoLouis society girl, whom he has admired for years. She is a cousin of Lionel Clark, Jerry's only close friend at college. All three, with several other young people, are at a Maine camp presided over by Olga, an attractive young woman who married Mimi's wealthy grandfather shortly before he died. Jerry has just met Andy Fuller who is in love with Mimi. And now Jerry is with Mimi herself. More impressed than ever with Mimi's charm, Jerry feels he is going to resent Andy's attentiveness to Mimi. Now, back from the dance at 2 a.m., Lionel decides that Jerry must read to the group the play they have written.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY:

CHAPTER 16

THE AMMIDON twins and Girard Sylvester decided not to sit up for the play reading. They had made plans for an early morning fishing trip, and included in their plans were two house guests whom I have not mentioned—Jimmie Hancock and Luther Dean. They made no apologies for their desertion. Anne Ammidon was dead for sleep and confessed it without shame.

"Run along, Baby," Lionel told her; "you are too young for such late hours—and, anyhow, Jerry's play might go to your head."

"It isn't my play," I objected.

"All the love scenes are yours," he said. "You wouldn't let me touch them."

Katharine Merrill looked at me. "You don't mean that you are as old-fashioned as that?"

"As what?"

"As to attempt the romantic."

"I haven't attempted it; I have achieved it," I said lightly.

She did not know whether or not I was in earnest, nor did the rest of them, and I felt I had scored a point by my daring.

It was, as I have said, the day in which we worshipped at the shrines of Shaw and Pinero and Henry Arthur Jones. But Lionel and I had followed no model. We had flown high, and perhaps too high. We had taken the story of a man who, seeing the hope of his country in a return to democracy, applies it to his own life and becomes, as his grandfather was before him a cobbler. By day he mends shoes, and at night he lives among his books and studies the stars. There comes to his little shop a summer visitor—a girl who wants her slippers mended. She is the ward of a rich aunt and has been brought up in luxury and idleness. The cobbler falls in love with her, and the dramatic action is based on his fight to bring the girl to his own democratic point of view and to save her from a rich suitor.

The whole thing was, as I have intimated, crude—the effort of two boys, who knew nothing of the stage. But there was imagination in it, and now and then it struck 12. I had written the speech in the third act where the cobbler made his plea with the girl for a simpler life, and I had written with a pen of fire.

It needed, however, more than a fast-driven pen to make the situation plausible. It needed, indeed, genius. Yet the work was strong in some parts. I have the old play now; I wish I had the boy's fervor, as he dashed off the lines!

My audience grouped itself about the hearth in a half-circle. Mimi was in Olga's high-backed chair with the beamkin a background for her beauty. Andy lay on the rug at her feet. Thus enthroned among the shadows—for there were only the candles and the light of the fire—Mimi took on a mysterious aspect. She seemed less a girl, more of a goddess.

Olga had chosen a deep chair a little removed from the others. I think she slept while I read. I am sure she was not in the least interested.

Standing on the heart-rug, with a tall candle set on the mantel to light my manuscript, I began to read. Now and then, when a sentence was obscure, I lifted the candle. I was perfectly conscious of the picturesqueness of my pose. I was conscious, too, of my skill as a reader. I had inherited my father's gifts of a good voice and an impassioned manner. I felt that when Mimi heard that speech in the third act she would see me with new eyes. And the others would see me.

I knew the speech almost by heart, and when I came to it, I gave it with all the power and passion in me. I was aware that Stiles Sanderson's gray eyes were shining, behind his glasses; that Katherine Merrill was poised like a hawk ready to pounce. Andy Fuller did not look at me; he lay motionless on the rug at Mimi's feet. Bernice and Lionel sat side by side on an oak kettle, and her hand was in his. And Mimi, still as a statue, her lips parted, leaned forward with intent face—listening.

When I finished, there was applause, and Stiles Sanderson said:

"It is very well done."

"How are you going to end it?" Bernice asked.

"Oh, of course the cobbler will get the girl," Katherine Merrill said, in her clear, high voice. "People must have a happy ending."

And then Mimi flung out: "Oh, I don't want him to get her. It sounds all right in a play, but do you think a girl would be happy without any of the luxuries she loves? What could he give her—that would make up for them?"

And I flung back at her: "The question is, what could she give him? Love doesn't ask—it gives!"

Andy Fuller sat up. "I agree with Mimi. Your man is a cad; and he is asking everything—"

We faced each other—two tall, young cockerels. "Real life isn't like that," Andy went on. "Even if she had married him, do you think she would have loved him when she had to wash his dishes and cook his food? The thing is preposterous!"

For the first time, hearing it set forth in his scornful voice, it seemed preposterous to me.

"I told Jerry it wasn't real life," Lionel said, "but it seems to me pretty fine."

Stiles Anderson agreed with him heartily. "It is fine. And what, after all, is real life?"

"Oh, things that really happen, Stiles," said Katherine. "You know that."

"Things can happen to our souls as well as to our bodies," Stiles said. "It seems to me that Chandler has stripped his man and woman of all that is tawdry. He has found the truth."

They discussed it hotly after that, but I took no part in it. I was feeling a reaction from my high moment. The cobbler's plea had fallen on dull ears. Mimi had not been touched by it. She had ranged herself on the other side of the argu-

UNCLE WIGGILY'S SNOW PLOW

"Be sure and put on your warmest fur coat, Uncle Wiggily!" called Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy to the rabbit gentleman one afternoon as he hopped away from the hollow stump bungalow.

"Why, Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy?" he asked.

"Because I think we are going to have a big snow storm," said the muskrat lady housekeeper. "You may not be coming home from Mr. Twistytail's until late and by then the snow may be very deep."

"Oh, I think not," said Uncle Wiggily.

"I think yes," said Nurse Jane. "So be sure to wrap up well and wear your rubbers."

"Oh, nonsense!" laughed the rabbit uncle.

"No nonsense about it!" called Mrs. Longears from the dining room where she was looking to see if any of the dishes were hiding under the table. "Please do as Nurse Jane says, my dear."

"Oh, all right," agreed Mr. Longears, twinkling one side of his pink nose at his wife and the other side at Nurse Jane.

Invitation

Uncle Wiggily had been invited to supper at the home of his fat pig gentleman friend and he was also to spend the evening there.

So, after he had put on his warmest fur coat, as his wife and Nurse Jane advised, and had stamped his paws into his rubbers, Uncle Wiggily started off up hill and down dale, over the fields and through the woods to the home of Mr. Twistytail.

It was a cloudy afternoon and a cold wind was blowing.

"I don't believe it is going to snow," said Mr. Longears as he hopped along. "Nurse Jane is too fussy."

But as he hopped on a little farther and felt the wind blowing colder and colder and saw the clouds getting darker and darker and then as he felt a few flakes of snow fall coldly on his warm, pink, twinkling nose, Uncle Wiggily said:

"There may be a storm after all. Perhaps my wife and Nurse Jane were right."

On and on he hopped. Soon he reached the pig pen, or house.

"Well, Wiggy! Glad to see you! Glad to see you!" grunted the fat pig gentleman. "Come on in!"

"Thank you," said Mr. Longears.

Soon he and Mr. Twistytail were having a grand time. They talked about the time when they were young and when there were no moving pictures. They had a good supper and after that they talked more until all of a sudden, the clock struck 9.

Time to Leave

"Oh, it is time I went home!" exclaimed Mr. Longears.

"Oh, it's early yet," said Mr. Twistytail.

Just then Mrs. Twistytail came in from having put out the milk bottles and she shivered and shook some snowflakes off her nose and said with a grunt:

"Uncle Wiggily can't go home tonight."

"Why not?" asked the rabbit gentleman.

Because there's a terrible snow storm. The snow is so deep he could never hop through it."

"Oh, I must go home. I don't believe the snow is too deep," said the rabbit. But when he stepped out he went in a snow drift up to his ears.

"Oh, I shall never get to my bungalow!" said Uncle Wiggily.

"Yes, you will," grunted Mr. Twistytail. "I will be a snow plow for you and make a path. My strong neck and nose are made for digging in the snow. Follow me, Wiggy. I'll be your snow plow!"

So Mr. Twistytail went ahead like a snow plow. Mr. Longears followed behind his fat pig friend and away they went in the storm. And if the grapefruit will play soft baseball with the potato masher I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily snowbound.

Ski Bump Helped Lord Gort Become Chief Of Staff

Minister Hunting Right Man Spots Name, Recalls Collision In Alps

LONDON, Dec. 15 (CP)—Surprise appointment of Viscount Gort, V.C., a new chief of the imperial general staff over the heads of nearly 90 officers his senior in rank, is romantically linked with an accident of the skiing trails.

Some years ago when the present war minister, Leslie Hore-Belisha, was serving as minister of transport, he went to Switzerland for a brief skiing holiday. Coming down a steep slope he collided with another skier.

"Who the hell are you?" exclaimed Mr. Hore-Belisha indignantly as he pulled himself out of the snow.

"My name is Gort. Who the hell are you?" came back the equally defiant reply.

The name had no significance for the minister and he passed on with an expression which might have said: "If I never meet you again it will be soon enough."

Later, when Hore-Belisha as minister for war was searching for a new military secretary, he thrust aside a list of possible candidates. None of them appeared to fill the bill.

Suddenly the name "Gort" came back to his mind. He was told, however, that Major-General Lord Gort did not have the necessary rank.

Gort's Break

"Get Gort on the telephone," the minister ordered. But it was discovered he was on manoeuvres near Aldershot and couldn't be reached. With characteristic determination, the minister ordered his car and drove for Aldershot.

Then he faced again the man he had met amid the snows of Switzerland. He returned to London with a military secretary bearing the rank of lieutenant-general.

A somewhat similar experience of acquaintanceship brought the late Admiral Earl Beatty into the limelight and along the path that led to fame.

Back in 1911, Winston Churchill began his regime as First Lord of the Admiralty, by forcing the retirement of all but one of the naval members of the board of admiralty.

Seeking a qualified naval secretary, Churchill suddenly recalled an incident during the Omdurman campaign when a young man tossed him a bottle of champagne from a gunboat on the Nile. He had heard glowing reports about the efficiency and vitality of this young officer and called him to fill the post. The man was David Beatty, hero of Jutland.

SHANGHAI RUN RESUMES

MONTREAL, Dec. 15 (CP).—Decision to resume sailings to Shanghai, halted four months ago when Sino-Japanese hostilities endangered shipping, was announced today by officials of Canadian Pacific Steamships.

Expressing belief conditions "justify resumption," officials said the Empress of Asia will leave Vancouver, Jan. 8, reaching Shanghai, Jan. 24. Bound for Canada, the Empress of Russia will leave Hong Kong Jan. 26, reaching Shanghai Jan. 28.

FIRE FOLLOWS FLOOD

CINCINNATI, O., Dec. 16—(AP).—The Ohio River flood of last January swept away Edward Crew's home.

He moved his family into a garage and set about building a new house.

Last Saturday he finished the job, started a fire in the furnace to warm the house for moving in.

Something went wrong. The new home burned to the ground.

Apple Men To Make It Hot For Jacks

Meaford, Dec. 14

IN the past three years hundreds of dollars' damage has been done by jack rabbits in Georgian Bay district apple orchards, state the officers of the Meaford Co-operative Fruit Growers' Association of Meaford.

Regardless of how young trees are protected, the rabbits manage to do considerable damage. Thousands of trees have been protected by wire screening around the trunks, at a heavy cost to the apple grower. This winter weekly jack rabbit hunts have been arranged and the Fruit Growers' Association are offering $35 in prizes to the hunter who brings in the most dead rabbits within the next three months.

POTTERS START JAP BOYCOTT

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., Dec. 15 (AP)—Oranized potters of the Ohio-Pennsylvania cermanics district said today they expected their anti-Japanese boycott, spurred by a parade of American Federation of Labor workers, would spread to other labor unions throughout the United States.

James M. Duffy, president of the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters, said the demonstration made him "feel more confident than in all my 11 years as head of this brotherhood that we are getting somewhere—that labor will take up the movement all over the nation."

William Green, A.F. of L. president who watched the parade and afterward addressed a mass meeting of 1,400 persons, said he was "deeply touched" by the demonstration. He pledged the federation to "make real the boycott against Japan for her barbarous war in China."

A bonfire of cardboard boxes labelled "Made in Japan" and "Made in Czechoslovakia" signalled the start of the parade, in which police said "easily 3,000" marched.

BOILERS BREAK SHIP ASKS HELP

NEW YORK, Dec. 15—(AP).—The coastguard cutter Mojave sped today to the assistance of the steamship Carabobo which reported her boilers out of commission, about 450 miles due east of Fort Pierce, Fla.

The coastguard said there was no indication of danger but the Grace Line coastwise vessel was without power and would need assistance to reach a harbor.

The vessel's call for assistance was received early to-day. It said: "Boilers out of commission. Need assistance."

The S.S. Caracas, a larger passenger vessel, said it was proceeding to the assistance of the Carabobo but did not state its position. Both ships are operated by the Grace Line.

The Carabobo, which left Venezuela December 7 for San Juan and New York, carries a crew of 59, has a gross tonnage of 2,916 and is 305.2 feet long.

Line officers here did not know how many passengers were aboard the ship.

Lake Freighters Trapped In Detroit River Ice

Caught by a sudden freeze-up in Livingstone channel of the Detroit River, these five lake freighters and a lighthouse tender, were held fast for several days while the quickly-forming ice made an impenetrable barrier around them. Sturdy tugs from Amherstburg, Ont., finally smashed open a passage for the freighters, three of which were damaged slightly. Veteran lake mariners reported the freeze-up the fastest in their history, with a strong wind piling up the ice in serious jams to completely halt navigation. Winter's sudden descent left Lake Erie practically blocked with ice.

OLD GLASS-WARE ENRICHES MUSEUM

TORONTO, Dec. 15—(CP).—The days when men took their liquor neat are reflected in a valuable collection of early glass-ware presented to the Ontario Museum by Robert Y. Eaton of Toronto. Among the 300 rare pieces is a glass tube a yard long, labelled "a yard of ale." It holds a pint.

An example of the original tumbler is found in a liqueur glass with round botom so it cannot be set down without tumbling. The guest must necessarily hold it while mine host refills it, asking the time-honored "when?"

"Civilization would have been advanced 50 to 100 years if men had applied their brains to science instead of thinking up reasons for another drink," Dr. C. T. Currelly, curator of the museum, commented on the drinking vessels.

Platters, bowls, bottles and candlesticks made in the 17th, 18th and early centuries are included among the Irish, English and Bohemian pieces, picked up over a period of 15 years by the Royal Museum of Archaeology under Dr. Currelly's direction and financed by Mr. Eaton.

NO MORE JINGLE BELLS

BELLEVILLE, Ont., Dec. 15—(CP)—Jingle bells will soon be gone, it is feared here. A city harness master had to search through his stock for a half-hour before unearthing a set of bellharness for a customer, the first person to demand bells for his horses in three years.

ment, and Andy was her advocate. They stood, as it were, together.

Stiles was insisting: "Chandler has done a big thing; you'll all see it some day. The world needs more poets. It is the dreams of poets which are, after all, the prophecies."

I saw Mimi glance at me and look away again. And her voice came with an edge of weariness. "I wonder if the rest of you are as tired as I am."

Olga's voice, heavy with sleep, said, "Do you know what time it is?"

"I know I'm starved," Lionel said. "Well, there's everything in the refrigerator," Olga told him, "and I'll make some coffee."

We adjourned to the kitchen, and I helped Olga make the coffee. Mimi, with her train always in the way, cut the bread for the toast, Andy broiled the bacon, Bernice scrambled eggs, and the rest of the crowd set the table. It seemed all very fantastic to me.

I was not hungry, and when they trooped into the dining room I did not follow them. I went out of doors where the wind blew chill. Light was creeping through the forests, but so faint was it that the trees seemed spectral, unsubstantial. I walked under them. I did not know where I was going. I only knew that my mind was in a turmoil; that the events of the day had been crowded in upon me until I was tense with conflicting emotions.

Then through the silence of the woods a voice called, "Jerry."

I turned and saw Mimi coming toward me. Suddenly the ghostly forest seemed to enfold us. Only with an effort could I keep myself from holding out my arms to her, so confident did I feel that I had drawn her to me.

"Jerry," she said breathlessly, as she came up, "what made you run way from the others?"

"What made you?"

"I don't know." She was gazing at me in a half-dazed fashion. "I—looked for you, and you weren't there—and I came to find you."

"And now that you have found me—what?"

"I want you to go back with me—it is freezing out here, and everybody is drinking coffee—" She stopped, then went on hurriedly: "But I didn't come to say that. I—loved your play, Jerry." She was close to me and laid her hand on my arm.

I laid my own hand over it. "Yet you laughed at it."

"No! But it was so true that I hated it . . . . Love might be like that, Jerry, if there were any men in the world like your cobbler."

I stood looking down at her. "There might be a man."

"No, no! Oh! What do you know about men? And you ought not to write of the kind who don't exist. You'll make women think that some day they may meet them, and the kind they meet are—Andy Fullers!"

She flung his name at me with scorn. I was surprised at her frankness. Yet I will say this, that then and ever after she was frank with me.

"Why not let the Andy Fuller's go?"

"Oh, Andy is the apple on the tree in this Garden of Eden. He's always tempting me. I adore the things he does for me, and I should miss them dreadfully if he didn't do them."

"Would you miss—him?"

"I don't know, Jerry. I am afraid I should."

We stood there in the spectral forest, staring at each other.

At last Mimi said: "Oh, let's go in. They'll be looking for us."

They were looking for her—or, at least, Andy Fuller was. He came upon us suddenly, and when he saw her with her hand on my arm, anger leaped into his eyes. But his voice was unruffled.

"I thought you were lost, Mimi."

"No, I came out to tell Jerry that I liked his play." It was her defiance, flung in answer to that look in his eyes.

Again the flame leaped up, but he still kept his voice to that unruffled note. "Well, why don't you tell him in a warmer place? You'd better get back to the fire. And everybody is going to bed."

"Oh, why go to bed," she demanded, "when the day is just beginning? I could stay out here forever."

U.S. PRESS ADVISES NATION 'KEEP COOL'

NEW YORK, Dec. 15 — (CP). — Public opinion, as mirrored by editorial comment of United States newspapers, was aroused to a high pitch to-day by Japanese destruction of the U.S.S. Panay and three American commercial vessels, but the general admonition was: "Keep cool."

While taking this view, the St. Paul Despatch (Independent) foresaw the possibility of further such incidents and warned "How long easy settlements are good for is a question."

The Los Angeles Times (Republican) said the "grave situation" seemed likely to pass over without bringing on a clash, and asked the general public "not to rock the boat."

The New York Times (Independent) said "the only really valid guarantee that Japan can give in this matter would be the withdrawal of its invading army from the soil of China."

Unless the Japanese Government recalled and disciplined the highest officers responsible for the bombing, the New York Herald-Tribune (Republican) said there was no further point in the United States having formal diplomatic relations with "such a government."

The Main Question.

For the present, predicted the Dallas News (Independent Democrat) the United States will await the outcome of the Japanese promised action. "But what must be determined in advance," it added, "is what action will be taken if the Japanese reparation is not satisfactory."

Taking the view that "the sinking of the Panay may well prove to be more than a blow to American prestige in the Orient," the Arkansas Gazette (Independent Democrat) said:

"Italy and Germany, Japan's fellows in a world Fascist bloc, may find in it further evidence to support the belief in which they have been proceeding—that the 'fat-bellied democracies' are afraid to stand up for their rights.'"

FAROUK SPEAKS UP

CAIRO, Egypt, Dec. 15—(AP).—Constitutional differences between King Farouk and the Cabinet approached a head to-day when the Cabinet gave the monarch 10 days to approve bills voted recently by Parliament.

The King, refusing to sign, contended the legislation which included a grant of $195,000 for secret funds, was contrary to national interests.

KULBECK APPEAL WILL BE CARRIED TO TWEEDSMUIR

TORONTO, December 15—(CP).—"First-hand" facts regarding the case of Rev. E. N. O. Kulbeck, Pentecostal preacher of Woodstock, Ontario, who was given suspended sentence on payment of costs or a jail sentence in alternative of payment of costs because the shouting in his church disturbed the neighbors, will be presented shortly to the Governor-General of Canada, announced Rev. William E. Long, pastor of Evangel Temple here, last night.

Mr. Long urged that members of the congregation write letters to Lord Tweedsmuir, "not letters of sarcasm but of kindness, asking for consideration in the case.

"King George does not know that men in his empire are having their religious freedom repressed," said Mr. Long. "If he did he would take some action. Every Protestant preacher in the Dominion should be preaching about this case."

Referring to the judgment handed down by the courts, which decreed that Mr. Kulbeck must close religious services in his church in Woodstock at 9.30 p.m., Mr. Long, turning and addressing Mr. Kulbeck, who was on the platform, suggested that when New Year's eve comes this law be defied, a watchnight service be held and the church be kept open till midnight.

A seroes of such "protest meetings" are being held, stated Mr. Long, to make a demand that men be allowed to worship God according to the dictates of their heart. A meeting similar to that of last night will be held before long in London, Ont.

Mr. Long expressed the opinion that Mr. Justice Latchford, being a Roman Catholic, should, in fairness to a Protestant congregation, have refused to sit on the bench when an application was made for an apeal in the Kulbeck case.

"If the Catholics can ring their church bells at five o'clock in the morning and all day, preachers have a right to shout in their churches when they wish to," claimed Mr Long. "Not a beer parlor nor a pool room in Woodstock closes before 11 o'clock in the evening," he pointed out.

HEADACHE AFTER HEADACHE

Now She's Free From Them

A woman writes:—"I would like everyone who suffers from headaches to try Kruschen Salts. Before taking Kruschen I was seldom free from a headache. But since I have been taking it regularly I have hardly had a headache, for which I am very thankful. I have been taking a small dose of Kruschen every morning in a glass of warm water, before my breakfast, and I feel so well."—(Mrs.) A.E.D.

How do you deal with headaches? Do you just take something to deaden the pain, without getting rid of the trouble which causes the pain?

Headaches can generally be traced to a disorder t stomach and to the unsuspected retention in the system of stagnating waste material which poisons the blood. Remove these poisons — prevent them forming again—and you'll never have to worry any more—from that cause. And that is just how Kruschen Salts bring swift and lasting relief from headaches. Kruschen aids Nature to cleanse your body completely of clogging waste matter.—advt.

ONTARIO, QUEBEC, MARITIMES TO BUCK OTTAWA

3 Eastern Premiers And Hepburn Deny Alliance

No Intention of "Ganging Up" On Rest of Dominion But Will Fight Tax Invasion, Says Ontario Chief

TORONTO, Dec. 16—(CP)—Swift denial of participation in any alliance of eastern provinces on dominion-provincial relations came today from all three maritime premiers — closely following a statement attributed to Quebec's Premier Duplessis that: "We in this province and in Ontario and in the Maritime provinces have decided that we will not be run for the western provinces."

Premiers Angus L. Macdonald of Nova Scotia, Allison Dysart of New Brunswick and Thane Campbell of Prince Edward Island denied knowledge of any impending alliance and of any move to that effect. In Toronto Premier Hepburn said he knew nothing about the Maritime angle.

Ontario and Quebec met in conference in Montreal last Monday and will resume discussions in Toronto next week, leading up to a joint or closely related stand on the question of power export and in presentation of briefs to the Rowell commission on dominion-provincial relations. "Mr. Duplessis might have been in touch with the maritimes but I don't know anything about it," Mr. Hepburn said.

Maritime Declarations.

Premier Macdonald: "There has been no agreement and no discussion between the government of this province and that of any other province with regard to inter-provincial relations or dominion-provincial relations."

Premier Dysart: "There has been no move as far as New Brunswick is concerned for such an alliance and I know nothing whatever about it."

Premier Campbell: 'Prince Edward Island has not been approached in the matter. We feel a certain interest in common with the other maritime provinces but have no intention of entering any union."

No Ganging Up, Says Hepburn.

TORONTO, Dec. 16 (C.P.), — Premier Mitchell Hepburn of Ontario, commenting on a speech by Premier Maurice Duplessis of Quebec, to-day said he had no know-

RAIN, SNOW, SLEET MAKE MOTORING VERY TREACHEROUS

TORONTO, Dec. 16.—(CP). — Rain, snow, sleet, rising and falling temperatures were found on the weather map in Eastern, Central and Southern Ontario to-day, combining to make motoring a hazardous affair.

In Toronto rain that fell and froze during the night, put a glassy covering on pavements that made driving hazardous. In Eastern Ontario, particularly in the Belleville district, not yet recovered from last week's blizzard, three inches of snow fell during the night.

Ottawa reported a temperature of 28 above and the two inches of snow that fell during the night turned to slush. Bus service generally was retarded and even the railways had their difficulty with sleet last night.

Galt reported many motorists abandoned cars when a glaze of ice ice covered roads. Bus service was abandoned cars when a glaze of abandoned. Sand was scattered but driving was still risky. Numerous minor accidents were reported.

The temperature, touching 28 during the night, was falling rapidly to-day, Belleville reported. The wind shifted to the north. Ploughs were out all night on district roads and highways but all traffic avenues were reported heavy.

Concession roads in the Belleville district are still blocked from last week's storm. As far as the farmers are concerned, Dobbin and the old cutter have come into their own again. More are being seen in Belleville and towns nearby than for years.

Fire Follows Explosion

Three men were known dead when this picture of the fire at the Hamilton, Ont., plant of the Steel Company of Canada, was taken. The fire followed two terrific explosions in the benzol distilling section and total damage was estimated to exceed $200,000. All available fire equipment was called to keep the blaze from reaching tanks of highly explosive fluids. The blasts rocked the entire east end of Hamilton.

British Move Grows To Step On Japan

Call for More Warships in Chinese Waters; Attack, With 13 Apologies, Seen Test of Powers

LONDON, Dec. 16—(AP)—A movement to urge Great Britain to send more warships to Chinese waters was reported under way today in the House of Commons. The plea, it was expected, would be voiced in next Tuesday's foreign affairs debate unless the situation eases considerably.

Advocates of the measure, who were not grouped along party lines, contended the fleet reinforcement would put a stop to attacks on British ships—such as the Japanese attacks Sunday on the Yangtze river gunboats Ladybird and Bee and merchant craft.

The government, after delivering a protest to Tokyo against the Yangtze bombardment, watched closely the scene in South China where Hong Kong, a British crown colony, is located.

(A Shanghai report said the Chinese expected a possible attack on Canton, about 65 miles northwest of Hong Kong. The Japanese were expected possibly to land fresh troops on the coast of Kwangtung province. Hong Kong lies at about the middle of Kwangtung province coast.)

No further diplomatic moves were believed planned until Japan replies to the protest Britain dispatched yesterday.

Concurrently, Foreign Secretary Eden told the House of Commons that the government, in the protest, "wished to be assured that action is being taken of such a character as

ANGLO-U.S. PACT READY BY MARCH

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16—(CP).—Negotiations on the proposed trade treaty between the United Kingdom and the United States are described here to-day as "going forward as quickly as can be expected," but seems likely the final stage of appending signatures cannot be reached before March.

At present, commodities open to negotiation are being listed on both sides. The range of articles is so large, this task is a major one.

State Secretary Hull estimates this work will last about a month and that the next stage—open hearings at which industries affected will state their cases for and against alterations in the tariff—will take another month.

While this indicates a treaty might be in ship-shape by early February, even the most sanguine officials concerned believe it will be March 1 at the earliest before British delegates will come to Washington to

Tired of Being Run For The West Says Duplessis

Eastern Provinces Concluding Alliance, He States, And Direct Relief Measures to Be Ended at Once

SHAWINIGAN FALLS, Que., Dec. 16—(CP)—Quebec, Ontario and the Maritime provinces "have decided that we will not be run for the western provinces," Premier Duplessis of Quebec said here last night. He added: "We are in the way of concluding an alliance by which we are not going to be run by Ottawa."

Rising after A. B. Purvis, head of the National Employment Commission, concluded a banquet speech, Mr. Duplessis said he would tell Mr. Purvis that direct relief measures would have to end and, be believed, end at once. To continue direct relief meant bankrupicy of the municipalities, he said.

Mr. Purvis had discussed employment and relief distribution in the Dominion and noted there was as yet no agreement regarding employment offices. As he spoke, Mr. Duplessis interjected that there should be no national employment offices "for we will not be burdened with the west."

No More Direct Relief.

The Premier commented several times during Mr. Purvis' address.

"We in this province, and in Ontario and in the Maritime Provinces, have decided that we will not be run for the Western provinces," he said afterward. "We are tired of it.

"The Province of Quebec cannot go further in direct relief," he continued. "We are in the way of concluding an alliance by which we are not going to be run by Ottawa. We are not going to be run by those who wish to do away with the autonomy of the provinces.

"So-called business men, many of whom do not know how to settle their own business, are telling us how to run public affairs and that we are over-governed. We in Quebec, Ontario and the Maritime Provinces are not going to permit tOtawa to take direction, no matter who is in power in Ottawa, for we do not care as to political direction.

"We in Quebec and in Ontario and in the Maritime Provinces are not going to be run by the Western provinces," Mr. Duplessis added. "And we are not going into any scheme which would mean sacrificing the keys to the door of prosperity."

Ready to Fight

It was the second time during the evening that the Premier had promised to oppose Federal methods. Earlier he had said, "If Ottawa wants a fight on its hands it can have it," commenting on the declaration of Premier Hepburn of Ontario that Quebec and Ontario were ready to challenge the validity of Dominion legislation governing power export to the United States.

"The Province of Quebec considers that the provincial resources should be administered by each province, and that it is intolerable to permit interference of the central administration in connection with our natural resources," he said.

In his address, given at the 25th anniversary celebration of the Shawinigan Technical Institute, Mr. Purvis said the number of persons on direct relief in Canada, exclusive of New Brunswick, had been reduced to 743,000. Citing this figure, he asked what was to be done, adding that the Federal government had made contributions toward relief works.

TRUCKER CLAIMS MEN WORK LESS THAN CARDS SHOW

TORONTO, Dec. 16—(CP)—Drivers for Marks Transport of Brantford, Ont., work nine to 10 hours a day but their time cards incorrectly show longer hours, William Marks, manager, told the Chevrier royal transport commission today. He said he had driven the trucks himself and knew how long the trips took.

Marks said business conditions prevented him raising wages now ranging from $10 to $22 a week, mostly $18. Answering Joseph Singer, commission counsel, he said he thought the wages fair under the conditions the men worked.

"I pay my men 52 weeks a year regardless of holidays," he said.

"I consider the men work hard when we are busy and it is only fair to keep them on when business is slack."

L. G. Fabian, general representative of the automotive transport section of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees, charged in his evidence last week that Marks paid one man $9 a week. Today Marks said this employee was an elderly man who could not do a full day's work. He gave him the job more from pity than anything else.

On Job 70 Hours, Not All Work

Further cross-examination by Mr. Singer brought from Marks the information that while his drivers' actual working hours were nine to 10 daily, time spent waiting for loads brought time on duty up as high as 12 hours, or about 70 hours a week. But in slack seasons his men worked five or six hours a day.

Marks said his office made frequent pay advances to drivers and sometimes the drivers "cashed in short," using collections themselves. Ten cents on the dollar was charged on what drivers were short to discourage the practice.

Witness said trucking rates were

JAPS REMOVE AERIAL CHIEF OVER BOMBING

Suspected Unable To Control Fliers

[illegible]NGHAI, Dec. 16 (A.P.). — Rear-Admiral Teizo Mitsumami, chief of Japanese naval aerial operations, was relieved of his post today as a result of the bombing of the United States gunboat Panay.

Domei (Japanese News Agency), which carried the announcement of his removal, said the Japanese government was acting swiftly to carry out its pledge to punish officers responsible for the attack.

It was explained Mitsumami was fired because most bombardments in China were carried out by naval planes.

Foreign military and naval observers in Shanghai said they believed the Panay bombing and other attacks may have been made by young officers who had disregarded efforts of commanders to control their actions.

A miniature fleet of British and United States naval vessels bearing the three dead and most of the survivors of the Panay incident was expected to reach Shanghai tomorrow.

Triumphal Entry.

Japanese forces planned a formal triumphal entry into fallen Nanking tomorrow, while other Japanese columns continued their push into the interior.

Two hundred Japanese planes were to roar over the fallen capital in celebration of the "epochal achievement of Japanese armed forces."

Japanese officials announced all foreigners who remained there were reported safe.

A report on conditions at Nanking was received from Arthur Menken, Paramount newsreel cameraman, who went through the siege.

Menken wirelessed from the gunboat Oahu that "Nanking is a shambles."

"Except for the efforts of three American missionaries," he said, "the wounded were not cared for." He referred to Miss Ivy Hynds, Los Angeles; Dr. C. S. Trimmer, Long Valley, N.J., and Dr. Robert O. Wilson, Santee, Calif.

Menken said Japanese troops first reached the centre of the city by making a breach in the southern walls and using scaling ladders. A

STEERING CLEAR FEDERAL MATTERS

TORONTO, Dec. 16 (CP).—Split between Premier Mitchell Hepburn of Ontario and Prime Minister Mackenzie King, both Liberals, was accentuated today by Mr. Hepburn, who said: "I'll keep out of Federal matters unless I'm asked."

He added, smiling: "And it's extremely doubtful that I'll ever be asked."

Mr. Hepburn mentioned his relations with the Dominion Government when reporters asked him about reports that W. F. Schwenger, Liberal member of the Legislature for Hamilton Centre, and R. S. Colter, K.C., Liberal member of the last Legislature for Haldimand-Norfolk, were slated for county judgeships.

"I have not made any representations to Ottawa," the Premier replied. "I have refrained from doing so and I'm continuing that policy.

"Mr. Schwenger and Mr. Colter are both very excellent lawyers, if I should be asked."

Rift Started in April.

Rift between the Liberal Premiers developed during the strike of automobile workers at Oshawa in April when Mr. Hepburn expressed dissatisfaction over Federal police assistance. In early June Mr. Hepburn declared in a speech: "I am no longer a Mackenzie King Liberal."

The breach gave signs of healing when Mr. King endorsed the Hepburn government on the eve of Ontario's October 8 general election and later visited Toronto with the United States Secretary of State, Cordell Hull. The Premiers conferred in Mr. Hepburn's office.

But recently Prime Minister King refused permission to Ontario to export surplus electric power and Mr. Hepburn asserted yesterday that Ontario and Quebec were prepared to challenge the validity of Federal legislation prohibiting power export without Dominion approval. He hoped, however, court action would not be necessary.

PANAY GUNNING PROOF SENT U.S.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16 (A.P.).—State Secretary Hull announced today that official reports had confirmed that Japanese surface vessels machine-gunned the United States gunboat Panay after it had been bombed from the air by Japanese naval fliers.

In making this announcement at his press conference, the Secretary of State said this information had been transmitted to the United States Ambassador at Tokyo for presentation to the Japanese Foreign Office in the form of representations to supplement facts already set forth in the American Government's formal note of protest on the bombing.

Although Hull withheld details of the information in the hands of the State Department, officials asserted it confirmed that while the Panay survivors were escaping from the sinking ship in small boats, Japanese airplanes dived and machine-gunned the boats at low altitudes. Two were wounded.

Bullet holes were said to have been found in the Panay's outboard motor sampan.

Milling Company's Appeal Dismissed

The appeal of the Maple Leaf Milling Company against the assessment of $30,000 on their building at the corner of George and Dalhousie streets has been dismissed by His Honor Judge Smoke. Except for warehouse purposes the mill has not been used since 1926. Judge Smoke has disposed of the city assessment appeals, except the action of Alderman G. N. Gordon against the fixed assessments of the De Laval Company and Canadian Raybestos Company as granted by votes of the ratepayers and with large majorities. Hearing of his appeal from the Court of Revision has been fixed for Thursday, December 23 at 2.15 p.m. in the Judge's Chambers.

Hallowe'en Gunner Is Acquitted

OWEN SOUND, Ont., Dec. 16.—(CP).—Stanley Woods, Cedarville, was acquitted to-day of criminal negligence by a jury which heard evidence in connection with the Hallowe'en shooting of 17-year-old Neil Bell.

Bell was shot in the shoulder when he and a group of Cedarville boys were outside Woods' house last Hallowe'en.

Evidence disclosed the shot was fired by a gun in Woods' hands with which he was trying to frighten them away. Woods said he did not know the gun was loaded.

(Editors Note: The following description of the siege and capture of Nanking by the Japanese was wirelessed to the Associated Press from the United States gunboat Oahu by Arthur Menken, Paramount Newsreel cameraman).

By Arthur Menken.

NANKING, By Radio From Gunboat Oahu, Dec. 16.—(AP).— The once-proud capital of ancient China was strewn to-day with the corpses of its soldier defenders and civilians killed in the bombing, shelling and fierce fighting to which the city was subjected.

Scattered through the city were hundreds of uniforms discarded by fleeing Chinese soldiers who had tried to escape death at the hands of the Japanese by substituting civilian garb.

During the Chinese retreat from Nanking after their defence had been smashed by the terrific Japanese onslaughts, I saw some disorganized looting by fleeing Chinese soldiers and, when they had gone, some Japanese carried out the looting.

The Japanese refrained from shelling and bombing the safety zone, set aside for foreigners, but

Ontario Relief To Be Changed

TORONTO, Dec. 16 (CP)—Premier Hepburn said today Ontario's position regarding relief costs could no longer be tolerated. It was expected the relief question would be discussed at a cabinet meeting tomorrow.

The premier said "the attitude of the federal government has been one of steady withdrawal of financial support. We intend to assume our share of relief costs but no more than that."

Ontario had born the "lion's share" of the cost, being "sandwiched between a reluctant federal government and increasing demands from the municipalities."

No Hope of Saskatchewan Meeting Its Services

Be $2,800,000 Short Of Paying Costs Even With Relief National Says Brief

REGINA, Dec. 16 (CP)—The Saskatchewan brief for presentation to the Rowell Commission today contends the province would be $2,809,000 short of meeting the cost of essential services even if relief were treated as a national responsibility (including relief debt) and the balance of the provincial debt were refunded at 3½ per cent.

Using a draft budget for a future average year in illustration, the brief claims it was impossible for the province to meet modern demands for social services on its present tax base, as laid down by the British North America Act.

Saskatchewan's hope of discharging the functions of government lay in a readjustment of existing divisions of revenues and responsibilities between the Dominion and the province. With the Dominion taking responsibility for some social services and the province receiving more revenue.

The draft budget of future years was based on only a minimum annual expenditure sufficient to restore services in Saskatchewan to a level of those in other sections of Canada.

"As a balanced budget is not an end in itself, but only a means to an

U.S. Press Opposes Referendum Before Entering War

Predict Vote Weakening Nation's Structure When Unity An Essential

NEW YORK, Dec. 16 (C.P.). — The New York Times (Independent) and the Herald-Tribune (Republican) voiced opposition in their editorials to-day to the movement in Congress to require a favorable vote of the people before the United States could declare war, except in the event of invasion.

Both papers saw in such a referendum, a means of weakening the country's structure in times when a united front is a paramount necessity.

In Washington, a petition bearing 218 names, made it appear the House of Representatives would vote on a constitutional amendment by representative Ludlow (D-Ind.) to require such a plebiscite on declarations of war.

State Secretary Cordell Hull, speaking with newspapermen, said that from the standpoint of promoting peace and keeping the United States out of war, he was unable to see "the wisdom or the practicability" of the proposal.

The Herald-Tribune said: "Despite the irrefragible logic of the Ludlow amendment, it is no less patently a lunatic proposal."

The New York Times said: "The very act of holding such a refer-

Thief's Greeting Fails Gets 30 Days Instead

Cornwall, Dec. 16

IN jail today sat ham-thief transient John O'Brien, his seasonal greetings fallen on unreceptive ears.

O'Brien, charged yesterday with stealing a ham from a butcher, asked for leniency, wished Magistrate P. C. Bergeron a "very merry Christmas." "Thirty days," the magistrate replied. "This is a court of justice, not personal relations."

LONDON—The King and Queen were shaken today when their automobile collided with another in Trafalgar Square as they were returning to Buckingham Palace from a charity matinee. No one was injured. Damage was slight and both cars involved proceeded after short delay.

Trucker Hits Barrie Girl, Breaks Leg Scatters 12 Others, Goes On

Barrie, Dec. 16 (CP)

THIRTEEN-YEAR-OLD Ida Sissons suffered a fractured leg last night when struck by a truck that ploughed through a group of about 13 children walking with her on the Camp Borden Road near here last night. The truck did not stop.

The children were walking through a heavy snow and sleet storm when the truck appeared ahead of them. Unable to get out of its way, Ida was struck and hurled into a ditch. The truck rolled on into the storm without stopping.

The children were all members of families living in the soldiers' settlement near here.

Daddy Shovels 4 Days, Nights For Stork Who Comes "After" The Storm

Fort Erie, Ont., Dec. 16 (CP)

AN amusing sidelight in connection with the season's worst storm tieup here was related today by a local doctor. It concerned the worries of an expectant daddy. For four days and four nights during the worst part of the blizzard he faithfully kept entrances to his home shovelled clear of snow, preparing for a hospital trip. After the storm broke and the highways were cleared partially the event happened. It's a girl.

NEW ARMS CACHE FOUND IN PARIS SWELLS ARRESTS

PARIS, Dec. 16 (AP).—A secret revolutionary committee declared by French authorities to have conspired against the government was linked by police today with a cache of arms seized yesterday in a raid on a Paris garage.

The supply included six light machine-guns and 80 army rifles which investigators said were stolen from an army arsenal.

Gaston Jeanniot, owner of the building, was arrested after an investigation directed by Interior Minister Marx Dormoy. Jeanniot was quoted as saying the arms were stored there at the request of Jacques Correze, who detectives described as one of the revolutionary plotters.

A warrant was issued for the arrest of Correze after his disappearance last month when Dormoy announced the Surete Nationale had uncovered a conspiracy to overthrow the people's front government and set up a monarchial dictatorship.

Correze was identified as secretary of Eugene Deloncle, a marine engineer held as one of the plotters.

Jeanniot was said to have disclosed that Correze told him: "If you consent to receive packages in your basement for the Comite Secret d'Action Revolutionnaire I will pay you well."

Remy Durieux also was taken into custody yesterday, investigators announced.

Between May and December, Durieux was said to have admitted, he delivered more than 50 pounds of stolen dynamite, a quantity of cartridges, detonators and other material for bombs.

WHITNEY'S PORTER TOPS IN KENTUCKY

NEW YORK, Dec. 16 (CP).—Down in Kentucky's farm country, far removed from the acclaim of a racing public well aware of such track stars as Seabiscuit and War Admiral, John Hay Whitney's The Porter ranked today among the outstanding horses of 1937 as the year's leading sire.

The 22-year-old son of Sweep placed three sons and one daughter among the 30 leading money winners of the United States turf during 1937.

Seabiscuit and War Admiral were the progeny of Hard Tack and Man o' War, respectively. They perhaps gained for their sires more prominence than The Porter attained, but not as much general racing success.

With War Admiral's retirement from racing for 1937, Man o' War lost any chance of overtaking the Whitney stallion which, up to early December, had 34 sons and daughters that finished first in 99 races. Their first monies alone amounted to $242,092.

conclude the treaty proper. These officials say "the hardest sledding of all" will come at the opening hearings for industrialists.

War in East Causes Delay

Sir Ronald Lindsay, British Ambassador to the United States, has had to relax the close personal supervision he had been exercising over the economic negotiations from the start, because of the amount of time he has been putting in on the Far Eastern situation.

Until this week his frequent calls at the State Department were for the most part occasioned by the trade pact. However, since the U.S. Panay was bombed and sunk by Japanese in the Yangtze River, his daily visits have been concerned with the startling developments in China—a circumstance which has not accelerated the trade talks.

In the month since Mr. Hull announced intentions of negotiating a new pact with Canada, no great progress is believed to have been made. However, because these two neighbors are already joined by a trade treaty, there is hardly the some urgency about the negotiations as there is about those with London.

more than 100,000 Chinese sought refuge in the zone.

Although Chinese troops were slow in withdrawing from the zone and planted guns along its edges, the Japanese did not attack there. Only a few stray shells fell in the zone and only a few were killed in it.

C. Yates McDaniel, the Associated Press correspondent in Nanking, and I saw many policemen shedding their outer clothes and walking around in underwear for old civilian clothes.

To make sure that the watchman at the American Embassy was not executed for having arms, McDaniel took away his pistol and made him stay inside. This probably saved his life.

We first learned of the Panay's sinking from a young Japanese navy lieutenant on the gunboat Seta.

Questioned by Singer concerning rates, Marks said he attempted to follow the Automotive Transport Association rate schedule, but found he lost too much business to competitors who quoted lower rates and were not following the schedule. He had to abolish the system and return to his former rate plan by which he quoted rates to meet competitive rates.

Marks said he never reduced a rate below the cost of operation to meet competition and obtain business. Working in the short-haul field, he had not received any competition from railways.

ledge of the Maritime Provinces joining Ontario and Quebec in any alliance to protect provincial rights.

"Mr. Duplessis might have been in touch with the Maritimes, but I don't know anything about it," he said.

Mr. Hepburn said Ontario and Quebec had no intention of "ganging up" on the rest of the Dominion. But he would fight to the last ditch "any attempt by the Dominion Government to invade the provincial sphere of taxation."

A meeting this week with Mr. Duplessis was for the discussion of "mutual problems and joining together to protect the interests of our provinces." The Ontario and Quebec Premiers are scheduled to meet again here next week.

Particular resistance will meet any Federal effort to appropriate succession duties.

"Last year we collected $28,000,000 in succession duties and this year we will get $17,000,000," Mr. Hepburn said.

"Without such revenues how are we going to meet the increasing demand for social services. Ontario is not in a position to forego that source of revenue."

The Ontario Premier maintained there was no threat to confederation in Ontario and Quebec joining together to protect common interests.

SENSATION IN OTTAWA?

OTTAWA, Dec. 16 (CP)—While many matters of National and international importance await attention of the government at this afternoon's cabinet council, not the least will be the reported utterances of Premier Duplessis of Quebec in Shawinigan Falls last night.

"Nothing to say at the moment," was the reply of cabinet ministers from Quebec when queried on Mr. Duplessis' announcement of an eastern alliance against federal control and western influence.

Prime Minister MacKenzie King was expected to make whatever comment would come from the government after cabinet council. It will be his first meeting with his colleagues in nearly three weeks. He returned yesterday from a vacation in Florida.

Defies Cabinet

Egypt's brief constitutional crisis was believed settled by a compromise between young King Farouk and his cabinet. The monarch, and the cabinet reached an agreement to reduce a "secret funds" appropriation of $195,000 to $70,000. The premier wanted the appropriation to combat foreign propaganda but Farouk considered the appropriation too high, it was said.

BRITAIN PRESSED TO STEP ON JAPAN

will definitely assure no repetition of these incidents which, as the Japanese government themselves realize, must impair relations between the two countries."

No More Sidestepping

The protest cited previous British-Japanese incidents in China and concluded:

"It is clear that steps hitherto taken by the Japanese government to prevent such attacks have so far failed in that purpose and His Majesty's government must now ask that they be informed that measures have actually been taken of a character which will put a definite stop to the incidents of which they complain."

In strong editorials the press warned that Britain's patience may be exhausted.

"The strictest secrecy is being observed," said the Daily Telegraph (Conservative), "with regard to measures that might be taken for the defence of British interests and prestige in the far east.

"For some time it has been realized that there must be a limit to the number of outrages that can be endured, and that if the limit is overstepped the very existence of Great Britain as a far eastern power will be imperilled.

Just A Test Of The Powers

"The full co-operation of the United States is desired now as before. Recent outrages have certainly made a deep impression in America, although it would seem that American opinion is still deeply divided as to whether a definite stand ought to be made in the far east or whether the best way to avoid further trouble is to withdraw still further."

The terms of yesterday's note were described by the Manchester Guardian (Liberal) as "not stronger than the country expected."

"Tokyo will not be far wrong," said the Times (Independent) "if it detects scathing implications in this document, nor misled if it attaches importance to the close Anglo-American co-operation surrounding the dispatch of both the British and American protests."

"This hooliganism," The Times said of the attack on British and American ships, "may have been the result of a deliberate attempt by responsible military and naval officers to destroy neutral shipping on the Yangtze, possibly by way of testing the reaction of the powers.

Can Trust No Japanese?

"If, on the other hand, the incidents were not deliberate, then it must be concluded that save for a small civilized upper class no Japanese can be trusted to carry firearms, even in the Emperor's service, because he is too ignorant and too irresponsible.

"The fact that no fewer than 13 apologies have already been proffered to the two Governments concerned and to their various representatives is a sufficient indication of the state of mind of the responsible statesman in Tokyo."

A resolution calling for a world-wide boycott of Japanese goods to begin January 1 was passed last night at a meeting of the executive committee of the International Peace Campaign presided over by Viscount Cecil of Chelwood, winner of the Nobel Peace Prize for 1937.

Woodstock yesterday was followed by sleet and rain in the night. Snow today wasn't helping. Temperature was above 30.

Light snow fell in Kitchener area leaving a glassy ice coating on pavements. Traffic was slowed down to five and 10 miles an hour. No serious accidents were reported though collisions were numerous. In Kitchener gangs of men were clearing the streets.

An ice storm that caused Hydro-Electric and telephone officials much worry passed off without doing much damage in the Stratford district. A heavy downpour of rain that froze as it fell brought the threat of trouble yesterday afternoon and last night but snow followed it.

Roads in Perth and Huron counties were hazardous, being coated with ice. Provincial Traffic Officer Norman Lever at Clinton today warned all motorists, except those who found travel absolutely necessary, to stay off the road. It was raining and road conditions were bad.

At Guelph traffic moved carefully over sanded roads after an ice storm had paralyzed it for more than 12 hours. Little damage was done power, telegraph or telephone lines.

CHALLENGES M.P.'S TO OPPOSE EXPORT

TORONTO, Dec. 16 (C.P.). — Premier Mitchell Hepburn of Ontario to-day challenged any Ontario or Quebec member of the House of Commons to vote to deny the provinces the right to export surplus electrical power under contract.

"If they vote against permitting us to export surplus power, then they are voting against the best interests of their constituents," the Premier said. "They would be voting against lower Hydro rates and increased revenues for both provinces."

Reports from Ottawa constitutional authorities doubted that the validity of the legislation forbidding power export could be challenged brought from Mr. Hepburn the statement: "I am advised by our law officers that the right of the Dominion to forbid the export of natural resources by the provinces, except as a war measure, can be questioned."

"All we are trying to do is to give the people a reduction in power rates," he said. "As it is, the water is going over the dam and all we want to do is put it through the turbines."

Mr. Hepburn criticized Leopold Macaulay, Ontario Conservative House Leader, for his criticisms of the negotiating of new contracts with Quebec power companies.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

North American estimated wheat exports of 1,260,000 bushels, largely of Canadian variety during last two days, failed to lend strength to wheat futures in closing stages on Winnipeg Grain Exchange to-day. Final prices were 1⅛ to ⅞ lower, December $1.26½, May $1.17⅛ to ⅝ and July $1.11⅝ to $1.12.

Apart from minor losses opening trades were followed by a climb of about two cents.

Rallies, however, brought out heavy offerings, causing recessions, and when Chicago weakened near the close values again fell below yesterday's finals. Profit-taking after recent sharp advances was believed responsible for set-backs.

Volume of trade for the day was not large. Export buying in the pit was on a smaller scale than yesterday.

Find Town In Debt To "Thief" Clerk

Joliette, Que., Dec. 16 (CP)

SECRETARY - TREASURER C. Alcide Boisjoli of St. Didace Parish in Maskinonge County was freed today on a theft charge.

After preliminary inquiry, the Judge said not only was there insufficient evidence to warrant a trial, but that the evidence had proved to be in Boisjoli's favor. Evidence revealed that, instead of being guilty of the charge, Boisjoli actually was owed money by the municipality.

Health Insurance Advocated Over State Medicine

See Former Bringing Fruits Of Scientific Advances To Bedside At Reasonable Cost

OTTAWA, Dec. 16.—(CP)—Dr. T. H. Leggett, president of the Canadian Medical Association, told the University Club at Ottawa yesterday that "if we have not the foresight, the courage and the initiative to inaugurate health insurance, state medicine will come of itself through force of circumstances."

Dr. Leggett declared fruits of great advances made in recent years by scientific medicine had not been brought to the bedsides of patients at reasonable cost.

"The head of a family a comparatively few years ago," he said, "needed to budget in his contingency account for only the meagre fees of his family physician, with perhaps a small drug account—rarely for specialist services, nursing services and hospital accounts.

"But today science has placed at the disposal of the physician innumerable aids to more perfect diagnosis and countless methods for more efficient treatment of disease.

"The public demands the fruits of our great scientific advance but they find these fruits cannot be brought to the bedside of their families at reasonable cost. Thus we realize that we have not been able to secure efficient economic management over the distribution of

BIGAMIST JAILED, HAS FOUR FAMILIES

MONTREAL, Dec. 16 (CP). — Thomas Lancelot Merrill Meares, 40, was sentenced yesterday by Judge Gustave Marin to two years' imprisonment for perjury. And behind him he left, prosecution said, four families and many children.

"You have been convicted of perjury," Judge Marin told Meares, known to police under various aliases, "but I am sending you to jail so you will be unable to contract any more marriages for some time."

Meares was accused of committing perjury when he testified during his trial on a non-support charge last year he had not used other names and that he had no pension from the Federal Government.

J. Alex. Edmison, counsel for the Society for the Protection of Women and Children, told Judge Marin that Meares first married in England in 1918, afterward deserting his wife and married another woman in Florida in 1922.

Six years later, Edmison said, Meares married a Hamilton woman and left her, too, for another woman in 1933. There were children of each union, counsel said.

PETTICOAT BANK

DENVER, Dec. 16—(AP)—An ice-coated sidewalk disclosed the location of Miss Mary Kahler's bank.

The 66-year-old woman, taken to a hospital after she was injured in a fall last night, objected to removal of her petticoat. Nurses found the explanation — $3,460 concealed in a petticoat pocket.

"That's my bank," Miss Kahler declared.

Can't Pose Nude

A striking camera study of Jeanne Smith, of New York, student at the University of Wisconsin School of Music, who quit college to become a waitress after her posing in the nude for the college art class, had been banned by Varsity authorities. Miss Smith was paying her way through school with her modelling. She had been posing for 18 months before the ban was imposed.

HAVELOCK W.M.S. ENJOYS PLAYETTE

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HAVELOCK, Dec. 16. — The Women's Missionary Society of the Havelock United Church held its December meeting at the home of Mrs. Harrison Wing, when there was a splendid atetndance of thirty-five members. The devotional period was conducted by Mrs. S. A. Kemp, president, with Mrs. Spencer reading the devotional story. The roll-call was responded to by quoting a verse of Scripture.

Arrangements were made for the 1938 meetings and then a very interesting playlet, "The Presentation of the Missionary Monthly" was given, with Mrs. J. Freeman as the leader, and including Lois Ames, Evelyn and Elaine Ees. The meeting then adjourned with singing and prayer, following which refreshments were served.

Recognizing Good Work

The tendering of a complimentary banquet to Warden Roy Brown by the council of Burleigh and Anstruther the other night was not only a-home-boy-makes-good gesture on the part of the township council toward their reeve but it was also an opportunity for general recognition of the fact that in his important job of presiding over the activities of the Peterborough county council Warden Brown had acquitted himself admirably. The presence of other members of the county body provided a chance for eulogies to be voiced of the manner in which the warden had measured up to the responsibilities of his office during the current year and there was a ring of obvious sincerity in the remarks of the speakers who testified to their appreciation of Mr. Brown's services.

It is generally felt throughout the county that this has been a good year, so far as the work of the council is concerned. The sessions have been business-like and much has been accomplished. And for that happy state of affairs Warden Brown is entitled to a full share of the credit. He has given generously of his time and ability to the business of the county and the tributes paid in his home constituency the other night were not merely flattering platitudes but a sincere recognition of the fact that an important job had been well done. And do not make the mistake of thinking that being warden of a county is not an important job. It has been the stepping stone from which many a man who has made his mark in provincial or Federal politics has climbed into the larger arena. George S. Henry made the grade all the way from the wardenship of York County into the premiership of the province and more than one other successful politician owes much of his good fortune politically to the training and experience he secured as reeve of his own township and as warden of his county.

Co-operation Is Vital

It is a matter for regret that there should be an agitation in Lindsay to have that community withdraw from membership in the Kawartha Lakes and Haliburton Tourist Association. The chances of successful promotion of this district as a tourist playground de luxe are obviously so much greater through a co-operative drive in which all the municipalities pool their efforts than through a scrambled every-place-for-itself campaign that the news from Lindsay is disquieting.

It is to be hoped that every effort will be made to close up the ranks again in order that the Kawartha Lakes-Haliburton section may be able to make a concentrated and really effective play for a bigger share of tourist business next year. When resources are thrown into a common fund there is an opportunity to do some worthwhile publicity work from which definite results can be confidently expected, results that will be beneficial to the whole district. On the contrary if each centre attempts to do its own advertising it will be idle to look for any great amount of benefit unless the individual places are prepared to spend a great deal more on their own account than they would have to contribute as members of an organization.

The history of tourist promotion shows very clearly that co-operation by a number of interests in the same section has been the most important factor in attaining an increased volume of tourist traffic and that is why The Examiner would like to feel that the municipalities of this section were working together in a common cause for the best interest of the whole district.

Forget It Until April

We noticed a warning in the Ottawa Journal the other day that impressed us as a very sensible piece of advice. It was to the effect that although the legal speed limit for automobiles in urban districts in Ontario is now 30 miles an hour motorists should forget that fact until next April.

That is a sound admonition. Even under the most favorable conditions there are not many moments on city streets when thirty miles an hour is absolutely safe speed. And when you take into account the perils of winter driving, with the roads often icy or when there is snow under the wheels, Ontario drivers would indeed do well to tuck that 30-mile limit away for the winter and determine to drive in accordance with the prevailing conditions of weather and roads.

Already we have had traffic accidents here because of cars skidding on slippery streets—and a skid develops without much trouble when roads are covered with ice and snow. In several cases cars out of control have swerved from the street and climbed up over the sidewalk and only providence prevented death or injury to a pedestrian.

We believe that a general cutting down of speed during the winter months would do much to checkmate the perils of cold-weather motoring. The legal speed may be 30 miles but only irresponsibles will insist upon driving that fast upon city streets in the shape they often are between November and April.

Daylight Saving

Daylight saving, always a live question in a municipal campaign when a vote on the issue is to be taken, is already beginning to develop a little smoke. The old and apparently never-to-be-settled arguments among the folk who want an extra hour of sunlight to indulge in athletic games of one kind or another, the mothers who complain that children lose sleep because of daylight saving and the old guard who talk about "leaving God's time alone" have started to bob up and they will gain in both sound and fury until election day.

That controversy has gone on ever since the summer time system was first introduced and apparently is nowhere near subsiding. It is strange that a situation that is accepted by many European countries every year as a matter of course should develop so much argument on this side of the water but there it is and The Examiner being a prudent newspaper does not propose to get involved to any great extent in the technical side of the battling.

There is, however, this to be remembered that whatever we may do about daylight saving here Toronto will operate on summer time and that means inconvenience and confusion for many of our business and industrial concerns if we try to go along all summer on standard time. This is an industrial centre and a number of local factories would be handicapped by a difference in time to such an extent that they probably would have to operate on a daylight saving schedule anyway. That in turn would make conditions in the homes of the employees rather awkward if general activities in the city were regulated by standard time while industries operated according to daylight saving, so that it may be found that the doctrine of the greatest good to the greatest number can best be demonstrated by adoption of summer time.

The C.I.O's Campaign

The advent of John L. Lewis' Committee for Industrial Organization as a factor in the municipal elections at Oshawa is not a development that will give thoughtful Canadians much ground for rejoicing. The news from the Motor City is that the C.I.O. is entering the Oshawa fight on a big scale, with a slate of candidate to be announced who will be given financial assistance and allowed to use union headquarters for campaign meetings. Moreover, the campaign is under the direction of Hugh Thompson, C.I.O. organizer who has been on the scene for some time organizing the battle front.

Apparently the fact that similar campaigns in the United States have not had much luck is not disturbing the Oshawa United Automobile Workers. The Detroit electors made a very neat job of defeating a C.I.O. attempt to secure control of the municipal machinery and in Monro, Mich., where the mayor waged war upon the Lewis organization, he was re-elected to office by five to one.

We will be very much chagrined if the C.I.O. effort in Oshawa has any better success. There is nothing against the automobile workers candidates so far as they personally are concerned but when they attempt to ride into office on the C.I.O. band wagon, they must be prepared to face the opposition of hundreds of their fellow-citizens who cannot see any place in the municipal government for Lewis doctrine. We are not accustomed to that kind of thing in civic elections and this drive for C.I.O. domination of Oshawa municipal politics will undoubtedly be strongly resented.

Militia Training

The request made by Hon. Ian Mackenzie, Federal Minister of Defense, in a speech the other day, for co-operation from the employers of young men who have joined the Canadian militia seems to be an entirely reasonable one. The defense minister said that many militia men hesitated to take the time off to go to camp for their annual training because they were afraid they would find their jobs filled on their return.

That is a condition that should be remedied. It seems to us that where young men are spirited and patriotic enough to join voluntarily one of the country's militia units and make some effort to prepare themselves for service in the event of an emergency they should be given every encouragement and not be held back by anxiety as to whether their places in business or industry might be taken by others during their absence. There are few thinking people who will deny that some sort of a defense force must be maintained in this country and the militia system is the only feasible way in which it can be provided. Fortunately there has been available since the war a splendid force of trained officers, men who saw service at the front and who have been willing to place their experience and knowledge at the service of their country in the training of militia units. And in every district youth has come forward to fill those units to the strength authorized under the present system. That being the case it is good business as well as good patriotism to make the best use of this will-to-serve.

We believe that now that the earnestness of the minister's appeal has brought the matter squarely before employers of members of the militia that the desired co-operation will be readily forthcoming and thus a serious obstacle in the path of efficient training will be removed, we trust, permanently.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Gas masks are being manufactured in Canada despite the fact that the next Federal election is still several years away.

It has been discovered that Paul Henri Spaak, Belgium's Socialist Foreign Minister wears a hat that was made in Fascist Italy. That should not matter, however, unless he starts talking through it.

A proposal comes from the rural municipalities of Manitoba that provincial governments should be abolished. There are people who will feel that the Manitoba folk have got something there.

The plea has been made that Saskatchewan's brief presented to the Rowell Commission should be studied by the leaders in other provinces as business men. The trouble with that is of course that they are politicians first.

Revenue Minister Ilsley says that Canada has not been affected by the business recession in the United States. Let us hope the minister will be able to make a similar statement in six months from now.

Income tax for eight months of this year was $14,689,065 higher than for the same period last year. That is conclusive evidence that there are at least some Canadians who are making more money than they were a year ago.

King Boris of Bulgaria drove the first locomotive over a new railway the other day. He is one monarch who has something to fall back on if his throne should be wiped out. He is aligible for a job as an engineer.

While a large proportion of the voters in Toronto did not vote at the last provincial election there are complaints that a few voted two or three times and under different names. That of course is the kind of enthusiasm that lands people in jail.

The Kitchener Record says of the power situation that the results tend to show that Premier Hepburn was "at least partly wrong" in maintaining there was nothing to the "cry" of a power shortage. After which stern rebuke there does not seem much left for Mr. Hepburn to do but resign.

WINTER

How varied an appeal to us thou makest—
Some see in thee a mender of highways;
Or after snow thou art like one who shaketh
O'er earth his handkerchief, till it o'erlays.

With white all her defects; thou dost appear
A weaver, too, whose busy loom will ply,
Providing beauty for the coming year—
So Nature lives when it but seems to die.

In thy "tumultuous privacy" I ween
Are those who "converse with the mighty dead"
Before a hearth whose home-made cheer is seen
O'er an "uninterrupted evening" shed.
And, virile friend, with health our faces glow,
When in thy company we walking go.

Viscount Gort, then a colonel in the Guards, was bleeding from half a dozen shrapnel wounds, but when a headquarters message came along with orders to retreat, he instead launched two flanking attacks and, surprising the Germans, captured twenty square miles of country. In the army he has been known as "the Tiger" because of his valor.

It is estimated that the railways of the United States spend normally about a billion dollars a year. They buy about 23 per cent. of all bituminous coal minded in the country, 19 per cent. of all fuel oil produced, 17 per cent. of all iron and steel and 20 per cent. of all lumber. In addition, they pay taxes of approximately a million dollars a day.

Seeking a Cure.

Since 1930 research workers in the Mellon Institute at Pittsburg have been seeking a cure that would be more effective than serum theraphy for pneumonia. The doctors have been looking for some substance that could be shot into the bloodstream and that would have a lethal effect upon pneumonia. To date they have waded through 76 derivatives of quinine, testing them on 20,000 white mice and scores of dogs.

One startling phenomenon developed during the tests. Where the drug capsules were given on the day of pneumonia's onset mortality was 26 per cent. When administered the second day the figure stood at 34 per cent. But where the patient had swallowed no capsules until the third day there was a mortality of only 4.7 per cent.

Protecting Animals From the Cold

Arrival of Winter Weather Calls For Care; Dumb Beasts Must Not Be Allowed to Suffer

(From the St. Thomas Times-Journal.)

WITH COLD weather here, owners of livestock should endeavor to make the animals as comfortable as possible. Those with a heart will do so. Those who are cruel by nature will not care a hang whether the dumb beasts in their care suffer needlessly from the cold. These inhumane and inhuman people should be prosecuted and sufficiently punished so that their cases may serve as a warning to others. The police in Elgin county, where, unfortunately, there is no Humane Society, should be especially on the alert for instances of cruelty to helpless animals, as this is an offence against the law as much as anything else is.

Heartless treatment of an aged horse was aired in London police court this week. The evidence disclosed that the owner had allowed the animal to life in an orchard, unable to get up, while part of the time a severe storm swept the countryside.

Witnesses said that the horse, though still alive, was covered with snow and had pawed holes 12 to 14 inches deep in the ground in its struggles to get to its feet. To the owner's claim that he had asked a neighbor to kill it, but that the neighbor had failed to come, Inspector George Tustin, of the Humane Society, replied: "You tried to sell the horse to a fox farm and waited to get $2 for its hide." A fine and costs totalling $14.50 was imposed, which hardly seemed enough for such gross cruelty.

In disposing of the case, the magistrate said: "A horse is entitled to have a decent place to rest himself at night." All humanely-minded owners will agree with this assertion, and will see that not only their horses, and all other animals are properly stabled. Those who do not should be made to feel the displeasure of the law and the disapproval of society.

Where Is Oliver Cromwell's Head?

One Story Says His Skull is in Village Vicarage Family Refuses to Give Up Relic to State

(From the St. Thomas Times-Journal.)

IT IS a bit late in the day to ask where the head of Oliver Cromwell is, but the question has cropped up again, owing to the imminence of constructing an $8,000,000 group of Government buildings in Whithall, which will involve much excavation in areas where many historical characters were ignominously tossed into unknown graves.

Although Oliver Cromwell died peacefully in his bed at Whitehall on September 3, 1658, the Restoration Parliament two years later passed orders to exhume the remains of Cromwell, Ireton, Pride, Bradshaw, Phym, Blake and others. With the almost incredible ghoulishness of those days the dead bodies were carted to Tyburn tree, near the Marble Arch, and hanged, then after the heads of some of them had been cut off, the remains were reburied under the gallows. The heads were taken to Westminster Hall and there impaled on spikes where they remained for a great many years. Cromwell's blew down after 20 years, and some unknown person picked it up. Since that time there have been many endeavors to trace it and various claimants to its possession. One story is that it was buried in Abney Park cemetery, North London, which at that time was part of the garden of the home of Cromwell's daughter, who was the wife of General Fleetwood. Another story is that two Puritans got hold of the head and took it to Yorkshire for a while, later interring it in the garden of Sir Thomas Abney, which was afterwards incorporated in the cemetery. That gives the Abney Park Cemetery two claims. There is also a claim that it is buried in a vault at Newburgh Priory, Yorkshire.

But according to Joseph Grigg, London correspondent of the New York Sun, the likeliest repository is the home of the Rev. Horace Ricardo Wilkinson, vicar of Woodbridge, Suffolk. Seven years ago there was a proposal to bury Cromwell's skull in Westminster Abbey. Mr. Wilkinson announced that the skull had been in the possession of his family for generations and he would not give it up. It was examined by two experts who pronounced it a "moral certainty" that the head is genuine. As long ago as 1857 Dean Stanley was credited with writing, after a visit "to the rural abode of Mr. Wilkinson, late M. P. for Lambeth," that in the house of Mr. Wilkinson he saw preserved "no less a marvel than the head of Oliver Cromwell." The dean described how it was taken out of a strong box and its many wrappings removed, adding: It is its own best witness." The head is said to be embalmed like a mummy, to have the marks of two strokes of the axe on the neck and of the oak staff and iron spike running through the skull.

Cromwell's remains were given terrible treatment, whereas those of the man he brought to the block, Charles I, were at least given decent if unostentatious interment at Windsor.

The Price Paid For Being an Island

Britain's Defense System Must Include Provision For Essential Foodstuffs

(From the Glasgow Bulletin.)

AIRCRAFT or no aircraft, Great Britain is still an island. It follows that our defensive system must include provision for the supply of essential foodstuffs for man and beast in the event of war. The point need not be elaborated for those over 30. If they do not remember the King's proclamation calling for frugality and economy in 1917, they will remember the food cards and the queues.

Life in this country during the closing years of the last war provides the necessary background for last night's pronouncement in the House of Commons. We have our shadow factories at the rear of the Services; now we are to have a shadow food organization behind the shops at the corner. Up to the present not very much has been said about it but the Government has evidently been busy.

There is still a good deal of legitimate curiosity to satisfy but what we know makes a sound beginning. Looking back on the experience of 20 years ago, there is much to improve and to avoid. British food control made a shaky start. Indeed, until the late Lord Rhondda took over it confined itself largely to exhortation when most people were too busy to listen. Perhaps some will remember a contemporary cartoon which bore the caption: "We don't exactly control and we issue grave warnings."

Well, there is to be no more of that. We may count upon management from the start, organized by regions. We now know the names of the controllers, and there is enough substance in the shadow to inspire confidence. But the war conditions make a lot of difference. Dislocations and disorganizations arise at once. Therefore there are questions.

How far, for example, are we to rely upon food storage? Twenty years ago two million quartern of barley held in the providence of brewers was found to be manna from heaven at a crisis. Something like that might happen again—if the ships, on the call of strategy, were otherwise employed.

KEEP POLITICS OUT.

(Stratford Beacon-Herald)

WARDEN Dr. G. H. Jose gave the members of the Perth County Council more than a good meal on Thursday evening. He left with his guests a sage piece of advice when he declared: "The one thing that will wreck a township, a country or a city is to allow party politics to creep in. Municipalities must be operated free from politics and that is the one thing for which I have stood during my term of office. Party politics. I am glad to say, play no part whatsoever in the government of the fine old banner county."

HANDLING REDS.

THIS QUESTION, however, does arise. Is there not a possibility of over-rating, as well as under-rating, the familiar "red menace" here? Due to the padlock law, at least one newspaper, La Clarte, an editor, and a group of Leftists have won nation-wide publicity and a touch of the ever-desired martyrdom. What percentage of Canadians, or even of Montrealers, would ever have heard of them otherwise?

LITTLE VILLAGE IN CAPE BRETON HARDLY CHANGED

ST. ANN'S, N.S., Dec. 16—(CP).—Gladys MacMillan has come over from New Zealand to visit this little Cape Breton village, the home of her ancestors. Few changes have left their mark on the little settlement, and the village today bears striking resemblance to that from which her grandfather and his sons sailed away 86 years ago.

The story of the Scots from Cape Breton who went to New Zealand really begins back in 1817, when Rev. Norman MacLeod came as one of thousands to Nova Scotia, and gathered a group of people about him in what is now Pictou. The settlers cleared land there, built rough houses and raised their first crops. But conditions did not satisfy the 40-year-old parson, and he determined to lead his flock southward to Ohio.

When a vessel—called the Ark—was built, the voyage to a hoped-for fairer land began. But storms broke about the little ship shortly after it had left, and it was finally driven ashore at St. Ann's harbor. The land was good and the anchorage protected, so the settlers went no further, but established their homes at St. Ann's.

The little colony grew slowly through the years that followed. A church and homes were erected, shipyards established, and vessels plied to and fro with produce. Finally one of Norman MacLeod's sons ventured abroad with a cargo, and in 1851 word came from him in Australia pleading with the residents to journey there.

Times were poor in Cape Breton, so once more the hardy pioneers decided to move. The 250-ton Margaret was built and the settlers sailed away on their 12,000-mile voyage. Once again they were disappointed, for conditions in Australia were not as pictured, and so the journey continued until they landed in New Zealand.

It was a long journey in search of a Promised Land—from Scotland to Nova Scotia, to Australia, to New Zealand—but Miss MacMillan's relatives think it was a worth-while one. They are prosperous merchants, farmers, teachers and doctors now, although the last survivors of the journey are dead.

Jap Troops Sail For Canton

HONG KONG, Dec. 16 (CP-Havas)—It was reported without confirmation tonight that 12 transports loaded with Japanese bluejackets were proceeding from their South China base at Toishan for a debarkation point near Canton.

(In Tokyo, the newspaper Nichi Nichi predicted early occupation of Canton, declaring the South China metropolis and Hankow were Japan's next objectives. In Shanghai, it was reported that more than 10,000 Japanese effectives were about to embark for a South China campaign).

Japanese planes again bombed the border region between Hong Kong and Chinese territory today with the evident objective of destroying a bridge connecting the British Crown colony with the neighboring area.

The Rev. Dr. A. T. Barr was in Cobourg to-day attending the dedication service of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church in that town. The former church, which was totally destroyed by fire last winter, has been replaced with an exceedingly beautiful new building.

In Trinity Church next Sunday evening the service will be fully choral when the choir and congregation will join in singing old and new Christmas carols. The choir, under the direction of Miss Clarry, will sing a group of old English carols as well as those of other countries of the 15th and 16th centuries.

The Ladies' Liberal Club held a social evening in the Board Room of the Duffus Building last night when Bert Lucas of Reid Street was the lucky winner of the ham on which tickets have been sold by the members, the draw being made by Charles Duffus. Refreshments were served by the social convenor, Mrs W. Howes, and her assistants.

Mrs. F. McFarlane of 212 Hunter Street was delightfully surprised by a number of her friends who met at her home on the occasion of her birthday and presented her with a very lovely silver rose basket. The presentation was made by Mrs. L. Morrell, and an address was read by Mrs. A. Fisher, with thanks expressed by Mrs. McFarlane in a few well-chosen words. Miss Winnifred Bath entertained with musical selections and refreshments closed a most pleasant evening.

The regular meeting of George Street Y.P.U., attended by fifty young people, was in charge this week of the Christian Culture Group. Officers Elected Evening Branch W.A.

The Evening Branch of St. John's Women's Auxiliary held the business meeting and annual election of officers, with a splendid attendance despite a cold evening.

The rector, the Rev. Canon W. P. Robertson, conducted the Devotional exercises and gave a short address built around the words of St. Paul to the Corinthians, "For I determined not to know anything among you, save Jesus Christ, and Him crucified." The Bible reading was taken by Mrs. J. Bell.

Mrs. J. Collis and Mrs. W. D. McElwaine gave the secretary's and treasurer's reports, with the latter showing a substantial balance on hand, with all fees and pledges paid. As the constitution of the Women's Auxiliary does not permit a balance on hand at the end of the year, it was decided to hand over $25 to the Dorcas committee, and to start collecting for an extra bale. Mrs. Bryatt and Mrs. Downer reported for the Extra-Cent a Day Committee, and the Dorcas Committee who have made and sold fourteen quilts and two afghans.

The correspondence included a letter of thanks from a Western family, who had benefited from one of the bales sent by the Auxiliary. The Bulletin included a report of the board meeting sent by Mrs. Ross of Toronto. During the meeting a review of the study book was given by Mrs. J. Cridland in her usual clear and understanding manner.

The election of officers resulted as follows: Honorary president, Mrs. W. E. Conway; president, Miss Agnes Stout; vice-president, Mrs. W. D. McElwaine; secretary, Mrs. J. Collis, Jr.; treasurer, Mrs. Plummerfelt; Dorcas convenor, Mrs. Downer; assistant, Mrs. Boyer; E.C.D., Mrs. Bryett; United Thankoffering, Miss Clementi; Living Message, Miss Lancaster; Literature, Mrs. J. Bell; Refreshments, Miss Clementi; Telephone, Mrs. Montgomery, Mrs. Franks, Mrs. Rye; Visiting, Mrs. J. Bell, Mrs. Bryett, Mrs. Montgomery; Flowers, Miss A. Foote; Publicity, Mrs. L. Groombridge; Rector's representative, Mrs. Ottewell, Miss Staunton.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Ottewell, Mrs. Rye and Mrs. Montgomery. A Christmas parcel was packed to be sent to the Rev. Mr. Beckwith of Shellbrook, Sask., and a bale for the Rev. Mr. Smye of Milestone, Sask.

Rev. E. W. Young
Addresses Home and School.

The Rev. E. W. Young of St. Andrew's Church, was the guest speaker at the December meeting of King George Home and School Association, held in the kindergarten of the school.

In keeping with the season, the Rev. Mr. Young chose as his subject the ever-beautiful story of the Birth of Christ, pointing out in his talk how closely related are happenings at that time to our life to-day, and urging his listeners to remember that as Christs Birth has been the most important event in the world's history, to make it the central thought as Christmas approaches. The close connection between the church and education was stressed by the speaker.

The president, Mrs. Max Swanston, was in the chair for the regular business meeting, which included a reading by Mrs. F. Curtis of Dr. Murray Fraser's monthly health talk to Home and School representatives. "Scarlet Fever," was dealt with by the Medical Officer of Health this month.

F. E. Kerr gave a brief outline of the new school curriculum, after which he continued his monthly talk on the "European Situations."

"Toys," their types and suitability to the child for whom they are intended, were discussed by Mrs. G. C. Northey. It was decided during the meeting to give Mr. Withmon a donation toward his milk fund. At the close a vote of thanks was tendered Mr. Young, and others who took part in the interesting evening's program, which was brought to an end with the singing of a Christmas carol, "Hark the Herald Angels Sing," followed by the National Anthem. Mrs. W. E. Thompson was accompanist at the piano.

Mrs. F. C. Neal
Entertains Auxiliary.

An enjoyable Christmas meeting of the Elizabeth Parker Auxiliary of Trinity United Church was held at the home of Mrs. F. C. Neal of Water Street, when over forty members were present.

Two interesting features of the evening were a talk by Mrs. G. S. Easton on "Christmas Customs in Many Lands," and an able description of the growth, development and work of the United Church, by Miss Esme Thomlinson in her synopsis of the concluding chapters of the study book, "A New Church Faces a New World."

A delightful musical interlude was provided by a quartet composed of Mrs. H. V. Dobson, Mrs. Mitchell and Messrs. C. Cruikshanks and L. Leckie, who rendered, "Good Christian Men Rejoice."

Tribute was paid by Miss Olive Armstrong to the memory of Mrs. A. Parker, who passed away just one year ago. Flowers were placed in the church on the last Sunday in November in honor of Mrs. Parker, who at the time of her death was president of the Auxiliary, having held that office for twenty years.

A feature of the evening was a handkerchief shower for the Good Samaritan cupboard at Nicholls Hospital. Plans were also made to send a bale to a minister in the West in time for Christmas.

Miss Ila Giles presented the report of the nominating committee, the following officers being elected for the ensuing year: Honorary pesident, Mrs. R. F. Downey; president, Mrs. A. R. Brown; 1st vice-president, Miss Helen Bannister; 2nd vice-president, Mrs. G. N. Moncrief; recording secretary, Miss Edith Preston; corresponding secretary, Miss Esme Thomlinson; treasurer, Miss Greta Giles; press secretary, Mrs. W. Giles; temperance secretary, Miss Myrtle Sargent; Christian Stewardship secretary, Miss Olive Marshall.

A social hour was enjoyed at the close of the meeting, when tea was poured by Mrs. H. V. Dobson, and Mrs. A. Ray, with her committee, who were in charge of the meeting, assisted by Mrs. Neal in serving.

Mrs. A. I. Brown
Heads George St. W.M.S.

The Church Parlors of George Street United Church were filled to capacity on Tuesday afternoon for the Christmas meeting and election of officers of the Women's Missionary Society for the ensuing year. While the ladies assembled appropriate music for the season was played sofily by Mrs. W. H. Purdy.

The present, Mrs. W. H. Morton, presided, opening the meeting with a very beautiful poem, followed by prayer, and the Christmas Scripture lesson read by Mrs. E. W. Coon.

Reports heard from the secretaries of the different groups were most gratifying, many of the groups having gone over their allocations. Among other pleasing features of the program was the presentation of a Life Membership to Mrs. Airriess, at the conclusion of the session.

The Rev. M. C. Parr presided for the election of officers, which resulted as follows: President, Mrs. A. I. Brown; 1st vice-president, Mrs. A. F. Lane; 2nd vice-president, Mrs. R. Parnell; 3rd vice-president, Mrs. H. G. Walker; reporting secretary, Mrs. W. McMillan; treasurers, Mrs. J. A. Spencer, Mrs. Dulmage; press secretary, Miss Might; corresponding, Mrs. E. E. Harvey; Literature, Mrs. W. H. Morton; Temperance and Christian Citizenship, Mrs. C. Elliott; Librarian, Mrs. A. F. Lane; Missionary Monthly, Mrs. J. Douglas, Mrs. Fairbrother; pianists, Mrs. W. H. Purdy, Mrs. M. C. Parr; Baby Band, Mrs. D. Munroe; Circle, Mrs. Dulmage, Mrs. McMillan; Mission Band, Mrs. J. M. Beatty.

Mrs. W. H. Morton, who for three years has so successfully guided the affairs of the society, thanked the ladies for their splendid co-operation during her term of office, and also expressed appreciation to the Rev. Mr. Parr and Mrs. Parr for inspiration and support.

The address of the afternoon was given by the pastor, his message being, "The Christian's Joy at Christmas." Prayer was offered by the newly elected president, Mrs. A. I Brown.

During the meeting Mrs. Goldie was heard in a beautifully sung solo, "The Birthday of a King," and later Mission Band members delighted the audience with hymns and a pageant, with many of the children dressed in costumes representing the people of other nations. Thanks was expressed by Mrs. R. Parnell to all who had taken part in a most successful and enjoyable meeting, which was closed with prayer by Mrs. Coon.

Axford-Parnell.

A pretty wedding was very quietly solmenized on Saturday, December 11, when Margaret Helen Parnell was united in marriage to Orley Axford, with the Rev. J. H. Sutcliffe officiating.

The attendants were Miss Lola Leach and Henry Parnell, brother of the bride. Following the ceremony a buffet luncheon was served at the home of the bride's parents, and later the happy couple left by motor for Ottawa and Montreal. On their return they will reside in Peterborough.

Plaid Trimming

Anne Shirley

Scotch plaid is used to trim Anne Shirley's new street ensemble. The tailored frock and three-quarters length jacket of slate gray have touches of light green and gray plaid. Her accessories are hunter green, with a green and red quill stuck jauntily in her hat.

Plaid Wool Coat

The season's styles for youngsters show the same careful tailoring that distinguishes those worn by grown-ups. This attractive costume combines a gay plaid wool coat in an authentic clan tartan, with leggings matching the predominating color of the plaid. The coat is cut on slim lines with flared back and velvet collar. The leggings are amply cut, with adjustable shoulder straps for plenty of action freedom. The plaid wool hat has a rolled brim and high crown.

Style Whimsies

Necklaces have arrived with a bang this season. Women are not wearing one necklace with a costume — but several, in gold plate, silver or twisted strands of pearls. In precious jewelry there are pendants of precious stones on delicate platinum and diamond chains, or chokers that circle the base of the throat.

The EXAMINER'S HOME SERVICE
You, Too, Can Become a Successful Writer

The thrill of seeing your very own stories in print! The welcome cheques!
You need not neglect your home. A famous woman novelist wrote her first stories while rocking her son's cradle. She wrote of mother, sisters, home.
Write about people you know. Young Dick Wilson eloping with pretty, penniless Joan, living on an allowance from his family.
In choosing the right words to show the conflict of their characters, assemble lists of synonyms: Joan is "selfish, pampered, egotistic or self-centred." She "plans, schemes or contrives." She hopes to "surpass, rival, outshine or outvie" her friends.
Dick is "impulsive, headstrong, rash or excitable." He is "tactless, unfeeling or discourteous." He tries to "thwart, oppose, prevent or check" Joan.
Our 32-page booklet helps beginning writers. Hints on dialogue, style, plot, choice of words. Discusses short story, article, novel.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

Mission Circle Elects Officers

About thirty members of the X.L. Mission Circle gathered at the home of their Advisory President, Mrs. E. J. Wagar, Lock street, for their Christmas meeting and election of officers. As the girls assembled, they joined in singing a number of the familiar Christmas carols, in which they were led by Rev. F. Craik, pastor of the church.

"The Christmas Star" was the theme of the inspiring worship service, arranged by Mrs. Wagar, and which opened with quiet music by the pianist, Gladys Langton.

"We have seen His star in the east, and are come to worship Him" was the appropriate call to worship, with May Rosborough singing the response "O Come, all ye faithful" and all joining in the chorus.

Following the same thought were the three scripture readings: (1) The Christmas message announced, Isa. 9:6, read by Marjorie Sedore; (2) The Christmas message among men, Luke 2:8-14, by Doreen Elliott, and (3) The first Christmas gift, Matt. 2:9-11, by Greta Vannest. In the Christmas prayer, the member were led by Zetta Wood.

A beautiful version of the Christmas story was given by Jean Hammond, who read Mabel Shaw's story of "A Journey." "O Come to my heart, Lord Jesus" as sung by Ada Kitney, came as a fitting conclusion to the story, while Jennie Cuffe's solo "Away in a Manger" was also most appropriate.

A brief benediction, in poem, closed this part of the service, which was followed by the business session with the president, Jessie Martin in the chair. Reports from the secretary and the treasurer were encouraging, with the funds coming well up toward the allocation set. The membership and attendance contest closed with this meeting and upon counting the points it was found that Greta Vannest's team were the winners by eleven points. The losing side, whose captain was Jean Rose, will banquet the winners at the January meeting. The contest has added, not only a number of new members to the Circle, but has brought much interest and enthusiasm as well.

A very pleasing feature of the meeting was the presentation by the Circle of a life membership to Marjorie Kitchen, whose faithful and loving service were emphasized in the address read by the president. Though taken by surprise, Mrs. Kitchen thanked her colleagues for the honour thus shown her.

For the election of officers, Rev. Mr. Craik took charge and called for the report of the nominating committee, who presented the following slate of officers: Advisory president, Mrs. E. J. Wagar; president, Jessie Martin; 1st vice president, Olive Searles; 2nd vice president, Greta Vannest; 3rd vice president, Gladys Langton; recording secretary, Effie Rowe; corresponding secretary, Connie Wagar; treasurer, Jean Hammond; assistant treasurer, Zetta Wood; secretary Christian stewardship and finance, Jennie Cuffe; temperance secretary, Jean Rose; strangers' secretaries, Alberta and Dorothy Frost; supply secretary, Marjorie Sedore; press secretary, Mrs. Wagar; literature secretary and librarian, May Welch and Dorothy Drysdale; mite box secretary, Doreen Elliott; missionary monthly secretary, Mrs. D. Sedgwick; pianist, Jean Rose; assistant pianist, Anne Deyell.

Upon motion, the above executive were elected for the coming year. During the social hour, the girls were entertained by Mrs. Wagar, when dainty refreshments, carried out in the holiday colors, were served. Assating in the serving were Jessie Martin, Jean Hammond and Connie Wagar. The appreciation of the Circle was voiced to the hostess by Olive Searles and another very successful meeting closed with the benediction.

New Beauty Salon Charlotte Street

Wednesday was the official opening day of Moore's Beauty Salon on Charlotte street, so curiosity took this reporter in that direction yesterday afternoon, where a delightful first impression was received of a bright Chinese red door, and cream Venetian blinds in the large windows on either side, screening the interior from the outside world.

The inside is modernistic and charming, and is an exact copy of a Toronto beauty salon somewhere in the States. The cream and Chinese red color scheme has been carried out to the last detail; even the telephone is cream and red, and the cream colored appointment book has thin red stripes and a cream pencil. Methought as I gazed, that the ladies are as painstaking and thorough in the beautifying of clients as they have been with the salon, it should be a successful business.

There are four curtained booths with up-to-date permanent waving apparatus, etc., and a comfortable little drying room, with special new dryers, Miss Irene Moore is the proprietor, and has an able assistant in the well-known, "Si" Green.

W.C.T.U. Meets At Barrie Home

A large representation from the various Protestant Churches of Peterborough were in attendance at the Christmas meeting of the local W.C.T.U. on Wednesday, for which Mrs. Thomas Barrie lent her lovely home at 737 Water street.

Mrs. Harold Rehill, the president, presided over the meeting, which opened with a sing-song of Christmas hymns, after which all repeated the Lord's Prayer in unison.

The beautiful Christmas scripture message was read by Mrs. E. W. Young, with appealing descriptive stories from Ralph Connor's "The Angel" and "The Star." Prayer was offered by Mrs. Thomas Sargent.

A very brief business session included the offering, the sale of the annual provincial report book, and announcements.

Upon motion, $3 was voted for prizes for the Temperance in Sunday School contest held recently, and an order drawn on the treasury for this amount. A welcome was extended to Mrs. A. J. Throop, the W.C.T.U. county president, upon her first appearance since her severe illness.

An announment was also made of a get-together meeting being staged by the Local Council of Women for February 1st and two ladies, Mesdames J. H. Rowe and E. W. Glover, delegated to represent the local union on that occasion.

Regrets and sincere sympathy were expressed for Mrs. E. F. Lord in the recent death of her brother.

A group of Christmas stories "Learn to Smith," by Edgar Guest and "Needs," by Charles Hanson Towne, told in sympathetic voice by Mrs. R. C. Braund, were greatly enjoyed, while the delightful vocal solo, "The Life to Come," sung by Mrs. Meade Braund, accompanied by Mrs. S. J. Richardson, at the piano was in keeping with the spirit of Christmas, and a rare musical treat.

Miss Joan Pitchford, in her solo "The Old Refrain," also brought a beautiful message in song. Miss Pitchford was accompanied by Mrs. W. Greendale.

Another solo, "The Youthful Prayer," sung in fine voice, was the contribution of Mrs. H. J. Morley, with piano accompaniment by Mrs. E. W. Glover.

The appreciation of the W.C.T.U. for the use of her home and gracious hospitality was tendered to Mrs. Barrie by Mrs. G. A. Nelson and Mrs. C. Elliott.

Wishing the ladies of the W.C.T.U. a very Merry Christmas and a Prosperous and Happy New Year, Mrs. Rehill brought her fine Christmas program to a conclusion, with the singing of "O, Come Let Us Adore Him, and the Mizpah benediction.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

A SAD CALAMITY

ONE OF THE sadest calamities that can befall a strong side is to have the bidding drop at less than game when there is a slam in the cards. Upon rare occasions, this is difficult to avoid by even the best bidding, but most of the time the disaster is blameable upon one partner or the other. Usually it is due to the negligence of one, who fails to realize that he is in possession of knowledge about the great strength of his side, whereas his partner doesn't know certain salient points about the hand opposite.

(Dealer: South. North-South vulnerable.)

Over South's 1-Diamond bid, North responded with 1-Spade and East went to 2-Hearts, which South doubled. North now rebid his spades and South bid 3-Clubs. When North took this to 3-Diamonds, South passed. Seven-Diamonds was made on the hand.

South was perfectly right in his severe criticism of North's bidding. South had bid diamonds, doubled hearts and later bid clubs. It should have been clear to North that South held five diamonds, four or five clubs and three or four hearts. With four trumps in the North hand to take care of heart ruffs, if needed, and a filler for the club suit, North's bid should have been 4-Diamonds and the slam could have been reached. However, South read North's bid of 3-Diamonds as merely showing a preference for that suit over clubs and decided to drop the bidding.

Tomorrow's Problem

(Dealer: South. East-West vulnerable.)

How should South play for 4-Spades on this deal after the lead of the club K?

Mays School Christmas Concert

The lecture hall of Knox Church was crowded last evening, when the pupils of May's School presented their annual Christmas concert. The boys and girls received a good deal of applause during the evening, for well-rendered choruses, and some very effective bits of acting. The Irish Dance by pupils of Grade 2, was very prettily done, and the "Manger Scene" by the same Grade is especially worthy of mention, too. Much credit is due the pupils of Grades 7 and 8 for their singing of "O Little Town of Bethlehem," and "The First Noel," and Christmas Songs" sung by Grade One's Rhythm Band were delightful. Miss G. Cox accompanied her pupils at the piano, accompanist for the other numbers being W. R. Potter, who has been responsible for the school's musical training. H. Welch was chairman for the evening's program, which was as follows:

"Santa Claus Is Coming To Town," Grades 5 and 6, with chorus by the whole school; "Merry Chiming Bells," Grades 5 and 6; "Christmas Songs," Rhythm Band, Grade 1; Irish Dance, Grade 2; violin solo, Cyril Robinson, accompanied by Henry Robinson; Manger Scene, Grade 2; Birdies' Ball, Grades 3 and 4; "Precious Story, Christmas Bells," Grades 3 and 4; tap-dance, Betty Bestard; dialogue, "Railway Station at a Busy Hour," Grades 5 and 6; "O Little Town of eBthlehem," "The First Noel," with Descant, Grades 7 and 8; dialogue, "Uncle Joe's Will," Grades 7 and 8.

The teachers of the various Grades who deserve much credit for the smoothly run-off and well prepared program, are Miss G. Cox, Miss V. Squire, Miss M. Brown, Principal W. Wedlock and J. Londerville.

WEDDINGS

Rae-Edmison.

MILLBROOK, Dec. 16.—A wedding of local interest was quietly solemnized at the United Church Parsonage, Listowel, on Tuesday, December 14, when Dorothy Margaret, only daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Alex. Edmison, was united in marriage to William John, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. William Rae, of Stratford, the father of the bride officiating.

The bride was attended by Miss Helen L. Holmes, and the groom was supported by Mr. Edward R. Barrett, of Stratford. Following a reception, Mr. and Mrs. Rae, both of whom are Victoria College graduates of the class of 1934, left on their honeymoon trip to New York. On their return, they will reside in Toronto. The bride is a granddaughter of Mrs. M. Sutton, of Millbrook.

All Saints' Choir Annual Banquet

At the annual banquet and Christmas tree held by members of All Saints' Church choir seventy choristers and their guests sat down to dinner last night. President F. C. Roberts officiated as toastmaster. Guests included the Rev. Canon J. D. Paterson and Mrs. Paterson; Mr. and Mrs. P. Hooper, and Mr. and Mrs. T. Pitchford, all honorary vice-presidents of the choir.

The tables were seasonably decorated for the occasion. George East as Santa Claus distributed presents from a gaily decorated Christmas tree. A feature of the program of entertainment was the showing of movie pictures loaned by Fred L. Roy, and exhibited by Roy Pitchford. The evening closed with a community sing-song. The choir voiced appreciation to Mr. Roberts for his untiring effort in making the evening the success it was, and thanked Miss G. Lucas, Mrs. Morley and Mrs. Hall for their work in decorating the tables so brightly.

Shirred treatments continue to be reflected in sleeves, with the shirring going in different directions. Fagoted sections provide decoration at necklines and shoulders.

THE STARS SAY . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Friday, December 17

A particularly lively and exciting day is foretold by the prevailing astral influences. Stirring events connected with a peculiar, intriguing or mysterious circumstance may divert attention from routine matters. Strangers as well as elders may figure in this, with adverse as well as benignant force. Business, employment and private adventures call for circumspect management, tact, stratagem, or possibly collusion.

Those whoe birthday it is may find themselves involved in a year of curious, peculiar or mysterious circumstances, affecting employment, business and the private life. Strangers and elders may play a part in these, the latter perhaps in connection with grief. But in all there are auspicious conditions if managed with tact, subtlety or collusion.

A child born on this day may be energetic and progressive but also restless, changeable, emotional, impressionable and adventurous. It may have an unusual career, with fluctuating fortunes.

West Stages Buffalo Round-Up Thinning Out Herds In Parks

Back In 1907 Bisons Were All But Extinct In North America

WAINWRIGHT, Alta., Dec. 16.—November in Northeastern Alberta is buffalo round-up month. There within the confines of Buffalo National Park, buffalo-punchers employed by the Department of Mines and Resources, national parks branch, ride herd annually over North America's last great stand of the great hump-backed beasts who once virtually covered what are now the Canadian prairies and the mid-west states.

According to the last annual report of the department, Buffalo National Park harbors some 5,584 buffalo. And in Wood Buffalo Park—17,300 square miles of sanctuary along the Alberta-Northwest Territories boundary—over 10,000 buffalo roam at will. Thus has Canada's national parks system rehabilitated the buffalo; saved from certain extinction the "grandest ruminant that ever trod a western trail."

In 1907, Canada had no buffalo. When both the Dominion and the United States were busy tying the Atlantic to the Pacific with ribbons of steel, buffalo meat was a staple food. As the redskins had made the deep, red, strong-tasting beef the principal item in their larder, so did America's railroad pioneers. Countless thousands fell to the unceasing bark of rifle shots. Tongues — a choice morsel—were cut out. Carcasses were left to rot. Organized buffalo hunts, led by such far-famed hunters as Buffalo Bill Cody, practically wiped the buffalo from the west. Many, it is related, shot the beasts from train windows for "the sheer joy of seeing the magnificent brute bite the prairie dust."

As a result of such wanton extravagance but one herd remained on this continent in 1907. It was on the Flathead Indian Reserve in the State of Montana and owned by one Michael Pablo. When the district was opened for settlement, Pablo offered his herd of some few hundred to the American government.

When they refused to bargain, Pablo tried Canada. Our government bought at $250 a head and subsequent results have proved the sale would have been cheap at double the price.

In five years the whole herd of 716 was safely grazing in Buffalo National Park. Set free on the rolling well-watered prairie, they soon multiplied. Tender nursing; rigid game laws and conservation policies stimulated a steady growth until in 1923 their numbers overtaxed the original reserve.

Continent's Largest Preserve.

This brought about the establishment of the largest game preserve on the continent. Some 176 miles long and nearly 100 miles wide—an area of about 17,300 square miles—Wood Buffalo Park between 1925 and 1928 became the new home of 6,673 buffalo. From Buffalo National Park the huge bisons rode in railway box-cars to Waterways, Alberta. There scows were ready to transport them down the Athabaska to Fitzgerald.

"After a necessary period of adjustment the buffalo began to show an increase in size and vigor accompanied by a darkening in the color of hair, and of recent years have exhibited a pronounced and healthy increase," declares J. Dewey Soper of the Department of Mines and Resources who conducted a two-year investigation of bison conditions in the national park.

This year, according to the department, government butchers will slaughter 2,000 animals—the normal surplus at Buffalo National Park. At Wainwright the racing, thundering animals, goaded on to their waterloo by hard-riding punchers, will pound their way into the heavily built corral. Finally comes the abbattoir, the rigid government inspection and Canada's annual supply of buffalo meat is on its way for the Christmas dining tables. The hides are treated and dressed to make beaver-like furs, coats, automobile robes and rugs.

On the shores of the Arctic, the Royal Canadian Mounted thank the Canadian government's action in fostering the rebirth of the buffalo as their warm bison-hide coats keep out congealing northern blasts.

True to the old Indian prophecy the buffalo has returned to his northern pastures.

Ulster Tories Aim At '38 Victory

BELFAST, Dec. 16—(CP).—Independent Conservatives in Northern Ireland plan to march to victory at the general election next spring to the strains of "The Ulster Anthem," adopted as the party's rallying song. The anthem runs:

Ulsterland may God thee speed,
May kindly fate thee greet;
And make thy seed in Britain's need
Their obligations meet;
Ulsterland, thou dear homeland,
By Britishers begot;
Our Fatherland, our Motherland,
Oh happy be thy lot.

LOAD GYPSUM

IONA, N.S.—(CP).—Three of the largest vessels ever to enter the Bras d'Or Lakes are expected here before Christmas. They will load gypsum for American ports.

Valera's Aim To Recognize Italy's King As "Emperor", Starts Something

London, Dec. 16

PRESIDENT Eamon De Valera of the Irish Free State is providing a problem for Whitehall diplomats.

Dublin plans to send a minister to Italy. But Italy has already made it clear she will not accept a minister unless his credentials are addressed to the King of Italy as Emperor of Ethiopia.

Great Britain and France both so far have declined so to accredit their ambassadors as it involves recognition of Italy's conquest of Ethiopia.

The Irish Free State, however, according to dispatches, is proposing to accept the Italian formula. If she does, the curious situation will arise of one member of the British commonwealth recognizing the Italian conquest while the

OBITUARY

HILDA THOMSON.
(Examiner Correspondence.)

MARMORA, Dec. 16.—The funeral of the late Hilda Thomson was held on Wednesday, Rev. C. W. Hollingsworth conducting a short service at the home at 9 a.m.

The cortege then proceeded to Woodbridge, where interment was made in Hillcrest Cemetery. Among the many beautiful floral emblems were a number from the various organizations with which the deceased young lady was identified.

MRS. THIRZA RUSSELL.

MILLBROOK, Dec. 16.—The death of Mrs. Thirza Russell, which took place on Sunday, December 12, at the Port Hope Hospital, whither she had been taken just two weeks previously, removed a resident who had spent practically her entire life in Millbrook and vicinity, and who was highly thought of by all who knew her.

Deceased was a daughter of the late George Ward and Elizabeth Caldwell, and was born seventy-six years ago on the family homestead, Zion Line, Cavan township, where her parents had been early settlers. In 1878 her marriage took place to the late John James Russell, who predeceased his wife by twenty-eight years. The first part of their married life was spent in Keene, but after a short time they removed to Millbrook, where their home had been established ever since. An only son, Frederick J., who lived to young manhood, died some years ago, and the other immediate surviving relatives include two sisters, Mrs. James Killingbeck, of Peterborough, and Mrs. Charlotte Killingbeck, of Toronto; also one grand-daughter, Aileen Russell, of Port Hope.

Two brothers, John Ward, of Peterborough, and William of Carnel; and three sisters, Mrs. James Killingbeck (Mary) and Mrs. John Killingbeck (Eliza), both of Peterborough, and Mrs. Thomas Jones (Annie), of Victoria Road, were previously deceased.

The late Mrs. Russell was a lifelong member of the Methodist and United churches, and faithful in attendance until increasingly failing health in the last few years, made it impossible for her to be regularly in her chosen place of worship. The funeral took place on Tuesday at 2 p.m., from her late residence, the home being well filled with friends who had gathered to pay a last tribute of respect to the deceased. The service was conducted by her pastor, Rev. A. L. Sisco, assisted by Venerable Archdeacon William Simpson, rector of the parish of Cavan.

The pall-bearers were six nephews: Melville, Cornelius, Walter and Norman Killingbeck, of Peterborough, Malcolm Ward of Cavan, and Eldon Ward, of Peterborough. Interment was in the family burial-plot, beside her husband, in the Ninth Line cemetery.

'AMERICAN' COUPLE JAILED IN RUSSIA

MOSCOW, Dec. 16 (AP) — The government newspaper Izvestia said today that Soviet authorities had arrested a couple posing as Mr. and Mrs. Donald L. Robinson of New York.

Izvestia asserted, the man and woman were suspected of spying.

(Federal agents in New York investigating for the United States state department the issuance of falsified American passports to the "Robinsons" pursued a theory the couple were espionage agents allied with an American Communist group opposed to the present regime in Russia.)

Referring to the New York investiation, Izvestia said:

"The declaration of the state department leaves little doubt we are dealing with some kind of suspecious persons who attempted to pose as Americans.

"Attention is drawn to the fact that American Trotskyists are connected somehow with the affair and now the Trotskyists are hastening to pull out of it."

The article referred to a Tass (Russian official news agency) dispatch from New York which said an American Trotskyist leader named Schachtman had told newspapermen that the "Robinsons" were not Trotskyists but "innocent American citizens whom the Soviet government had imprisoned."

Two thousand opera glasses were stolen from London theatres in 1937.

Dinner Dress

Posing at a window overlooking the historic Tuileries in Paris, the Duchess of Windsor is pictured wearing the latest addition to her extensive wardrobe — a dinner dress of the famous Prince of Wales plaid, carried out in black and silver lame. For jewelry the duchess wears a bracelet and matching necklace of flexible oblongs of plantinum with flat jewelled ends of rubies, sapphires and diamonds. The clips are diamonds.

ITALY INCREASES DEFENCE BUDGET

ROME, Dec. 16 (AP)—Practically every department of the Italian government will spend more money next year under the budget approved by the cabinet. Nearly a fifth of the increase is for defence.

The proposed 1938-39 fiscal budget totalled 25,035,106,908 lire ($1,308,825,561), an estimated increase of 1,266,559,890 lire ($66,061,047).

Estimated receipts indicated a surplus of 37,422,466 lire $1,945,968).

The biggest increase, 355,488,000 lire ($18,709,900), went to the ministry of finance, due to an increased public debt.

Almost one fifth of the increase was for the defence ministries: War 2,591,066,946 lire ($134,735,461); marine 1,943,000,000 lire ($101,036,000); air 1,265,060,000 lire ($65,783,120)).

Official figures for the fiscal year of 1937-38 have not been published, but a deficit possibly amounting to 5,000,000,000 lire ($260,000,000) was anticipated.

Steel manufacturers of Japan are trying to buy iron ore in Burma.

Freeze-Up Dinner Staged By Pilots

WINNIPEG, Dec. 16 (CP).—Absence of after-dinner speech making marked the "freeze-up dinner" of the pilots who guide machines over Manitoba and northwestern Ontario. The dinner is held every year when the mercury drops to cover lake and rivers with sufficient ice for landings and take-offs in ski-equipped planes.

Informality prevailed as pilots, air engineers and commercial air line officials met at the annual jamboree.

Premier John Bracken appeared late to be introduced as "the pilot of Manitoba province."

John B. Coyne, K.C., president of the Manitoba Aviation League, told the gathering more freight was carried by air in Canada, principally in Western Canada, than in all the rest of the Empire combined. The amount carried was five times greater than the air freight of United States.

Men are working day and night to complete the lengthening of the liner Carnarvon Castle in Belfast, Northern Ireland.

TRACTORS CLEAR 30 ACRES DAILY OF BUSH, TREES

REGINA, Dec. 16 (CP)—Brush and tree-cutting tractors have cleared 25,000 acres of land in northern Saskatchewan this year for victims of the drought area in the south who have moved under the settlers re-establishment branch of the provincial government.

G. J. Matte, commissioner of the branch said 15 per cent of the families offered help were able to drop from relief lists in a year. In two years, he estimated, 75 per cent. of the 5,000 families already shipped north to start life anew would find relief unnecessary.

The day when the pioneer fought stump and rock by hand is gone. The modern mechanical cutter hums over stumpy and brush-covered land and clears 30 acres daily.

A massive steel blade attached to the front of a crawl type tractor makes short work of trees up to six inches in diameter.

When the farmer removes the cut wood and brush, another tractor with a breaker prepares the land for seeding. The government advances money to the land holder to help in breaking the property.

Bountiful returns from the new country have painted a brighter picture of life on the land for the drought victims from the south. Money is not plentiful but cellars are filled with produce.

Mr. Matte's field staff consists of 29 district inspectors, three location officers or camp foreman, two drainage engineers, two chief inspectors and a general supervisor.

MADOC

The first meeting of the Girls' Club was held on Dec. 11th in the Community Hall under the leadership of Mrs. Chas. Johnston and Mrs. L. McCarey. The subject chosen for study will be "The well-dressed and the well-groomed girl." After the new year, about seven or eight meetings will be held. Ten girls attended this initial meeting, but several more have signified their intention to join after the close of the busy holiday season.

The Altar Guild of Sacred Heart Church held their first semi-monthly euchre party on Friday evening, with nine or ten tables played. The stormy evening prevented a much large attendance. Prizes were won by Walter Foley and Miss Helen Meraw. Refreshments of coffee, cake and sandwiches were served at the close by the ladies of the Guild.

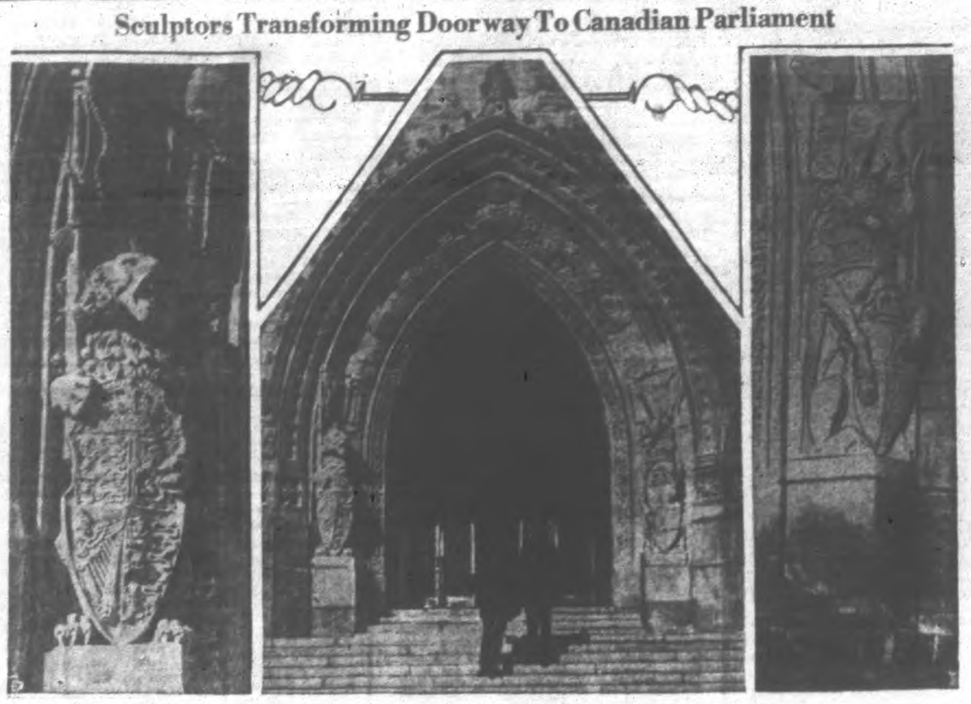
Sculptors Transforming Doorway To Canadian Parliament



Under steady chipping of pneumatic chisels, plain blocks of stone which have marked the main entrance to Canada's parliament building in Ottawa for the past 18 years are being steadily transformed into intricate sculptured design. Main feature of the archway design is a band bearing the provincial coats-of-arms on a background of Canadian tree leaves and farm fruits. A smaller band embodies the Tudor rose maple, shamrock, thistle, lily and Canadian birds. A life-size lion on one side and a unicorn on the other bear the coats of arms of Great Britain and Canada. The lion is shown closeup at LEFT, and unicorn at the RIGHT. Work on the archway, shown in the CENTRE, has been proceeding all summer and is expected to be completed early next year.

UNIT ALLIANCES APPROVED BY KING

LONDON, Dec. 16—(CP-Havas)—Royal approval for the continuation of alliances existing between Canadian and British regiments after the consolidation of several Canadian units was announced in an army order issued today.

The Governor-General's bodyguard of the non-permanent active militia of Canada, hitherto allied to the Queen's Bays Second Dragoon guards, and the Mississauga Horse of the non-permanent active militia, hitherto allied to the First King's Dragoon Guards, having been amalgamated in Canada under the name of the Governor-General's Horse Guards, this regiment will continue both alliances with British regiments.

The British Middlesex Regiment (the Duke of Cambridge's Own), hitherto allied with the Canadian Peterborough Rangers, will also be allied with the Prince of Wales' Rangers (Peterborough Regiment) of Canada.

The King also approved a new alliance between the Australian 6th Light Horse Regiment of the New South Wales Mounted Rifles and the 7th Queen's Own Hussars.

MYSTERY COUPLE ARE BEING SOUGHT

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16—(AP)—An international mystery confronted the United States Government to-day after State Department agents said that an "American" couple who vanished in Moscow recently were masquerading under names evidently taken from New York tombstones.

American passports were issued to Norma Robinson" on April 6, 1936, the Department said, but birth certificates used to obtain the passports were those of children who died years ago.

Nothing actually is known as to the identity or nationality of "Mr. and Mrs. Robinson," Government agents added.

Thus, what began as the mystery of two Americans who disappeared from a Russian hotel deepened into an international enigma.

As Mr. and Mrs. Robinson, the couple was said to have arrived in Moscow on November 6 to witness the celebration of the 20th anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution. The interest of the American Embassy there was aroused when "Mrs. Robinson" told callers last week that her husband had been taken to a hospital on December 2 suffering from pneumonia, but that she did not know the name of the institution. On the next day, acquaintances found that she too had disappeared from the hotel without a trace.

The Embassy sought the aid of the Soviet Foreign Office in locating the couple, but received no information concerning them.

After the business was all discussed Rev. E. M. Cook presided for the election of officers. Those elected were as follows: President, Mrs. C. H. Barnard; missionary vice-president, Mrs. Edmund Dawson; treasurer, Mrs. Ross Moncrief; secretary, Mrs. Frank Morrison; pianist, Mrs. C. Bad Marksmanship Saves Gunboat

SHANGHAI, Dec. 16—(CP).—Bad marksmanship by Japanese fliers saved the British gunboat Ladybird from a fate similar to the U.S.S. Panay, Flag Captain G. E. M. O'Donnell, her commander, said on arrival here today.

With three United States survivors of the Panay sinking, two of them badly wounded and the third suffering from shock to such an extent he could not tell of his experiences, Captain O'Donnell was flown here by a Japanese plane from Wuhu.

He was suffering from a shell-splintered arm. His ship was bombed at the same time as the Panay, but escaped. One seaman was killed.

"The Japanese firing was disgracefully poor, otherwise they would have sunk us," the British naval officer said.

METERS FOR TAXIS

URGE ONE BOARD, TRANSPORT RATES

TORONTO, Dec. 16 (CP)—An Ontario government board to fix rates for all forms of transport in the province was advocated today before the Chevrier Transport Commission by M. E. Clarke, manager of Clarke's Transport, Seaforth.

Clarke said he would not endorse a proposal for a board to fix only motor transport rates. The railways might undercut them and the transports would lose business.

Witness said he found government highway inspectors enforced regulations fairly but there were not enough officers to check infractions in all districts. Cross-examined by commission counsel Joseph Singer, he endorsed a suggestion that certificates of fitness for drivers and equipment be a condition of license granting.

A regular annual check-up of equipment by government inspectors was advocated by Clarke.

A voluntary tariff had been set by a group of truck operators, Clarke said, but in many cases the rates were not followed because of competition and other factors.

"I understand these tariffs are somewhat of a pious wish but Mr. Clarke is not breaking any regulations by not following them completely because it is a voluntary rate agreement," said Mr. Justice E. R. E. Chevrier, commission chairman.

Clarke said that given a reasonable chance he hoped eventually to charge all customers according to the agreed tariff.

How to Win Friends & Influence People

By DALE CARNEGIE Author of the famous book of that name

AVOID ARGUMENT

"You can't win friends by arguing with people. The only way to get the best of an argument is to avoid it.

"Nine times out of ten an argument ends with each of the contestants being more firmly convinced than ever that he is absolutely right."

"You can't win an argument; you can't, because if you lose it you lose it, and if you win it you lose it.

"Why? Suppose you triumph over the other man and shoot his argument full of holes and prove that he is non compos mentis."

"Then what? You will feel fine, but what about him? You have made him feel inferior. You have stirred up his resentment and hurt his pride.

"If you argue and wrangle and contradict you may achieve victory sometimes; but it will be an empty victory because you will never get your opponent's goodwill."

"So figure it out for yourself. Which would you rather have: an academic, theatrical victory or a man's goodwill? You can seldom have both.

"Real salesmanship isn't argument. It isn't even anything remotely like argument. The human mind isn't changed that way."

bombardment of the eastern gate made it a virtual staircase of shell holes, he said.

More Understanding?

In Tokyo Foreign Minister Hirota said "Both the United States and Great Britain apparently are showing more signs of understanding of the unhappy incident than previously. Likewise public opinion of the respective countries seems more favorable toward Japan."

British Ambassador Sir Robert Leslie Craigie presented to Hirota his government's protest against bombardment of the British gunboats Ladybird and Bee and the British merchant ships which were in the war sector of the Yangtze river last Sunday with the United States Panay while Japanese forces attacked at Nanking.

A qualified government official said Japan would meet the demands presented in the United States protest but said Emperor Hirohito had not entered the negotiations.

(President Roosevelt's memorandum to State Secretary Hull the day after the attack asked him to tell the Japanese ambassador to Washington that the president was "deeply shocked" and "that he suggests that the emperor be so advised.")

"The negotiations at present are entirely between the governments," the high official said. "Therefore his majesty is not a part of the picture. The American note will receive a reply within a few days.

"Japan's answer will meet the demands. It (the American protest) was very firm but government officials unanimously considered it entirely correct and proper."

U.S. PRESS OPPOSES WAR REFERENDUM

endum might have consequences which were unfortunate in the extreme."

Poor Substitute

The Times continued: "For, granted that war is a poor substitute for an honorable peace, the fact remains that once a nation goes to war considerations of vital self-interest require it to present a united front. The only practical effect of a referendum which would give sanction to a state of war would be to destroy an essential sense of unity and to advertise to all the world such differences of opinion as existed within the nation on a crucial question."

The Herald Tribune said the response of House of Representative members to the Ludlow amendment was only a "gesture" but added the response also showed the great depth of anti-war feeling.

"But," the paper continued, "it also hints at the confused and insubstantial ground on which the president and the state department are standing as they endeavor to direct our foreign affairs through the mazes of the present. Any foreign policy demands for its success a strong and largely united home support; if a president is to speak to foreign governments at all he must speak with unquestioned authority."

TIRED BEING RUN FOR THE PRAIRIES

"Very insufficient," interjected Mr. Duplessis.

Need "Give and Take."

Mr. Purvis agreed that the Government had done insufficient toward youth training and went on to urge means of training unskilled labor. He believed the work should be done on a Federal basis to prevent people from one province flocking into another. He said there had to be "give and take" in training.

"What about this idea in practice?" asked Mr. Duplessis.

Mr. Purvis said he would not go into that matter, but suggested the matter of practice had been discussed with Hon. William Tremblay, the Quebec Labor Minister. The Premier asked him to repeat the remarks of Mr. Tremblay and Mr. Purvis replied he would not do so because he had not "one-tenth" the eloquence of the Premier.

Returning to his subject, Mr. Purvis said there had been no agreement on employment offices.

"They will be provincial," said Mr. Duplessis, telling the speaker he might tell that to Prime Minister Mackenzie King.

"As far as Quebec is concerned, we do not accept your plans," the Premier said.

In his earlier statement regarding power export, Mr. Duplessis contended the Dominion had laid down the principle that each province is "master of its natural resources" when control of resources was given back to the Western Provinces.

Premier Duplessis, accompanied by three of his ministers, will be in Toronto next Monday to confer with Premier Hepburn and other members of the Ontario Cabinet.

It was reported they discussed the power export question and the subject of submission of a brief to the Rowell Commission on Dominion-Provincial affairs when they met here on Monday.

these blessings. And now we realize rather acutely that the responsibility of this efficient economic management has not been accepted in any quarter."

Real Protection

Dr. Leggett advocated health insurance as a means of protection against ill health and its cost.

"Let us not confuse health insurance with state medicine," he said. "State medicine is paid for by the state. Health insurance is paid for by the individual with the state as a lesser partner. State medicine is administered by the state. Health insurance is administered by the individual through an independent corporate body.

"With state medicine that confidential relationship between the patient and his physician is in danger of violation. With health insurance that confidential relationship is held sacred and inviolate.

"State medicine, like its little companion in iniquity, relief, tends to undermine the self-respect of the individual. Health insurance preserves the respect of the individual.

"We have state medicine in one of the provinces—Saskatchewan. I saw it in operation. Fortunately it is confined to a small area. It is a sorry condition. . . .

"The inauguration of health insurance is a large measure of assurance against state medicine."

Dr. Leggett said the ideal form of health insurance was one in which benefits "are paid for beforehand, so that when a patient recovers from an illness, his debts in regard to that illness are already liquidated, there being no remaining financial obligations."

NO HOPE OF PAYING IN SASKATCHEWAN

end, the real object being the satisfaction of the wants of the people. A budget may be balanced on the misery of the people.

More Than Balancing of Budget

"The government of Saskatchewan insists that its case shall not be considered merely as a matter of achieving a balanced budget with provision for debt retirement. There is a more fundamental requirement that the position of the people of Saskatchewan under the national economy should be corrected.

It had been shown that farmers and others were burdened with debt, operating with depreciated equipment and incomes insufficient for a reasonable standard of living.

"Under such circumstances, the province should not be put aside merely with a subsidy that will permit a balanced budget. The problem goes deeper," the brief says. "The effect of the tariff, for instance, which operates to take a large share of the income of Saskatchewan producers, must be considered. To be in a position to enjoy the Canadian standard of living seems a modest hope."

The government's projected budget for an average future year was based on yield of 160,000,000 bushels of wheat selling at 74 cents to the farmer.

It estimated revenue at $18,784,000 compared to $16,642,204 actually received last year, $2,300,000 of the difference being provided by the new two per cent. sales tax for education purposes. Another $500,000 increase was forecast in gasoline and automobile taxes and $750,000 liquor profits.

Expenditures Up.

Expenditures were estimated at $24,443,900 compared to $17,906,254 spent this last fiscal year. School and university grants account for $1,600,000 of the increase and highways another $2,000,000. The Government provides an additional $300,000 for general administration, an extra $250,000 for legal and judicial administration and $1,400,000 public welfare.

Largest item in the welfare schedule is a new mental hospital, considered imperative by the Government in view of overcrowding by about 50 per cent. in the two existing institutions. Another $220,000 is included for restoration of grants to agricultural societies.

The substantial increase in highway expenditures was explained by a Bank of Canada report that maintenance had been reduced in the past four years to a point where loss of capital was threatened.

Peterboro' To Renew Appeal For Reduction In Key Rate Charged By Fire Underwriters

Twenty-Year Penalty On Account Of Quaker Oats Fire Has Expired

Peterborough is about to renew its appeal to the Fire Underwriters' Association for reduction of the city's key insurance rate.

The twenty-year penalty for the heavy loss of 1916, amounting to $2,262,966, of which $2,225,000 was marked up by the Quaker Oats fire, expired on December 11, 1936, just a year ago. That is one of the main reasons for the City Council's action in going back to the insurance authorities in Toronto with something like a demand for relief from the present fire insurance rate in Peterborough.

Other grounds on which the Underwriters are going to be interviewed, probably this week, are the city's low fire loss in recent years, the recognized efficiency of the Fire Department, the improvements made to the system of water mains since 1934 when the council of that year tried to obtain lower rates, and a careful method of inspecting all premises as a measure of prevention.

Deputation Planned.

Alderman E. R. Wilson, chairman of the Fire, Water and Light Committee, informed The Examiner that he intended to go to Toronto this week, unless he had to change his plans. His committee has been diminished by resignations to Aldermen Glover and Juby. Ald. Wilson also requested Mayor Macdonald to accompany him, but His Worship would prefer to depute in his place Alderman Cotton, who surveyed the question carefully three years ago.

For several weeks past Ald. Wilson has been obtaining a statement from Chief Gimblett, and has been consulting other sources of information, but the complete facts about Peterborough insurance are in the possession of the Underwriters' Association.

The Examiner was told that Peterborough's key rate of insurance is 50 cents as compared with St. Catharines 25 cents, Oshawa 40 cents, Kingston 40 cents, and so on.

City's Low Fire Loss.

On the other hand, the fire loss for ten years, from 1926 to 1935, inclusive, as reported by six Ontario cities of comparable size, was as follows: St. Thomas, $385,623; Peterborough, $464,630; Kitchener, $483,555; Oshawa, $499,879; Guelph, $574,173; Kingston, $952,526.

Peterborough's fire loss this year, recorded by wards, has been as follows for eleven months: Ashburnham, one fire, loss $6.75; business centre, bounded by Aylmer, Sherbrooke, Brock Streets and the river, five fires, $765. South ward, twelve fires, $1,000; north ward, seventeen fires, $3,208.55. These districts comprise the entire area of the city. The year still has several weeks to run on to the end, and the complete fire loss is not yet available, but from the present outlook it is going to be remarkably low. The total for 1936 was $6,165.93, and for 1921 it was $15,858.50. Only twice since 1916 has this city's fire bill exceeded $100,000.

Brigade Efficient.

The Underwriters acknowledge that the Peterborough department is efficient. They want a branch fire hall in the factory district of the south end, and make certain other recommendations. In 1927 the city expended $28,000 on motorizing the department, but the expenditure and improvement were ignored by the insurance tycoons.

Alderman Wilson and other members of the council affirmed that the insurance question, affecting every property owner in the city, was of general importance, and they were unanimous that a campaign should be launched to get a reduction in the present key rate, which, it is said, was jacked up after the Quaker Oats factory fire, and remained at that level for twenty years while the additional penalties imposed on the entire city were making up the $2,225,000 indemnity the insurance companies had to pay the Quaker Oats.

Although the end of the year is in sight, and municipal elections are approaching, the attitude of the council has been to start this new appeal to the Underwriters at once, and Ald. Wilson is hoping to make the trip this week.

Every Citizen Interested.

Every property holder, business man, factory heads, in brief all the citizens are interested in the insurance rates, and the council's effort to find out why this city should have to continue paying for fire protection on a key rate higher than the charges in Kingston, Oshawa and other cities.

GIVEN 3 MONTHS FOR STEALING SUIT

Charles Martin was sentenced to 3 months in Ontario Reformatory, with an indeterminate term of 2 months when he appeared on remand before Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., this morning with a plea of guilty to a charge of stealing a suit of clothes from the local Canadian Department Stores. By way of explanation, the accused told the Bench, he had been working on a tobacco farm at Delhi during the past summer and was on his way back home to Ottawa at the time he committed the theft." That doesn't give you an excuse to go into a store here or anywhere else and steal clothing," the Cadi remarked sternly in passing sentence. Chief Constable Samuel Newhall told the court the accused went into the store ostensibly to buy a cheap pair of pants. He stole the suit, it was alleged, while the clerk's back was turned.

Anagnos was ordered to pay her $25.000 per month.

WARDEN BROWN IS GUEST OF HONOR APSLEY BANQUET

(Examiner Correspondence.)

APSLEY, Dec. 16. — On Tuesday evening in the Parish Hall a banquet in honor of Warden Roy Brown was given by the Municipal Council of Burleigh and Anstruther, presided over by the Rev. C. A. G. Spence, and attended by the majority of County Council members and their wives, as well as the local councillors and officials of the municipality and their wives, and past Reeves of Chandos, Burleigh and Anstruther.

Music by the Leahy brothers and Mr. and Mrs. Elliot was rendered between the toasts.

Mr. Spence, in opening the program, referred to the event as being unique in the history of Apsley. The toast to the Warden was made by Reeve James Gifford in a brilliant and witty speech containing quips levelled at several of the County councillors. He paid a high tribute to the warden, declaring that they were all delighted when he was elevated to the Wardenship after five years continuous service on the Council as Reeve of Burleigh and Anstruther. When in the distant future, he concluded, historians look back to the year 1937, they will find that in Warden Roy Brown they had as capable a Warden as ever sat in the chair.

First Warden in 22 Years.

Warden Brown, in replying, referred to three things that to his mind were specially instrumental in his election to the office. The first was that the ratepayers of Burleigh and Anstruther had sufficient confidence in his ability to return him to office year after year for six years, and it gave him great pleasure to know that his efforts were appreciated by them to such an extent. The second factor was that Burleigh and Anstruther had not had a wardenship for 32 years, not because the reeves had not the ability, but they had not appeared anxious for the honor. Had there been an appointment or two during that period, he might not have been elected. The third factor was the spirit of fairness in the members of the county council, who felt that the honor was due to a municipality that had been so long left in the discard. He extended his thanks to his fellow members who had so wholeheartedly co-operated with him in his duties, to his own municipal council and especially to the county clerk and treasurer, Miss Jennie Batten, who in spite of her arduous duties was always ready to assist him when so frequently called upon.

In public life, the warden concluded, the effort is sometimes greater than the reward, but when the efforts put forth are recognized and appreciated, the reward is ample.

Instead of a toast to the county council, each member was introduced to the audience by the warden and called upon to speak. Reeve Anderson spoke at length on reforestation, the short course in housekeeping and Children's Aid work, urging that greater interest be devoted to these important departments of educational life. Reeve James Milby said that the municipality should be congratulated on having Roy Brown as reeve, while Reeve Leahy declared that if Burleigh and Anstruther had a few men like the warden, its worries would be very few.

The toast to the ladies was given by Reeve Milby and responded to by Mrs. R. Tucker. Fred Bullied proposed the toast to the hosts, to which Councillor Herb. Tucker replied. The banquet concluded with a vote of thanks to the municipality moved by Reeve Milby and seconded by Reeve Mullin, after which the hall was thrown open to the community for a dance; the Leahy brothers providing excellent music.

Those who attended the banquet were, besides the Warden and Mrs. Roy Brown, Reeve Allan Caldwell, Reeve W. A. Anderson, Reeve and Mrs. Mullin, Reeve and Mrs. Leahy, Reeve and Mrs. E. Macdonald, Reeve and Mrs. Shearer, Reeve and Mrs. Milby, Deputy Reeve and Mrs. Mel. Johnson, Deputy Reeve and Mrs. F. Armstrong, Reeve James Giffin, Miss Jennie Batten, Councillor and Mrs. J. Booth, Councillor and Mrs. G. Kilborn, Councillor and Mrs. N. Bolton, Councillor Herb. Tucker, Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Windsor, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bullied, Mr. and Mrs. R. Tucker, Duncan Brown, Norman Lean, George Carr, Mr. and Mrs. Elliot.

As the Leahy brothers were driving to the banquet, a truckload of Christmas trees collided with their car, breaking two of the windows, one of the occupants receiving a cut on the forehead from broken glass. The injury which luckily was not very serious was treated at the Red Cross Hospital.

GIANT RABBIT

BELLEVILLE, Ont., Dec. 16—(CP).—A "snowshoe" rabbit, weighing more than eight pounds when dressed, was shot near here by local hunters. Rarely are these large bunnies seen this far south. Pure white in color, the rabbit was heavily boned, fat and in prime condition.

FOR THIRD TIME.

The premises of Sunshine Dairy were broken into again on Wednesday night for the third time, a quantity of ice-cream being stolen. The theft was discovered by Traffic Officer Menzies.

Given Windbreakers

Members of the Peterborough Collegiate rugby team were banqueted by the City on Wednesday evening and congratulated in bringing to Peterborough the first Ontario rugby championship in over 30 years. Each member of the team received a windbreaker and BELOW Philip Turner is seen receiving his from the hands of Mayor George A. Macdonald.

Girl Rides Tender Of Locomotive From Toronto To Peterborough

WHO dares to say the youth of today lack the spirit of adventure?

Such it might be implied, was the challenging question Helen Lane threw at her elders, as she swung aboard an eastbound passenger train out of Toronto recently to live for a few hours the carefree, though precarious life of a hobo.

After riding "blind baggage" under frigid weather conditions that would have made a seasoned hobo think twice before leaping, Helen Lane, 16-year-old Toronto adventuress, stumbled from the tender of the C.P.R. engine on the "local" Tuesday night. Clad only in a pair of slacks and a windbreaker the girl was almost exhausted from cold and exposure, to say nothing of being as black as the ace of spades from the smoke and soot of the locomotive.

Hurrying as fast as stumbling feet would let her she got clear of the C.P.R. station though not before Harold Burrows, the baggageman had noticed her.

After an interval of over 20 hours during which it is conjectured the girl had slept out in the open, she reappeared at the C.P.R. station with the intention of continuing her hobo-like travels further east.

Believing he recognized the girl as the one for whom a radio appeal had been broadcast from Toronto, Mr. Burrows prevailed on her to return home to her anxious parents. She agreed.

City police here notified Toronto police the girl had been found and later the girl's father came to Peterborough to escort his daughter back home.

While at the police station awaiting her father's coming, the girl refused to discuss the reason for having left home under such circumstances.

HEPBURN IS ASKED TO FURNISH PROOF WORK IS AVAILABLE

The demand that Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn furnish proof that work is available under proper working conditions in Northern Ontario as he has stated, or in the alternative that the Premier replace on the relief rolls of the province all single unemployed men, was contained in a resolution passed at a meeting of Peterborough Trades and Labor Council.

The resolution reads as follows:

"Whereas the Premier of this province has made repeated and unchecked statements to the effect that there is plenty of work in Northern Ontario for single unemployed men; and whereas denials of these statements are forthcoming from nearly all northern sections of the province; and whereas it has been indisputably established that working conditions are intolerable in the few districts where lumbering employment is to be found:

"Be it resolved therefore, that the Peterborough Trades and Labor Council demand of the premier that he furnish proof that work is available under proper working conditions, in lieu of which he replace on the relief rolls of this province, the single unemployed men, from whom it is our belief he is attempting to turn public opinion by labelling them as people who do not want work."

Dr. George Manser Dies At Linwood

Probably the oldest practising veterinary surgeon in Ontario was Dr. George G. Manser, who passed away in Linwood, Waterloo County, Ont., on Tuesday, December 14, after a lingering illness, in his 76th year. He was one of the earliest graduates of the Ontario Vetinary College in Toronto, and had followed his profession in Linwood for over 45 years, his work being widely known and recognized. Born in Crosshill, the only remaining son of the late George Manser, he is survived by his wife; one daughter, Jetred, and two sisters, Mrs. William Robertson, 30 Collahie street, Toronto, and Mrs. E. E. Lord, 192 Dalhousie street, Peterborough, Ont.

Teaches Fighting

Lieut.-Col. Walter Jost, press chief of the German war ministry who, in a lecture before students at the University of Berlin recently, said, in effect, that every step taken by Nazi authorities since they came into power, was intended to prepare the nation for war, for defence only. Jost condemned the pacifism rampant in Germany before the advent of Hitler and his aides. He termed Hitler's goal as being "every citizen a soldier."

Plowmen Seek To Increase Local Competition Interest

Howard Quinn Is Re-elected As President Of The Peterborough Association

A drive to build up competition of local plowmen in the annual Peterborough County plow meet was instituted by the County Plowmen's Association annual meeting last night. Too large a portion of trophies and prize monies has been going to veteran outside entrants who make almost a professional round of matches, members agreed.

The problem was set forth by President Howard Quinn of Douro, as he accepted a unanimous return to leadership of the Association for the coming year. He asked the directors to co-operate in the task of inducing more Peterborough plowmen to participate in the match next year.

Committee Named.

Positive action was taken by the meeting in appointing a committee to interview entrants in the junior judging competitions at the Peterborough Exhibition in 1938. Consisting of President Quinn, C. E. Moore of Smith and Gordon Hancock of Smith, the committee will explain the match to the young men, stressing the novice classes. By this means, an important field of competitors for the future can be built up, it was suggested.

Another move to build up local competition was designed in the increase of the age of the novice class from 17 years to 18 years. Members hoped this change would have an appreciable result this year.

Time Limit

Reviewing the past season's meet, President Quinn declared the innovation of a time limit a distinct success. The interest of the meet for spectators was immeasurably heightened by this fact the results of the competitions were made known at a reasonable hour, he said.

He gave the opinion the addition of demonstrations to this year's program was an improvement. Soil tests were conducted by R. J. Bryden of the Ontario Agricultural College, while Dr. Lionel Stevenson displayed an exhibit of parasites of farm animals.

Officers Re-elected.

In addition to Mr. Quinn other 1937 officers were re-elected, except for the replacement of A. D. Runions, leaving for a new post at the Kemptville Agricultural School, by his successor, F. C. Patterson, in the position of secretary, the officers are: J. J. Duffus, honorary president; Walter Thorne, of Otonabee, first vice-president; William Thompson, second vice-president, and R. R. Dixon of Otonabee, assistant secretary. The long list of directors re-appointed represent each township of the county and Peterborough city.

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 16. — A resident of the community for nearly thirty years Thomas Varcoe passed away at his home on Sunday last after a brief illness. Well-known and highly regarded not only in Campbellford but also in his native township of Percy, where he was born 78 years ago. Surviving him are his sorrowing wife, two sisters, Mrs. James Wilson of Percy Township, and Mrs. Albert Bonney of Campbellford and two daughters, Mrs. Ernest Doxee of Toronto and Mrs. Drewery of Herschel, Saskatchewan.

The funeral was held on Tuesday afternoon from his late residence on Victoria street and was conducted by the Rev. Harold B. Neal of St. John's United Church of which he was for many years a faithful member. Interment was at Mount Pleasant Cemetery.

The pall-bearers were Messrs. Charles McKelvie, John Miller, William J. Duncan, Clifford Cassan.

Owing to the death of the late manager, Mr. T. E. Pratt, the office of J. E. A. Fitzgerald Coal and Wood will be closed all day Friday, December 17.

Heir To Fortune

Minus a pedigree though he is "Teddy", the intelligent canine shown here can claim the title of world's richest dog, for he is worth exactly $10,000. The money was left to "Teddy" by his late mistress, Mrs. Hattie Fletcher, San Diego, Calif., to insure that her pet is cared for properly all his life. She even provided for a valet for "Teddy" leaving a fund to Augustus J. Geck, who is also his dietitian and selects "Teddy's sirloins and short-ribs."

FORMER WINGS HELP HORNETS IN WIN MARCH

PITTSBURG, Dec. 16 (CP). — That astute campaigner, Jack Adams, can get a little consolation by reading in the newspapers these days of the way Pittsburgh Hornets are doing things up brown in the International-American Hockey League.

Adams hasn't had much happiness from the showing of his world champion Detroit Red Wings in the National Hockey League this season. But, while their "pappy" club is ailing, Hornets, the Detroit farm team, are riding now on the crest of a seven-game undefeated streak.

The squire, as the hockey world calls Adams, also has the knowledge Hornets are being helped greatly by three former Wings, Wally Kilrea, Johnny Sorrell and Pete (Red) Kelly. In fact, since Sorrell and Kelly were sent to Hornets at the first of this month when Adams shook up his team, Hornets have won three and tied one of four games.

Kilrea and Sorrell did their bit last night, as Hornets continued their march with a 3-1 victory over Philadelphia Ramblers. In the only other game of the night, Providence Reds whipped New Haven Eagles, 5-2, to go into a first place tie with Ramblers for the lead in the league's eastern section.

Lead Play-Making.

Kilrea and Sorell made the plays that brought two last period goals and victory to Hornets over Ramblers. Johnny Sherf scored first for Hornets in the first period, then after a scoreless second session, Ramblers evened it up when Hugh Gustafson scored soon after the start of the third period.

But near the end of the session Kilrea and Bar Doran started a play that allowed little Ken Doraty to bang one home, and then Sorrell fed the puck to Dede Klein for another Pittsburgh goal. The win placed Pittsburgh only a half game off the pace in the western section.

Reds, who are tied with Ramblers but who have played a game less, had an easy time against Eagles. Alex. Motter and Jack Keating led their attack with two goals apiece. They scored a goal in each of the first two periods. Yank Boyd and Tommy Heumerling scored for Eagles in the third and Art Giroux got the last one for Reds near the end of the game.

RURAL HOCKEY LEAGUE FORMED

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HAVELOCK, Dec. 16. — A meeting of the East Peterborough Rural League was held last Monday evening, when representatives from Indian River, Donegal, Havelock, Trent River, Westwood, and Elgin assembled in the Norwood Connell Chambers to discuss organization for the 1937-38 season.

Alexander Kemp of Norwood, acting as chairman for the evening, first held the election of officers. Fred Cassidy of Elgin was elected to the presidency, with W. Book of Donegal as vice-president. Russell Olson of Indian River took over the duties of secretary-treasurer.

Hastings and South Dummer are also expected to be in the league although no representatives were present. Donegal and Westwood will amalgamate this season due to a shortage of hockey material.

Two representatives from each team entered will unite with the other officers to form the league executive.

Certain rules were drawn up as follows:

1—O.H.A. playing rules will be used.

2—All former E.P.L., Trent Valley, Central Ontario, Kawartha, South-End League, or O.H.A. players will be ineligible to play except by special permission of the executive.

3—Each team may sign 15 players only and these must be sanctioned by the executive.

4—A player must take part in at least five league games to be eligible for the play-offs.

5—A $1.00 entry fee must accompany the list of players submitted.

6—In case of unsuitable ice on open rinks, games will be played in Norwood Arena, or if the home team wishes to default, the game, opposing team must be notified before 6 p.m. on the day for which the game is scheduled.

6—A protest must be accompanied by $2.00 and mailed within forty-eight hours to the secretary, which sum will be refunded should the protest carry. The defendant must also submit the sum of $2.00, or default.

A meeting to draw up the schedule and make other necessary arrangements will be held on Tuesday, December 21.

Ohioans Burn "Made In Japan" Goods – Seek Boycott

Angered by recent Japanese attacks upon American lives and property in China to the point where they back a boycott demanded upon merchandise from the flowery kingdom, merchants and laborers of East Liverpool, Ohio, gathered together a huge ile of merchandise in boxes carrying the label "Made in Japan" and set this huge bonfire. The boycotted goods were removed voluntarily from the shelves and counters of 109 East Liverpool district stores by the shop owners, who joined a parade which heard Wm. Green, president of the American Federation of Labor urge a boycott against Japan.

CANADA SHARES CARNEGIE FUND

NEW YORK, Dec. 16 (CP).—The income of the huge fortune accumulated by Andrew Carnegie, who rose from lowly birth in Scotland to a steel empire in the United States, still is being poured out year by year on the educational projects dear to his heart.

In his annual report, just published, Frederick P. Keppel, president of the Carnegie Corporation of New York, announced organization of the Canadian Association for Adult Education and reviewed the progress of the work in Eastern Canada. He said:

"The unique program in adult education and in rural economy centring in the Roman Catholic College of St. Francis Xavier in Nova Scotia and supported by the corporation since 1932 has now spread to Prince Edward Island.

"There the work is being directed from St. Dunstan's College, also Roman Catholic, and more recently word has come that the government of Newfoundland has called a group of men trained at St. Francis Xavier's to spread the movement in that island."

Contributions from Canadian sources to the newly-formed council give solid evidence of Canadian interest in the work, Mr. Keppel added.

In the past five years the corporation has contributed $160,000 toward the expenses of a comprehensive study of the relations between Canada and the United States, now being prepared by the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace.

Though the study is not yet completed, Mr. Keppel said, the four volumes so far published and last summer's conference on Canadian-American Affairs at Queen's University, Kingston, Ont., in which many leaders in both countries participated, have proved the value of the enterprise.

The work is being supervised by Prof. James T. Shotwell, Canadian-born director of the foundation.

CURLING

Echoes From No. 'B'
By HERB MARTIN

When this curling business commences there is no keeping the stone tossers out of the limelight. . . Here we have Gordon Matthews, one of our most popular skips, announcing to all that he would like to get back on the 'Electric light' commission, and then we see where Alex. Archibald, another one of our foremost curlers, is putting himself up against all-comers for the North Monaghan Council. Well we hope that if these boys make the grade it won't interfere with their curling; we would kind of miss them around No. 3.

Looking over weather probs it seems as if we curlers are going to get a chance to thaw out. . . Our club is represented at the Toronto High Park bonspiel by a rink skipped by Bruce Scott, supported by Tom Holyman, Jack Skinner and Tom Doughty . . . If we are able to hold our ice until Saturday we intend to run a bonspiel, draw to be made at 1.45 p.m. . . . We believe the ladies section of our club is holding their winter meeting at the club rooms on Monday at 2.15 p.m.

VICTORIA, Dec. 16 (CP).—Today they're among Victoria's leading business men—but that wasn't always so.

At a recent luncheon meeting members of a Service Club (Gyro) told how they got their start in life. Almost a dozen had been newspaper carriers, and that group led all occupations.

Others "chopped kindling for the woman next door," worked as night watchmen in livery stables, helped build prairies roads, picked berries, milked cows and did odd chores around a farm. One prominent executive's first job was "tying on skates at a roller rink."

FAMILY PROUD OF BRITAIN'S HAIG TRIBUTE

LONDON, Dec. 16—(CP). —Winds of controversy swirled about Earl Haig in the declining years of his life. The storm persists more than nine years after the death of the Field Marshal who commanded the British forces during the last three years of the Great War.

The present controversy does not concern the man himself. It revolves about the nation's tribute to his memory — the giant equestrian statue in historic Whitehall, unveiled recently by the Duke of Gloucester.

Since the original design was submitted about eight years ago by the sculptor, A. P. Hardiman, there have been recurring squalls of discontent. The Field Marshal's widow criticized the proposed design as "monstrous," and despite certain modifications in the work as finally accepted, declined to attend the official dedication ceremony.

However, the statue has the blessing of the Field Marshal's 19-year-old heir. "Whatever may be the technical faults of the horse it is at the rider that one looks and that is as it should be," said the second Earl Haig. "The statue has strength and originality. As such it is bound to be criticized. But even though some people may have strong feelings about it, we must agree that the country paid my father a fine tribute of which he would have been, and of which his family is really proud."

The statue, of bronze, weighs four tons and stand 14 feet high on a 13-foot stone pedestal, designed by Rowland S. Price. The distinguished soldier, bareheaded, and wearing a full-length greatcoat over his military uniform, is depicted in a normal attitude, grasping the reins to his left thigh. Little fault has been found with the modelling of the man. But the horse on which he sits has aroused an outburst of violent criticism.

Would Destroy It

The "experts" protest that the enormous quarters—stretched out behind like a hackney in a show ring — exaggerate an unnatural stance. The right foreleg is planted so far forward as to make it doubtful whether a horse could stand in such a manner. The other is raised in the conventional "pawing" attitude, conveying the idea the horse is being sharply reined in.

Yet the critics say ,the rider's hands show no indication of performing such an operation. Nor do the reins indicate any apparent pressure on horse's mouth. And they complain the head is flexed back, tucking the chin into the chest in the accentuated manner of a circus horse.

Lord Gisborough, retired cavalry officer, suggests a crusade should be launched "against this horrible monstrosity," and never ended until it has been destroyed. He believes 20,000 past and present cavalrymen and hunting men would gladly give 10 shillings each to pay for a new statue.

The horse is an anatomical impossibility, according to Col. Paul Rodzianko, former director of the Irish Free State Cavalry School. "It is a shame that a great cavalryman, who all his life was surrounded by the beauty of horses, should be handed down to posterity on such a misshapen mount," he said.

T. W. Earp, art critic of The Daily Telegraph and Morning Post, branded the statue as "a sad confusion of style and scultural impulse."

Convicts Are Subdued

Four of the convicts who overpowered J. Olin Sanders, captain of the Columbia state penitentiary prison guards, held him prisoner for three hours, and then stabbed him to death as Gov. Olin Johnston pleaded for them to surrender, are shown inert on the ground after they were routed from the barricaded captain's office by tear gas and subdued as they rushed out. A sullen crowd of guards and spectators look on. The state penitentiary is at Columbia, South Carolina.

MANY CASUALTIES MARK INDIAN WAR

NEW DELHI, Dec. 16 (CP). — Steps taken for the pacification of troubled Waziristan on India's Northwest Frontier are outlined in a communique issued here.

The communique says efforts by the Fakir of Ipi to stir up fresh trouble on a wide scale in that zone have been unsuccessful.

Since the settlement reached in mid-September, the Fakir, elusive trouble-maker in the frontier operations, had organized sporadic raids. Driven by the British forces from the Shakto Valley, he took refuge near the Afghan border. He was still at large in mid-November.

The communique, covering operations from June 10 to September 27, says in that period casualties among British and Indian forces in Waziristan totalled 58 dead and 161 wounded. Casualties suffered by opposing tribesmen are estimated at approximately 122 dead and 116 seriously wounded.

Motor roads are under construction, leading into the Shaktu Valley, scene of military operations earlier in the year.

SASKATCHEWAN TACKLES CANCER

REGINA, Dec. 16 (C.P.). — Two small cancer hospitals for intensive diagnosis and treatment of cancer by a closed staff of specialists are projected by the Saskatchewan Department of Health, similar in operation to its tuberculosis sanitoriums.

The province had been so eminently successful in its campaign against tuberculosis — now having lowest tuberculosis death rate in th world—it was felt desirable to apply the same methods to cancer, Hon. Dr. J. M. Uhrich told th Rowell Commission yesterday.

Cancer was now second only to heart disease among death causes in Canada, and tuberculosis had been reduced to 12th place, he said; earth would be left to the great institutions in Eastern Canada, the United States and Europe, but the desire was to intensify treatment, both by radium and surgery, in exclusive hospital units.

Dr. Uhrich attributed the province's success against tuberculosis to the fact every case was accommodated in a sanitorium, without any charge to the patient.

Millbrook Reeve's Prophecy Of Highway To Chicago Is More Truth Than Fiction

Peterborough men who are keeping the road fires burning with occasional meetings and dinners in cooperation with confederate promoters in Port Perry, Uxbridge, Aurora and Newmarket, are likely to postpone until early in the new year a dinner which is to be held in this city.

It was first proposed for this week, but the near approach of the Christmas season has distracted attention from the ordinary routine of affairs, and for that reason the tables will not likely be spread for the western friends until about the second week in January.

And when that evening comes, Reeve Percy Stinson of Millbrook who by that time may have reverted to the ranks of the ratepayers is likely to be one of Alderman Dutton's guests at the dinner. Presumably he is going to be invited, and even if he did make a wise crack at Peterborough's alderman in a recent speech at the counties council sessions in Cobourg Mr. Stinson isn't the kind of public man to back up from being put on the spot, especially when it is a rather pleasant spot that awaits him.

Reeve Stinson is like most of his townsmen, especially his predecessor in the village and counties administration, W. T. (Billy) Wood, who feel that the new provincial highway across country should have passed through Millbrook. If fate and "careful consideration" conspired against them, and not so seriously at that, because Millbrook is only about four miles from two highways east and north of them, fortuitous circumstances are really to blame for finally laying the route of the road through Cavan village and Bethany and on to Port Perry.

But, getting back to the Stinson-Dutton incident, it may be recalled that in Cobourg last week Reeve Stinson said, in referring to a Manvers township petition for a county road from Pontypool to Millbrook something like this—"If that man Dutton keeps on he'll have the new road end up in Chicago, even if they have to get a ferry for the traffic."

Since then it transpires that Mr. Stinson was speaking with the voice of prophecy when he was addressing the forty members of the counties council. But Alderman Dutton may be quoted to carry the little story into its next episode.

"I was greatly amused by Reeve Stinson's remarks," he told the Examiner, "because what he said is about to come true. The road from Ottawa to Sarnia via Marmora, Peterborough, Port Perry, Orangeville and so on, reaches the western boundary of the province at Sarnia, and a bridge across the St. Clair River at that point is even now in the course of construction; and if you look at the map you will see that the highway on the United States side leads straight to Chicago. So it all comes down to this, the road the government is taking over as a provincial highway, the Peterborough- Port Perry link becomes part of a main artery from Montreal to Chicago. That is one of the things we shall have to tell Mr. Stinson if he comes to the dinner, and I feel certain he is not going to hold it against us in Peterborough if the modest short cut to Toronto which we started out to get eventuates at last in a section of such an important mid-provincial highway that really will connect Montreal and Chicago."

Probably this little incident which Ald. Dutton is cooking up for the present Reeve of Millbrook should have been kept in the oven until the night of the dinner, but the fact that a bridge, rather than a ferry, has come to Mr. Stinson's aid, possibly his confusion, in prophecy contributes a later note of humor to justify passing it along to the friends of Mr. Stinson and Mr. Dutton for their anticipation of an extra item on the forthcoming dinner program.

Had Many Boils On His Neck and Body

While the skin seems to be the cause of the irritating and painful boils the real trouble is rooted in the blood, and when you think you are rid of one, another seems ready to take its place and prolong your agony.

All the poulticing and lancing you may do does not, as a rule, get rid of them. What is most essential is to give the blood a thorough cleansing.

When the blood is purified, cleansed and vitalized by Burdock Blood Bitters the boils disappear, your misery is at an end, your health and strength renewed, and the skin clean and smooth.

MR. ALFRED A. FREDERK, Falkenburg, Ont., writes:—"Several years ago I suffered greatly from numerous boils on my neck and body, and had three blind ones on my knee.

Our druggist advised me to take Burdock Blood Bitters, so I took two bottles, and in a short time I was completely rid of the boils."

DETROIT, Dec. 16 (A.P.).—Slight damage was caused by the bombing early to-day of the United Automobile Workers' district office formerly used as headquarters for the union's campaign to organize Ford Motor Company workers. No one was in the building.

Windows were broken and some copies of a special edition of "The Auto Worker," union paper, were damaged. The union plans to distribute the special edition at the Ford plant gates to-day.

Zigmund Dobrzynski, director of the union's Ford organizing drive, said:

"This is one of a series of incidents apparently meant as a warning to us by certain elements that oppose our efforts to organize Ford employees and probably want to discourage our attempts to distribute papers this afternoon. We will not be discouraged."

CANADA DAIRYING HAS BEST SEASON SINCE BOOM '29

OTTAWA, Dec. 16.—(CP).—With an income for 1937 of approximately $215,000,000, the dairy industry—one of the Dominion's biggest—has enjoyed its most prosperous year since the depression.

Production for 1936 brought $208,000,000. In the year bountiful 1929, when cheese and butter were high, the dairy industry of Canada earned $291,700,000, according to the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

The count of the dairy cattle in Canada, including animals from 2-years-old and up, made in June for the Bureau of Statistics, has been compiled and shows 3,940,500 head, as compared with 3,874,000 in 1936 and 3,835,000 in 1935.

Prices of dairy cattle have advanced from 15 to 25 per cent. over last year, according to figures of the live stock branch of the Department of Agriculture. This advance is confined to the better class of cattle. The poorer grades have not enhanced as much. The value of Canada's milch cow population in 1935 was placed at $143,015,000, and with the present higher prices and increase in the number of cows this year it will be around $165,000,000.

Total milk production this year will be approximately 16,900,000,000 pounds, or 200,000,000 pounds more than last year and 1,000,000,000 more than in 1932.

A recent announcement by J. F. Singleton, Dairy and Cold Storage Commissioner, showed that the total production of cheese for ten months in 1937 was 121,321,591 pounds or 10.4 per cent. higher than last year. Butter production was 221,328,932, a reduction from the year before of 1.5 per cent.

The average price of cheese this year was 7.1 per cent. higher than last year, and the average price of first-grade pasteurized butter 12.5 per cent. higher based on Montreal prices for ten months. Although butter prices made greater advances than cheese, it was still more profitable to turn milk into cheese than into butter.

Canada's Cows Wanted

An important feature of dairy industry is the growing demand for Canadian milch cows in other countries. United States bought 12,700 dairy cows in Canada during the eleven months of this year, about the same as last year, and the movement to Great Britain, although small, perhaps 1000 altogether, bears promise of important development.

There is a move in Britain to develop tubercular-free herds, and relatively healthy such a movement always results in many animals reacting unfavorably to the tests and being destroyed. It is expected the tubercular-free districts in Canada will be drawn on to replenish this wastage.

The visit of Baron von Trutschzler, a United Kindom dairy farmer, to Canada this autumn, when he bought 200 Holstein heifers, paying from $100 to $150 for them, may have a far-reaching effect on the industry. These heifers were mostly registered, and will be bred in England to United Kindom registered bulls.

British officials do not accept Canadian registrations, but the get of these heifers from registered bulls there will qualify for registration. Much depends on how these heifers turn out as milkers whether other dairymen in Britain will follow the Baron's example.

Canadian cheese commands the biggest price of any cheese imported into the United Kindom, whereas Canadian butter sells at considerable discount under the best. Accordingly, the most satisfactory distribution of the milk between these two products would be to make butter sufficient to supply the domestic demand and the exportable surplus go forward in the form of cheese. It is very difficult, however, to keep the proper balance between the two commodities when such huge quantities are involved.

Although cheese is one of the outstanding products that gives Canada favorable advertising in the world markets, only about 7 per cent of the milk supply in this country is made into cheese. Almost 50 per cent is made into butter and 41.5 per cent is consumed as milk. Evaporated milk and similar products takes roughly 1.2 per cent of all the milk and ice-cream around 7 per cent.

A. C. Fraser, manager and secretary of the National Dairy Council, has estimated that 316,000 farmers and 36,000 other employees gain livelihoods from the dairy industry, and with their dependents represent 17 per cent. of the nation's population.

With strong competition from New Zealand, South Africa and other countries, Canada will have a heavy task next year maintaining the premium its cheese enjoys on the United Kingdom market. There was a proposal recently that Canada follow the example of other countries and pack its cheese in crates instead of the well-known round boxes in which for decades the Canadian product has been shipped. One argument in favor of crates was that cheese boxes were often broken during shipment.

The Dominion Department of Agriculture has decided to stick to the boxes, claiming overseas buyers have become so accustomed to them as containing a Canadian product, and the world's best at that, it would be a mistake to change. However, an extensive study is being made b ythe research council to get specifications which will produce stronger boxes.

Although most of the cheese is produced in Ontario and Quebec, the dairy industry in its other phases occupies a big place in the economic life of every Province. There are cattle on a thousand hills.

SPANISH TROOPS STRUGGLE IN SNOW

HENDAYE, Franco-Spanish Frontier, Dec. 16 (AP)—Far-flung warfare in which rival armies struggled with each other and against cold and drifting snow was reported today from northeastern Spain.

Insurgent communiques confirmed previous reports of a strong government offensive against Teruel, southern tip of the 200-mile Aragon front, but insurgent and government sources disagreed on its success.

"Brilliantly repulsed" was the comment from Salamanca. A Barcelona report asserted government troops "carried through various offensives to full success." The readjustment in lines, if any, was not disclosed.

One dispatch said General Franco launched an attack in the vicinity of Almeria, southeastern Mediterranean port held by the government, and at the same time ordered Insurgent troops into action near Puebla de Alborton and Mediana, about 15 miles south of Zaragoza.

Other engagements were reported along the upper Aragon line between Zaragoza and Huesca.

Local Gridiron Champions Honored At Banquet By Mayor And Council

Peterborough Collegiate Players and Coach Receive Fitting Tribute at Civic Reception

Peterborough paid tribute to its Provincial championship rugby team last night when Mayor G. A. Macdonald and the City Council played hosts to players and coach of the local Collegiate and Vocational School squad at a banquet in the Empress Hotel. A crowd of 70 sat down, including President John DeGruchy of the O.R.F.U., and men from every walk of life in Peterborough.

Coach H. L. Bamforth and his championship players, winners of the Ontario senior interscholastic title for 1937, were recipients of laudatory speeches, congratulations from all sides, and fine garnet-and-gray windbreakers, the gift of the Council. The players were introduced individually by Captain Haig Kelly.

At the head table were Alderman E. S. Cotton, chairman of the reception committee of the council, Mayor George A. Macdonald, Dr. H. R. H. Kenner, principal of the Collegiate, Chas. Shaw, representing the Board of Education, Coach H. L. Bamforth of the team, President John DeGruchy of the Ontario Rugby Football Union, and Lou Brooks, president of the Orfuns' Club.

Old Stars Present

Members of the council were scattered through the gathering. Besides Mr. Bamforth, Coach Wm. Jackson of the P.C.I. Juniors, Coach Bill Turnbull of the Orfuns, and Captain Mick Magee of the Orfuns, were also guests. Members present of championship rugby teams in Peterborough of 1905 and 1907 were the Mayor, Bill Meagher, Jack Deannard, Bob Hall and Dick Evans. Gene Hurtubise was unable to attend. Other prominent citizens, including several doctors, were on hand, as were members of the press.

Chairman R. S. Cotton spoke briefly, welcoming the team and other guests, congratulating the champions, and introducing Coach Bamforth. The latter stated he had never coached a better bunch of boys and he was highly pleased with the manner in which they had come through the season to bring a championship of the province to Peterborough. He thanked the council, and added a word of thanks for the valuable assistance of Drs. P. C. Nesbitt, D. W. Clark, Ray Scott and Ralph Honey. The players were then introduced and were applauded heartily.

Mayor Macdonald praised the players and their coach in bringing this honor to the city, adding that the council had felt it only fitting to pay tribute to the team. He briefly outlined rugby of 30 years ago here, pointing out that from 1907 to 1937, this city was without a football winner in Ontario playoffs. He traced the fine work of the P.C.I. teams from the end of the war to the present. He commended Principal Dr. Kenner and his assistants for fostering such sports among the boys.

Always Gentlemen

"These student players of our Collegiate teams," said the Mayor, "have always proved themselves gentlemen on and off the field. They have played the game against all opponents, in every sort of weather, and on all kinds of fields. Sometimes even when they didn't have a field to play on!" (Laughs.) "They have a wonderful foundation for future life and I personally am proud to have been Mayor of this city when these boys brought a provincial football championship here."

The Mayor then presented the coach and each player with a windbreaker—"as a souvenir of this great occasion in your lives" — shaking hands with and offering congratulations to each one. He led three cheers for the team, with everyone joining in heartily. Mr. Macdonald spoke a few words also in tribute to the Orfuns' team of this city for reaching Ontario finals. He introduced oldtime local stars of the game to the present players.

Dr. Kenner thanked the Council on behalf of the school. He spoke feelingly of the manner in which the P.C.I. team had played during the season and the due modesty with which they had accepted their honors. The Collegiate principal praised the work of three popular coaches of senior school teams here during the past two decades, C. S. Browne, Ernest (Red) Legon, and H. L. Bamforth. He also outlined some of the famous rugby and hockey teams of the past, many of which he had been associated with in an official capacity.

Encourage Sports

"We have always encouraged athletics at the Collegiate Institute," stated Dr. Kenner, "and we feel that it pays worthwhile dividends. Sports are a great character builder and an important part of youth training. There are lessons taught on the playing fields which can never be learned in the class rooms. Nor do we over-emphasize sports as we have sometimes been accused of doing." He then mentioned a number of noted scholars in various parts of the Empire who had their beginning at the Peterborough Collegiate. Dr. Kenner had several valuable souvenirs of past gridiron glory to display to his interested listeners.

President John DeGruchy extended congratulations to the P.C.I. team and the city of Peterborough upon obtaining an Ontario rugby title this year. He pointed out that rugby is one of the finest sports played in Canada and believed that it should be kept Canadian, with U.S. imports kept out of it. Mr. DeGruchy spoke of the value of sports in schools and added that Dr. Kenner gets much closer to his students through encouraging them as he has done in athletics. He spoke of the Mayor as a former rugby player who is "still playing the game," and described Peterborough as an old and honored football centre. The aged O.R.F.U. president dealt for a space with the history of the game, and spoke of the official duties he and others must handle. His interesting discourse was the concluding tribute on the program.

YANKEES VOTED LEADING TEAM

NEW YORK, Dec. 16 (AP).—The outstanding athletic team of 1937, the United States experts have ruled, was New York Yankees, champions of the baseball world.

Forty-two of the fifty sports experts participating in the seventh annual Associated Press poll, cast their ballots for Joe McCarthy's diamond bombers who piled up a total of 138 points in leading the poll for the second time in as many years and for the third time in its seven-year history.

Although given only two first-place votes, the Pitt Panthers' undefeated football array easily took second place in the balloting with sixty-two points, exactly twice as many as were cast for Don Budge and his Davis Cup tennis teammates. Washington's Varsity crew, Poughkeepsie champions, drew twenty-two points to rank fourth for the second successive year.

Wrestling Last Night

(By the Associated Press)

Newark, N.J.— Danno O'Mahoney, 226, Ireland, defeated Gino Marinelli, 230, Italy, 19.17. (Marinelli dove out of the ring and broke a 2-arm.)

Milwaukee, Wis. — Gus Sonnenberg, New York, defeated Ray Steele, Omaha, Neb., decision. Referee halted the bout when Steel, claiming injuries, refused to wrestle.

St. Louis — Jim Londos, St. Louis, threw Johannes Van Der Walt, Johannesburg, South Africa, 49.56.

German Team Wins N.Y. Race

Piling up 1,384 points during their dizzy whirl to nowhere in the six-day bike race held at New York, the German team of Gustav Killian, LEFT, and Heinz Vopel led the field to victory. They are pictured here after their triumph which made it their seventh straight six-day bike race victory.

SPORTS DAY BY DAY

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd C'uckle or Two

By CEC. PERDUE

FITTING TRIBUTE to the P.C.I. senior school grid champs of Ontario was paid last e'en when Mayor George A. Macdonald and the City Council played hosts to the young rugbyists at a big banquet in the Empress Hotel. Besides the civic heads present, there were John DeGruchy, president of the O.R.F.U., Dr. H. R. H. Kenner of the Collegiate, Chas. Shaw of the Board of Education, Lou Brooks, H. A. Cranfield, Bill Turnbull and Mick Magee—all of the Orfuns' grid team—a number of doctors and other prominent local men, several grid stars of 30 years ago, Coaches Bamforth and Jackson of P.C.I., members of the press, and others. Oh, yes, and the P.C.I. players!

* * * * * *

ABOUT 70 sat down to a nice spread and then heartily applauded as the champs were introduced one at a time by Capt. Haig Kelly of the squad. They received much praise and—as a more tangible memento of the big occasion—windbreakers in the school colors, a gift of the Council. Yeah, Peterborough properly honored this bunch of young sportsmen and athletes who brought us the first Ontario football title in 30 years. It was a nice conclusion to a fine football season. Now, if our Orfuns had only copped another Provincial title; but there was too much Dundas on the map.

* * * * * *

A RATHER unique gesture was pulled at this affair when the handful of elderly gents who had played for Peterborough teams in 1905 and '07 when Provincial grid titles came here were introduced to the 1937 P.C.I. champs. Mayor Macdonald, himself a star gridder of the 1906 gang, had the oldtimers and the kids stand up and face each other. Besides the Mayor, the former stars present were Jack Deannard, Bill Meagher, Bob Hall and Dick Evans. One other, Gene Hurtubise, was an absentee. All the rest of those oldtime victors are either dead or living elsewhere. As hizzoner said, 'tis hoped that we won't have to wait another 30 years for the next Ontario rugby championship to come to Peterborough.

* * * * * *

IN ALL the praise that was lavished upon Coach Bamforth and his boys of the P.C.I. in several speeches, names of oldtime local stars of rugby and hockey kept popping up. Names like the Armstrongs, Whitcroft, Glover, Graham, Dillon, McPherson, etc., etc. And then P.C.I. stars of 10 or more years ago. Dr. Kenner, principal of the Collegiate, was long connected with championship teams of Peterborough and has a host of grand memories. In his address, he stated that sports play an important part in the training of youth. He, the Mayor and Mr. DeGruchy were the main speakers at this enjoyable civic function.

AN XMAS dance is being held by the Peterborough Cricket Club at the Legion Hall this Friday eve, proceeds to go toward buying necessary equipment and transportation costs. The latter is important if a full schedule is desired. This club is the oldest sports organization here, the records showing it existed back in 1859, and functioning almost continually since. An old scorebook of 1860 to the '70s was unearthed in the old Examiner building and is now at the Public Library. Cricket was played plenty in the district for many years, here and in Lindsay, Lakefield, Port Hope, Cobourg and Belleville. The local club had a pro playing coach once, two Peterborough men putting up $300 apiece to pay him. An effort is being made to revive cricket in the district and to form a General Ontario League. It is hoped by club officials that they will have a big turnout at their dance on Friday night.

OMEMEE HAS built a fine ice arena, following considerable success in district tournaments last winter by the homeless Black Hawks of that village. The rink is 162 by 92 feet, with an ice surface 176 feet long and 78 wide. It is provided with four dressing rooms, ticket office, booth and furnace room. Seating capacity is 1200. Excellent lighting, too. Plans are being rushed along for a big opening for this arena in the near future. Board of Management hopes to be able to provide ample time for skating, hockey and practise for local teams, and also to rent the rink for hockey and practises to outside outfits. Located centrally between Lindsay and Peterborough, this fine rink should attract players and fans from both towns. 'Tis a civic enterprise and a job well done.

* * * * * *

SOUTHEND HOCKEY League, intermediate section, will hold an open re-organization meeting tomorrow at eight in the twilight down at the Sacred Heart rink. Three teams to date have signified intention of entry, Walter Dineen's C.C.Y.M. crew, Bill Grady's Canucks, and J. Rist's Maple Leafs. One more team is wanted. They play in the southend for the Scarfe Cup. Info may be had by 'phoning 732. This section is separate from the minor divisions of the southend loop and elects its own officers each year.

FEELING IT necessary to explain more of this "A"-cum-"B" O.H.A. grouping of Central Ontario to mystified readers, the Belleville writer rises to the occasion with this: "Some may ask what's the advantage of finishing one-two? The answer is merely this, Secretary Hewitt emphatically informed the clubs present that the winner of the intermediate 'A' playoff could not participate in the Allan Cup playdowns, if either of the third or fourth placed clubs of the local group ultimately wins the intermediate 'A' title." This is most discouraging news so the Petes and Fliers will have to hustle every game, but what would the Belleville Redmen do if they suddenly found themselves in the embarrassing posish of, say, second place in the group standing near the end of the schedule? Between fear and greed, we imagine the Redmen would be worried gray!

* * * * * *

DESE, DEM and dose: Our O.H.A. schedules may be drawn up this eve . . . . Milder weather has slowed things up at the Brock St. rink; dunno when the first puck practise will be called . . . . Local intermediate "B" team's schedule can't be drawn up till that senior "B" setup is settled . . . . Dr. H. R. H. Kenner claims 1901 was the best sports year for Peterborough as long as he can remember . . . . Recent rugby friction over fields here wasn't even mentioned at last night's grid banquet . . . . Senior City Puck Loop is going to have a jolt-casting playing time at the Brock this winter, we imagine, with so much O.H.A. activity . . . . Reason Hendren got infection in his arm in Hamilton Sat'day with the Orfuns was 'cause he stayed in there playing gamely after receiving a nasty cut . . . . Lot of those P.C.I. football stars graduate ere next autumn . . . . They have good ice in Belleville and Lindsay now . . . . Y.M.C.A. pre-seasonal cage loop of six teams opens Sat'day at the "Y" . . . . A WORD OF ADVICE TO YOUSE GUYS' DEPT.: There is little chance of catching either pneumonia or penakeitte at hockey games this winter, so better you should make that bulge on the hip an extra pair of mitts!

ANNEX BIG PURSES AT DUFFERIN TRACK

TORONTO, Dec. 16.—Despite the fact that the track was the best it has been this fall, no exceptional times were made at Dufferin Park Wednesday afternoon, when a mid-week card of trotting and pacing races under the joint auspices of the Toronto and Dufferin Driving Clubs was run off. Tory Evans was the main money winner in the first race, taking two of the four dashes to top the final summary. Second place went to Frederick. Greenberg, Detroit Infielder Tops American Loop Sluggers

Runs-Batted-In Title Taken By Hank—Three Yankees Next

CHICAGO, Dec. 16 (AP)—A season of virtual inactivity failed to damage big Hank Greenberg's ability to slam out hits with men on bases.

The Detroit Tiger first baseman who led the American Baseball League in the art of batting runs over the plate in 1935, but was able to play in only twelve games in 1936 because of a wrist injury, came back bigger and better than ever last season, to recapture the title from Hal Trosky of Cleveland, the official averages disclosed today.

Greenberg's bat drove in 183 runs, only one short of the league record established by Lou Gehrig of New York Yankees in 1931, and thirteen better than his own leading mark in 1935.

Although Greenberg won the title, three potent reasons why the Yankees overpowered all opposition followed him in order. Joe DiMaggio landed runner-up with 167 runs belled in, rising from ninth place in 1936; Gehrig had 159, dropping from second to third, and Bill Dickey was fourth with 128, boosting him from sixteenth place.

Trosky, who won the honors a year ago with 162 runs slugged in, followed the Yankee trio with 128. The number of players hitting the 100-or-better mark dropped from 16 to 15, although the total was better than the 1936 figure of 12.

Others in the select group for 1937 were:

Jimmy Foxx, Boston, 127; Harlond Clift, St. Louis, 118; Beau Bell, St. Louis, 117; Gerald Walker, Detroit, 113; Manager Joe Cronin, Boston, 110; Julius Solters, Cleveland, 109; Bob Johnson, Philadelphia, 106; Pinky Higgins, Philadelphia, 106; Rudy York, Detroit, 105, and Zeke Bonura, Chicago, 100.

Gehrig moved into a class by himself by making the 100-or-better club for the twelfth season, breaking a tie with Al. Simmons of Washington, and Leon (Goose) Goslin of the Tigers.

Next Season's American Loop Race Will Prove The Worth Of Sox-Detroit Tiger Deal

Border City Fans Angry With Trading Of Outfielder Jerry Walker

CHICAGO, Dec. 16—At least until the 1938 American League race is a month or so under way there will be well defined opinions as to whether or James Dykes, manager of the White Sox, gave Mike Cochrane, leader of the Detroit Tigers, or whether it was vice versa in the recent deal consummated by the two fellows who before their promotions were privates in the ranks of Connie Mack's Athletics.

The deal, as everybody knows by this time, sent Pitcher Vernon Kennedy, Outfielder Fred Dixie Walker, and Infielder Tony Piet of the Sox to Detroit for Outfielder Gerald Walker, Third Baseman Marvin Owen, and a rookie catcher named Mike Tresh. There was nothing wrong with the transaction, each team getting what is needed most, but merely because G. Walker was involved the rabid Detroit fans became doubly riled and set up a cry for the Cochrane scalp.

It's All Very Puzzling

Just why there should be any, at least much, excitement about G. Walker is puzzling. The Detroit club had him for a long time and got much of this time was used up in employing him as a regular. Managers (Bucky Harris before Cochrane) couldn't reconcile Jerry's eccentric habits with sound baseball strategy. Jerry probably has been as much confused by his own antics as have his managers, but he's built that way, so there is no explanation.

Detroit fans, of course, found in Jerry an outlet for their sense of humor. As a base runner Jerry never has any definite plans concerning which direction to run. He also drops fly balls at unexpected moments. When Jerry goes to Detroit with the Sox next spring he probably will pull one of his eccentric acts and the Detroit fans who now are grieving because of his departure will take a different view of the matter. They'll give Walker the raspberry and Manager Dykes the horse laugh.

Always Has Looked Like A Hitter

Jerry always has looked the part of a natural hitter, but even such ecstasy sometimes vanishes under a change of environment. With the Tigers Walker was associated with proved hitters like Hank Greenberg, Charley Gehringer, and Cochrane. Combinations such as this in a lineup keep a hostile pitcher worried, and all the other fellows in the same lineup profit to some extent.

And if Walker is the hitter he appears to be it may help the Sox. If he starts off with an impressive percentage at the plate he'll assist in the raising of the batting averages of at least some of his associates. It was on this expectancy that Dykes made the deal. Dykes was so enamored by Walker's batting that he entirely overlooked his funny fielding habits. That same fielding will not be funny for Dykes next summer unless Walker hits so well that his defensive manoeuvres will have to be accepted as harmless amusement.

Detroit Gets A Pitcher

What the Detroit fans in their flurry over the departure of Walker have overlooked is that the Tigers received more than an every day pitcher in return. Men like Kennedy aren't found on street corners. Detroit fans should appreciate the truth of this. The Tigers have been woefully weak on the mound for a couple of years, and despite the well cultivated minor league farm system haven't been able to remedy the deficiency. If Kennedy wins only 15 games next season it will be sufficient to prove that Cochrane didn't blunder when he agreed to the deal.

By landing Owen for third base, a weak spot in the Sox layout for more than a year, Dykes solved the problem for a few seasons at least. Owen is not a star, considering that he is a light hitter, but is an improvement on the various men tried since Dykes learned he could no longer perform regularly at the hot corner. As for the worth of Tresh, last year at Portland, Ore., Dykes was gambling. If the youngster comes through it will be time enough to acknowledge that the Sox got the better end of the deal.

Japanese Stronger In Basketball Game

WINDSOR, Ont., Dec. 16—(CP)—Belief that the Japanese would offer most competition to the United States in the basketball field at future Olympics was expressed by Eddie Powell, veteran Detroit basketball referee.

"Height is their main handicap but they're fast and smart," he says.

Powers, who often referees in Windsor, officiated in the 1936 Olympics at Berlin.

GOMEZ REGAINS VALUABLE AWARD AMERICAN LEAGUE

NEW YORK, Dec. 16—(AP)—Hero of the year's outstanding individual comeback in any United States sport, by expert vote, is Vernon Gomez, slender southpaw of the world champion Yankees, who took a big salary cut last winter and then proceeded to recapture No. 1 rank for effectiveness among American baseball league pitchers.

Gomez, who climaxed the end of a two-year slump by standing the Giants on their ears twice in the world series, gained a decisive margin over all rivals in the seventh annual poll of leading sports writers by the Associated Press.

The tally to-day showed 19 first place votes for Gomez and a point total of 69, calculated on a 3-2-1 basis for the trio of comeback choices posted by each contributing expert. A total of 58 writers balloted.

Ralph Guldahl, who topped off a wonderful golfing comeback by capturing the United States open championship, beat heavyweight champion Joe Lewis for runner-up honors. Guldahl collected nine first-place votes and outpointed Louis 40 to 34. Louis got support for his rise to title heights after being knocked out the year before by Max Schmeling, the 1936 winner of the comeback poll.

OFF WITH WARNING

RICHMOND, England—(CP)—C. D. Laborde, former Cambridge University captain, was "warned" by the Middlesex Rugby Football Union committee, being ordered from the field while playing for Richmond against London Scottish.

Kick That Proved To Be Boomerang

Capadonna, left fullback of the Manual high school soccer team, heads the ball and kicks at the same time in the game with Evander Childs at New York. His kick almost made a casualty of his teammate Hazam, but the latter stepped away in time. After two extra scoreless periods the battle wound up in a 1-1 tie.

$23,000 LIEN AGAINST MAXIE

NEW YORK, Dec. 16—(AP)—The United States Government Wednesday filed a lien in United States District Court against Max Schmeling, German heavyweight contender, for back income taxes totalling $23,711.55.

Schmeling's visits to the United States have been beset with suits of one sort or another.

As far back as 1929 he was sued for 2 per cent of his earnings by Fred Kirsch and Charlie Ross, two of his managers, that suit was dismissed.

When he won his heavyweight title from Jack Sharkey his purse was attached for $10,000 and later two suits were filed by his German manager, Arthur Bulow. Both suits were settled out of court.

In 1931 Joseph Rahl Jr., a process server, claiming Schmeling "tossed" him downstairs, sued for $30,000, but no record of the result was made. The next year it was Primo Carnera, who sued the German seeking $100,000 for failure to meet him in a match Carnera said was agreed upon.

A suit filed in 1936 for $17,000 by a legal firm, "for services rendered" was settled out of court for $6,750, but this was followed shortly thereafter by a tax lien for $40,000 filed by Joseph T. Higgins, Collector of Internal Revenue.

Sports Spice

By EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK, Dec. 16 (AP)—Paste this in the old hat: Neither Schmeling nor Louis will fight anybody of consequence before they collide in June right here in New York...All this talk about Schmeling fighting Tommy Farr in Miami or Louis meeting Jimmy Adamick in Detroit is pure bunk.

Tony Galento, the Newark "night stick," hoisted 16 steins of beer in a Broadway spot the other night, then squawked his head off when they charged him $1 per stein...The medico who delivered Max Baer's baby said the kid has the biggest hands and broadest shoulders he ever saw on an infant...Tommy Yawkey, millionaire owner of the Red Sox, is seriously considering putting a pro football team in Boston next season.

Officials who work the Rose Bowl game will receive $75 each...Glenn Cunningham, the great Kansas miler, is getting in shape for the winter's campaign by working out at Sarasota, Fla....Bing Miller, who has been on the Red Sox roster as a coach, has been shifted to the scouting department.

The golfing dub is given official recognition in at least two sports... There is a Dubedread Golf Club at Orlando, Fla., and a Dubbo Club in New South Wales.

Remember When—

(By the Canadian Press).

Vancouver's Jimmy McLarnin and Billy Townsend scored knockouts at Boston five years ago tonight. McLarnin, who later became world's welterweight champion, put Sammy Fuller down for keeps in the eighth round after flooring him four times, while Townsend, semi-finalist on the card, sprawled Andy Saviola to the mat in three rounds.

$2.50 WINS $23,935

NEWCASTLE, England—(CP). — "How nice" said Mrs. G. E. Hunter of Gosforth, who at Manchester won the tote double pool, receiving $23,395 for a $2.50 bet. She backed long shots.

Co-Manager Scoffs At Louis-Adamick

DETROIT, Dec. 16—(AP)—Joe Louis will fight the first of a series of "warm-up" bouts preparatory to risking his title against Max Schmeling late in February or early in March, John Roxborough, co-manager of the heavyweight champion, said Wednesday. At the same time, Roxborough scoffed at reports that Louis would meet Jimmy Adamick, young Midland, Mich., slugger, in New York Feb. 22.

Band Spreading
TUNE IN SHORT WAVE as Easily as Local
Marconi, with Band Spreading, ushers in a new era of tuning ease. You don't have to hold your breath to tune in short wave. You have all the scope in the World to bring in your favourite stations in full, rich, resonant tone, actual "face to face" reception. Think what this means in added entertainment. Think of the fun in store as you embark each evening on a simplified "Marconi Tour" of the World's great radio stations. Remember, Marconi has everything — Ten-Station Automatic Tuning, Electric Tuning, exclusive Exponential Baffle and Band Spreading, the greatest forward stride of the day in simplified tuning. So why be satisfied with less when Marconi brings you so much more at no extra cost.
MODEL 118 A.C. 11-tube performance
This sensational set gives you 10-station Automatic tuning . . . Band-Spreading on every short wave band . . . plus the exclusive Marconi-Exponential Baffle at an amazingly low price. Gorgeously beautiful matched walnut cabinet $189.50
MODEL 98 A.C. 6-tube performance
Covers standard broadcast and "police" band (550 to 1725 kcs.). Metal cabinet in colourful finishes $32.95
MARCONI
THE GREATEST NAME IN RADIO
CANADIAN MARCONI COMPANY
Vancouver Toronto MONTREAL Halifax St. John's, Nfld.
Actually it is easier to tune short wave on the Marconi band spread dial than to tune your local station on standard broadcast. The reason is simple: on the new Marconi dial the standard broadcast band and each of the five short wave bands have separate scales as shown on diagram, upper left, each clearly marked and extremely easy to read. Old style receivers had one scale for standard broadcast and only one scale for all five short wave bands, shown at lower left. Their many stations crowded into very short space, making separation and tuning very difficult.

PEACOCK FEATHERS

By—Temple Bailey

READ THIS FIRST:

Jerry Chandler, son of country clergyman in modest circumstances, after a course at Yale, finally meets Mimi Le Brun, now a St. Louis society girl, whom he has admired for years. She is a cousin of Lionel Clark, Jerry's only close friend at college. All three, with several other young people, are at a Maine camp presided over by Olga, an attractive young woman who married Mimi's grandfather shortly before he died. Jerry has just met Andy Fuller who is in love with Mimi. And now Jerry is with Mimi herself. More impressed than ever with Mimi's charm, Jerry feels he is going to enjoy the house party. At a beauty dance the first evening, Jerry begins to resent Andy's attentiveness to Mimi. Now, back from the dance at 2 a.m., Lionel decides that Jerry must read to the group the play that he and Lionel have written to the house party guests. Later he goes outdoors, where Mimi finds him——to tell him that she likes his play, and its idealized hero. Andy, angered, finds them.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY:

CHAPTER 16

THE DAWN had come upon us, flooding the forest near the house with rose light, and in the midst of that effulgence, Mimi, with her burnished hair and shimmering gown, seemed a figure of almost unearthly beauty.

And now Andy, who had just joined us, turned to me: "I should think you might have known, Chandler," he said with a touch of insolence, "that it is too cold for her here."

Before I could answer, Mimi interposed. "Jerry had nothing to do with it. I came because I wanted to come. I shall go in when I want to go."

I expected to see the flame burst into a conflagration, but I was disappointed. Quite unexpectedly Andy laughed. "I adore you when you are angry, Mimi. But I am not going to have you die on our hands with pneumonia. If you don't come in, I'll carry you."

She protested, "Andy!" But I saw, with a sinking heart, that she was not offended, and there was the faint echo in my ears of Uncle Jerry's advice, "Make yourself her master."

Mimi walked back to the house beside Andy, and I followed. The rose had faded from the sky, and the world was gray.

From that time on, Andy Fuller was my enemy. He had, of course, no definite cause for grievance, but he was conscious, I think, of some subtle influence which I came to exert over Mimi. And I, too, was conscious of it. It was marvelous that it should be so. But she was always kinder to me than to any of the others. She gave to me what seemed to me an adequate explanation:

"I am always having to oppose my will to Andy. You are as restful as a calm after a storm."

She liked to be with me, and we often walked and rode together. I told her something of my life in the parsonage. Yet I am sure she never saw it as bare as it was in reality, nor ourselves so poor. My fancy painted it, as it painted all things, with a full brush.

It was at this time that I began to build the gigantic structure of self-deception which was to work such havoc in my life. I saw Mimi's future and mine in a glamorous haze, in which we lived on Uncle Jerry's ranch as in some ancient feudal castle. That Uncle Jerry must die before my dreams could come true did not weigh upon me. The ranch was, in effect, mine. I saw Mimi as the chatelaine, with a retinue of servants. I saw her at one end of a festive board, dispensing hospitality. I saw her in the saddle, riding with me across the saffron mesas and up the purple hills. I saw her in a high-backed chair like Olga's, with its black bearskin, listening while I read the plays which would make me famous.

It was this dream which gave me confidence. I came to my love not as a poor parson's son, but as the heir of Uncle Jerry. I might, I argued, be dealing in futures—and in very indefinite future—but we were both young. We could wait. All the great lovers of history had been constant; all the great heroines—Heloise, and Juliet, and Francesca.

Oh, the dreams of a boy! And of such a boy! I could weep as I remember him!

Lionel and I worked in the morning on our play, and I worked sometimes late into the night. I counted every moment lost that was not spent with Mimi or at my desk.

The play came at last to be my play. Lionel neglected it more and more in his very active pursuit of Bernice—or perhaps, it might be put, in her pursuit of him. Anyhow, the wooing became fast and furious, and on the tenth day after my arrival the engagement was announced.

Olga gave a party in honor of it. The Bradley's were invited, and other people from the summer colony. It was a dinner party, with the rugs up afterward in the living room for dancing.

Andy Fuller ordered from Tiffany's a present for Bernice. It came one morning when were were having breakfast. It was a golden bottle for scent, set with pearls and hung on a gold chain.

Bernice was in raptures, and Andy was the hero of the moment. And now with Bernice's gift from Tiffany's came a brooch for Mimi—a tiny jeweled peacock in a circle of diamonds. I do not know when he gave it to her, but she wore it for the first time the night of the dinner party, and for the first time I saw her in white—a sheer lace dancing frock—with Andy's pin the only spot of color.

Everybody exclaimed over the pin.

"Of course, he shouldn't have done it," Mimi explained calmly, "but he says that it is an advance bridesmaid's present; that there is no reason why the bride should have everything."

I am sure they all felt she was going to marry him, and that the pin was the sign and the seal of their understanding with each other. But my heart was like lead. Either way, the thing seemed unspeakable—if she married him, or if, with no expectation of marrying him, she would accept such a gift from him!

It was when the evening was half over that I had a dance with her. All the windows were open wide, and the moonlight streaming in seemed to dim the candles.

"I have never seen such a moon," I said, as I guided her among the whirling couples; "the night is wonderful!"

She looked up at me. "Let's go out in it, Jerry." Her voice was so low

BEDTIME STORY

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY SNOWBOUND

"Are you all right, Wiggy?"

Mr. Twistytail, the fat strong pig gentleman, who was pretending to be a snowplow for Uncle Wiggily in the fierce storm, stopped for a moment in a big drift to rest and listen.

"Are you all right, Wiggy?" he grunted again. Grunting was Mr. Twistytail's way of talking.

"Yes, Twisty, I'm all right," answered the rabbit gentleman. "But I am sorry to give you so much trouble."

"No trouble at all," grunted the fat pig. "My nose was made for rooting or digging in the snow or ground. It is soft of rubbery, you know."

"Yes, I know," said Uncle Wiggily, who had often watched the funny wrinkled nose of his fat gentleman pig friend. "Your nose goes in and out like an accordion and mine twinkles. So we are even except that you are a better snow plow than I would be," said the rabbit.

Not Tired

"Yes, I think perhaps I am," agreed the pig. "But I like it. And, having invited you to my house to supper and to spend the evening, do you think I would let you go home all alone in a storm like this? No indeed. So if you are ready I'll plow through the snow again and make a path for you."

"Aren't you tired, Twisty?"

"Not a bit, Wiggy. I like it."

"That's good. How near are we to my bungalow?"

"Quite a distance yet, I think. Now hold the flashlight a little higher

"What are you doing back here?"

so it shines ahead of me, and plowing away I'll go."

It was dark night but the snow made it somewhat light. Besides, Uncle Wiggily had his own little electric torch which he held over his head as he followed behind the pig.

"Whee!" grunted Mr. Twistytail as he rooted with his rubbery nose and plunged his head deep into another drift. "Whee!"

"Hurray!" cheered Uncle Wiggily The snow was falling thicker and faster. The drifts were piling deeper between the pen house of the pig and the hollow stump bungalow of the rabbit.

"Regular Christmas weather!" grunted Mr. Twistytail as he stopped again to catch his breath which seemed to run on ahead of him.

"Yes, regular Christmas weather," agreed Uncle Wiggily.

"Santa Claus can come in his sleigh and reindeer very easily now!" laughed the pig.

"And it will not be long," said Mr. Longears.

Nearly There

The rabbit gentleman, warm in his fur coat and wearing his rubbers, followed in the path which the snowplow pig was making for him. Only for that Uncle Wiggily could not have hopped along at all for the snow, where it had not been plowed by the pig, was up to the rabbit's ears.

"Aren't we almost at my bungalow?" asked the rabbit.

"Yes, we'll be there in a few seconds," grunted Mr. Twistytail. "I see something dark looming ahead of us. It is your bungalow."

"My wife and Nurse Jane and all my little bunnies will be glad I have come safely home through the storms, thanks to you, Twisty."

"I am glad to have been able to snow plow a path for you," grunted the pig. "Here you are! Right at your back door."

A door opened! Light streamed out. But instead of the rabbit lady there stood Mrs. Twistytail, the pig lady!

"Why, Twisty!" she grunted. "What are you doing back here—you and Uncle Wiggily? I thought you started to plow him home, Twisty."

"Uff! Uff! Uff!" grunted the fat pig. "So did I! But I must have plowed around in a circle and here I am back at my own house! Wiggy, you are still snowbound! I'm so sorry!"

"Ha! Ha! Ha!" laughed the bunny.

And if the milk bottle doesn't start dancing a jig in the night and waking up the door mat I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily getting home.

INSTITUTE REPORT READ AT LAKEFIELD

(Examiner Correspondence.)

LAKEFIELD, Dec. 16—"Education is not only found in schools and colleges but in homes and gardens and all around and may be sought by young and old alike "Mrs. T. W. Chaplin told the regular December meeting of the Lakefield Branch of the Women's Institute, which was held in the Memorial Hall, Lakefield on Wednesday afternoon, December 8. Mrs. T. W. Chaplin, who was sent as a delegate to the "Central Ontario Women's Institute Convention" quoted Mrs. Norman White who addressed the Convention on "Education." "When the home stands behind the school then the motto of our Women's Institute is truly lived".

Mrs. Stanley Higgins presided over the December meeting in the absence of the president, Mrs. H. J. Bullock, through illness.

The relief committee reported three families in need of assistance, relief being left in the hands of this committee. Mrs. C. Lake gave the report of the recent Tag Day, the results being most gratifying. This year the proceeds amounted to $32.30 which is an increase over last year when about $25.00 was collected. A note of thanks to the girls who devoted a full day to tagging was moved by the members. It was decided that a small gift, a slight token of appreciation of their interest would be sent each girl who tagged.

A committee composed of Mrs. S. E. White and Mrs. A. Windsor was appointed to look after sending cards and boxes of fruit to shut-ins.

It was decided that the January meeting would be held at the home of Mrs. A. Davis and that the February meeting would be at Mrs. Geo. Spence's home instead of in the Memorial Hall as has been the custom.

Evidence of increasing interest in Institute activities was the addition of the names of four new members to the roll at the December meeting.

At the conclusion of the business session, Mrs. T. W. Chaplin who represented the local branch at the Central Ontario Women's Institute Convention held in Toronto on Wednesday, November 17 to Friday, Nov. 19, gave a report of the convention youth training movement which is lauched this fall for girls at home who want augmented incomes. These will teach: Catering to tourists; homebaked foods and rug-making. Mrs. Chaplin said in conclusion.

After Mrs. Chaplin's report the members had an exchange of Christmas gifts, none of which could be valued at more than 25c. Mrs. W. E. Gillman and Mrs. Jack Murphy were in charge an da number of nice little gifts were received.

Refreshments, including homemade candy, were passed and an enjoyable social hour brought the meeting to a close.

that I had to lean down to catch her words. "I—I want to talk to you. I must talk to you."

With burning cheek and beating heart I followed her, catching up her cloak which lay on a chair.

We made our way across the road and entered the forest. The carpet of pine needles was like a clean floor for Mimi's silver slippers. The air was so still that we seemed to float in a golden sea.

"I told you," I said, "that it was wonderful."

"Oh," Mimi said, "is anything wonderful?" She spoke hurriedly, sharply. I was aware of her agitation.

"What is it?" I asked. "What has happened?"

"Jerry!" she said, and flung out her hands in a little gesture of despair. "I have promised to marry Andy. And I don't know why I did it."

I stared at her, unbelieving. "No," I said, "no! You Couldn't do such a thing. You don't love him."

"I love what he does for me," she said. "And today, when he gave me the brooch, I—I wanted it. Does that sound silly, Jerry? But I did. And I knew if I accepted it that it would tie me to him. Yet—I took it."

I did a thing then that I wondered afterward I had dared to do. I bent over and took the brooch from her dress. She struggled, but I held her while I unfastened it.

"Jerry!" she cried; "Jerry!"

POWER BAN LAID TO KING'S MADE-IN-U.S. POLICY

POWER EXPORT STORY IS FALSE HEPBURN SAYS

Hepburn Also Vitriolic Over Rap at Duplessis

TORONTO, December 17—(CP)—Premier Hepburn called legislative reporters to his office to-day and dictated a formal statement, denying a report published in The Toronto Globe and Mail to-day that the Ontario Hydro-Electric Commission might export power to United States without obtaining Federal permission.

The Premier also commented on a Globe and Mail story concerning the Wednesday-night speech at Shawinigan Falls, Que., of Premier Maurice Duplessis of Quebec, in which he said the Maritimes, Ontario and Quebec "will not be run for the Western Provinces."

Mr. Hepburn said, holding a copy of the newspaper:

"I am going to exercise my prerogative to criticize a newspaper These are deliberate misrepresentations to sell false news.

"There is a bitter, unwarranted and vitriolic attack on the Prime Minister of Quebec, who says he's misquoted in regard to a speech at Shawinigan Falls. Certainly the editor of The Globe and Mail wasn't present and rather than take Mr Duplessis' word as to what he said he asks his readers to believe Mr Duplessis guilty of falsehood, and hence this vitriolic attack.

Resents Editorial.

"On the same source of news he has predicated an editorial deserving of condemnation. If the Globe and Mail is the force for national solidarity it claims to be, I cannot see why it brands the Prime Minister of Quebec a liar.

HEIRESS GIVES UP U.S. CITIZENSHIP

NEW YORK, Dec. 17.—(AP). — Renunciation of United States' citizenship by the Countess Haugwitz Von Reventlow, heiress to the Woolworth 5-and-10 cent store millions, set tax authorities to wondering today whether she will escape heavy taxation in her native land.

Morris Greenbaum, director of the audit bureau, said "the treasury—stands to lose millions of dollars," pointing out that, unlike other nations, the United States places no restrictions on export of American capital.

Persons familiar with Danish law observed that although taxes in Denmark are generally higher than in the United States, the former Barbara Hutton, who recently inherited $40,000,000 has been automatically a Danish subject since her second marriage and had little opportunity of escaping taxation there. They said the inheritance of her 22-month-old son, Lance, would have been complicated under her dual citizenship.

Now in her second day at sea returning to her husband and child in London, the 27-year-old countess disclosed through attorneys the secret of her one-day visit here. She appeared before a Federal Court Judge Wednesday to renounce her allegiance to the land of her birth because, a statement by her lawyers said, "her dual nationality has resulted in various legal complications affecting her status as well as that of her child.

A possible clue to the reason underlying the Countess' action was the recent statement of James W. Gerard, former Ambassador to Germany, who died with her in London last summer, that she might live abroad permanently to escape American criticism and publicity.

Last Minute News Flashes

LONDON. — A high diplomatic source predicted to-day that Great Britain would reinforce her China Fleet "early in January" with or without parallel action by the United States. A definite decision to this effect was expected from the Cabinet meeting next Wednesday.

OTTAWA.—Four members of parliament, one a Conservative, expressed confidence to-day in the power policy of the King Government and disagreement with the export proposals of Premier Mitchell Hepburn of Ontario.

Ottawa To Tend MacDonald's Grave, Buys Laurier's Birthplace

Ottawa, Dec. 17 (CP)

THE government has the birthplace of Sir Wilfrid Laurier at St. Lin, Que., and created a fund for perpetual care of Sir John A. MacDonald's grave at Cataraqui, Ont., it was announced today by Prime Minister Mackenzie King.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier's birthplace will be retained as a national possession and a shrine to the memory of the French-Canadian leader who was prime minister from 1896 to 1911.

Sir John MacDonald, Canada's first prime minister after confederation, was born in Scotland but emigrated to Kingston, Ont., as a boy. His home here, Earnscliffe, is the residence of the British high commissioner to Canada.

The prime minister issued his statement from his residence, Laurier House, where Sir Wilfrid lived for many years.

Only Fight Says King Will Be In House

Premier Believes Stand of Federal Colleagues Is Against Export—Crucial Session Opens Jan. 27

OTTAWA, Dec. 17—(CP)—Parliament will open January 27 and its members will be given an opportunity for full debate on the dominion's policy regarding export of electric power.

In making this announcement last night Prime Minister Mackenzie King cleared up for the moment a subject of wide speculation and discussion in Ontario and Quebec since Premier Hepburn more than two weeks ago asked for and was refused a license to export power to the United States.

Until parliament approves of the policy of license by order-in-council for the export of power, Mr. Mackenzie King said, his government was not disposed to grant any further permits. This was not a new attitude, he added, but one adopted last April when request for such a license was made by the Montreal, Light, Heat and Power Consolidated.

Making public his correspondence with the applicants at that time, the Prime Minister said the same answer had been given Premier Hepburn November 29 when the latter came personally to Ottawa to seek a license for the export of 120,000 horsepower to the United States.

While he would not give details of Mr. Hepburn's application or of the latter's argument, the prime minister discussed at length the federal government's attitude toward this question.

Referring to the reported statement of Premier Duplessis of Quebec who has allied himself with Mr Hepburn in the move to export power, that "if Ottawa wants a fight on its hands it can have it," the prime minister said the only fight would be on the floor of the house in accordance with British parliamentary procedure.

All Against Export.

His colleagues were convinced, the Prime Minister said, that sentiment of all parties in the House of Commons was against licenses for power export without the approval of Parliament. It was possible that sentiment would be found to have altered, but he doubted it.

CHRISTMAS BONUSES

KITCHENER, Ont., Dec. 17—(CP)—Distribution of approximately $10,000 as Christmas bonuses to more than 500 employees was announced here to-day by the Cluett-Peabody Co. of Canada, Ltd.

In July a similar amount was given to the workers before the annual vacation season.

VALERA'S ITALIAN MINISTER PLACES KING IN DUAL ROLE

LONDON, Dec. 17—(CP Cable) — President Eamon De Valera has done more than supply Whitehall experts with a puzzling problem. He has raised a lively constitutional issue.

If the proposed appointment of an Irish Free State minister to Rome receives royal approval—and the authorities here show no disposition to intervene—George VI, as King of the Irish Free State in external affairs, will in effect be recognizing the King of Italy as Emperor of Ethiopia, while George VI, as King of Great Britain and the other dominions, still declines to grant such recognition.

Mr. De Valera has taken the ground that in appointing a minister to Rome with credentials to the "King of Italy and Emperor of Ethiopia," the Free State government is not recognizing Italy's conquest but the name "taken by the sovereign, which has to be recognized by the general comity of nations."

Some authorities here are invlined to accept this view. To reject it implies that Dr. De Valera is breaking from the other members of the British commonwealth on an important issue of foreign policy. That is a road down which Whitehall will be hesitant to travel.

Mr. De Valera's appointment also will severely test the principles governing the relations between Great Britain and the dominions. It is now accepted that in affairs affecting one unit of the commonwealth, His Majesty accepts the advice of the government of that unit. The King himself is the symbol linking the Commonwealth units.

TOO YOUNG FOR BEER

BRANTFORD, Ont., Dec. 17—(CP).—Tim Chapin was sentenced to-day to two months' imprisonment for supplying beer to a 10-year-old girl.

ALLIANCE STORY WAS MISQUOTED SAYS DUPLESSIS

Only Hoped to Have Maritimes Included

QUEBEC, Dec. 17 (CP).—Premier Maurice Duplessis issued a statement today in which he sought to clarify his position on the possibility of an alliance of Canada's five eastern provinces, a subject that aroused a storm of controversy across the Dominion after remarks he delivered Wednesday night.

The Quebec Premier said he had been misquoted in his Wednesday night address at Shawinigan Falls, Que. "I did not say that the Maritime Provinces were included in the alliance of the eastern provinces," he said today in a verbal statement.

Premier Duplessis said he had stated at Shawinigan Falls that he "hoped" the "economic agreement" just concluded between Ontario and Quebec might be extended to the Maritimes. "It would be desirable to have them in our agreement, which is not being formed to fight against anyone but merely to guard Provincial autonomy," he said.

The Union Nationale Premier was reported to have said at Shawigigan Falls that the five eastern provinces had "decided we will not be run for the Western provinces." He was quoted as saying also: "We are in the way of concluding an alliance by which we are not going to be run by Ottawa."

The Premier's Statement.

"I have seen that the Prime Ministers of the provinces have issued statements commenting on words I did not pronounce.

"I said at Shawinigan Falls that we have concluded an economic agreement with the Province of Ontario and that I hoped it would be possible to extend this agreement to the Maritime Provinces.

"Provincial autonomy is dear to us in the Province of Quebec and we intend to safeguard it. And it is because we are jealous of our autonomy that we formed this economic pact and that we will continue to respect the autonomy of the other provinces.

"This alliance was not intended to fight the other provinces, but to render justice to each, particularly to the old provinces which have not always received from the Federal administration the attention to which they have a right."

BRITISH PURSUE ARAB TERRORISTS

JERUSALEM, Dec. 17 (CP-Havas).—An "offensive" was in preparation by British troops today to round up a band of Arab terrorists dispersed near Tulkarem yesterday after ambushing a military patrol.

Thirty members of the native force of almost 600 were reported sighted in the surrounding hills. Three of their members were killed in yesterday's skirmish, in which one British soldier was injured.

Sporadic acts of violence continued elsewhere.

One Arab found guilty of carrying arms was sentenced to death at Jerusalem and heard eight members of his family condemned to life imprisonment.

Several bombs exploded at Haifa, near Jaffa, and in Jerusalem's suburbs. There were no casualties.

Forest Conceals Curious Spring

COLOMBO, Dec. 16—(CP).—In a forest in the heart of Ceylon there is a spring that bubbles furiously when any loud noise is made in the vicinity. The spring is regarded as sacred and it is said wild elephants, before drinking water, pay homage to it by trumpeting whereupon water flows freely.

Sir Don Baron Jayatilaka, minister for home affairs, investigated the phenomenon. Approaching quietly he found the water very calm but when his party made a noise it became agitated. The experiment was repeated several times, with similar results.

100 Years Old

FREEMAN HART

Peterborough county's oldest citizen and resident of Belmont township who has reached the century mark.

GRAND OLD MAN BELMONT MARKS 100TH BIRTHDAY

HAVELOCK, Dec. 17—The celebration of his one hundredth birthday has come and gone and Freeman Hart, Belmont township's first centenarian, is back to his happy, routine daily existence at his Round Lake farm home. He now enjoys the distinction not only of being one of the few centenarians alive in the Dominion but of having celebrated the beginning of his hundredth year by amusing friends with a lively step-dance.

Even though he saw fit to enjoy the strenuous exertion of the step-dance on his hundredth birthday, Freeman Hart believes that the modern generation is living too fast. The insistence of younger folk today on living at a fast pace will reduce their chances for longevity, he fears.

Born Near Brighton

The active and alert veteran attributes his own longevity to a life of hard work and the practice of moderation in such matters as eating, drinking and smoking. He was born at Spring Valley, Brighton township, of parents of Irish and Dutch descent. As a young man, he spent five years as helper to his father who was a carriage maker and then answered the call of the north woods to spend more than 50 years

Aimed to Put Ontario Behind Seaway Hepburn Claims

Has No Intention of Exporting Power Minus Permit; Split With King Over Federal Grab for Death Duties

TORONTO, Dec. 17.—(CP)—Premier Mitchell Hepburn of Ontario charged today that "Made-in-Washington" policy of the Dominion government, designed to force Ontario into supporting the St. Lawrence waterways development scheme, was responsible for the province's inability to export power to the United States.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King, asserted the premier was "still licking his wounds from personal defeats suffered in Ontario." He charged an agreement existed between Ottawa and Washington that Ontario would not be allowed to divert more water at Niagara Falls until the province becomes a party to the St. Lawrence development.

But he denied in equally vigorous terms that the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission would export power to United States without obtaining necessary permisison from Ottawa.

Ontario would make formal application to the dominion government for power export permission, not granted when Mr. Hepburn interviewed Mr. King at Ottawa recently.

Recently-negotiated contracts between the power commission and Quebec power companies were necessary because of the Ottawa-Washington agreement, the premier said. Ontario was prevented from obtaining more power at Niagara and had turned to Quebec.

May Be Too Late for Ontario

Announcement by Prime Minister King that the question of power export authority would be referred to parliament was following "the line of least resistance," Mr. Hepburn said. By the time parliament could deal with the matter, the time of peak power consumption might be passed and Ontario might be unable to make contracts to export a 110,000-horsepower surplus at $14.50 a horsepower.

The premier quoted a letter dated September 11 and written by T. Stewart Lyon, until a few weeks ago chairman of the Ontario Hydro Commission. The letter, addressed to Provincial Secretary Harry Nix-

WEST'S PREMIERS CHARGE PRAIRIES MILK COW OF EAST

QUEBEC, Dec. 17 (CP)—Prospects of an economic entente between the five eastern provinces were studied today by Premier Maurice Duplessis as he scanned Dominion-wide comment on his assertion the east must not be "run" for the benefit of the west.

An early statement clarifying his suggestion for an alliance of the provinces in the east was expected from the Quebec premier, head of Canada's only union nationale government. His public declarations up to now had left details of the proposal to be filled.

"Milch Cow For East"

Premiers in the west answered Duplessis. British Columbia's T. D Pattullo, a Liberal, said his province, instead of being a burden had been "the most luscious milch cow for the good old provinces of Ontario and Quebec." Operations of the tariff and freight rates, benefitting the eastern provinces, were costing British Columbia $40,000,000 to $50,000,000 a year in adverse trade balance.

Premier William Aberhart, Social Credit head of the Alberta government, observed tersely that he agreed with the tenor of Duplessis' remarks with the one proviso that "the east should take their hands out of our pockets."

Premier W. J. Patterson of Saskatchewan, Liberal, said he thought "interprovincial controversy" should not be allowed to obscure the purpose of the Rowell Commission. Premier John Bracken of Manitoba did not comment immediately.

HARD ON FISHERS

VALENCIA — (CP). — Fishing threatens to become a lost industry on the Spanish coasts because the civil war forces have taken over most of their boats for warcraft.

JAPS MAY NOT SEND FURTHER ANSWER TO U.S.

One Apology Enough; Deny Machine-Gunning

TOKYO, Dec. 17.—(AP).—Japan may refrain from a direct reply to the United States' protest in the Panay incident, the foreign office spokesman indicated to-day, on the ground the government had apologized before the American note was delivered.

He said the question was still being weighed but pointed out:

"The Japanese note of apology was given (to U. S. Ambassador Joseph C. Grew) before the United States was handed to Foreign Minister Koki Hrota.

"Therefore, whether some other note must be given has not yet been decided."

(Informed of the spokesman's disclosure, State Department officials in Washington declined to comment early to-day. Informed observers, however, expressed belief that a direct reply to the American protest would be forthcoming).

The foreign office spokesman denied that Japanese river craft had machine-gunned the Panay before it sank in the Yangtze river near Nanking under the pounding of Japanese aerial bombers.

(State Secretary Hull announced in Washington yesterday that supplementary representations would be made to Japan, based on information that the gunboat was sprayed by machine-gun fire from Japanese army motor boats).

The foreign office spokesman's assertion followed a direct denial, by an adjutant of Navy Minister Admiral Mitsumasa Yoani, of the reported machine-gunning.

20 ARE INJURED IN TRAIN WRECK

DETROIT, Dec. 17. — (AP).—Twelny persons were injured to-day when three passenger coatches of a Pere Marquette train bound from Detroit to Bay City, Mich., overturned 16 miles west of Detroit.

The passengers were tossed about as the coaches toppled down a five foot embankment. The injured were carried over ice-covered ties to ambulances which took them to hospital.

Allan Huston, of Saginaw, Mich., the engineer, said he "suddenly felt the train dragging," and said a "spread rail" might have caused the accident.

W. H. Wallace, Saginaw superintendent of the railroad, who was a passenger, said the rear wheels of the locomotive tender jumped the track. A freight car and mail car followed, and the passenger coaches plunged off the right of way.

A section of rail was carried hundreds of feet by the train travelling 50 miles an hour.

FRENCH STEAMER RAIDED, ASKS AID

TANIER, International Zone of Morocco, Dec. 17 (CP-Havas)—An SOS reporting she had been attacked by Spanish warships one mile southeast of Europea Point was picked up here today from the French steamship Sydney.

(Lloyd's shipping register lists a 119-ton vessel named Sydney registered out of Lorient, France. A former sailing vessel constructed in 1897, it is powered by oil engines.)

"Attacked by a Spanish warship one mile south and 10 degrees east of Point Europa," the message said. "We are returning to Ceuta (Insurgent-held Moroccan city). Request the help of a British torpedo boat."

Europa Point is at the extremity of Gibraltar peninsula jutting into the Mediterranean.

The message did not indicate whether the Sydney was damaged.

No Vote On War Says Roosevelt

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17 (AP). — President Roosevelt told a press conference today he did not believe a referendum on war was consistent with a representative form of government.

Asked if he thought a referendum, requiring a public vote before the United States would go to war, was consistent with the United States form of government, the President said the easiest way to answer that was to just say no and stop right there.

A petition circulated by Representative Ludlow (D., Ind.) proposing submission of a constitutional amendment for a war referendum was signed by 218 House of Representatives' members, forcing the House to order a vote on the proposal.

JUST CELEBRATING

TORONTO, December 17—(CP)—Vagrancy charges against Harvey Bloomfield, who was outfitted for bush work in Northern Ontario and given train fare to get to the work by the Welfare Department here, were dismissed to-day.

"I went out with some of the boys to celebrate getting a job," Bloomfield told the court. "Somehow I just missed the train."

Throughout the world men of the army, navy and air force will enjoy a full-scale dinner. It doesn't matter if he's stationed on the north-west frontier, China or Gibraltar—Tommy Atkins and Jack Tar will get all the fixings.

The typical dinner will be: tomato soup, fish, turkey, roast pork, roast and boiled potatoes, brussels sprouts, Christmas pudding, biscuits and cheese, mince pies, beer (in the case of the navy, rum), mineral drinks and cigarettes.

BURSTING MAIN HURTS 3

TORONTO, Dec. 17—(CP)—Three men were injured when a bursting main shot a column of water 30 feet into the air on Dupont street, near Davenport Road, here today. Two men working in a manhole were thrown up on the sidewalk while a third was dragged from the flooded hole after geyser subsided.

Tom Glendenning was most seriously injured. The other, Leo Galler, and Dick Soychuk, suffer minor injuries.

BRUCE IS RE-APPOINTED

CANBERRA, Dec. 17—(CP-Reuters) — The Australian government today announced the re-appointment of Stanley Bruce as high commissioner for the Commonwealth at London.

Mr. Bruce, a former Prime Minister of Australia, first was appointed to the London Post in September, 1933. His new term will run for five years.

France Plugs Belgian Border With War-Proof Ditches

Believes No Modern Fighting Machine Can Cross—Fortifies Swiss Front

PARIS, Dec. 17 (A.P.). — Across Flanders Fields now is a line of c...hes France hopes "no modern war machines ever can cross."

The ditch system on the Franco-Belgian border, dug by French soldiers, extends from the concrete Maginot line to the English Channel.

Defence Minister Edouard Daladier declared that though Belgium would defend her neutrality, the excavations were made "just to be sure" that an army never again could enter France from Belgium as the Germans did in 1914.

A large part of the 957,000,000 francs (about $32,000,000) earmarked for the Engineer Corps in next year's budget will be used on the Franco-Belgian frontier defences.

The Defence Minister, addressing the Chamber of Deputies recently, explained the border defences and declared that Germany has "more than 1,000,000 men facing France in the northeast and Italy "more than 300,000" in the south-west.

He asserted the French Army must be constantly strengthened, but warned that it is ready to attack outside its territory to fulfill the nation's mutual assistance treaties.

France has only 387,000 troops in Europe, he said, although millions

Co-Eds Ditch News For Keyhole Column

Montreal, Dec. 17 (CP)

MALE management of the McGill Daily, student publication, had a day off yesterday to let the co-eds show what they could do. It was the first time in the history of the institution the women were allowed to edit the paper.

Instead of the usual international news roundup at the foot of the front page appeared a gossip column entitled: "Royal Victoria College (girls' student residence) Through a Keyhole."

Break Of Single Scared Brigade Starts Nanking Rout

Feast Napkins Thought Hankies

St. John's, Nfld., Dec. 17

THE St. John's News tells this story about the late Lord Northcliffe:

Following the formal opening of a mill at Grand Falls, Nfld., Lord Northcliffe tendered a banquet for laborers who had worked on the project.

The dinner was eaten with gusto by the hungry crew, but Lord Northcliffe was disappointed to hear that a number of napkins were missing after the feast. Later two old chaps were heard remarking:

"It was a great dinner, George."

"Yup! Lord Northcliffe is a mighty fine man. Not only did he give we fellows a dinner, but he gave every man a handkerchief!"

Writer Watches Terrorized Mobs Fight Each Other To Escape By Single Gate

ABOARD THE DESTROYER TAUGA, Dec. 17—(AP).—The morale of Chinese armies defending Nanking broke suddenly Sunday afternoon.

What had been planned as a slow, ordered retreat turned into a wild rout. Nanking had a night of terror. Thousands of Chinese soldiers fought to escape from the city by a single gate.

And on Monday the Rising Sun flag of Japan was raised over the city's walls.

Retreating troops were entering Nanking in apparently good order and good spirit. Suddenly, on Sunday afternoon, a brigade which had been hammered throughout the day broke from its position and dashed into the city.

The soldiers scattered crowds of civilians before them, shouting: "The Japanese are within the city. We are surrounded."

The first rout was stopped by military police, who opened fire on its leaders, killing six of them and turning back the rest.

But the mad infection spaced through the city.

Shed Guns, Uniforms

By dark, Nanking's main streets were filled with troops from all positions outside the walls. First they walked. Then they broke into a wild run. As the pace quickened,

Rome Calls Troops To Save Families As Tiber Floods Capital

Rome, Dec. 17 (AP)

DROWNINGS increased from six today as thousands of workers, augmented by troops, fought to prevent flood waters of the Tiber from deluging Central Rome.

The swollen torrent reached a record stage of 55 feet, seven inches at noon and still was rising. It was the greatest rise in 67 years.

King Vittorio Emanuele, the Queen and Premier Mussolini, separately, toured inundated sections of the city and watched troops helping families evacuate endangered homes.

Authorities feared the remainder of historic Sublicio Bridge, where Horatius fought his heroic battle in 507 B.C., might be swept away.

450 Passengers Miss Bermuda Trip As Liner Sails 290 Crew Short

New York, Dec. 17 (AP)

A LAST minute strike of part of its crew sent the Monarch of Bermuda southward today sans passengers.

The Furness Bermuda line cancelled reservations of 450 passengers yesterday after 290 of the 420 members of the crew went on strike. The liner sailed as scheduled but carried only freight and mail.

Officials explained that enough crew members remained aboard to operate the Monarch as a freight ship.

Strikers contended the company refused to recognize the Marine Transport Workers Union, an independent organization for British seamen in New York, and to rehire 72 crew members who remained in New York when the liner recently was sent home to England for an annual overhauling.

"The 'stream-line that Ontario will export power and argue about it later is a deliberate and malicious falsehood. Dr. Thomas Hogg, Hydro chairman, says no arrangements have been made and you may be sure I'm not counselling anarchy.

"Ontario law officers have ventured an opinion as to the legality of the Dominion Parliament forbidding the export of surplus power arising from the exploitation of the natural resources of the province. Certainly I'm in my constitutional rights to challenge the validity of this legislation. But the article where it says I contemplated anarchy, is beneath contempt.

"So there we have on the front page the beautiful picture of the Premier of Quebec being called a liar in one column and in the next the Premier of Ontario getting ready to commit anarchy."

EXPORT OF HYDRO STARTS AT ONCE?

TORONTO, Dec. 17 (C.P.).—The Toronto Globe and Mail says in a newspage story to-day it is "reliably reported" the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission "may immediately export 110,000 horse-power to the United States without waiting for any approval of its course by Ottawa or the Federal Parliament."

The newspaper added:

"It was definitely learned last night that the 110,000 horse-power, contracts for sale of which have reportedly been made with Niagara-Hudson and the Aluminum Company of America, is now available for exporting, and can be sent across the St. Lawrence River via transmission lines at Cornwall, at a moment's notice. This current will come from the Quebec border, although all of it may not be Beauharnois energy, the first 126,000 block of which has already been taken by Ontario.

(The Hydro Commission last week signed agreements with the Beauharnois Light, Heat and Power Company and two other Quebec power companies for purchase of 610,000 horse-power, delivery to be made under a "staggered" system. The maximum of 260,000 horse-power from Beauharnois will be delivered in 1943.)

"It is expected the Hepburn Government will deal with the situation at to-day's Cabinet Council. Should they signal 'go ahead' to Hydro, export will, it is said, be started at once, and the next moves in the heated controversy will be up to Ottawa.

"Mr. Hepburn refused to discuss the angle yesterday."

PANAY BOMBING INQUIRY OPENS

SHANGHAI, Dec. 17 (AP).—With flags fluttering at half-mast, the little United States gunboat Oahu arrived at Shanghai tonight bearing the dead, wounded and rescued survivors of her sister ship Panay.

Two Japanese destroyers, the Otori and Kasasagi, and the British gunboat Ladybird convoyed the United States vessel as she steamed alongside the flagship Augusta, ending her 220-mile trip down the Yangtze.

On board were the bodies of Storekeeper Charles L. Ensminger of the Panay; Capt. C. H. Carlson of the Standard Oil vessel Meian; Sandro Sandri, Italian newspaperman, and the Chinese quartermaster of one of the three oil company craft destroyed in the Japanese attack Sunday.

The Oahu also carried some 60 survivors, 15 of them wounded.

A naval court of inquiry immediately boarded the Oahu to open an investigation.

Crew Sticks To Guns.

Colin Malcolm Macdonald, correspondent for the Times of London, told of seeing sailors stripped to the waist, some of them bleeding from wounds, grimly firing machine-guns at the attacking planes from the Panay.

"When the planes came roaring back, I dived into the chief petty officers' mess on the boat deck," Mr. Macdonald said. "Many civilians took shelter there, including Sandri, who was crouched near the door.

"Sandri suddenly clapped his hands to his stomach and cried out, 'I die.'

"I saw immediately he was gravely wounded and found he had been hit in the stomach with two machine-gun bullets. The ship's surgeon was tending other wounded in the engine room but came quickly. Sandri died after nearly 24 hours of agony next day at the primitive hospital in Hohsien."

HOME IS WRECKED

LEAMINGTON, Ont., Dec. 17.—(CP)—A natural gas explosion on the farm of Joseph De Lellis, Mersea township, yesterday, blew the hired man's home from its foundation and wrecked it. Five persons nearby escaped injury.

Mrs. Peter Freisen, wife of the hired man, was blown 15 feet across the kitchen, and two of her children were knocked to the floor by the concussion. Al De Lellis, son of the owner, was thrown into the air. Freisen, about to enter the house when the blast came, was unhurt.

TRUCKER REFUSES TO PRODUCE BOOKS AND DEFIES PROBE

TORONTO, Dec. 17 (CP). — The Chevrier Transport Commission was at a critical stage in its inquiry today over the refusal of a youthful Owen Sound trucking operator to produce his books before the probe.

George Carr, owner of Carr's Transport, of Owen Sound, yesterday told Commission Counsel Joseph Singer he would not show his books in court as requested in a subpoena.

He objected to the presence of competitors and the general public in the court and implied his business would be harmed if confidential records were disclosed publicly.

Mr. Justice E. R. E. Chevrier, Commission chairman, told Carr he would be well-advised not to disregard the court order. His Lordship ruled previously that the Commission was empowered to demand detailed business information from transport companies.

Carr was scheduled to take the witness stand this morning and the Commission expected him to produce his records. The probe will likely adjourn today until January 10.

Carr's refusal was a climax to a long fight waged before the Commission by Lewis Duncan, Automptive Transport Association of Ontario counsel, against the "rather large" demands of the Commission.

On numerous occasions Duncan has protested against motor transport companies revealing business information. He stated the railways did not provide a comprehensive picture of their costs when their witnesses were on the stand and objected to truckers being asked for such information.

Twice yesterday, Mr. Justice Chevrier rebuked Duncan for insisting on this point.

BREAK OF SINGLE SCARED BRIGADE

panic-stricken Chinese soldiers shed their rifles, helmets and uniforms.

The wounded who were able to walk wandered helplessly through the streets. Many soldiers were shot by their comrades in the stampede to the river gate on the west—the doorway to escape.

Near the War Ministry a truck stalled. Within a few minutes the roadway was jammed with men, pack mules, new French 75-millimetre guns, anti-aircraft guns and baby tanks.

Flames Take High Toll.

Someone tried to break the jam by setting fire to a gasoline truck. Soon the flames reached ammunition wagons. Shells exploded. Animals and humans near the jam were killed, burned or mangled.

The river gate sandbag barricade turned out to be a death trap for many. Some were shot down by cursing comrades.

The fallen were trampled into a shapeless pulp. Before the gate's superstructure was burned by guards attempting to turn the tide, thousands reached the Yantze and crossed to Pukow in junks, sampans and launches. Many were drowned in the crossing.

I was unable to force my way through the howling mass, so I took a roundabout route to my home, which overlooks the river gate and the city wall.

Throughout the night I heard the wild cries of Chinese, rifle fire, and deafening explosions. Japanese artillery batteries pounded steadily in the south.

At sunrise I saw the remaining city wall defenders 200 yards away, engaged in a futile attempt to halt the Japanese advance.

Later in the morning I found that the Japanese had reached Nanking's north-eastern entrance, "the Gate of Benevolent Peace."

REGINA, Dec. 17—(CP).—Regina assembly plant of General Motors Products of Canada, Limited, began production this week and will be reopened officially to-day with Lieutenant-Governor A. P. McNab of Saskatchewan and other officials attending the ceremonies. The plant has been closed since 1930.

AIMED TO FORCE ONTARIO BEHIND SEAWAY PROJECT

on, commented on a letter Mr. King had written to Mr. Nixon.

One paragraph of Mr. Lyon's letter read "The letter (Mr. King's), as I understand it, means neither more nor less than that Mr. Roosevelt will give us no additional rights on the Niagara, even for the use of water originating in Canada, unless Ontario gives immediate consent to the immediate inauguration of the St. Lawrence Canal work."

Permission had been refused by the federal government, Mr. Hepburn said, for proposed diversion of Long Lac waters in Northwestern Ontario into Lake Superior. Ontario had proposed to ask further Niagara diversion rights on the basis of the additional volume of water in the Great Lakes from the Long Lac diversion.

Another Key Factor.

Mr. Hepburn said behind the whole scene of the disagreement between his Government and Mr. King's was the desire of Ottawa to get control of succession duty collections.

"This was clearly intimated to me at the Dominion-Provincial conference that that was the object of the Dominion. Since then we have failed to secure co-operation of Ottawa in collecting these duties in cases where fraud is suspected and where income-tax return made to Ottawa would be helpful. On our part we have given every possible assistance to Ottawa in cases where both Ontario and the Dominion have been defrauded.

"No matter how hostile the attitude of the Federal Government, this jurisdiction will not give up the collection of succession duties or let up one iota on our present drive to collect them. Since the special session of the Legislature in December we collected $2,976,351.

"Now the opposition to our power export application is due wholly to pressure being brought to bear on Ottawa by Washington so as to force the hand of Ontario and Quebec in regard to the St. Lawrence Waterways proposal.

"I would assume since the recent general election that the endorsement given this Government is sufficient answer to Mr. King and the Government of the United States that the people of Ontario are not prepared to spend untold millions in a waterways scheme that cannot be justified on economic grounds.

"This reference to Parliament means Mr. King is again following the line of least resistance. I am sure the Easter nor Western provinces are not concerned about a matter relating wholly to Ontario and Quebec, but a purpose may be served by this course.

"By the time the Federal Parliament gets around to debate, the period of peak power consumption will have passed and we may not be able to make contracts so that we can sell our surplus power to United States interests at a profit.

The Niagara Hold-up

"Some people have criticized this government for making the best settlement possible on the Quebec contracts, forgetting the judgments of the courts against us. We want the people to know the facts.

"Now, let met tell the people this: Until such a time as we weaken under the pressure of Ottawa and Washington for the St. Lawrence project, we'll secure no rights for further development at Niagara.

"This is not a matter in which I'm personally interested except as it pertains to the welfare of the people. This export would mean revenue, profits and possibly lower Hydro rates. If the people of Ontario are not alive to this situation, it is time they looked into the whole controversy.

"We're making a formal application to Ottawa for permission to export and we're asking Ottawa to state formally its reasons for refusal.

Road to Bankruptcy

"We can't go back to Niagara without the St. Lawrence scheme thrown into the picture. Further development at Niagara with the St. Lawrence scheme thrown in would be the way to certain bankruptcy."

Mr. Hepburn then read the Lyon-Nixon letter. He said he could not read Mr. King's letter because it was marked "confidential."

"But Mr. King never asked Washington about the Long Lac diversion," charged Mr. Hepburn. "He just assumed the answer."

Mr. Hepburn said the formal Long Lac request was made July 21, 1937.

"Now the cat's out of the bag, because Mr. King is taking a made-in-Washington policy and is trying to force it on Ontario. Mr. King was never friendly toward Ontario. I happen to know beause I was with him and watched him, at Ottawa. His famous five-cent speech was directed at Ontario, I know that.

"Mr. King is still licking his wounds from personal defeats suffered in this province and he hasn't recovered even although for the first time in his political career this province sent him a majority of supporters in the last federal election."

Lyons Letter to Nixon

Following is the text of a letter written September 11 by T. Stewart Lyon, then chairman of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Commission, to Hon. Harry Nixon, Provincial Secretary, and made public to-day by Premier Mitchell Hepburn:

Dear Mr. Nixon.—I have read with keen interest but no surprise this letter from Mr. King to you regarding the Long Lac diversion.

Mr. King in effect says: That he does not propose even to ask United States authorities for their provisional consent by letter to the diversion of the Long Lac water into Lake Superior; that the diversion can only be legally made by amendment to the Waterways Treaty and, in his opinion, there is no likelihood that the United States executive would be willing to deal with the matter in any other way than by treaty amendment.

The balance of the letter, as I understand it, means neither more nor less than that Mr. Roosevelt will give us no additional rights on the Niagara, even for the use of water originating in Canada, unless Ontario gives consent to the immediate inauguration of the St. Lawrence Canal work. Mr. King expresses no opinion on that matter himself. But I assume from the letter that if the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario and your government were prepared to provide the bulk of the money for the construction of the canal on the Ontario side of the boundary, the Federal authorities would be quite willing to authorize the work and control the spending of the money.

After the election, I propose to place before your government a proposal for the greater utilization of the Welland Canal, as a source of water supply for the Decew Falls development of this Commission, that the federal authorities will have some difficulty in shelving. Meanwhile, are we goin gto stop the Long Lac work, for which development your government and ourselves are jointly responsible financially? That is a very practical issue. What shall we do if Mr. King, following up his letter, says we may not even put this water into Lake Superior without the consent of the United States?

Faithfully yours,

in the lumbering industry in Belmont. He tells vividly of many great drives down the North River to Round Lake where his saw-mill was located.

It was at the Havelock Loyal Orange Lodge that he did his stepdance when Orange friends tendered a party in his honor last Saturday. Possibly he is the oldest Orangeman in Ontario for he joined Castleton L.O.L. No. 554 when just 18 years of age and has never allowed his Orange membership to lapse in the long intervening years.

Throughout his life he was proud of his strong physique and tells proudly of the day not far back when he chopped two and one-half cords of wood without any difficulty. As for his step-dancing, he won a gold medal in a contest open to all comers from his district at the age of 92.

Served In Reil Rebellion.

Mr. Hart was under arms during the Reil Rebellion and well remembers the scarcity of wheat during the Crimean War relating that corn meal was used as a substitute. Among a host of other recollections dating far back into the 19th Century, he tells of parties he attended in the cedar swamp days of Havelock when the common form of travel was by ox-drawn vehicles. The veteran claims, however, he was a passenger on the first train in Upper Canada, the Grand Trunk, travelling from Colborne to Cobourg.

Still in full possession of his faculties, Mr. Hart is an excellent conversationalist and his mind is a veritable storehouse of old reminiscences. Attainment of his hundredth birthday — beginning the hundredth year of his life—does not mean retirement from his daily activities at all. He continues to keep himself busy from morning to night making axe handles, paddles, chairs and other wooden pieces. He sells his products to neighbors and to summer tourists.

Married seventy-five years ago, he lost his wife, formerly Rebekah Masters of Spring Valley, when she predeceased him 19 years ago. He reckons 46 grandchildren and 49 great-grandchildren. His immediate family includes: Mrs. Ida Copperthwaite of Campbellford, Mrs. A. J. Hubble of Prince George, B.C., John of Smith's Falls, Albert of Lasswade, and Ross of Havelock.

Throughout his long years, Mr. Hart has been a staunch Conservative and an adherent to the Methodist Church, now United Church.

ROAST SHEGOG SERVED

WALLACEBURG, Ont., Dec. 17—(CP)—Indians served roast shegog as a delicacy at a recent festive meal at the home of Jonas Saghuy on the Walpole Island reservation near here. Shegog is another name for a skunk, polecat or what have you.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

Increased southern hemisphere wheat shipments and lack of export interest in North American wheats brought irregular fluctuations to futures on Winnipeg Grain Exchange to-day. At the end of the quiet session values were ⅛ higher to ¼cent lower, December $1.26⅝, May $1.17 to $1.17¼, and July $1.11⅜ to ⅞.

Prices moved within a two-cent range and were sensitive to varying outside market trends. After advancing about a cent on scattered Continental buying, wheat eased as locals liquidated in sympathy with lower Liverpool prices.

Some selling was attributed to southern firms.

Sales of Canadian wheat worked overnight were estimated at 150,000 bushels, the smallest business of recent sessions.

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 17, 1937

The Rest Of The Story

A man in London, Ont., 26 years of age, was arrested because he had stolen a jack from a transport company and had re-sold it for $4. His explanation was: "A man can go without food himself but he can't see his wife and kids starve." Since the story was published there has been quite a response and several offers of help have been received, one from as far away as New York where a man said it was probably a case where a few dollars could be used to advantage in the Christmas season.

People will respond when they see a needy case, but there is something in this London situation which seems to need explaining. We read that the man who has been in trouble is a "transport driver." He is not one of the unemployed, but has been working, and if a man at work is reduced to the point where he has to steal something in order to provide food for his wife and children, and where he has to go without meals himself, then there should be some information furnished telling where this man has been working and how much he has been receiving in wages.

Human sympathy is a fine thing but it should not be stirred into action to make low wages possible. The rest of the London story should be told.

A Few Months Ago

Looking over a few old clippings, some of them months old, we found one which expressed either disapproval or alarm because some Russian aviators had established headquarters at the North Pole. Russian scientists were going to establish a base there to make scientific observations.

In the clipping there was a degree of alarm and warning that the thing should not be allowed. It was a mighty dangerous thing to do. The North Polar region was going to become increasingly important as plane traffic developed and if the Russians were up there by themselves there was no telling what deviltry they might be up to. A note should be sent to Moscow right away or perhaps a little sooner.

And just the other day we read about the same Russians. They are now on a cake of ice one and a quarter miles in diameter and ten feet thick and they have drifted far from the North Pole. They are getting over toward Greenland, and think it is about time some of their compatriots came along in a plane and took them home. They admit they have made a number of highly interesting observations in regard to the movement of ice and all things up on top of the world. We feel considerably relieved to know the Russians did not capture the North Pole, and it is well to know that no attempt is being made to take the thing to Moscow. They could not stay "put" up there if they tried, and the expedition which some writers were inclined to view with alarm a few months ago is now drifting about on a nice-sized cake of ice and advising the folk in Moscow that if there is a spare plane which can come and take them home the service will be appreciated. A few months makes quite a difference.

A Muddled Situation

The Hydro situation in Ontario is getting to be a mixed and muddled piece of business. When Premier Hepburn cancelled the Quebec power contracts some time ago it was believed the so-called power barons were going to be strafed. But the contract with Beauharnois has been renewed, and the price is better, but there is more power available than the province of Ontario can use, and if it is bought and not used then it is going to be a dead loss, and a dead loss might well mean that power users all over the province might find their rates going up.

Premier Hepburn of Ontario and Premier Duplessis of Quebec have been much in conference, and the power business is what is at the moment drawing them together. Ontario is becoming a sales agent for Quebec power as well as a user of it.

But this selling of power, when it means exporting it to United States, is something with which the provinces have not a great deal to do. Such exports are governed by a Federal Act which was passed thirty years ago, and by that Act all regulations having to do with the exports of power are in the hands of the Federal government, which can if it desires place a tax on the amount exported.

It has been variously suggested that the premiers of Ontario and Quebec are meeting together so they can unitedly face Premier King at Ottawa and force him to do as requested. That is, agree to allow Ontario to export not its own power, but surplus power which is generated in Quebec. We read also that the Liberal power in the two provincial governments of Ontario and Qubec is too great a thing for Mr. King to oppose, and therefore he may have to step aside and allow the power exporting business to proceed without Federal ruling or interference. Our estimate is that Mr. King will not do any such thing.

The people of Ontario who became responsible for the creation of Hydro in the first place, actually know very little about their own business. They know it has been in the hands of men who do not know a power pole from a hitching post, and they know also that there have been such wild statements made regarding the surplus of power and the shortage of power that confusion has resulted. It has been and is today too political. The development and distribution of power, and the careful analysis of the available demand in the market is not a question for politicians at all, but one for technicians and experts. Our Ontario situation has been sadly muddled.

A Man Of Many Interests

Things will not be quite the same in Campbellford now that Fire Chief Charlie Davidson has resigned from the fire brigade after a service that dates back to 1889. Mr. Davidson has been connected with a good many things in Campbellford for a good many years for he is one of those public-spirited and energetic individuals who never feel satisfied that they are pulling their full weight in the boat unless they are actively engaged in half a dozen community enterprises at the same time. He has been reeve and mayor and councillor, giving long service in the council's activities and was mainly responsible for giving Campbellford its splendid rink. At the present time he is a member of the Utilities Commission and is president of the Rotary club. But no matter what other activity he was or is interested in the fire brigade has been the apple of his eye and for nearly half a century he has been turning out to protect his home community against the menace of fire.

It would be interesting to know just how many alarms he has answered and how much ground he has covered attending fires in that long period of service. Even in a small town there would be a large number of fires in a span of nearly fifty years and as Mr. Davidson has put in an appearance at the vast majority of them in all that time the mileage he has compiled in so doing would reach a very imposing total. He has made a very successful fire chief, after years of service in the ranks and he will be missed when the loud alarms disturb the midnight air in the future. But time marches on—even when you are as active and full of joy of life as is Charlie Davidson, Campbellford's No. 1 citizen.

It Is Different Now

Several parts of Ontario have had snowfalls which have been sufficient to put an end to motor traffic for a time. The result was a call for the snow plows to become busy. There were a number of communities which had been cut off entirely from the outside world, as railroad service which they had enjoyed years ago had been discontinued. They were dependent entirely on this new thing, motor transportation. If the roads remained blocked for some time these communities would be without food supplies.

Even more interesting was the report from several places telling that farmers in certain communities were running short of supplies because the roads had been blocked for a few days. In two places it mentioned the fact that a number of the homes along the blocked roads had no bread as the baker had not been able to make his trips.

There are probably plenty of reasons why farmers should buy their bread from the bakers. The women have so many other things to do that buying bread instead of baking it means a great saving of time. And yet it is quite a change from forty or fifty years ago when the countryside could hold its own for quite a spell before it would have to send out a call that it was in need of supplies. The bread used to be set to rise at the side of the kitchen range. It was not even necessary to go to the store for a yeast cake. There would be several kinds of meat down in the stone cellar; there was more milk and cream around in the winter than at other times of the year because the cheese factory was not running then and people were doing their own churning.

It would not be necessary to send to the store in the village for laundry soap as people made their own. There has been quite a change coming over many of our rural sections, and they live more like the folk in the cities and towns. Their supplies are not as great as they used to be. Good roads run past their gates and good roads lead to the bake shop and the grocery store. But one thing is quite certain. The people along the Tenth Concession could stand a good deal of snow blockade before they would have to run up the white flag and announce they were running short of victuals.

More Indigents Under 70

Eighty-one inmates in the Counties Home at Cobourg on November 30 exceeded by a wide margin the estimates of the council of Northumberland-Durham when they were rebuilding in 1935 the old House of Refuge that was almost completely destroyed by fire three years ago this month. The councillors even questioned the necessity of restoring the institution in the modern circumstances of pensions at 70. The government's gift of $20 a month enabled old people to spend their declining years in the private homes of relatives or of strangers who were willing to take care of them.

The opinions of the counties council were substantially verified by the fact that only fifteen of the present eighty-one inmates have reached the pensionable age. Other pensioners have presumably declined the public protection the counties provide, and if other men women who have been overtaken by poverty under the age of three score and ten had not applied for shelter the brighter vision of the council might have been realized in many vacant rooms and beds. But, the ample accommodation of the Counties Home has actually been overcrowded this year when the number of inmates at times mounted to eighty-three and eighty-five.

From these facts it appears that more people than the council anticipated are becoming indigents in their sixties. Modern industry has no place for them, and their homes, if they ever had any, are failing them in their time of need and dependence. Leaving out of this social problem the duty of children to take care of their parents, to keep and comfort them in the homes to which filial affection and the custom of humanity, to say nothing of the Fourth Commandment should give them an invincible claim, there seems to be increasing necessity for lowering the minimum pensionable age to sixty-five years. The experience of the Northumberland-Durham council suggests the conclusion in social equity that if men and women are to be discarded from employment at an earlier age than heretofore—that if forty-five or fifty becomes the end of their earning period—in the harsher and pagan phrase that they are to be scrapped—then the same society will have to assume their maintenance.

A crowded Counties Home which forty councillors fancied two years ago would become idle on their hands and disused, has given the studious men of the council serious thought as they searched for the factor they had overlooked. Revising their opinions of 1935 somewhat they see more men and women under 70 years of age yielding to poverty they can no longer avoid, and seeking a haven in the Counties Home, the title of the place at least moderating some of the stigma that attached to the old House of Refuge.

NOTE AND COMMENT

We imagine that when better apologies are made it will be the Japanese who will make them.

It is difficult to see what thrill any motorist gets out of hitting a pedestrian in a safety zone. That is too much like potting sitting partridge.

Evidently there is no apathy among the electors in the Philippines. They marked their first election by killing three persons and wounding four others.

Alberta is evidently able to talk turkey to the rest of the Dominion. At least she is exporting 200,000 of the birds this Christmas.

Wilfred Heighington, former Conservative member for Toronto St. David in the Legislature says that he once lost votes because he carried a cane. He should know that elections hinge on less than that sometimes.

It is worthy of note that the Winnipeg Bombers were tendered a rousing reception as they arrived home from Toronto. That is the kind of treatment a beaten team seldom gets and we congratulate the Winnipeg folk upon their appreciation of a courageous effort.

The spirit of Christmas is abroad in the land. Stewart Lyon, former editor of the Globe, and afterward chairman of the Hydro-Electric Commission, received this felicitation through the editorial columns of the Globe 'n Mail: "As chairman of the Hydro Mr. Lyon was a very good journalist."

A provisional government under Japanese control has been set up in Northern China and the names of the commission sound as if the bombardment was still going on. They include Dr. Tang, Wang Keh-min, Chi Chieh-yuan, Chu Shen, Wang-tang, Tung Kang, Chiang Chao-tsung, and Kao Long-wei.

SPARROW

(By A. E. L.)

¶ A sparrow on the window sill, is sitting there uncommon still, don't know how long he'll stay; can't say what he intends to do, or when his visit will be through, he's ruffled up and grey.

¶ It's cold just where he's picked to sit, but he don't seem to mind a bit, he looks well kept and fat; the air is rather raw I know, I see his feathers rise and blow, and yet he wears no hat.

¶ And he's got nothing on his feet, to try and raise a bit of heat, no leggins to his knees; his legs look awful small and thin, as though there was no blood within, yet he don't seem to freeze.

¶ At night just where he finds to go, is something I don't really know, it can't be very far; if he needs light around his room, perhaps he gets it from the moon, or now and then a star.

¶ The sparrow as he goes and comes, knows where they empty out the crumbs, he's fed like that before; he has no stock placed in a tent, and yet he goes around content, tomorrow he'll find more.

¶ I'd like to build for him a bit, and make a house where he can sit, and have it warm and lined; and yet he seems so right out there, nor suffers from the winter air—and he don't seem to mind.

A YEAR AGO Clara Howard a little North Carolina colored girl was shelling peanuts and collecting the hulls in her apron. As she dumped the debris into an open fire her clothes became ignited and she was horribly burned.

When the girl was moved to emergency Hospital at Washington D.C. the surgeons decided upon a dramatic operation; they would borrow grafting skin from another person.

John Melvin Bonner, 16, a distant relative, volunteered when his mother promised him $20 and a new overcoat. Last week surgeons cut the skin of young Bonner, with the slits running from armpit to hip. The skin will be rolled into a tube and if circulation remains healthy one end of the tube will be cut away and plastered on Clara Howard's wounds.

This step will take place some time next month. Blood from both bodies will nourish the skin for five weeks. Then if the boy's skin has knitted into the girl's body the two will be sliced apart.

It Made Them Figure.

THE FIGHT of the Amish sect against the new Pennsylvania school law turned to comedy last week and had citizens all over the state doing sums.

The statute says that pupils must stay at their studies until they are at least 16, but Aaron King said that 14 was the limit set for a girl's education set by the Amish faith and he went to jail rather than let his daughter Rebecca attend classes beyond that age.

Then he applied for a writ of habeas corpus in the United States district court at Philadelphia and the school board counsel examined Rebecca to show that she needed more study.

"If I sold a horse for $230 and made 15 per cent profit, how much did I gain? asked the lawyer. Rebecca made it $245. "Right" said Federal Judge Welsh. "Wrong" said the lawyer. There was general figuring on the backs of envelopes throughout the room and general disagreement. In the confusion Judge Welsh decided to adjourn until he could decide whether his court had jurisdiction over the case.

A RANGE OF submarine mountains in the Artic Ocean, between Jan Mayen and Bear Island, east of Greenland, has been discovered by Louise A. The Greatest Need Here is a Revival

It Is the Answer to Our Most Urgent Problems; No Other Remedy In Sight to Meet Conditions

EDITOR Examiner:—Sir: Your editorial of the 11th, under the title, "A Notable Increase," which deals with the consumption of liquor in Ontario and the intention of the local Ministerial Association to investigate the local liquor situation is very interesting. You infer and rightly so,further investigation is of little use and that the applying of a remedy would be of greater worth. Some of us have already faced this thing; beverage rooms crowded with young and older men and women; young men staggering about our streets; men so drunk they could not lift up their heads yet being served more liquor. We have gone to some of the homes of these people, where there is dreadful poverty and want. Last Saturday night I talked with a fourteen year old boy as he peered through the beverage room window, waiting for his father. I know of homes that are hells because of this thing. Then there are these mechanical robbers, (slot machines) distributed round our town, to enrich someone and pauperize our young men. They are illegal, a transgression of the Criminal Code, still they remain and their owners are not prosecuted.

Is it not surprising that the jazz from the downtown Night Club is permitted to be amplified and let out into the night by loud-speaker and that at 11.30 p.m.? Try and use an amplifier for church work at that hour and see where you land—probably in jail. While local "Shows" run a thriving Sunday midnight business with actually hundreds of young people "warming their feet" against the cold sidewalks waiting for an hour or more to become the recipients of the moral elevation of Hollywood's productions.

You say of the Ministerial Association, "They might find themselves somewhat handicapped when it came to suggesting what to do about this condition." As a local minister, I find no handicap and can give a sure and positive remedy. This remedy is not the cudgel of denunciation. That but bruises and destroys. It is not by the slow process of education; too many are lost in the procedure. It is not by the coercion of legislation and policing. There are too many gaping loopholes in these to insure success. Not that the church of today has much to offer; cold ethics will not reach the sinner's heart or meet the drunkard's need.

The answer to the whole thing is an outpouring of the Spirit of God in revival fires; so that professing Christians (pulpit and pew alike) will become possessed of The Life of God. Then going out in His love, by the power of the mighty, old-fashioned gospel, (that He is able to save to the uttermost,) they can snatch these brands from the burning. This was the case in the time of Wesley and Whitfield. It was the same in the days of William Booth. In Korea and Wales national life was revolutionized by revival. Benjamin Franklin wrote of the revival in his day, "From being thoughtless and indifferent about religion it seemed as if all the world were growing religious." Concerning The American Revival in 1800, it is written, neighborhoods noted for vicious and profligate life are as much noted now for piety and good order. Of the work of Moody and Billy Sunday the same thing could be said. Why does this not exist today? Because the church is lifeless, messageless, passionless, and prayerless. I include my own sense of weakness in this. Let the Ministerial Association arrange prayer meetings in every section of this city for an outpouring of the Spirit of God. Let the people of God get down on their faces and cry out for mercy. Let "The Week of Prayer" be a week of prayer and not of preaching. Let us unite in a passionate heart cry to God concerning the moral and spiritual conditions of our times. Let us stay on our faces until heaven hears and godless men see we mean business and I will promise you on the Word of God that He will "forgive our sin and heal our land." This is the positive answer and the only one to "A Notable Increase."

The praying members of Bethany Tabernacle have been meeting every night for six weeks to pray for this very thing. Cannot other Christian forces help until the whole city is mobilized for God and Revival?

Yours faithfully in the name of Jesus.

REV. W. McARTHUR.

A Bible Message For To-day . . . .

I AM THE LORD, and there is none else, there is no God beside me: I girded thee, though thou hast not known me; that they may know from the rising of the sun, and from the west, that there is none beside me. I am the Lord, and there is none else . . . I have not spoken in secret, in a dark place of the earth: I said not unto the seed of Jacob, Seek ye me in vain: I the Lord speak righteousness, I declare things that are right . . . . In the Lord shall all the seed of Israel be justified, and shall glory.

Remember the former things of old: for I am God, and there is none else; I am God, and there is none like me, declaring the end from the beginning, and from ancient times the things that are not yet done, saying, My counsel shall stand, and I will do all my pleasure.— Isa. xlv, 5, 6, 19, 25; xlvi, 9, 1-0.

Lord, thou hast been our dwelling place in all generations. Before the mountains were brought forth, or ever thou hadst formed the earth, even from everlasting to everlasting, thou art God. . . . Let thy work appear unto thy servants, and thy glory unto their children.—Ps. xci, 1, 2, 16.

TEACHERS PAY

Editor Examiner:

Sir: I see by the paper that we have to elect some more members to the board of education and that the teachers' want more money. I think they are getting plenty now and my wages have not been raised so why should I give them more money.

I think the voters should ask every person who wants to get back on the board of education if they are in favor of increasing the teachers salaries or not.

I will vote against anyone who wants to spend more money in the board of education.

Yours truly,

UNDERESTIMATION OF BRITAIN'S NAVY BE SORRY MISTAKE

LONDON, Dec. 17.—(CP Cable.)—The forthright First Lord of the Admiralty, A. Duff Cooper, told a Conservative meeting here last night that "any country which under-estimates the strength of the British Navy will be making a mistake which may prove fatal to their happiness."

He expressed the opinion that the country should accept Japan's apology for the killing and wounding of British neutrals in the Nanking area, then turning to the Spanish situation, accused Major Clement Attlee, Opposition Labor Leader, of intervention in the civil war.

The situation in China, he said, gave Britain—an Asiatic as well as European power—a feeling of gloom, apprehension and anxiety. He pointed out that Japan had expressed deep regrets over the Nanking incidents and determination to punish the guilty parties.

"I think we should accept that full apology," Duff Cooper said, "and hope that the necessary steps will be taken to prevent a repetition of such disasters."

Turning to the labor leader's recent trip to Spain, he said:

"The encouragement Attlee gave the Government forces in Spain was more valuable than if he had sent them machine-guns and ammunition." Attlee, he continued, did everything in his power to encourage the Government to continue fighting.

"If that isn't intervention, I don't know what is."

STIRLING DRIVER INJURED BY TRAIN

BONARLAW, Dec. 17. — While proceeding southward Thursday afternoon a car driven by Mr. Fred Heasman of Stirling crashed into the front end of the locomotive of the Canadian Pacific Railway westbound way-freight in charge of Conductor W. Backus and Engineer P. Haig at the public crossing east of Ivanhoe station, turning the car upside down in the ditch.

Mr. Heasman was cut badly about the face and suffered severe bruises about the body. He was loaded into another car immediately and taken to Madoc for medical attention. Mr. Harry Gay, a passenger in the car, escaped with a bad shaking up. The train was proceeding very slowly as it was about to stop at the depot. The cause of the accident was stated to be skidding on the slippery road.

London Leads Way In Empire Design For Strong Defence

Year-End Sees British Nations Building Up Bulwarks For Land, Sea And Air

LONDON, Dec. 17 (CP)—Empire defence moves ahead. There is no centralized common plan. But each Empire unit, working in co-operation, is rapidly strengthening itself against the peril of war.

Great Britain leads the way with a defence program the like of which, both in extent and in strain on the taxpayers, has never before been known in peace-time. Her shipyards are so crowded that the Admiralty has had to hold back some of its many orders.

Contracts for several warships of the current year's program have still to be placed. Yet within the last three years Britain's naval bill has touched $650,000,000. The aggregate of war vessels building totals 450,000 tons, without counting those already launched, or a further 55,000 tons which parliament has sanctioned.

By 1942, it is estimated, the British Empire will have 26 capital ships, including 10 of the largest and most powerful afloat. The present strength in capital ships is 15. Strength of aircraft carriers will have jumped five to nine. In cruisers, the British Empire now has 12 building with five projected; the United States, eight building, two projected; Japan, two building; France, one building, one projected; Italy, none; Germany, five building, two projected; Soviet, Russia, three projected.

Change In Army

Early in December Leslie Hore-Belisha, 43-year-old secretary of state for war, made the most sweeping changes in army control known in the long annals of the British army. At one stroke three of four regular military members of the army general staff retired and were replaced by younger men. The average of military members of the army council was thus reduced from 63 to 52 years.

The changes mark a distinct breach with the old seniority principle. "If any further apointments are made," Hore-Belisha assured the House of Commons, "the House may depend upon it that merit, character and ability as well as suitability for any particular office will be guiding considerations regardless of youth, age or mere seniority. All appointments will be made on the assumption the holders will be in all respects fit and able to hold their posts in conditions of active service."

The changes saw General Viscount Gort, 51-year-old Great War hero, become chief of the Imperial General Staff. New men came to the positions of Adjutant-General and Master-General of Ordnance.

In the army itself the horse has given way to the machine. Service has been made more attractive. Lord Haldane's old Territorials have been raised to a first line force. Out-of-date equipment has been replaced with equipment of the latest type.

The Royal Air Force has expanded at a rate far exceeding that of the older defence services. In just over two years, first-line strength in aircraft has increased from 580 to 1,542. Of the 124 squadrons contemplated in the expansion program, 123 have been formed.

Of 3,850 pilots recruited since the expansion began, 3,500 have either completed or are now undergoing training. Airmen recruited number 26,000. Twenty-five new stations have been opened; a further 21 sites selected. Dotted here and there over the country are "shadow factories," equipped to the latest detail, built on sites which a year ago were desolate.

Protection In South

Australia and South Africa are in the midst of expansion programs. New Zealand is strengthening her coast defences on a long-term plan, improving airdromes, making additional expenditures on maintaining the Leander class of cruisers. Canada is looking to her defences, with emphasis on the air force.

Australia plans to bring its first-line strength in aircraft to 200 planes. A general purposes squadron will be established on the Darwin coast. Defence measures against raids have been completed at Sydney, Fremantle, Brisbane.

They are now being prepared at Newcastle, N.S.W. Two-and-a-half million dollars will be provided for naval construction at Cockatoo Island; refitting the cruiser, Australia; conversion of the cruiser Adelaide to a wholly oil-burning ship. Powerful wireless stations are under erection at Canberra and Darwin. An anti-submarine school is to be established.

The danger-line for South Africa lies south of the Sahara, the Sudan and Ethiopia. Possible enemy raids on coast ports with attempts to cut off supply depots are the peril which South Africa's four-year plan is designed to meet.

The plan provides for:

1. A highly mobile force of 50,000 men.
2. A mobile anti-tank force.
3. Fifty heavy bombing planes and 250 to 300 interceptor fighters.
4. Mobile artillery units.
5. Anti-gas units.
6. Large explosive corps.
7. Large well-trained native labor corps.

VETERAN ORANGEMAN

BANFF, Alta., Dec. 17 —(CP). — Eighty-nine-year-old E. M. (Ed) Shaw, Banff pioneer, didn't let a little thing like five fractured ribs interfere with celebration of the 70th anniversary of his "riding the goat" in the Loyal Orange Lodge.

A month ago he fell from a verandah and fractured his ribs but he was among the merriest at his anniversary party Tuesday. He officiated at the cake cutting, blew out 70 candles with two puffs and made a neat little speech to the 40 guests attending. He joined the Orange Lodge at Wheatley, Ont., Dec. 14, 1867.

MURDER, SUICIDE END FAMILY TIFF

MONTREAL, Dec. 17—(CP). — At the bottom of winding stairs leading to his third-storey apartment, Napoleon Seguin, 59, was found dead with a rope about his neck to-day. Two of his four children made the discovery. The children found their mother dead in bed, her body hacked by an axe.

Police said they believed Seguin killed his wife with the axe, then hanged himself to a banister outside the door of the home. They thought his body had dropped when the rope broke and the children were awakened when the body struck the bottom of the stairs.

Seguin had been quarrelling with his wife, Alcide, neighbors said.

Shower For Lakefield Girl.

LAKEFIELD, Dec. 17. — Miss Vivian Hendren, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Abel Hendren of Lakefield, whose marriage to Gerald Kennedy of Kirkland Lake will take place in Kirkland Lake early in January, was guest of honor at a miscellaneous shower held at the home of her parents here on Tuesday evening, December 14.

Decorations in pink and white made an attractive setting for the occasion.

The guest of honor was seated in the centre of the room beneath a large pink and white umbrella. The umbrella was formed of pink and white, each streamer falling to the floor and leading to a gift; the gifts being piled in a circle about the seat of honor. Miss Mary Webdale, a cousin of the groom-to-be, read an address to Miss Hendren, after which the bride, assisted by Miss Grace Watson, also a cousin of the groom, opened the gifts. Vivian then graciously thanked those present for their lovely remembrances.

A dainty supper, in which the pink and white colour scheme was carried out in heart-shaped decorations, and in tiny umbrella favors, was served by Misses Mary Webdale, Dell Watson, Grace Watson, Jean Blewett and Thelma Hendren. Mrs. A. Hendren, mother of the bride, poured tea.

After tea, Mrs. J. Twist entertained the guests by reading their fortunes from teacups. At intervals during the evening Miss E. Hendren provided musical selections on the piano.

Spencer Clark Addresses University Women's Club.

Spencer Clark of Toronto was the guest speaker at the regular meeting of the University Women's Club in the Green Room of the Y.W.C.A. on Thursday evening.

A comprehensive outline of the Guild of All Arts at Scarborough, its history and the ideals behind the institution were given by the speaker, who has been responsible for its inception and growth. Mr. and Mrs. Clark have travelled extensively to study the Co-operative movements in other countries, and hope in time to develop a model village after the type of the garden villages of England. The speaker showed a number of pictures, including some taken in Russia several years ago, while studying social conditions in that country.

The Guild of Arts and Crafts of the Women's Art Association were guests of the club, and were welcomed by the president, Miss M. McIntosh. Mr. Clark was introduced by Dr. Agnes Moffat.

Coffee was served in the library at the close of the lecture. Hostesses were Mrs. Alex Sollitt, Miss Helen McGregor, Miss Marie Hicks and Miss Ura Hiland.

"House-Warming" St. Paul's S.S. Hall.

"House-Warming" of the Sunday School Hall of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church was a happy event of Thursday evening.

The Men's Association had undertaken to refloor the hall, and this task, with the president, Dr. J. J. Craig at the helm, was an accomplished fact last evening, when many of the congregation were present to express pleasure at the transformation of the old floor to one of hardwood.

A program of Christmas music was enjoyed during the evening, provided by the Misses Orma Lacheur, Jessie Pattison, and Ivy James, and Messrs. George Coleman, Jr., Charles Clark, George Hall and Horace Hope. Selections by the Sunday School orchestra with Martin B. Chenhall at the piano, by a ladies' chorus, and by Miss Helen Ludbrook on her electric Hawaiian guitar, were much enjoyed. Auctioneer John A. Smith had a busy time, with cakes and sandwiches, following the serving of refreshments.

Tea was poured by Mrs. A. T. Barr and Mrs. Robert Stuart, and assistants were members of the Ladies' Aid. Thanks were expressed by Dr. Craig to all who attended and to the assisting artists who supplied the program.

Mrs. Pitchford Entertains Bible Class.

Mrs. Bert Pitchford, McGill street was hostess to her fellow-members of the King's Own Bible Class, when about 36 were present for the election of officers.

The opening devotions led by Mrs. Hess were on the Christmas theme, with Scripture lesson by Mrs. K. Sloane. Reports followed, Mrs. Stanbury reporting for the visiting committee in Mrs. Clarke's absence. A very fine report from Mrs. Meeks, convenor of the quilts committee told of 41 meetings held throughout the year at which 10 quilts were made and later sold to augment the funds of the class.

Mr. E. Frost, Sunday School superintendent was in charge of the election of officers with the following slate resulting for 1938:

Teacher, Mrs. Elliott; assistant teacher, Miss Mary Collins; president, Mrs. A. Rosborough; 1st vice president, Mrs. P. Van Nest; 2nd vice president, Mrs. Harris; secretary, Mrs. K. Sloane; treasurer, Mrs. A. Davis; convenors: Program, Mrs. Bert Pitchford; social, Mrs. Gordon Pearson; devotional, Mrs. Hess; quilts, Mrs. Earl Eakins, telephone, Mrs. W. Rutherford; sunshine, Miss Mabel Robinson; pianist, Mrs. Eakins.

During the program which followed two splendid Christmas readings were given by Mrs. Henry Turner and several contests run off in charge of Meedames G. Pearson, Breadman and Watson. The lucky contest winners were Mrs. Craik and Mrs. Heard. Under the direction of Mrs. Stanbury and her committee, delicious refreshments were served, bringing to a close the jolly social hour.

To the hostess and all contributing to the evenings enjoyment, a very sincere vote of thanks was tendered by Mrs. Art Van Nest and Mrs. Ball on behalf of the class members.

Primary S.S. Christmas Entertainment.

The annual Christmas entertainment of the Primary and Beginners Departments of All Saints' Sunday School was a jolly affair of Thursday afternoon and early evening, with about one hundred and fifty kiddies having a thoroughly good time.

Supper was served at long tables, gay with red streamers and other Christmas decorations, and after supper, colored lantern slides, of "Gulliver's Travels," were shown to the young audience, with explanation provided by the Rev. Canon Paterson. A delightful impromptu program of recitations and songs by different members was followed by the arrival of Santa Claus with a jingle of sleigh bells. "Jingle Bells" was sung to welcome Santa, who then distributed gifts from the large decorated tree, each child also receiving candy and an orange.

As a very charming ending to the party, the children passed out through a darkened room, in which was a lighted model depicting the Christmas story. The beautiful idea was the work of Alec Runnett.

The superintendent, Miss Clara Cairns, and other teachers of the Primary classes were in charge of the entertainment, with Miss Boddy and Miss Pitchford providing the decorations.

With the Girl Guides.

Christmas is in the air, and we can't settle to routine Guide work. 2nd Company gave up their meeting for our bazaar, which was a successful event of last Thursday. At the close of the bazaar an impromptu entertainment followed with solos by F. Gray, T. Ryan, J. Brown, and tap-dancing by Teresa Crough, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Bugg. Flowers were presented to Mrs. Whalon, our captain, by Zit. Spencer, on behalf of 1st and 2nd Companies. The doll was won by Mrs. White, Weller Street, and the bed dolls by Mrs. Kinmond, Rubidge Street. At the usual Monday meeting, arrangements were made for the party to be given for the children from the Shelter and St. Vincent's Orphanage, on Tuesday, December 21, from 4.45 to 9 o'clock. There will be no other meetings that week.

Brownies had a very enjoyable party on Saturday, when gifts were exchanged. No Brownie meetings until January 8. While captain is willing to take names and addresses of girls having Guide uniforms for sale, she is not responsible for the sale or payment of same. Merry Christmas to you all from Captain and "The Scribe."

What Girls Are Sure of, Success in Love?

Why is it Peggy easily wins the love of Jim—while Joan, who's just as pretty, cries about indifferent Bob?

Success in love's not an accident. It rewards those who know when to charm with coquetry, when to soothe with womanly kindness. Only those two appeals, psychologists say, make a man fall in love—but they're appeals every woman can learn!

Dare to be feminine and perverse with sober John. Chances are he'll adore it—if you're sweetly sorry later. Or be a little less the playgirl when you party with Dick. A sympathetic word about his job, his comfort; he might show it's a home-loving lass he dreams about.

In our 32-page booklet a famous psychologist tells important truths about men and love. Learn to tell true love from false, to hold a man's interest, secrets of a happy marriage.

THE STARS SAY . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLLE

For Saturday, December 18

A lively and prosperous day is presaged from the ruling planetary configurations. Change or travel is imminent, probably in connection with new business or contracts. All pertaining to writings, publishing, advertising or promotional schemes should thrive. Private matters may have some slight anxieties or perplexities.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a year of change, with removals or journeys, probably in connection with new business or contracts. Writings, publication, publicity and promotional work should be lively and profitable. Keep composed in speech and writing, as there are certain anxieties or inharmonies of a private nature.

A child born on this day may be quick, lively and energetic in action, bright and original mentally, but its sharp tongue may work against the personal happiness.

Amateur Night At The Lyceum

An enthusiastic audience enjoyed a varied and interesting program when another Amateur Night was presented in St. Alphonsus Lyceum Thursday evening.

An exclusively Italian program had been planned, but this was made impossible by the present epidemic of colds, the chairman, the Rev. Father P. J. Kelly, explained. However, any disappointment that may have at first been felt was soon made up for by the ensuing program, leading off with "Italian Airs," skillfully played by St. Peter's High School Orchestra, whose accompanist is Miss Marion Best, A.T.C.M.

Several special treats were provided. The exquisitely trained voice of Miss Geraldine Collins was heard in two solos, as was also another lovely mezzo-soprano voice, that of Mrs. D. Campanaro.

The children were responsible for an assortment of talented and delightful numbers. Little Victor Cremasco's sweet young voice singing in Italian drew well deserved and continued applause. Victor was accompanied at the piano by his mother, and the little blind lady delighted her audience with several piano solos also. It was a splendid program all through with talent and training shown in every number. Brief addresses were heard from Mayor George A. Macdonald, Hampton Burnham and James Hamilton during the evening, each speaker paying tribute to the "great work the Rev. Father Kelly is doing in Peterborough, especially among the young people." Mr. Hamilton presented the prizes, three boxes of candy, to three little performers, Angeline DeCarlo, Gloria Anthony, and Victor Cremasco.

The program was as follows: Orchestra selection with violins, Fred Garvey, George Clark, Francis Doran, Menzie McClazen, guitars, Marcelle O'Donnel, Edward Geraghty, and accompanist, Miss Marion Best, A.T.C.M.; recitation, Adeline Campanaro; piano solo, Mrs. Cremasco; songs, Victor Cremasco; song and dance, Angeline DeCarlo; solo, Mrs. Campanaro; Hawaiian guitar solo, Francis Asta; piano solo, H. C. Treneer; solo, Miss Loretta Giardino; orchestra selection; solo, Miss Geraldine Collins; song and dance, Gloria Anthony; violin solo, Francis Strano; solo, Victor Cremasco; solos, Miss Helen Ross; Hawaiian guitar solo, Bernard Travias; solo, Harold Coulson; song and dance (with skipping rope), Regina DeCarlo; piano solo, H. C. Treneer. The other accompanists for the numbers were Miss Veronica Scollard, A.T.C.M. and Miss Bernice Flynn.

St. James W.M.S. Elects Officers

St. James' Auxiliary of the W.M.S. held a very successful Christmas meeting Thursday afternoon in their class-room, with a splendid attendance.

"Joy to the World" was the jubilant opening hymn, and earnest prayer by Mrs. W. Rose, followed. In memory of one of the members, Mrs. C. J. VanNest, who passed to her reward earlier in the year, one of her favorite hymns, "Forever with the Lord," was softly sung.

The nominating committee presented their report through the convenor, Mrs. E. L. Woodley, and the Rev. F. W. Craik conducted the election of officers. He urged that the loyal support of the Auxiliary be given every officer, and also commended the efficient services of the retiring staff.

New Officers.

The slate of officers nominated for 1938 included: Honorary Presidents, Mrs. W. H. Buckler and Mrs. W. Sollitt; President, Mrs. F. B. Elliott; 1st Vice, Mrs. E. L. Woodley; 2nd Vice, Mrs. M. M. Ingham; Recording Secretary, Mrs. George H. Rowe; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. E. J. Wagar; Treasurer, Mrs. R. H. English; Secretary Christian Stewardship and Finance, Mrs. F. W. Craik; Assistant Finance Secretary, Mrs. W. Rose; Strangers' Secretary, Miss Mary Deyell; Supply Secretary, Mrs. A. Cripps; Associate Helpers' Secretary, Mrs. R. Evans; Mission Band Secretary, Miss Constance Wagar; Baby Band Secretary, Mrs. A. Davis; Temperance Secretary, Mrs. E. Beavis; Missionary Monthly Secretary, Mrs. W. K. Sloane; Literature Secretary, Mrs. A. Davis; Press Secretary, Mrs. E. J. Wagar.

The retiring recording secretary, after six years of faithful service, having missed only three meetings during her tenure of office, thanked her confreres for their support. Mrs. Buckler also paid tribute to the fine work done by Mrs. Rose as recording secretary.

Monthly Program.

The convenor of the group in charge of this meeting, Mrs. W. Fell, was unable to be present through illness, but her fine program was successfully carried out by the other members of her group: Mesdames Fife, Buckler, Payne, Cripps, Harris, Dummit and Sollitt. Mrs. Harris, assisted by Mrs. Doig at the piano, gave the Scripture message, and Mrs. J. O. Fife led in prayer. A beautiful solo, "The Birthday of a King," was sung by Mrs. E. Kitney, fitting well into the spirit of Christmas. Stories of this joyous birth were told by Mrs. Craik and Mrs. Buckler. "No room in the inn" was the theme of Mrs. Craik's message, taken from Luke 2: 1-20, while Mrs. Buckler presented her story from another standpoint. Prayer was offered by Mrs. Sollitt. An interesting feature was the reception of four new members, two of whom were recruited from the X.L. Mission Circle, and come to the Auxiliary well trained in the work of the W.M.S. The Auxiliary is to be congratulated upon this addition to its forces.

The meeting was dismissed with prayer by Mrs. Ingham.

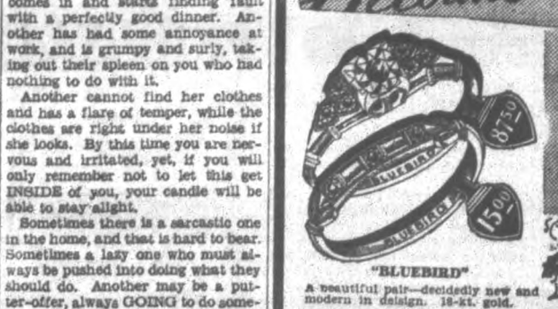
BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

CONFIDENCE NECESSARY.

HIGH BLOOD pressure is not usually a desirable thing in a bridge game. But sometimes it is advisable to use tactics which nearly give that to your partner, until he finds what are the cards upon which you base your action. If you continue to force and force him, with his worthless hand, the question of how badly he is agitated depends solely upon his confidence in you and whether or not he feels sure you have the cards to justify your bids.



(Dealer: West. North-South vulnerable.)

When West opened the bidding with 1-Club on this deal in a rubber game, North used unusual tactics to force his partner to decide for him at which suit his slam contract should be played.

Over West's 1-Club, North called 2-Clubs, and East jumped to 5-Clubs. This bid passed around to North, who now bid 6-Clubs. West passed and South called 6-Diamonds. West doubled this and North now bid 7-Clubs. When this came around to South he decided that it was not diamonds his partner was interested in, so tried 7-Hearts.

South, with his apparently worthless cards, explained later that he was far from happy during the proceedings, but the situation righted itself as soon as the dummy was revealed. He, of course, had no difficulty in executing his contract.

Tomorrow's Problem

(Dealer: East. East-West vulnerable.)

How should the bidding proceed after West's opening bid of 1-Diamond?

JUST BETWEEN US WOMEN

"It is as hard a thing to maintain a sound understanding, a tender concience, a lively, gracious, heavenly frame of spirit, and an upright life, amid contention, as to keep your candle lighted in the greatest storms."

—R. Baxter.

Dear Friend:

And it IS a hard thing to keep an even temper in a home where one or another is constantly stirring up strife. How can you be yourself if someone is constantly irritating you, how can you keep sweet if there is a nagger in the home?

You may say to yourself, "I am going to hold on to myself today. I am not going to let anything that is said or done annoy or bother me. I am going to live as harmoniously as I love to do."

Then one member of the family comes in and starts finding fault with a perfectly good dinner. Another has had some annoyance at work, and is grumpy and surly, taking out their spleen on you who had nothing to do with it.

Another cannot find her clothes and has a flare of temper, while the clothes are right under her nose if she looks. By this time you are nervous and irritated, yet, if you will only remember not to let this get INSIDE of you, your candle will be able to stay alight.

Sometimes there is a sarcastic one in the home, and that is hard to bear. Sometimes a lazy one who must always be pushed into doing what they should do. Another may be a putter-offer, always GOING to do something, but never quite getting around to it until there is a row.

And all these things fray the high resolves you have made to keep on an even keel. You wonder why life should be like that, what's it all about anyway that a person cannot live life as they would like to do.

If fruit gets broken in the skin, or eggs get cracked in the shell, the air gets into them and they soon spoil. So it is with us, if we let outward things crack the protective covering we are endowed with to keep outer things from getting in too far to annoy us.

I only wish I had learned of it sooner. Why should we let these little happenings bother us so much? What good does it do? Just stop long enough to wonder if this is important, if YOU are at fault, if getting yourself in a dither of nerves will better things in any way.

If they won't them hold on to your serenity. No doubt someone will say, "It does not bother you, does it?" And ask them why should it. It's their affair, not yours. You have enough to do without getting in a lather about those trifles.

And strangely enough, the more serene you keep yourself, the quicker they will learn it too. They are giving importance to unimportant things, and as soon as they learn not to do that, the better it will be for all concerned.

There will be less depressed feelings, less troubled minds, more real happiness, when once you learn to keep your shell intact. Don't think you will get hard or uncaring if a real problem comes along. You will have a clearer mind to grapple with them, for your mind will not be all cluttered up with things that don't matter.

Your Friend,
ROBERTA.

FINDS 200 SILVER PENNIES

While digging for the foundation of a house in Aberdeen, Scotland, a man sunk his pick into an earthenware jar which contained 200 silver pennies of the reign of Henry III (1216-1272), believed to have been hidden when an invasion of Edward I was feared.

Raise Your Blood-Count And You'll Feel "In the Pink"

NORMAL BLOOD has a count of 4,500,000 red corpuscles. If your blood count is below this you just can't feel well, because only these tiny cells can carry the necessary nourishment from your food and the energizing oxygen from your lungs to every part of your body. With a low blood count you're bound to be always tired, easily upset, nervous and depressed, without appetite, sleepless, under weight. Everything is drudgery.

You needn't go on in this way! Take Dr. Williams Pink Pills. Originated by a Canadian physician, this tested tonic quickly raises your blood count. You get new energy and vigour, your depression and nervousness disappear, your appetite and normal weight return, you sleep soundly, and your life is worth living again. If this is not so, experience your money will be refunded. 50c at all druggists.

$10,000 Cat Estate Starts Squabble

New Orleans, Dec. 17 (AP) KIT-CAT, house pet that inherited $10,000, died a month ago from high life and lazy living and today it was revealed that relatives of Mrs. Linnie Clayeomb Beneke, its late mistress, were waging a court fight over the estate.

Three persons claiming to be first cousins of Mrs. Beneke filed suit seeking to set aside the will dividing $69,441.62, of which $32,000 was in money, on the grounds that Mrs. Beneke was insane.

Floods Wipe Out California Town

The little mining town of Downieville, Calif., was literally swept off the map by floods of the Yuba river, which burst its banks when melting snows and unprecedentedly heavy rains poured torrents of water into the stream. The post-office, telephone exchange and scores of homes and business buildings were swept away or undermined and the entire population of over 500 was reported homeless. This picture shows the still swollen river as it gradually receded, leaving the townsite littered with wrecked buildings and debris. One man was believed drowned in the flood.

Judge Gives Dealer $25 Fine Back, No Proof His Eggs Bad

Winnipeg, Dec. 17 (CP). WHEN is an egg a good egg was the problem before Judge D. A. Stacpoole in county court as Abraham Malian, a produce dealer, appealed a $25 fine imposed by Magistrate T. J. Murray for selling eggs condemned by government inspectors as unfit.

Two housewives testified they used the eggs for baking, they and their families had eaten the cakes and egg noodles and had not suffered thereby.

Judge Stacpoole said the Chinese had ideas about the right time to eat eggs. Then too it seemed cooks of ancient times believed the older the egg the better the cake, the judge said, allowing the appeal yesterday on grounds the eggs had not been proved unfit.

tenced to 18 days in jail on a charge of theft and false pretences.

Floyd Reid of The Ridge was sentenced to one month in jail for supplying liquor to a minor. He was further sentenced for one month on a charge of obstructing a police officer.

Eric Martin paid $100.00, and costs, for having liquor without having a permit for same. A further charge of having a revolver without it being registered, cost him $5.00, and costs. Provincial Constable S. W. Palmateer of Bancroft prosecuted.

COUNCIL HONORS MAYOR H. D. LOGAN

(Examiner Correspondence.)

LINDSAY, Dec. 17.—As was announced by The Examiner three weeks ago, Mayor H. D. Logan has retired from municipal politics. At Wednesday night's session of the council he announced his retirement. A honorarium of $100 was voted him and tributes showered on him by his associates. Ald. Claxton is mentioned as a candidate for the Mayoralty, and rumor has it that ex-Mayor Pickering may also throw his hat in the ring.

Conduct Causes Protest.

Strong protests were made at the council regarding the conduct of young people at the Saturday night dances in the Town Hall. It was charged, said Mayor Logan, that at these dances there is a stream of young people making their way to the beverage rooms and the conditions prevailing are not satisfactory. The Chief of Police will be requested to keep an eye on these social events.

More Police Needed.

That two more men should be added to the police force is the contention of Ald. Walker, who voiced his views. An extra day and night man, he stated, is what the town needs to regulate traffic, pick up drunks, collect dog taxes, etc. The council viewed the suggestion with favor and the 1938 council will be asked to consider it.

$20 Donation Made To Millbrook Fund

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MILLBROOK, Dec. 16. — The Young People's Union held a brief business session on Tuesday with the president, Oliver Brock in the chair.

On motion, it was decided to vote twenty dollars to the church thankoffering fund; also to make a determined effort to complete the sale of Christmas cards, all those having cards out being urged to bring in returns for same by the end of this week.

After discussion, it was decided to order copies of "The Pathfinder" again for members of the executive, and others wishing this help, individual subscribers to pay twenty-five cents as formerly toward the cost of the journal.

Announcement was made that the installation service for the new officers will be on Sunday, December 26, at the evening church service, the pastor, Rev. A. L. Sisco, officiating, and all members of the executive were strongly urged to be in attendance "that our circle may be complete." The initial meeting of the new executive will be held at the home of the president, Mr. B. B. Dawson, on January 7, at 8 p.m. to plan business and activities for the new year. The new bulletin board in the church entry hall is being used constantly and is much appreciated; names of the new executive are now on the board in preparation for the special installation service.

Rev. Mr. Sisco closed the meeting with prayer after the offering had been taken.

AT HOME 20 WEEKS WITH RHEUMATISM

Wife Feared Husband Would Never Work Again

When her husband had been at home 20 weeks with rheumatism in his back, this woman began to think he would never work again. At last, she said to him: "Let's try Kruschen," and the change that took place was, in her own words, "like a miracle." Here is her letter:

"My husband is subject to rheumatism and suffered terribly with his back. Some time ago, I had him in the house 20 weeks with it, I really didn't think he would ever work again. We tried all the different kinds of salts you could mention, but none of them did him any good. Then I said, 'Let's try Kruschen.' Since then, we have proved Kruschen Salts to be worth its weight in gold. My husband is back at his job, thanks to Kruschen. The change it made is like a miracle."—(Mrs.) B.

Two of the salts in Kruschen are the most effectual solvents of uric acid crystals known to science. They swiftly dull the sharp edges of the painful crystals and convert them into a harmless solution, which is then expelled through the natural channels.—advt.

HOGS SLUMP 50, CATTLE, CALVES SHEEP ARE FIRM

TORONTO, Dec. 17.—(CP).—Hogs dropped 50 cents on the Toronto livestock market this week, the Dominion livestock branch reported. The small supply of cattle sold at generally steady prices and a good clean-up was effected. Calves were steady to firm and sheep and lambs unchanged.

The cattle run included 900 from the west, mostly butcher heifers. Trading held at a draggy pace. Common to good weighty steers sold at $4.50 to $7, and a few tops reached $8. Good butcher steers and heifers brought $5.50 to $6, common ranging downward to $3.50. Western butcher heifers were $4.50 to $5.75 cwt.

Butcher cows traded from $2.75 to $4 with canners mostly $2 cwt. Some good butcher bulls moved at $3.50 to $4.25, bolognas going at $3 to $3.35. Fed calves made a general range of $5.50 to $6 with occasional tops at $6 cwt.

The few store cattle offered brought $3.50 to $5.10 cwt., the top being paid for weighty feeders, milkers and springers were $65 to $70 for tetsed tops.

A good export inquiry was reported for veal calves. Choice vealers sold mostly at $9.50 to $10 with odd tops reaching $10.50. Common lights ranged down to $5. Heavy western calves went between $4 and $6 and some rough grassers as low at $3.50.

Gain Short-lived.

Off truck bacon hogs sold up to $8.50 at the close of last week, but the gain was short-lived. Bacons opened at $8.25 and dropped to $8 Wednesday. Trade appeared again weak Thursday but the price held. Sows were quoted at $5 to $5.50 cwt. and heavies went at a discount of $1.50 cwt. from bacons.

Sheep and lamb receipts included 600 westerns as well as some Ontario-fed western lambs. Good ewe and wether lambs, delivered by rail, sold at $7.75 and off truck lambs at $7.50. Bucks and heavies were $6.50 to $6.75 and culls $6. Some half-finished fed lambs brought $6.90 to $7 cwt.

Most sheep went between $1.50 and $4.50 cwt. and some good light ewes as high as $5 cwt. Some western breeding ewes were unsold.

ONLY FIGHT SAYS PREMIER KING

Question of taking to the courts a test of the Federal Government's power to prevent the export of power could be considered, the Prime Minister said, if and when Parliament ruled against such export.

If the question were taken to the courts, as suggested by Premier Hepburn, he was confident the British North America Act, which gave to the Dominion jurisdiction over trade and commerce, would support the Government's action.

Refusal of Mr. Hepburn's request an export license came the day Mr. Mackenzie King left for his Florida vacation. Since then a flood of speculation was left without official confirmation until Wednesday, when Mr. Hepburn announced that the Federal Government refused a license he would challenge in the courts its power to prevent power export.

Yesterday Mr. Mackenzie King was back with his Cabinet Council again for the first time since Mr. Hepburn's visit. At its conclusion he gave an interview in which he declared this, and any other question of national policy, would be decided by Parliament.

Cabinet Council will meet again next Tuesday, probably for the last time until after the Christmas holidays.

VOL. LXXIX, No. 142 — PETERBOROUGH, FRIDAY, DECEMBER 17, 1937 — PRICE THREE CENTS

REQUIRE 2 BALLOTS TO ELECT 8 ALDERMEN

Six Ballots Be Required If No Acclamations Are Given Municipal Candidates

Separate Slate Must Be Nominated For One And Two-Year Term Aldermen

Six ballots involving decisions on candidates for all the city's administrative offices and a daylight saving bylaw is the prospective responsibility in sight for Peterborough's ratepayers on New Year's Day.

Acclamations would of course reduce the task the electors will otherwise have to face, but assuming that the entire ticket materializes, the duty at the polls on the first day of the new year promises to be unusually heavy in the sense of choice and making up one's mind as to what is likely to be "in the best interests of Peterborough" for the next year or two.

The six ballots as at present contemplated around the city hall are: (1) Mayoralty; (2) five aldermen for two years; (3) three aldermen for one year; (4) Utilities Commission; (5) Board of Education; (6) Daylight Saving bylaw.

It has already been reported that only Alderman E. R. Wilson remain of the 1937 council when this month ends. Three of the aldermen whose terms gave them another year's service resigned a few days ago, Alderman Hamilton to qualify as a candidate for Mayor; Alderman McIntyre to retire from municipal work; and Alderman Gordon to seek re-election, thereby consulting the opinion of the ratepayers as to the course he has followed since they elected him twelve months ago.

Legacy for 1938 Council

Alderman Sloan resigned some months ago to apply for the position of assistant assessor. His resignation was made to the council, and thereby left to the council the appointment of his successor. No one was willing to accept the post for the rest of the year, and hence the vacancy becomes a legacy to the council of 1938.

City Clerk Armstrong and City Solicitor Corkery have both agreed that there should be two ballots for the eight aldermen who are to be elected.

One ballot will present the names of the citizens who qualify as candidates for the two-year term. The other will show the names of those who offer themselves for the one year term. Five are to be elected for two years, and three for one year.

Should those who are willing to accept aldermanic duty and honor decide that they might as well all enter the two-year field, leaving the one year race without entries, then the appointment of the three additional aldermen would have to be made by the other members of the 1938 council from the defeated two year candidates and in the order of the votes they received.

TWO YOUNG MEN ARE TURNED DOWN BY MEDICAL BOARD

Dr. J. A. Bannister, principal of Peterborough Normal School, today confirmed reports that two young men students had this week been struck from the rolls because they failed to pass the medical examination prescribed by the medical board of the Ontario Department of Education.

He agreed the young men were enrolled as students here when the school reopened for the Fall term on October 12, but when asked if he did not consider an unnecessary hardship had been imposed on them by rejecting them after they had completed almost a term, Dr. Bannister replied: "It is one of the conditions of enrollment here that a student must pass the medical examination as laid down by the Department." The principal declared he had no idea why the return of the medical reports had been delayed, but said they were only received from the Department within the last few days.

The two students, whose failure to pass the medical examination, required they be asked to leave the school, come from Belleville and Odessa, Dr. Bannister declared.

They are the only students who have failed to pass the medical test for admission to Peterborough Normal School during the three years' medical examinations have been compulsory.

Dispute Is Settled In Compromise Bill

MELBOURNE, Australia, Dec. 17.—(CP-Reuters).— A long-standing dispute between the Victoria Legislative Assembly and the Legislative Council was settled to-day when both Houses adopted a compromise bill modifying the powers of the Upper Chamber.

Premier A. A. Dunstan's ministry appealed to the country in October, with reform of the Legislative Council, which the Upper House had rejected, the main issue. The Dunstan Government was returned to power.

The compromise bill stipulates that if the Legislative Council rejects a bill and turns it down again after dissolution and re-approval by the Lower House, it shall become law on gaining Royal assent.

SKULL RECONSTRUCTED.

NEW YORK. — The first reconstruction of the skull of an adult woman belonging to the race of Peking man, with evidence to support the claim that this human prototype is the oldest known ancestor of modern man, was revealed here to-day when the restored skull of the "anthropological eye" arrived unobtrusively in the workshops of the American Museum of Natural History.

The Peking man, according to calculations, must have lived about 500,000 years ago.

PLAN TO CLARIFY BIBLE CHAPTERS

TORONTO, Dec. 17 (CP).—Arguments that are "somewhat vague" in the Books of Job and Romans will be clarified in a revision of the American standard edition of the Bible, Prof. William R. Taylor, only Canadian on the revising committee, said in an interview here.

The best results of modern scholarship expressed "in the simple, classic style of the King James' version" would be embodied in the revised work, said Prof. Taylor, white-haired chief of the Department of Oriental Languages at the University of Toronto. With him will work 14 United States experts on the five-year task.

"If a man has more than one wife, that's his business—or problem," he commented on the suggestion the committee might make textual changes in Scriptural passages that have to do with polygamy. "We aren't planning anything sensational," he added.

Candidates For Municipal Office Must Be Owners Or Tenants

CANDIDATES for municipal office in the New Year's Day elections must be owners or tenants of property assessed for at least $400. And they are required to present certificates that their taxes are paid.

The statutes which set forth these latter exceptions are as follows: "The owner or tenant against the land in respect of which he qualifies there are at the time of nomination any taxes of a preceding year or years overdue and unpaid."

"A tenant who at the time of the nominations owes more than three months' rent upon the property in respect of which he qualifies."

"A person whose taxes in respect of an assessment for income or business at the time of the nominations areoverdue and unpaid."

"In cities and towns before making the declaration the candidate shall submit to the treasurer or collector particulars of the land in respect of which he intends to qualify, and shall procure from him and file with his declaration a certificate that there are no taxes of a preceding year or years against such landy which are over due and unpaid, and the clerk shall not place on the ballot paper the name of any candidate who fails to file such certificate with his declaration."

ACUTE NEPHRITIS GIVEN AS CAUSE OF GIRL'S DEATH

Testifying at the inquest into the death of Gertrude Huot, 24-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Huot, 248 Charlotte Street, who passed away suddenly on November 21 last, Dr. C. B. Waite, director of the Provincial health laboratory, last night gave it as his opinion, the young woman died of acute nephritis and haemmorhage of the lung. "The primary cause of death was acute nephritis; the secondary cause, haemmorhage of the lung," the pathologist said.

After hearing a number of witnesses, who included the girl's parents and other relatives and friends, as well as the family physician and medical men who performed a post mortem examination, Coroner Dr. Herbert N. Young declared the proceedings adjourned until Wednesday next.

Await Report.

Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C., who conducted the examination of witnesses, explained to the jurors an adjournment was necessary as some of the medicine the girl took immediately prior to her death was submitted to a Toronto doctor for examination and the court awaited the return of a report.

Evidence indicated the girl was subject to severe bilious attacks. She suffered one of these attacks during the week preceding her death.

Dr. E. A. Hammond, family physician, saw Miss Huot on the Wednesday preceding the day of her death. She had been vomiting and complained of a headache.

The physician advised the patient to stay in bed and gave her some bismuth tablets to settle her stomach. He saw her on the morning of the day following. She was feeling much better in health.

Witness next saw the patient on Saturday morning of that week. She complained a great deal of headache and had vomited some blood. "I did not attach much significance to that fact because she had been retching a great deal," he explained.

Dr. Hammond on his visit to the house the day before the girl's death prescribed some pink tablets. They were a compound aspirin tablet, a quarter the strength of the "big" tablets. The tablets were the type usually prescribed for children, the doctor said.

Notified Coroner.

Witness had been unable to definitely state the cause of death, but was of the opinion it was intestinal influenza. He said he notified the coroner.

An autopsy performed by Dr. J. C. Smith and Dr. T. W. H. Young did not result in any conclusive finding, according to the evidence of the medical witnesses. Dr. Smith, whose testimony was corroborated by Dr. Young, declared, "We found some congestion of the lung; slight congestion of the liver and spleen; and from an external examination slight congestion of the kidneys."

"There was nothing," Dr. Smith said, "we could put our fingers on and say that is the cause of death." As a result various vital organs were removed from the body for microscopic examination by Dr. Waite.

"With Dr. Waite's findings I think the cause of death was acute nephritis that had developed very suddenly," Dr. Smith said. Dr. Young agreed with this opinion.

URGES NATIONAL PARK AT FALLS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17 (AP) — Representative Beiter (D-NY) proposed yesterday in two bills introduced in the United States House of Representatives creation of a national park at Niagara Fall.

Transfer of land now owned by the state of New York would be necessary before the proposal could be carried out. One of the bills would authorize the government to accept the land and the other would set up a national park in the area.

Beiter wrote to Governor Lehman today asking for an expression of his views.

He suggested that once New York transferred its present lands to the federal government the entire area on both sides of the falls, with the consent of Canadian government, could be converted into an international park.

"It is my thought," Beiter wrote the governor, "that the preservation of the falls could be undertaken jointly by the two governments under these circumstances, as a part of the regular maintenance costs. All that is necessary for this purpose is the proper supervision and control by the two governments under which the erosion can be checked and the water so distributed as to cover once more the bared flanks of the Canadian Falls and to provide a more dependable flow over the American falls. In this manner the charm of the majestic Niagara could be maintained as a perpetual shrine to those who love the beauties of nature."

Radio Sounds Knell For Railway Flag Or Lantern

Special duty engineman John Hicks is shown at the radio receiver in the engine cab of a Pennsylvania R.R. freight train as he took a message from the conductor at the other end of the train, thus marking the introduction of short wave radio, for this purpose and sounding the death knell of flag, lantern and whistle. The radio apparatus, in appearance like an ordinary telephone, is two-way and according to observers is just as clear as that more familiar instrument.

MANY "FLU" CASES.

An outbreak of influenza, mostly of the intestinal type, is in evidence in the city at the present time. One physician states he was busy all day Thursday looking after flu cases and several of the factories report absentees because of the grippe attack.

CITY'S DEPUTATION.

L. Dobbin, manager of the Utilities Commission, Fire Chief Gimblett, R. H. Parsons, City Engineer, and E. A. Outram, assistant City Clerk.

TAX RATES COMPARED.

A witness in Judge Smoke's court several days ago asserted that Kingston's assessments were lower than the assessments on similar business properties in Peterborough. Although no facts are available for comparison of assessments, it may be of interest locally to point out that in 1935 Kingston's tax rate was 47.5 mills and Peterborough's tax rate that year was 37.4 mills, a difference of ten mills in Peterborough's favor. Figures for the last two years could not be obtained to find out whether the differential has changed since 1935.

PLEASE COOPERATE.

In urging motorists to "buy early" James J. Dorris, official automobile license issuer is not thinking of the Christmas season, but he has in mind the fact that the "deadline" set by the Ontario Department of Highways is January 15. Although license plates for 1938 were on the market at the end of September this year, there has been no real demand for them as yet. Wishing to avoid a last minute rush, Mr. Dorris urges the motoring public to cooperate with his office by starting to get their new markers now. There are still 6,800 passenger plates and over 1,000 commercial plates in the office awaiting distribution.

NEW CHURCH DEDICATED.

Dedication of the recently rebuilt St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church at Cobourg was attended by Rev. Dr. A. T. Barr and James Dutton of Peterborough, and Rev. A. J. Preston of Keene, Moderator of the Presbytery of Peterborough. Rev. John Lindsay, clerk of the Synod of Toronto and Kingston, brought greetings from the Moderator, Rev. Samuel Lawrence of Rothsay. The dedicatory ceremonies were under the auspices of Peterborough Presbytery, the dedication was delivered by the Rev. J. B. Rhodes, minister of St. Andrew's, and the prayer was offered by Rev. John Lindsay. Rev. Dr. Barr preached the sermon.

5,000 Woolworth Workers Quit

NEW YORK, Dec. 17 — (AP). — Union leaders called out on strike to-day 5,000 employees of 124 Woolworth 5-and-10 Cent Stores in the metropolitan area.

Union officials said they ordered the strike after the resident manager of the company failed to reply to their contract proposals.

The union asked a 10 per cent. wage increase, an eight-hour day, and a preferential shop.

Coincident with the strike call, Countess Haugwitz-Reventlow, the former Barbara Hutton, Woolworth heiress, sailed for Europe last night.

On arrival from abroad on Tuesday the heiress had said she planned to spend the Christmas holidays with her father, Franklin L. Hutton.

NO WRITING TO SANTA

EAST AURORA, N.Y., Dec. 17. — (AP).—Children here don't bother to write notes to Santa Claus—they have a private wire to old Saint Nick's ear.

They just lift the telephone receiver, ask for Santa and the operator plugs them in.

The Telephone Company fixed it up and Santa is available from 6.30 to 8 p.m. every night until Christmas.

Woman Takes To Centre Of Street With Police Officer Following

ACCOSTED by police after allegedly pilfering from a departmental store, a local woman on Thursday afternoon took to her heels in alarm. Constable W. B. Piercy, plainclothes officer assigned to the case took up pursuit and caught the woman after a chase extending two city blocks, eyewitnesses claim. Dodging clear of sidewalks that were crowded with Christmas shoppers, the fleeing woman reportedly ran north right in the centre of George street. As the officer caught up to her she halted her flight, and making a hurried about face struck out at her captor in the excitement of the moment. At the police station a search revealed that two boxes allegedly filched from the store counter by the woman, were empty.

NEW BUS PLACED ON CITY STREETS

A new bus of improved design has recently been placed in service here by Peterborough Bus Lines. The company's fleet has now been increased to five buses running to regular daily schedules, and three additional buses to handle factory crowds at peak periods through the day.

Declaring he believed the new bus to be the first of its type to be placed into service in Ontario, Laurie Mitchell, manager said its 26-passenger body was constructed of steel with aluminum panels, which lessened accident hazards considerably.

The bus has air brakes and two air-operated entrance doors besides a third emergency exit. Safety glass is fitted in all windows and in the windshield, providing excellent passenger protection.

Comfort of the passengers is stressed in the appointments of the bus. It has comfortable seats; low steps; wide doors and wide aisles with adequate grab rails. The body is insulated against heat, cold and noise while it has no-draft ventilation with an adequate heating and air clearing system. The bus was purchased through Hood and Cumming.

TIME-BOOKS ARE NOT ACCURATE

TORONTO, Dec. 17 (CP)—William Marks, owner of Marks Transport of Brantford, continued his testimony before the Chevrier Transport Commission here today after informing the inquiry he did not believe time cards turned in by his men were correct.

Questioned by Arthur Roebuck, Automotive Transport Workers' counsel, Marks said at yesterday's hearing that he kept the regulation Ontario government time-book but that his drivers guessed at their hours worked and he had no accurate means of keeping the time-book.

Hours and wages of drivers on various routes of Marks Transport were provided by witness. Drivers on the Brantford-St. Catharines run received $22 a week, on the Brantford-Hamilton run $18 a week, and on the Brantford-Galt run $17 a week. Two city drivers in Brantford were paid $10 a week.

As the inquiry moved ahead slowly due to prolonged cross-examination, Roebuck urged that the Ontario Government assume more of the cost of bringing witnesses before the probe.

He said his clients could not continue to pay witness fees much longer and suggested that when Commission Counsel Joseph Singer used witnesses the government bear the fees.

Singer said he had approached the government on the matter but the proposal had been turned down.

A BOYCOTTER

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif., Dec. 17 (AP)—"Let's see that tray," a customer asked a waiter in a restaurant here.

"Hm—made in Japan," he said when the waiter obliged — and smashed it. "How much did it cost?"

"Fifty cents," replied the astounded waiter.

"Here," said the man, as he continued his meal. "It was well worth it."

The Rambling REPORTERS

SKI-MINDED COUPLE

Spending their second winter in Peterborough, a certain young husband and his wife have this year become definitely ski conscious. Newly arrived from a section of Western Ontario where hills for skiing are at a premium, the couple last winter were content to watch local skiers from the sidelines. This year both have invested in ski outfits. They have everything necessary for the sport, except the skis and the ability to ski (which they will doubtless acquire before the season is over). Enthusiastic over her new ski suit which she donned last night, the young woman in question created a mild sensation when she appeared in the business section attired in white windbreaker, white kid boots, blue slacks and blue parka trimmed with white fur. In her attire that was suggestive of the Polar regions, the young woman attracted attention not alone by her personal charm, but by the very unusualness of her appearance. It is so close to the festive season that the children who followed her movements with wide-eyed amazement could not be blamed for associating her with Santa Claus, whose annual coming there are all awaiting with keen anticipation and delight.—R.

Peterborough and Mackenzie Rebellion

By C. H. I.

The causes, course and conclusion of the Mackenzie Rebellion a hundred years ago are not within the intended scope of this article. It is rather an attempt to give, in brief, an account of the part played by Peterborough men in the unfortunate state of affairs that arose.

Ever since the one-man settlement here of Adam Scott and the naming of the place as Peterborough, local men have ever been ready to answer the call of duty in time of stress. Right from the century-old rebellion, the Crimean War, German raids, the Northwest Rebellion, the Soudan, South Africa and the Great War have always found them ready to bear their share of the burden. In addition to the war memorial in Central Park, we have the drinking fountain at the northeast corner of the park erected in honor of the local volunteers who went to fight against Louis Riel's rebels and it is also a cenotaph to Capt. E. Brown of Douro who was killed in the battle of Batche and was buried where he fell.

In 1834 the proclamation of Sir Francis Bond Head calling out the militia of the province to assist in suppressing the rebellion, war promulgated within 24 hours nearly 200 volunteers, armed and equipped as best they could, started for the scene of action under Col. McDonnell and Capt. Cowall. Upon arrival at Port Hope they found other bands of loyalists in all amounting to about 1,000 men. All there had left their homes in the midst of winter and many of them leaving their homes and families in circumstances likely to cause great hardship to those left behind, and apparently they received very little help or sympathy in that regard from the officials in charge.

About 250 muskets and bayonets were in store at Peterborough; these were served out to the men but many of them carried their own guns; powder and ball were obtained at local stores. Before setting out for Toronto on foot word was received that the rebels had been dispersed, and that the services of the men were not requested. They were permitted to return home having suffered many hardships but no casualties. Within a fortnight owing to circumstances which had arisen orders were received to despatch a battalion from the Newcastle district in which Peterborough was included. The militia mustered at once and started their march to Toronto under command of Col. Brown. This battalion consisted in part of residents of the townships of Douro, Otonabee, Dummer and Asphodel and mustered 500 men. Previous to departure a selection of the fittest was made and 360 were picked to go and the rest remained behind as a reserve. The march to Toronto took five days. On the first day they made 17 miles and spent the night at Joseph Graham's tavern in Cavan. The second day's march brought them to Bletcher's tavern, three miles from Port Hope and the third day 16 miles beyond that place on the Toronto road. At Highland Creek there were strong rumors of rebels around and scouting parties were out most of the night but nothing happened. Late on the evening of the fifth day they reached Toronto and were warmly congratulated by Sir Francis Head upon their patriotism and gallantry.

Queen's Own Regiment

A new regiment was formed out of forces available and known as the Queen's Own of which Col. Brown was appointed major. This regiment remained on frontier duty until May when they were disbanded and returned to their homes and family, with the thanks of the country for their services and apparently very little else. But they had borne the burden and done their duty; they were the fore-runner of many a band of local men who went, in later days, to the wars both at home and abroad.

Col. Brown who was prominent in militia affairs in the district was an ex-officer of the Royal Scots Fusiliers who came into the neighborhood of Peterborough, as a farmer in 1830. He was appointed by Sir John Colborne to the rank of Lieut.-Col. of the regiment then known as the 4th Northumberland Fusiliers.

Col. McDonnell (after whom McDonnell street is named) came to Canada with his uncle Bishop McDonnell of Kingston in 1812. In 1825 he was appointed by Peter Robinson to assist in placing emigrants and he subsequently became emigration agent and Crown Lanw Agent for the county and Member of the Legislative Assembly. He died suddenly in Peterborough in Nov. 1861. As an aftermath of the rebellion and a safeguard for the future, in 1839 a number of companies were raised locally for what was styled "The 7th Provisional Battalion of Peterborough"; this battalion consisted of six companies each of 50 men and was under the command of Col. McDonnell.

Peterborough Rifle Company

The first military organization here, apart from these emergency militia units, was the Peterborough Rifle Company with W. A. Scott as captain, who held the command until May, 1861, when Edwin Poole was appointed to the captaincy. This company was first organized in April, 1857 and in May of that year the local paper announced that the Rifle Company would meet for drill at the Town Hall on Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings, also on Monday and Friday evenings.

But, reverting to matters more incidental to the Rebellion, it is regretted that the names of these early volunteers are not on record; there were no official muster rolls as there were in subsequent expeditionary forces from here.

Naturally there were many incidents arising from the fact that many officers were appointed because of their prominence in the civil life of the community and had no military training. Often, too, dressed in a little brief authority, some of then assumed an arrogance which uniform seems to give to some men. Two residents of Ops Township were brought into Peterborough for trial on charges of alleged disloyalty. While preparations were going on for their trial, they were directed to be seated, when a gallant militia officer shouted, "No, no, rebels are not worthy to sit with loyal men," but the rebels were proven to be not guilty.

Ordered a Horse

A Mr. Darcus donned uniform and spurs, but being horseless sent a messenger to commandeer a valuable mare, the property of a prominent townsman. This was refused and the horseless cavalier sent the messenger again, with a threat that the beast would be forcibly impressed into service. The local man replied that he would hand over the animal on a written order from the Colonel. This was not forthcoming, so the cavalier was still without a horse. As a matter of fact, everything demanded by the Reformers has long since been granted or taken as a matter of course in our daily life in much the same way as the supposedly impossible demands of the Chartists in the Old Country have become part of the social and political system.

It was apparently a cardinal point in the political creed of Sir Francis Head, that the people of this colony existed for the government, rather than the government for the people. Lord Durham, in his report on the affair, said: "Common prudence and good management would have prevented the outbreak."

The Cobourg Star of February 7, 1838, published a lengthy "poem" of some 120 four-lined story and entitled "New Words to an Old Song" or "John Gilpin Travestied," of which we may quote a verse or two:

"There lived in famed Toronto town
A man not very big
. . . . . .
Mackenzie was this hero called
From Scotia's land he came.

The last verse read:

And now to Mac theres still one step
To end his life of evil,
Soon may he take the long last drop
From gibbet to the ——

Three of the middle stanzas are of local interest as Peterborough was in the Newcastle district:

"Newcastle, too, her quota sent
Of men most good and true;
In fact it was a cheering sight
Their bearing high to view.
Of Cobourg, too, I needs must sing
Which on that trying day
The fire of virtuous loyalty
Did to our eyes display.
There Conger with his company
With Calcutt and with Clarke
And Warren with his little band
Which every eye did mark."

An interesting fact as to the Peterborough itself of those days is found in the evidence of Captain Rubidge, one of the most prominent of the pioneers, who in his evidence before a parliamentary enquiry testified: "The location of Peterborough grew very rapidly and it now (1838) contains two churches, two meeting houses, over 150 houses and 900 inhabitants. In the district mills were built and much business went on with great activity."

FOUND DEAD OF GAS

BELLEVILLE, Ont., Dec. 1 (C. P.). — Leon Walmsley, member of the Parks Board and active in Masonic circles, was found dead in his garage early to-day, believed a victim of carbon monoxide gas. He was born in Belleville and connected with Walmsley's wholesale grocers. He was secretary of Eureka Lodge and member of Quinte Friendship Chapter. His widow and three children survive.

Dismissed Canadian Reinstated When Students Strike

Protesting against the dismissal of Dr. Carey K. Ganong, a Canadian and economics instructor at Kalamazoo College, Kalamazoo, Mich., students halted classes by picketing classrooms and then spent their time in dancing in one of the dormitories. Displaying militant posters the entire student body of 350 went on strike and demanded a public hearing for Dr. Ganong, dismissed by college president, Dr. Stewart Cole, allegedly because he refused to drop his Canadian citizenship and become a naturalized American. Their protests were effective and Dr. Ganong was temporarily reinstated. The Canadian instructor is pictured (at LEFT), addressing striking students, shown attending a mass meeting in the reception hall, (BELOW). At (RIGHT) some of the strikers are enjoying their dance while college heads debated Dr. Ganong's status. Dr. Ganong is a native of Jemseg, N. B., while President Cole of the college, now an American citizen, hails from Brockville, Ont.

41 SCHOOLS FIRE TRAPS

TORONTO, Dec. 17 (C.P.). — Forty-one Toronto schools do not conform with requirements of fire protection and the Board of Education has asked the Board of Control to investigate the existence of hazards.

All of the schools were built wholly or in part 30 years or more ago, a report received by the School Board yesterday indicated. Trustee Dr. W. H. Butt moved that it be sent on to Board of Control "so they will know that the responsibility in case of fire is upon them and not on us."

GOOD FOR FIVE YEARS

CALGARY, Dec. 17 (CP)—"China is prepared to fight for another five years," Dr. C. L. Chen, newly appointed Chinese Consul-General for Canada, said here last night.

Dr. Chen said: Every general, every soldier, every citizen of China believes that we will eventually defeat Japan." China, he added, could hold out indefinitely, but he feared other nations might be drawn into the conflict, especially Russia.

Franco's Agent

Studiously occupied in this London office is the Duke of Alba, official representative in England of Gen. Francisco Franco, leader of the Spanish insurgents. The duke, who also carries the British title, Duke of Berwick, was appointed when Britain agreed to an exchange of trade envoys with the insurgent regime in Spain. Opposition parties accuse the government of virtual diplomatic recognition of Franco in arranging the exchange.

The evening was an enjoyable one, with a varied program being presented by the visiting organizations whose president took the chair for their respective portions of the program. BABE IN MANGER WAS LIKE HITLER SO NAZIS EXPLAIN

BERLIN, Dec. 17 (AP)—The approach of Christmas brings out some Nazi ideas about the babe in the manger.

Christ was a Fuehrer—something like Hitler—to converted Teutons of the early days, Prof. D. Helmut Lother, of Bonn University, contends in an article in the science journal "Forschungen und Fortschritte" (reasearch and progress).

The relationship between Christ and Christianity was that of leader and followers rather than savior and worshippers, Professor Lother says, explaining:

"It was not the byzantine idea of subjection to an inexorable absolutism but that of unswerving allegiance to a freely chosen fuehrer which prevailed."

This, the writer holds, was a truly Germanic conception of Christ.

That Jesus was not a Jew is the burden of an argument in Jew-baiter Julius Streicher's publication, "Steurmer."

Jesus was a Galilean, this article asserts; one of a tribe which, according to the writer, was racially non-Jewish and which the true Jews never acknowledged as one of themselves although both worshipped Jehovah.

NO MORE BILIOUSNESS!

Experience of Ontario Woman

Wouldn't you like to be entirely free of headaches, biliousness, constipation, constant lassitude? "Since I was 15 years old," says Mrs. W. S., Guelph, Ont., "I was subject to bilious attacks lasting for days—so severe I would have to go to bed. I got little relief until I started Fruit-a-tives. Then I gained health. Biliousness was entirely checked. I suffered with Eczema and this disappeared too." Poor liver action causes biliousness, and other ills. Fruit-a-tives bring quick relief and lasting liver health. AND NOW TWO SMALLER CRATCHITS CAME TEARING IN, SCREAMING THAT OUTSIDE THE BAKER'S THEY HAD SMELLED THE GOOSE, AND, BASKING IN LUXURIOUS THOUGHTS OF SAGE-AND-ONION, THESE YOUNG CRATCHITS DANCED AROUND THE TABLE.

"OH, OH, THERE'S FATHER!" CRIED THE YOUNG CRATCHITS. AND IN CAME BOB CRATCHIT BEARING TINY TIM UPON HIS SHOULDER. TINY TIM BORE A LITTLE CRUTCH, AND HAD HIS LEGS SUPPORTED BY IRON BRACES.

BELIEVE ALCATRAZ CONVICTS DROWNED

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 17 (AP)—Warden James A. Johnston said today he believes two southwestern desperadoes who vanished from Alcatraz Island's "escape proof" prison drowned in racing waters of San Francisco Bay.

The men, Ralph Roe, 29, of Duncan, Okla., and Theodore Cole, of Stroud, Okla., escaped yesterday from the bleak penitentiary for incorrigible federal prisoners.

"Serving terms tantamount to life imprisonment, it is may belief they decided to take a desperate chance and that they had no outside aid," Johnson said. "I believe they drowned and their bodies were swept out toward the gold gate."

The escape recalled to Warden Jess Dunn of Oklahoma's McAlester Penitentiary that when Cole was ordered to Alcatraz he boasted to fellow convicts:

"I don't think I'll like the island, doubt if I'll stay there long enough to be bored."

Roe was serving 99 years for bank robbery, Cole 50 years for kidnapping.

"Both men were in good health," Johnston said, "but neither one would have had a chance at swimming that bay."

One of the worst ebb-tides of the season swirled the numbing waters when the men disappeared. The mainland is a mile and a quarter away.

Coast guard cutters and police boats, however, prowled the murky inlets of the bay on the chance the men had reached the island, believing the convicts may be hiding in one of its many caves or hollows.

NO BURGLARS HERE?

INGERSOLL, Ont., Dec. 17 (CP)—Police Chief Callander reports local merchants getting careless about leaving their stores unlocked. In 10 days, 13 stores were found open. Another businessman locked up for the night but left a goodly display of merchandise outside.

Shanghai Commander Is Executed

Shanghai, Dec. 17 (CP-Havas)

GENERAL Yang Hu, Shanghai garrison commander until the Chinese retreat November 10, has been executed by order of Premier Chiang Kai-Shek on charges of "corruption, indiscipline and cowardice," it was reported here today.

For a decade Yang was Chiang's chief lieutenant in the repression of communists and other opponents of the regime.

TWO YEARS ADDED

OTTAWA, Dec. 17—(CP).—Laurier Larocque and George Richer, Ottawa, and John Farr, Brantford, Ont., sentenced last week to 10 years each in Kingston Penitentiary, yesterday were given two years more each by Magistrate Glen Strike for breaking out of the Burwash, Ont., industrial farm and escaping custody.

Last week Larocque and Farr were sentenced here to 10 years each for the armed holdup of an Ottawa drug store, and, along with Richer, to another 10 years for shop-breaking at L'Orignal, Ont. The sentences were to run concurrenly.

Admiral Dead?

ADMIRAL NAGANO

Chinese sources, as yet unrefuted, recently reported the death of Admiral Osami Nagano, front-ranking Japanese naval commander, from wounds received in the bombing of his flagship, the Nagato. The sources also declare that the Nagato, one of Japan's first-line battleships, was sunk. Before taking over command of the fleet Admiral Nagano was secretary of the navy in Tokio's cabinet.

Soldiers Study Trench Warfare

Here is a classroom scene in the new Imperial army school at military barracks in Shorncliffe, Kent, where commissioned officers will be taught history and geography, English, map reading and mathematics as well as general field tactics and operations. Lieut. Hingston, of the Royal Engineers, is the tutor here and he is giving to an interested group of officer-students instruction in field defence with a model of war-time trenches to illustrate his lecture.

Duchess Of Windsor's Romance Ends Movie Stars' Age Lies

Hollywood, Dec. 17 (AP)

THANKS to the Duchess of Windsor, screen stars now can tell their correct ages without losing their romantic appeal.

"In fact," said Sally Eilers today, 'it's a distinct advantage for girls in pictures to tell their correct ages. For this, we can thank the Duchess of Windsor."

Boldly claiming 29 years, Miss Eilers continued:

"I can recall when nearly every girl in pictures chopped from five to seven years off her age. If a girl was 25, she claimed 19 and the 32's tried to pass for 25's.

"Then a woman of 40 came along, became involved in one of history's greatest romances. That put an entirely new light on what might be termed the romantic age. A girl of 19 now is looked upon as little more than a child."

WATCHING ITS GIRLS

TORONTO, Dec. 17 (C.P.). — The Toronto Police Commission is putting a double check on the young ladies who attend public dances. A by-law compels them to have a male escort to gain admittance, but it was reported that many were "picking-up" eligibles at the front door.

Yesterday the Commission amended the by-law to provide a chaperon at each hall to make sure there are no more pick-ups.

Mother's Favorite For Coughs And Colds

It is hard to keep the children from taking cold. They get overheated, get their feet wet, and do a dozen things the mother cannot prevent.

Mothers should never neglect the children's coughs and colds, but on the first sign get a remedy that will give relief, and for this purpose we would highly recommend Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup.

It is so pleasant to the taste the youngsters take it without any fuss, and its promptness and effectiveness in loosening the phlegm and healing the bronchial tubes is such that the trouble is checked before anything serious may devel..

Mrs. J. Strail, Soisque, B.C., writes:—"For some years I have been using Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup for myself and family of four children. I have used lots of other kinds of cough medicine, but I like 'Dr. Wood's' best, as it acts much more quickly than any of the others."

OFFICERS CHOSEN BY GRACE W.M.S.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MILLBROOK, Dec. 17.—The W.M.S. of Grace Presbyterian church held its annual meeting on Wednesday at 3 p.m. Mrs. H. Seaton offering the hospitality of her home for the gathering.

The president, Mrs. S. E. Eakins, occupied the chair for the opening devotional service, when "Holy Night" was sung, Miss Agnes Johnston reading Luke 2, and Mrs. (Rev.) H. R. Williams offering prayer.

The roll call was answered by a verse of scripture, and the treasurer, Miss Johnston, reported total raised of 146.00, thus more than meeting the allocation of $125.00. From the balance on hand, two new life members were added to the roll, Mrs. J. D. Armstrong, and Mrs. S. Weatherup. Mrs. J. N. McGill reported 13 copies of "The Glad Tidings" taken for the current year, and Mrs. Coyte reported a bale shipped in the fall valued at $22.00.

Rev. H. R. Williams took the chair for the election of officers, the following filling the chairs for 1938:

Secretaries of departments: Welcome and welfare, Mrs. Charles Thorndyke; Supply, Mrs. Alfred Coyte; expense fund treasurer: Mrs. R. J. McMahon; Glad Tidings, Mrs. J. N. McGill; press, Miss Ruth Thorndyke; organist, Mrs. Thompson.

Before the meeting closed ten dollars was voted to the church budget; Mrs. Williams invited the society to hold its January meeting at the Manse, and the minister closed the gathering with prayer.

LOYALISTS ADVANCE

MADRID, Dec. 17 (AP).—Spanish Government forces slashing at General Franco's lower Aragon salient opened the third day of attack on Teruel with their push apparently still unchecked to-day.

The hard-pressed insurgents hastily attempted to bring reinforcements into the Teruel sectors, but were impeded by aerial attacks and the fact that the city was more than half surrounded by the government lines.

Only sketchy details of the battle—fought in a raging snowstorm—were made public here.

POPULAR COURSES

GUELPH, Ont., Dec. 17 (CP) — More than 600 are expected to attend short courses at the Ontario Agricultural College starting right after Christmas and continuing to Jan. 7. Regular O.A.C. students will resume classes Jan. 10.

TOKYO CRITICIZES RUSSIAN ARRESTS

TOKYO, Dec. 17 (AP)—The Japanese foreign office today formally charged the Soviet Union with acting in a manner "utterly unthinkable in any civilized country" in connection with arrests of Japanese in Russia.

The foreign office protested to the Soviet embassy, citing what Japan called numerous cases in which Soviet authorities had arrested Japanese and held them without trial.

A memorandum accompanying the protest said Japan wished a "responsible" answer.

Almost concurrently the Tokyo newspaper Yomiuri charged that Russia was continuing to strengthen her military forces at Vladivostok, Russia's far eastern seaport.

Russia was adding two cruisers, 18 submarines and six destroyers to the port next week, Yomiuri asserted. The newspaper added the Moscow government moved 600 pilots and 100 planes to Vladivostok last week.

HOLLYWOOD.—As much as they like adulation, Hollywood celebrities are developing a real terror of crowds. Claudette Colbert plans a trip to Europe as soon as she finishes "Bluebeard's Eighth Wife." She tells everyone she will go to New York on the Super-Chief and sail on the Normandie. Actually, she will do nothing of the kind. Her maid and secretary will occupy these reservations. The star herself will go to some other port on the Atlantic seaboard and sail to Europe on a small ship.

I asked Carole Lombard the other day where she will spend her next vacation. "Probably right here in southern California," she said. "There is no use going to other places. Not if you need rest. The crowds mob you."

Ribbers in the "Happy Landing" company are making Caesar Romero's life a thing of misery. The other afternoon he received three cases of Scotch from "an admirer." After he had distributed most of it around the set, a messenger came with the bill. It had been charged to Romero. The pay-off came though, when the ribbers sent 14 Chinese laundrymen to the star's home to pick up his dirty clothes.

The Hays office very nearly broke up the song-writing team of Dick Whiting and Johnny Mercer. The boys were doing the music for "Hollywood Hotel" and planned a satirical number called "Hooray for Hollywood." But as fast as Mercer wrote a set of lyrics, the Hays office would turn them down as detrimental to the industry. When he received the eighteenth rejection, Mercer blew up. He rewrote the lyrics once more, then dictated a letter of resignation and disappeared.

Warners delegated Whiting to find him and he finally did—just as news came through that the lyrics were accepted at last.

Doctors have sent Warner Oland to Phoenix with orders not to return until he has recovered from a stubborn cold. The Swedish actor is worn out from seven years of playing Charlie Chan on the screen. His next picture, "Charlie Chan on the Nile," will bring the series up to 17 pictures.

Benchley had been back about a week when Smith received a telegram: "Whom did you ask me to look up in New York?"

Smith wired back as follows: "The man's name is George S. Kaufman. Yours is Benchley."

On the eve of his departure for and engagement at the Cotton Club, Bill Robinson shelled out $300 to buy uniforms and equipment for 10 boys on the Central Ave basketball team that he has been coaching. Then he gave them another $200 for traveling expenses in case they could get games with other negro teams in California.

We'd like to tell you about another Anne Shirley. The actress just wrote a check for $100 as a starter on a fund to aid struggling young players. She'll keep on adding to it from time to time.

Anne, who knew plenty of lean days before she got a break in pictures, says about the fund: "Often, if an actress had a new dress to wear to an interview, it will mean the difference between getting a job and not. Or a few week's expense money, until a call comes through, may help some deserving young player get the break that means success."

Chatter . . . In case the city desks are interested, Mrs. Stokowski flew here for one day. She was at the Kreutzberg dance recital. . . . Bert Lahr is entertaining Hollywood with a ragamuffin party. Most of the invited guests are well on their way to their first million . . . The Ozzie Nelson opening at Victor Hugo's was so big the late spots are hoping that good times are here again. Among the interesting twosomes there: Sonja Henie with Vic Orsatti and Wendy Barrie with Billy Seymour . . . . Hit of the evening was a group of youngsters who suddenly dashed among the dancers and started doing the big apple . . . The celebs formed in a circle and cheered and whistled . . . . Almost unnoticed at this opening was William Fox, not so long ago one of the giants of the industry.

HOLLYWOOD.—The world's most travelled boy has "arrived" in Hollywood.

His was a roundabout route, but cinema authorities admit today that 14-year-old Ronald Sinclair of New Zealand has definitely arrived, figuratively as well as literally.

The son of Arthur Hould, a South Seas shipping man, Ronald has sailed approximately 200,000 miles. He is familiar with the shaggy masters of rusty South Seas tramps, copra traders and sleek white liners. The boy has a working knowledge of the principles of navigation and has lived for weeks on end beyond sight of land.

Now, on the way to stardom in films, one of his first ambitions is to own a craft of any sort and sail off the coast of California.

Until 18 months ago, when he sailed from New Zealand on the occasion of his 12th birthday, this globe trotting youngster was Richard Arthur Hould. They changed his name in Hollywood because Ronald Sinclair is shorter and fits more compactly in the marquee lights.

Ronald was chosen to play the role of a British lad, scion of a racing family, in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "Thoroughbreds Don't Cry," with Judy Garland, Sophie Tucker and Mickey Rooney. Now he is a student at the studio school, preparing for his next role under a long-term contract. The boy made his screen debut in "Beloved Enemy," with Merle Oberon, immediately after his arrival in Hollywood. He appeared in several other films before M-G-M opened the way to more important roles.

He is a slim, dark-haired boy, with hazel eyes and a complexion that has been touched by the salt winds of the South Seas.

"Whatever happens in Hollywood," Ronald said, "I'll go back to the sea some time. I fancy I'll never really get away from it. You see, my father took me on so many voyages from New Zealand, I feel as though I've always been at sea."

He paused thoughtfully.

"Unless I'm mistaken," he resumed, "the navigators made it thirteen thousand miles from Sydney to London. That's by way of Columbo and Port Said, of course. The regular route. We've made the round passage half a dozen times and then there was a great deal of sailing to other ports."

His eyes sparkled darkly at the memory.

"You're counting the trip across to this side?" he was asked.

"Oh, that? Yes, of course. We crossed on a liner. It's more fun aboard a tramp down home. They wallow like the very deuce. You're permitted on the bridge, too, and that's fun. The liners—well, they're grand smooth sailing."

Ronald laughed and added a bit of his philosophy.

"I should like," he said, "to earn enough money for first-class passage on a de luxe liner—and sail on a tramp."

Ronald's father served as general manager of the New Zealand Shipping Co. in Auckland, Christchurch and Dunedin, for 40 years, in charge of direct trade to London. His grandfather, Richard Arthur Hould, was one of the pioneer settlers in New Zealand and later became a government official. His mother, Amy Beatrice Hould, was a nurse as the famous Croydon General hospital in London, but the theatre was her avocation.

Born in Dunedin, the boy made his first public appearance at the age of four. He was destined for a shipping career until Dame Sibyl Thorndyke, distinguished British actress, saw him in Dunedin and selected him for a role in her play, "Medea." Through her influence, Ronald came to Hollywood.

The two-page layout (in a current picture magazine) showing all the girls with whom Millionaire Howard Hughes has been reported as romancing, gave the ribbers another excuse to bedevil Katharine Hepburn. Kate is there, along with Ida Lupino, Frances Drake, Ginger Rogers, Lillian Bond, Marian Marsh, Timmy Lansing and several other beauties who have, at one time or another, received the attentions of the wealthy aviator and ex-Hollywood producer.

As soon as the magazine hit the street, Cary Grant bought 50 copies. All day long, he had them delivered to La Hepburn on the "Bringing Up Baby" set.

Here is the kind of Hollwood story we like to tell. Leo Carillo invited 100 crippled youngsters from the Milton Berry Institute to visit his ranch and see a rodeo and a circus. He also staged an open-air barbecue for the kids. Many were stretcher cases who had to be brought to the ranch in ambulances.

Ace Announcer

DON WILSON

Don Wilson, radio announcer, known for his distinctive plugging for his sponsor, is also a stellar sports announcer. Born in Lincoln, Neb., on Sept. 1, 1900, his family shortly moved to Denver, where Don spent most of his youth and attended the University of Colorado. Following graduation he became a salesman and spent his spare time singing with a harmony trio. Meeting with some success, the trio made a tour of mountain states and eventually arrived in Los Angeles, where Wilson obtained a post as announcer at KFI. He has now achieved a wide popularity for his broadcasts of athletic events, particularly football.

Radio Comedian

FRED ALLEN

Fred Allen, radio comedian, is one of the few microphone humorists who write their own continuity. He was born John F. Sullivan on May 31, 1894, in Cambridge, Mass. As a small boy he worked in the Boston public library for 20 cents an hour, and he once had the pleasure of taking a copy of a magazine to the great pugilist John L. Sullivan. He also practiced jugging, but failed to win many prizes in the contests he entered. He kept on juggling, however, journeyed to Australia, returned in time to join the A.E.F. and married Portland Hoffa after he returned from the war. Allen scored hits in "Little Show" and "Three's a Crowd." In addition to the intensive work he does on his own programs, he writes gags for

Radio Veteran

VIRGINIA VERRILL

Virgina Verrill, one of radio's veteran performers, is often called the "rhythm songstress of California". Before her national network connections she sang on a popular California program which also served Bing Crosby and the Boswell Sisters as a stepping stone to greater success. Prior to her actual appearance in a movie, Virginia Verrill filled numerous engagements dubbing in the singing parts for movie stars. She made her vaudeville debut at the age of five, her radio debut at the age of 12, and now, although she is only 20 years of age, she has appeared in 11 radio series.

On the eve of his departure for and engagement at the Cotton Club, Bill Robinson shelled out $300 to buy uniforms and equipment for 10 boys on the Central Ave basketball team that he has been coaching. Then he gave them another $200 for traveling expenses in case they could get games with other negro teams in California.

We'd like to tell you about another Anne Shirley. The actress just wrote a check for $100 as a starter on a fund to aid struggling young players. She'll keep on adding to it from time to time.

Anne, who knew plenty of lean days before she got a break in pictures, says about the fund: "Often, if an actress had a new dress to wear to an interview, it will mean the difference between getting a job and not. Or a few week's expense money, until a call comes through, may help some deserving young player get the break that means success."

HOLLYWOOD.—The world's most travelled boy has "arrived" in Hollywood.

His was a roundabout route, but cinema authorities admit today that 14-year-old Ronald Sinclair of New Zealand has definitely arrived, figuratively as well as literally.

The son of Arthur Hould, a South Seas shipping man, Ronald has sailed approximately 200,000 miles. He is familiar with the shaggy masters of rusty South Seas tramps, copra traders and sleek white liners. The boy has a working knowledge of the principles of navigation and has lived for weeks on end beyond sight of land.

Now, on the way to stardom in films, one of his first ambitions is to own a craft of any sort and sail off the coast of California.

Until 18 months ago, when he sailed from New Zealand on the occasion of his 12th birthday, this globe trotting youngster was Richard Arthur Hould. They changed his name in Hollywood because Ronald Sinclair is shorter and fits more compactly in the marquee lights.

Ronald was chosen to play the role of a British lad, scion of a racing family, in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "Thoroughbreds Don't Cry," with Judy Garland, Sophie Tucker and Mickey Rooney. Now he is a student at the studio school, preparing for his next role under a long-term contract. The boy made his screen debut in "Beloved Enemy," with Merle Oberon, immediately after his arrival in Hollywood. He appeared in several other films before M-G-M opened the way to more important roles.

He is a slim, dark-haired boy, with hazel eyes and a complexion that has been touched by the salt winds of the South Seas.

"Whatever happens in Hollywood," Ronald said, "I'll go back to the sea some time. I fancy I'll never really get away from it. You see, my father took me on so many voyages from New Zealand, I feel as though I've always been at sea."

He paused thoughtfully.

"Unless I'm mistaken," he resumed, "the navigators made it thirteen thousand miles from Sydney to London. That's by way of Columbo and Port Said, of course. The regular route. We've made the round passage half a dozen times and then there was a great deal of sailing to other ports."

His eyes sparkled darkly at the memory.

"You're counting the trip across to this side?" he was asked.

"Oh, that? Yes, of course. We crossed on a liner. It's more fun aboard a tramp down home. They wallow like the very deuce. You're permitted on the bridge, too, and that's fun. The liners—well, they're grand smooth sailing."

Ronald laughed and added a bit of his philosophy.

"I should like," he said, "to earn enough money for first-class passage on a de luxe liner—and sail on a tramp."

Ronald's father served as general manager of the New Zealand Shipping Co. in Auckland, Christchurch and Dunedin, for 40 years, in charge of direct trade to London. His grandfather, Richard Arthur Hould, was one of the pioneer settlers in New Zealand and later became a government official. His mother, Amy Beatrice Hould, was a nurse as the famous Croydon General hospital in London, but the theatre was her avocation.

Born in Dunedin, the boy made his first public appearance at the age of four. He was destined for a shipping career until Dame Sibyl Thorndyke, distinguished British actress, saw him in Dunedin and selected him for a role in her play, "Medea." Through her influence, Ronald came to Hollywood.

The two-page layout (in a current picture magazine) showing all the girls with whom Millionaire Howard Hughes has been reported as romancing, gave the ribbers another excuse to bedevil Katharine Hepburn. Kate is there, along with Ida Lupino, Frances Drake, Ginger Rogers, Lillian Bond, Marian Marsh, Timmy Lansing and several other beauties who have, at one time or another, received the attentions of the wealthy aviator and ex-Hollywood producer.

As soon as the magazine hit the street, Cary Grant bought 50 copies. All day long, he had them delivered to Ka Hepburn on the "Bringing Up Baby" set.

Here is the kind of Hollwood story we like to tell. Leo Carillo invited 100 crippled youngsters from the Milton Berry Institute to visit his ranch and see a rodeo and a circus. He also staged an open-air barbecue for the kids. Many were stretcher cases who had to be brought to the ranch in ambulances.

DON WILSON

Don Wilson, radio announcer, known for his distinctive plugging for his sponsor, is also a stellar sports announcer. Born in Lincoln, Neb., on Sept. 1, 1900, his family shortly moved to Denver, where Don spent most of his youth and attended the University of Colorado. Following graduation he became a salesman and spent his spare time singing with a harmony trio. Meeting with some success, the trio made a tour of mountain states and eventually arrived in Los Angeles, where Wilson obtained a post as announcer at KFI. He has now achieved a wide popularity for his broadcasts of athletic events, particularly football.

As a small boy he worked in the Boston public library for 20 cents an hour, and he once had the pleasure of taking a copy of a magazine to the great pugilist John L. Sullivan. He also practiced juggling, but failed to win many prizes in the contests he entered. He kept on juggling, however, journeyed to Australia, returned in time to join the A.E.F. and married Portland Hoffa after he returned from the war. Allen scored hits in "Little Show" and "Three's a Crowd." In addition to the intensive work he does on his own programs, he writes gags for

VIRGINIA VERRILL

Virgina Verrill, one of radio's veteran performers, is often called the "rhythm songstress of California". Before her national network connections she sang on a popular California program which also served Bing Crosby and the Boswell Sisters as a stepping stone to greater success. Prior to her actual appearance in a movie, Virginia Verrill filled numerous engagements dubbing in the singing parts for movie stars. She made her vaudeville debut at the age of five, her radio debut at the age of 12, and now, although she is only 20 years of age, she has appeared in 11 radio series.

GRIMM'S SOLE PILOT OF CUBS ON FIELD

Chicago Cubs Owner Explodes Rumors Of Club Managership, Grimm Is Sole Boss On Field

Hartnett Will Help Run Team, While Lazzeri To Enforce Discipline

CHICAGO, Dec. 17—Outsiders in the baseball world may think the Chicago Cubs are sitting on a keg of dynamite because of their "mysterious" board of strategy, but the big man on the inside, Owner P. K. Wrigley, is inclined to inquire, "What's all the shooting about?"

The baseball rumors makers are inclined to call the Cubs "the team with three managers — Charlie Grimm, Tony Lazzeri and Gabby Hartnett."

In a frank discussion of the Cubs' situation today Wrigley exploded that rumor higher than a kite.

"Grimm is the sole manager of the Cubs," said Wrigley. "He's the boss of everything that goes on as far as the playing field is concerned. No one is going to second guess him behind his back. If a problem comes up we all may sit down together and discuss it, but Grimm will be there if and when that happens.

Hartnett Inspirational Leader

"As for Hartnett, he will have more authority than in the past, but he will work under Grimm. I hope Hartnett doesn't have to catch much next year, and that he can aid Grimm in running the team. Hartnett isn't equipped at this time to become a manager, but he is a fine inspirational leader, and can be of great value to the team.

"Now about Lazzeri. I hired him to help Grimm as a coach, and as insurance for the infield. I hope he doesn't have to play at all because I believe his best work will be in aiding Grimm. Grimm has failed at enforcing discipline on the Cubs and admits this himself. Hartnett can't do it because of his close association with the players for years. Now I expect Lazzeri to crack down when the situation calls for discipline, and I believe Grimm plans to give him full authority along this line. But the final say so is up to Grimm."

Wrigley was asked if he didn't think the situation was likely to cause trouble—something like "too many cooks spoil the broth."

"I positively do not," said Wrigley, "because I think that every one concerned, including the players, understood what's expected of them. I think Grimm, Hartnett and Lazzeri all understood pretty well what I want them to do, and there's work for all of them. Nobody's working for anybody else.

Almost Replaced Grimm.

"I expect disagreements, because we've had too many 'yes men' in the past. There's no reason why a baseball manager can't take advice from some one the same as in business. In the gum business, Vice-Presidents frequently disagree with my ideas and we sit down and work out the best solution. In principle we ought to be able to do the same thing with the Cubs."

During the discussion, Wrigley revealed that late last season he flew East to find out what the trouble was with the Cubs, and had virtually made up his mind to change managers.

"I had just about decided to replace Grimm," said Wrigley, "and I believe now that the Cubs probably would have won the pennant if I had promoted Hartnett to Grimm's job. But that would have been only a shot in the arm. It wouldn't have solved our situation.

"We are trying to build an organization. It can't be done by the usual baseball formula of firing a manager every time the club doesn't win a pennant. That won't be our way. I don't say Grimm is the greatest manager in the world, but I don't know who is. I believe that our new setup, with Hartnett and Lazzeri working under Grimm, will prove a big step in the right direction. We are not going to sit tight and worry about what outsiders think. Our job is to build a winning ball club, and we are all working in that direction."

Fortune's Fickleness On Turf Is Clearly Disputed In Year

Death Of Sir Barton And Banishment Of Crusader Are Examples

If the proposition ever required proving, 1937 has furnished adequate evidence that fortune can be mighty fickle on the turf. The past several months have seen the deaths of High Time and Sir Barton, but under vastly different circumstances. They also have witnessed the banishment of Crusader from the tribe of his fathers.

High Time and Sir Barton both were immortal, but their careers were entirely different. Both gained glory but in separate ways, and the trail of the one ended in tragedy. High Time was an utter failure as a race horse, winning only once in a half dozen starts.

Sir Barton was one of the greatest 3-year-olds of all time, bagging 13 races in all, and $116,607. A strange quirk in his record was that he was unable to prevail at two, and then scored his first victory in the Kentucky Derby of 1919. Sir Barton was a son of imported Star Shoot, one of the more phenomenal stallions of all time, from the grand producing matron, Lary Sterling, by Hanover.

Passing Unnoticed.

With such a beginning, it was believed that Sir Barton would be a great sire, but he wasn't. So a few years ago, proud Sir Barton was quietly sold to the United States Remount Service for a price said to be under $500. He was shipped to Wyoming, and there the one-time king of the turf died a few weeks ago, his passing receiving no notice from any of the thousands who cheered his brilliant races.

High Time, on the other hand, was unsound. He was a coarse, roly-poly sort of animal, about as highly inbred as it is possible to get a horse. But he represented the finest of American speed lines. And then High Time's first crop brought out the sensational gelding, Sarazen, one of the foremost unsexed horses in the racing history of the U. S. Sarazen "made" High Time, which thereafter got the pick of the mares, and though he never got another Sarazen, his juveniles had blazing swiftness, and won literally millions of dollars. High Time's death was mourned with loud wailing.

Banished to California.

Crusader is another with which fortune dealt poorly. Here was a perfectly built and actioned son of Man o' War. Here also was one of the grandest cup hopes of all time. But like Sir Barton, Crusader carried the blood of Star Shoot, and this now is supposed to be a curse in breeding. Also, Crusader stood in the shadow of Man o' War, and his chances have been almost nil. So now Crusader has been shipped down the river, that is, he has been leased to interests in California. Crusader will get his first real opportunity as a stallion in California, however. He is still young, and maybe out there is the sunshine of the Golden State, this horse will make good.

Weather Threatens Scottish Circuit

GLASGOW, Dec. 17.—(CP Cable.)—(CP Cable.)—Wintry conditions prevail throughout Scotland, threatening many soccer matches scheduled for to-morrow. Several grounds resemble skating rinks and postponements are likely to be more numerous than last Saturday when play was impossible in 11 Scottish League matches.

Reports indicate that all the Glasgow grounds to-day are unfit for play. Fir Park, home of Motherwell, is a sheet of ice while at Falkirk the pitch has been sanded in the hope that play will be possible in the match with St. Mirren.

Church Hockey Rules

Rules and Regulations for 1937-1937 are as follows:

1—All entry forms must be in the hands of the executive by December 27, accompanied by the entry fee and bond. Any team not furnishing all three cannot be expected to be entered and will be left out of the schedule. (a) Senior and Junior sections $2.00 per team; (b) Juvenile and Midget sections $1.50 per team. Each team must furnish a $2.00 bond, which will be returned at the end of the season if the team fulfills the schedule and abides by these rules.

2—All teams entering must agree on the decisions made by the executive in regard to the league rules. The executive reserves the right to inspect the Sunday School attendance records of any player.

3—Teams can enter as many names on the playing list as they wish. The executive will decide the time and place of the games.

4—The ages of the players are as follows:

Midget Section: All under 15 by January 1, 1938.

Juvenile Section: All under 17 by January 1, 1938.

Junior Section: All under 20 by January 1, 1938.

Intermediate Section: No age limit.

5—Players must be regular attendants of the Sunday School or church religious organization for which they wish to play. A player may be ruled off by the executive for any decided period who does not live up to these rules.

6—Players wishing to change from one church to another must stay out of church hockey for one year, except where the change is due to "residential" reasons.

7—A player is allowed to play two games in a higher section without becoming a member of the team. If he continues in that section he becomes a member and cannot return to his former team.

8—O.H.A. players are ineligible to play on any Church Hockey League section team.

9—O.H.A. rules shall govern all plays with the following exceptions:

(a) Body checking is only allowable in the defence zones.

(b) The penalty shot rule will not be used.

(c) Overtime will be allowed in the finals, and then only two five-minute periods.

10—The Peterborough Church Hockey League is not financially responsible for any injuries to players competing in Church Hockey League games.

11—All protests must be made in written form to any member of the executive within forty-eight hours of the protested game.

3 TEAMS DEFINITE IN RURAL LEAGUE

(Examiner Correspondence.)

NORWOOD, Dec. 17.—With representatives present from Havelock, Warsaw, Campbellford, Hastings and Norwood, a meeting was held here Wednesday night for the purpose of electing officers for East Peterborough Junior "C" Hockey League, now affiliated with O.H.A.

Officers elected were: Roddy Webb, Norwood, president; Everett Sloan, Warsaw, vice-president; Art Hamblin, Norwood, secretary-treasurer.

Three teams comprise the league so far: Hastings, Norwood and Warsaw. Campbellford delegates were undecided as to whether they would enter a team, but promised to notify them within two days.

It was agreed that each team leave $4 on deposit with the league as a default's fine. This would be returned at the close of the hockey season. A second ruling was that a team who could not play a scheduled game must let the other team know by 4 p.m. of the day it was to have been played.

The E.P.L. Junior schedule will be drawn up in Norwood on Wednesday night, December 22.

SPORTS DAY BY DAY

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Cuckle or Two

By CEC. PERDUE

DURING A workout in the "Y" pool a few nights ago, Stan McBride lowered the existing city tank record of 21 seconds, held jointly by Bill Gerow and Jim Seymour, for the 40-yard free style event. McBride's time was 20 seconds flat as he chipped a full second off the previous high—or is it low?—mark. Besides making fine progress in his swimming, the same Stan is working like a Trojan-attired-in-swim-togs on the diving board and Gord Minty, "Y" swim coach, has hopes of a city title for him in the not too distant future. We just thought we would toss in a bit of swim chatter to start off today's column what with frostbite, puck coverage, Xmas shopping and so many other seasonal worries upon us.

* * * * *

THE "Y" pre-seasonal cage loop, before the regular senior basketball circuit gets under way, starts tomorrow e'en. Six teams are in and all see action Saturday p.m. at the Y.M.C.A., Bears meeting the Rhinos at eight, Tigers tangling with Lions at 8.45, and Seals playing the Chimps at 9.30. List of players in the league is in tonight and shows a bunch of gees who have made names in baseball, hockey and rugby. Guys like Cliff Cadd, Coughlin, Red Creighton, Grosse, Csumrick, Thorburn, Magee, Marsh, Jakafby, Kingdon, Spencely, and a bunch of others. Teams are selected so as to be quite evenly matched.

* * * * *

ST. JOHN'S Ambulance Brigade is always willing to send two or more men for first aid work to any sports event in the city. Application has only to be made to Divisional Superintendent L. E. Tomkins, 57 Aylmer street. These men have first aid kits with them on duty and are fully trained for accidents. There is nearly always one or two St. John's men on hand at hockey games at the Brock St. rink during the winter and they have helped a lot when players were out, knocked out or—as occasionally occurs—suffered a fracture. And they do not charge for their services.

* * * * *

WE HAVE heard that puck officials here have been considering an exhibition tussle at the Brock about the middle of next week between O.H.A. imports to this city on one side and most of last year's Petes on the other—with maybe a few switches here and there. Counting Whitton and Loucks, there are about 10 newcomers in hockey here, and such a game would give coaches and fans a line on the players, and give the puckists of both sides an excellent workout. It is just a thought yet and, of course, must depend on when the ice will be ready.

* * * * *

TWO OF our O.H.A. schedules were drawn up last night at a puck meeting in Belleville, Harley Weir, Ernie Wolff and Pat Hayden representing the Peterborough interests. In the senior "B" setup, the Petes, Fliers and Belleville play a double schedule all around, whereas the Queen's team in this group just plays a single schedule with the other squads. Meaning, for instance, the Redmen and Fliers will each appear here twice during the schedule but the Queen's U. outfit will only show up here once. Petes open it up in Belleville on December 27th, which is a week from next Monday. First home game is Jan. 7th when Fliers come here. The group ends Feb. 14th, with playoffs then commencing. It is not a perfect schedule but should serve—though we'd sooner see home senior "B" scraps here on Tuesdays and Fridays instead of the present idea of Wednesdays and Fridays. Wednesday isn't such a hot hockey night here.

* * * * *

OUR O.H.A. junior "B" group of Havelock, Belleville and the Colts, will operate with a single schedule, each team playing on the others ice once, with the top two then playing off at the end. Havelock opens it up in Belleville on Dec. 30th, and the Quinte crew come here Jan. 4th. It ends Jan. 26th. This is a pretty brief schedule and doesn't give the Colts any too many tilts to get in shape for playoffs—and maybe playdowns. However, the group is small and then the local officers felt that there might be too much hockey here with three O.H.A. teams operating. They have hopes of the Colts keeping in good shape through their group and winning out to advance into the playdowns at an early date, hitting their real stride just when the chips are down. With such a poor grouping you can't expect an ideal listing of games. And don't forget other clubs have their say-so, too, at these schedule meetings.

* * * * *

THOSE BELLEVILLE Redmen—selected from Greater Belleville—are sailing merrily ahead in the VanHorne series in Kingston, knocking off the Kingston City Club team, 4-0, the other eve to go into a second place tie, right back of the Fliers. Wink Wilson of Napanee got two goals and Clayt Jackson—is it Deseronto?—tapped two more in. Young Walt Gerow of Napanee was used also and turned in a fine effort. This is how the Redmen line up these days: Goal, Watt; defence, Bentley and Murphy; centre, C. Jackson; wings, Gerow and Wilson; alternates, Storms, Baines, McGuire, W. Jackson and Johnson.

* * * * *

NOT MUCH news on the Church Hockey League just now, as the closing date for entries is not till Dec. 27th. Ought to be close to 20 teams in, we imagine, by that time. Some 50 entry forms have been sent out by the secretary, with accompanying rules for this winter. More are available by phoning 441. There is a place on the form for the names of suggested referees, and club managers should use it. As for Church Cage Loop, these are the last games (this Saturday night at the "Y") to be played until Jan. 8: George St. Bantams vs. St. Andrew's at 6.30, St. John's Juniors vs. St. Paul's at 7.15. St. Paul's, last year champs of the 'Y' House Loop and O.C.B.A. junior finalists two years back, are entering the Ontario church cage association intermediate 'B' playdowns. They plan also to use the O.C.B.A. affiliation with the Provincial association to advance into Provincial playdowns if they should win out in O.C.B.A. competition.

* * * * *

OBSERVATION PLATFORM: We hear Orfuns got out of the red financially this season, owing to one good gate here—that tilt with Dundas . . . . Ice is taking a beating this mild weather at the Brock; no hockey practises for awhile . . . . Southend Intermediate Hockey League has a meeting at eight tonight at the Sacred Heart rink . . . . After the final cage contest Sat'day eve in the Y.M.C.A., a dance will be held in the gym . . . . Cobourg expects Jack Mitchell, utility catcher at Oshawa last summer, will return to his Lakeshore home . . . . Archie Campbell of Cobourg suffered a busted collar bone in a puck practise there the other night when he collided with Mike Meikle, grid kicker . . . . Some of those L.O.B.A. gals' cage scraps, with Westclox and C.G.E. representing Peterborough, will be staged at the Y.W. here and some at the local Y.M. gym . . . . Our O.H.A. Intermediate Bees can get busy on their schedule now; we hope they line up a home game earlier than our Senior 'B' crew and Junior 'B'—both being a bit late . . . . If the Colts cop their group they will meet Kingston first in playdowns . . . . P.C.I. rugby champs will receive rings as gifts of the school . . . . Covert shone for the GM-men a few nights ago as they swamped Port Colborne Sailors . . . . And an Xmas wish to a grid gladiator: Many slap-happy returns of the day!

Third - Place Hawks Trim Hapless Detroit Wings 3-1 In Chicago

TORONTO, Dec. 17.—(CP)—From now on the rest of the National League can worry about how to match wits with Lester Patrick, the silver fox who made hockey big business—with capital B's—in New York.

It will take more than a few shots in the arm to keep any team level with Patrick's Rangers. In three years he has organized a system of player development that should keep the club stocked with first-rate material for many years.

Last spring he saw his plans begin to produce results when the teams reached Stanley Cup finals. Last night Lester, the far-seeing, smiled as Rangers stepped to the head of their division by defeating New York Americans 2-0. The Bluecoats have arrived and will be hard to dislodge.

Rangers Top Bruins.

Rangers went a point ahead of Boston's idle Bruins, while the third place Chicago Black Hawks were doing the usual thing by trimming Detroit's hapless Red Wings 3-1 in Chicago.

In the other section-Toronto Maple Leafs advanced to within a point of the leading Canadiens by skating to a 4-2 decision over the Habitant club at Montreal.

Much has been said about the experience of the eminent Americans, but it didn't count a great deal when Rangers scored their fifth straight win and Dave Kerr, one of the few who didn't climb the Patrick ladder to get where he is, recorded his fifth shutout.

Another crowd of 15,000 watched as Lynn Patrick broke from an Amerk power play to score the first goal while Rangers were short-handed in the opening period. Neil Colville capped the contest with a score in the late seconds.

Charlie Conacher was prevented by close checking from getting away many of his famous blue line drives at Montreal, so he barged through the defence twice to push the puck past Wilf Cude.

Gets Canadiens' Goals.

Aurel Joliat got both Canadiens' goals, levelling the score at 1-1 in the second. But Red Horner put Toronto ahead to stay in the third and Conacher got his second goal before Joliat baged his second. Nick Metz ended the thorough beating of a team that was handicapped through the absence of injured

Strong Regina Team Comes East For Tilt

HAMILTON, Ont., Dec. 17—(CP)—There's never been any doubt about the parity of Western Junior football with that played in the East, so a humdinger of a game is expected here Saturday when Regina Dales meet up with Hamilton Italo-Canadians for the Canadian Junior championship.

For years until the Western Conference became mighty powerful, Eastern Senior teams had it all over their section rivals. But it was never that way among the Juniors. They breed and develop just as good little fellows in Moose Jaw, Regina and Winnipeg as they do in Hamilton, Toronto, Ottawa and St. Thomas.

Though the East has won five of six Junior finals, only one has been decided by more than six points. In 1928 another Regina team won for the West its only championship when they beat St. Thomas Yellow Jackets, 9-6. The last National Junior title was won in 1932 by University of Toronto defeating Moose Jaw, 8-6.

Lewis Through

After 31 years of competition in the grunt and groan game, Ed. "Strangler" Lewis, ABOVE, has definitely decided to retire. He has wrestled in more than 6,000 matches and has grossed more money at the gates than any other one athlete in the history of sports. Apart from this, he's saved enough cash to live a life of peace, comfort and pleasure at the age of 47.

George Mantha, the league's No. 1 goal getter.

Bill Stewart has composed a Chicago line of Pete Palangio, Cully Dahlstrom and Gordon Brydson and they clicked for two goals against Detroit. Wedged between those was Doc Romnes' counter. Detroit did not reply until the third period when the Herb Lewis-Marty Barry-Larry Aurie line scored through Lewis.

N.Y. Americans Are Surprise Team Of N.H.L. This Season

New York Americans, of the National Hockey league, have greatly surprised the hockey experts this season with the brilliant showing to date. It was thought that the average age of the club was too old to be very much in the way of a Stanley Cup threat, but the Amerks have been knocking over the best clubs in the league. At this stage of the schedule, they are lying in second position in the International section of the N.H.L., with every possibility of overtaking both Toronto Maple Leafs and Montreal Canadiens, who are tied for first. Such veterans as Ching Johnston, "Hap" Day, Nels Stewart and others have been signed by Manager Mervin "Red" Dutton and molded into a comparatively dangerous hockey aggregation. Their star centreman, Dave "Sweeney" Schriner, (CENTRE), has finally hit his stride and is at present the top goal-getter on the team, nicking the twine on seven occasions. Along with Schriner are Eddie Wiseman, (RIGHT), and Tommy Anderson, (LEFT), both dangerous threats around the oppositions nets.

YALE FOOTBALLER IS PICKED "ALL" IN GRID RANKINGS

NEW YORK, Dec. 17.—For the second consecutive year, a Yale man was the only football player in the country to gain "all" All-America ranking, a compilation of twelve major mythical elevens showed yesterday.

The player was Clinton Frank, who was picked as a first-string halfback by all of the selectors. Last year, Larry Kelley, the famed Eli end, gained similar distinction.

The twelve selectors from which the consensus team was figured were: All-America Board; N.Y. Daily News, Colliers, Boston Post, N.A.N.A., N.E.A., N.Y. Sun, International News Service, N. Y. World-Telegram; Eddie Dooley, radio expert; United Press, and Associated Press.

The "All" team follows:

Ends—Charles Sweeney, Notre Dame; John Wysocki, Villanova.

Tackles—Frank Kinard, Mississippi; Edward Franco, Fordham.

Guards—Joseph Routt, Texas A. and M.; Leroy Monsky, Alabama.

Centre—Alexander Wojciechowicz, Fordham.

Backs—Clinton Frank, Yale; Byron White, Colorado; Marshall Goldberg, Pittsburg; Samuel Chapman, California.

With the exception of Monsky, the other ten men on the concensus team were the same as selected on the United Press team which was published December 1.

Remember When—

(By the Canadian Press.)

Professional hockey made its New York debut 12 years ago tonight with more than 19,000 popeyed Gothamites in attendance. Montreal Canadiens, one of the National Hockey League's "originals" made the "green" New York crowd gasp with their speed and won with a clear-cut 3-1 decision over Americans.

Hartnek won the Golden Gloves heavyweight title in Chicago twice in a row, and was a fullback on Coach Marchy Schwartz's football eleven at Creighton.

GOMEZ'S COMEBACK RATES APPROVAL

NEW YORK, Dec. 17—(AP). — United States sports writers put their stamp of approval Thursday on Vernon (Goofy) Gomez as the hero of 1937's most amazing athletic comeback.

Casting their ballots in the Associated Press seventh annual poll, the writers gave the New York Yankees' star southpaw pitcher a decisive edge over Ralph Guldahl, United States open golf champion, and Joe Louis, king of the world's heavyweight boxes.

Nineteen of the fifty-three participating writers cast their first-place ballots for Gomez who, after two lean years, came back to lead the American League in effectiveness and pitch the Yankees to two World Series victories over the New York Giants.

All told, Gomez picked up 89 points in the balloting, against 40 for Guldhal, who received nine first-place votes. Louis was third with 34 points, and Johnny Goodman fourth with 26.

Hockey's Big 7

(By the Canadian Press)

Johnny Gagnon, the Chicoutimi Black Cat, slipped into second place in the National Hockey League scoring chase last night ahead of his injured mate, George Mantha, even though their Montreal Canadiens were beaten 4-2 by Toronto. With two assists, Gagnon shot ahead of Red Horner of Toronto in the assists column and nabbed a point total of 16, two less than that of Gordon Drillon of the Leafs. Horner scored a goal to remain in the seven, tied for fourth place at 14 points with Marty Barry of Detroit who got an assist against Chicago and Harvey Jackson and Syl Apps, Toronto and Nels Stewart, Americans.

BUDGE RANKS 1ST IN TENNIS LISTS FOR UNITED STATES

NEW YORK, Dec. 17—(AP)—Two tennis success stories with J. Donald Budge and Bobby Riggs as heroes are reflected in the recommendations of the rankings committee of the United States Lawn Tennis Association, which place Budge at No. 1 and Riggs at No. 2 in men's singles.

Budge easily retained his status in the ranking, which will go to the U.S.L.T.A.'s 57th annual meeting at Miami Beach, Fla., Jan. 15. No. 1 a year ago, he is No. 1 again on a series of smashing triumphs in Davis Cup, Wimbledon and national play, the greatest American player since Bill Tilden.

Riggs, who raised his ranking two notches from No. 4 to No. 2, couldn't match Budge's grand slam but he did oust Frankie Parker of New York from the secondary spot and force Parker and Bitsy Grant, of Atlanta, third last year, to take No. 3 and No. 4 on the ranking list.

Although she did not enjoy the glittering victories with which Budge embroidered American tennis history, Alice Marble of Beverly Hills, Calif., kept pace by holding her post at the top of the women's ranking.

Just behind the blond stylist in the No. 2 and No. 3 spots are the veteran Helen Hull Jacobs and the youthful Dorothy May Bundy, two other Californians who helped retain the Wightman Cup this year.

Argo Star Follows Game

After receiving an injured back in the semi-final rugby game of the season with Sarnia Imperials, Annis Stukus, of Toronto Argonauts, Dominion rugby champions of 1937, had to be content with listening to the east-west title game, between Argos and Winnipeg Blue Bombers, via the air waves. He is pictured here listening to the game over the radio and from the expression on his face, is delighted with the great showing of his teammates. Before his injury, "Big Stuke" shared the quarter-back duties with his younger brother, Bill.

WINNIPEG MISS STELLAR STAR FOR DOMINION

TORONTO, Dec. 17. — Winnipeg today harbors the winner of the Women's Amateur Athletic Federation of Canada's "Rose Bowl" award. Robina Higgins, the best javelin thrower Canada ever developed in feminine track and field circles, today carries "Bowl" honors, emblematic of Canada's outstanding girl athlete for the year of 1937. Robins, a member of the British Empire Games' team, is conceded to be a sure point winner for Canada in her specialty at the Australian games. Her heaves of the spear-headed bamboo pole, which dig into the dirt at distances of 128 and 133 feet, have not as yet been equalled by any of her Empire competitors.

The trophy, established in memory of Velma Springstead, Toronto girl athlete who died several years ago, is awarded by a vote of the W.A.A.F. of C. branches from coast. The announcement that Robina was the 1937 nominee for the honor was made from Montreal by Irene Wall, National Secretary of the Federation.

Besides being expert with the javelin, the Winnipeg girl holds three other Canadian women's field records—discus, shot put and baseball throw.

Robina Higgins is a worthy successor to Betty Taylor, Hamilton's hurdler, who won the award in 1936 by her spectacular timber topping at the Berlin Olympics, and this column offers Robina congratulations. It was a popular award.

Construction of the highway connecting Baghdad and Damascus, in Syria, will be speeded in the next 12 months.

ARSENAL MAKES BID FOR LEAD ENGLISH LEAGUE

LONDON, Dec. 17—(CP Cable)—Arsenal's spirited drive for leadership honors in English football may land the famous Londoners at the top of the heap after the week-end round of games. Only one point separate the leading Brentford squad from the Gunners, favored to take maximmum points from Liverjool Saturday.

The rival teams both play away from home, but Arsenal's chances against the Lancastrians appear brighter than those of Brentford, who oppose Birmingham.

From their last five matches the Gunners have extracted nine points and advanced ten places in the First Division table. The return of Ted Drake, Arsenal's international centrefordward, has been the chief factor in the club's success.

Brentford has struck a bad patch after a great run in November, and can hardly hope to win at Birmingham.

Patsy Gallacher, Sunderland's veteran forward, has been placed on the transfer list at his own request.

Coventry City and Sheffield United are deadlocked at the top of the Second Division, but the former has a real advantage with two games in hand. Aston Villa is in third position.

Coventry entertains Plymouth Argyle, and Southampton makes the long journey to Sheffield. The visiting clubs will be lucky if they share the points. The Villans are due at Barnsley.

Out in front in the Southern Section, Third Division, following its great 5 to 0 victory over Northampton a week ago, Notts County is likely to forge further ahead at Walsall. In the northern loop, Oldham Athletic has taken the lead, and may retain its advantage after Saturday's tussle at Southport.

IN MEMORIAM

WITHERS.—In loving memory of a dear Wife and Mother, Mrs. William Withers, who passed away December 17, 1932.

We are thinking of Home
In the Heavenly Land.
A Home that is fadeless and fair,
Where the pure and the blest
From their labours shall rest,
We know that our loved one is there,
By the gate Mother will meet us,
'Neath that golden sky;
Meet us at the portal,
Meet us by and by.

—Ever remembered by Husband, and Daughter, Mrs. E. G. Sutherland.

WITHERS.—In loving memory of our dear Mother, Mrs. William Withers, who passed away December 17, 1932.

Anchored in the Rock of Ages,
Landed on the Golden Shore,
In the loving arms of Jesus
Rests our Mother ever more.

—Ever remembered by Son, Ernie; and Family; also Mrs. Kellele and Family.

PEACOCK FEATHERS

By—Temple Bailey

READ THIS FIRST:

Jerry Chandler, son of a country clergyman, in modest circumstances, after a course at Yale, finally meets Mimi Le Brun, now a St. Louis society girl, whom he has admired for years. She is a cousin of Lionel Clark, Jerry's only close friend at college. All three, with several other young people, are at a Maine camp presided over by Olga, an attractive young woman who married Mimi's wealthy grandfather shortly before he died. Jerry has just met Andy Fuller who is in love with Mimi. And now Jerry is with Mimi herself. More impressed than ever with Mimi's charm, Jerry feels he is going to enjoy the house party. At a nearby dance the first evening, Jerry begins to resent Andy's attentiveness to Mimi. Now, back from the dance at 2 a.m., Lionel decides that Jerry must read to the group a play they have written. Jerry reads the play that he and Lionel have written to the house party guests. Later he goes outdoors where Mimi finds him—to tell him that she likes his play, and its idealized hero. Andy, angered, finds them. Suddenly Mimi tells Jerry she has promised to marry Andy.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY:

CHAPTER 17

I HAD THE brooch I had taken from Mimi's dress in my hand. "You are going to give it back to Fuller," I stated. "Oh, do you think I shall let you sell yourself for a thing like that?"

"Give it to me," she said in a strange little voice.

I put both my hands on her shoulders. "I will not—until you promise. I shall keep it—and you can go back; and if he asks for it—you can tell him that he can come—and get it!"

I was absolutely reckless. It seemed to me at the moment that if Andy would come and ask for the brooch we could settle the thing there, as men had settled such affairs since they first fought for a woman.

My father would never have done it as I did. But my Uncle Jerry would have done it. My defiance is a debt I owe to Uncle Jerry. For I am sure that it saved her—the recklessness of it, and the feeling that I meant what I said.

"But if I give it back," she temporized, "won't there be a next time—and a next? I told you Andy was the apple on the tree, Jerry. And he's always hanging there, waiting to be picked."

The words seem light, as I write them, but she was in dead earnest, and I heard myself saying, as if someone else were speaking: "There will not be a next time. Oh, Mimi, if you would only let me show you what love can be!"

Her lips were parted. "What can it be, Jerry?"

I told her in a rush of eloquence. How we could go together to that far country; of the shining palace in which she should rule; of the dawns that would come up over the purple hills; of the nights under the stars.

Well, I have said I was a poet. And I was carried on by my imagination, beyond myself, beyond realties, into that land of fancy in which I had lived since a child.

And when I finished I had her in my arms, under the moon, and she was saying: "Oh, would it be like that, Jerry?"

And I was saying: "It would be more than that. I have no words to tell you all that it would be."

She made me no promise, except that she would give the brooch back to Andy. "I don't know what I shall say to him—but I'll do it."

She could not, she told me, when the first flush of exaltation had passed, think of marrying me. "We can't live on dreams, Jerry."

"I'll make them come true," I assured her, stoutly.

The next morning Andy Fuller did not appear at breakfast—nor Mimi. I learned that she had a headache, and sent her a scribbled note. She wrote back:

"I gave the brooch to him, and he is simply wild. I am keeping out of his way till he gets over it."

As I could not see her, I mounted my horse and rode through the wood. When I reached the place I had found her hat, I dismounted and went toward the clump of white birches where I had first seen her. I sat on the log where we had sat together.

Not far away was the quiet pool with its amethystine shadows. Now and then a bird came down to drink, but there were few birds in the dark forest, and for the most part not a sound broke the stillness.

Then all at once I heard the brittle crackle of the needles under foot. I looked and saw a tall figure on the side of the pool.

It was Andy Fuller! He did not see me, for I was hidden by the thick growth of birches. His face was dark, and he seemed as he stood there to cast a sinister shadow among those deeper shadows.

He had something in his hand which sparkled, and he was looking down at it. Suddenly he lifted his arm and flung the shining thing into the pool. I guessed then what I learned afterward was the truth—that it was the peacock brooch which disappeared with a gleam and a ripple into the watery depths. It is probably there now to the wonderment of all the little fishes!

I went back and found Mimi by the fire, and everybody else down for the late lunch. The mail had come and a telegram. The telegram was from my father. My mother was, he said, very ill. They wanted me at once.

I came into my father's house as a stranger. I can not express the feeling which it gave me of utter separation from all that had made up the years I had spent there.

The house seemed diminutive, the trees dwarfed; nothing was as it used to be, except the lake and the high arches of the sky.

My mother lay in bed, a waxen figure with silver hair. Yet the rooms were peopled for me by slender, energetic ghosts of her, restless, busy, worrying over my little lies, tying my father up in gingham aprons.

But now she was not restless or busy. No matter how much she might wish to follow the old paths, her feet could no longer tread them. She was often in great pain, and hour after hour my father would sit beside her bed, holding her hand, and sometimes when I passed the door I would see him on his knees beside her.

I knew then how life had knit them together. In earlier years their dreams may have differed, but in their long sharing of a common lot they had grown close in spirit, and I realized that to my father my mother had become once again the girl who had led him into high paths of duty for his soul's sake.

BEDTIME STORY

UNCLE WIGGILY GETS HOME

"Uff! Uff! Uff!" grunted the jolly, fat pig gentleman as he stood in a pile of snow outside his own back door. "Uff! Uff! Uff!"

"What's the matter, Twisty?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"I'm all mixed up!" grunted the pig. "I started from my pen house to plow a path to your bungalow so you wouldn't sink to your ears in the deep drifts."

"Yes, that was the idea," agreed Mr. Longears. Mrs. Twistytail, the fat pig lady, looked at the two animal friends and rubbered her nose to them.

"And after plowing through a lot of snow," went on the gentelman pig, "I think I am at your bungalow but instead, here I am back at my own house. Uff! Uff! Uff! It's a puzzle to me."

"Well," said his jolly wife with a laugh, "as long as there are no cross words in your puzzle, Twisty my dear, it will be all right."

"Of course it will!" laughed Uncle Wiggily. "As for cross words—Twisty never grunted one in his life!"

He Isn't Angry

"But aren't you sort of peeved or vexed with me that I snow plowed

"Who is there?" grunted the pig.

you right back here and you are still stuck in the storm?" asked Mr. Twistytail.

"Not a bit of it!" laughed the rabbit.

"But you said your wife and Nurse Jane would worry, Wiggy."

"Why not telephone them?" asked Mrs. Twistytail. "Tell them you are going to stay here all night, Mr. Longears."

"Yes, I can do that," said Uncle Wiggily. 'I should have thought of the telephone before this. I'll call my bungalow."

Well, it was one thing for Uncle Wiggily to call his bungalow on the telephone, but it was another thing for anybody in his bungalow to answer. As a matter of fact they didn't.

The big storm had broken the telephone wires between the pig's pen and the rabbit's bungalow so Uncle Wiggily could send no word to his wife about being snowbound at Twisty's house.

"Dear me!" said Uncle Wiggily when he had tried and tried again to get his bungalow on the telephone. "Dear me! What shall we do, Twisty?"

"Do? Why, try again, to be sure!" grunted the pig. "I shall plow another path for you and this time I will keep straight. I will not go around in a circle."

May Worry

"When anyone is lost they often keep going in circles," said the lady pig. "You had much better stay here all night, Mr. Longears. Your wife knows you are here, doesn't she?"

"Yes. But if I don't come home she may worry."

Just then there was a booming knock on the kitchen door. Mr. Twistytail and Mr. Longears had gone inside to get warm.

"Who is there?" grunted the pig.

"Police Dog," was the barking answer. "Mrs. Longears got worried about her husband and sent me after him. I'll take him home."

"I tried to do that!" grunted the pig. "But I plowed right back here in a circle. You'll do the same, Police Dog."

"Not I!" barked the Police Dog. "I have with me a long string. The other end is tied to the bungalow. All we have to do is to follow the string back home."

"Ha! Ha! That's a fine idea!" grunted the pig. "Now, by the string, I can plow a straight path for you, Wiggy."

This he did and soon Mr. Longears was safe home out of the storm.

And if the cranberry sauce will please stop tickling the turkey under the chin, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's pop out.

Premier King Denies Hepburn Charge Of Dictation By U.S.

Says No Pressure Ever Put on Ontario Over Seaway, Ignores Claim of Unfriendliness to Province

OTTAWA, Dec. 18.—(CP)—Accusations from Premier Hepburn of Ontario that the federal administration had a "Made-in-Washington" power policy today left Prime Minister Mackenzie King unmoved from his declared intention that the dominion government would grant no electric power export licenses without orders from parliament.

The prime minister last night denied the 40-year-old Ontario premier's charge the federal administration's stand on the power export question resulted from United States pressure, said no negotiations had been launched by Canada or the United States on the question, and ignored Mr. Hepburn's charge he was unfriendly to Ontario.

In a statement issued late last night the prime minister answered accusations from his one-time House of Commons colleague.

Mr. Hepburn's statement on the situation said yesterday the dominion government's "made-in-Washington" policy influenced it to attempt to force Ontario into supporting the St. Lawrence deep waterway scheme favored by President Roosevelt in return for permission to export power and further develop the Niagara power sources.

Policy Set In 1907

Mr. Mackenzie King said: "There is no foundation in fact for the statement that the action of the Canada government in refusing to reverse, without consulting parliament, the policy followed by successive administrations with regard to the granting of export licenses is due to an agreement with the United States.

(An Act of Parliament in 1907 placed with the Governor-General-in-Council authority for issuing power export licenses. A private member's Bill in 1929 would have transferred that power to Parliament. It passed through the House without debate, but was held up in the Senate.)

"There has been no discussion with the Government of the United States which has had to do with the granting of licenses for the export of power," Mr. Mackenzie King continued.

"There has been no agreement or understanding of any sort by the present administration with regard either to this matter or to the larger question of the St. Lawrence Waterways."

No Pressure Over Seaway.

The Prime Minister added that

LONG LAC, OGOKI DIVERSION AIMS BOTH SHELVED

International Pact Comes First, Says Hogg

TORONTO, Dec. 18.—(CP).— Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission has suspended plans for two Northwestern Ontario water diversion projects until an agreement respecting the use of additional water for power generation at Niagara Falls is reached, Dr. Thomas Hogg, Commission chairman, said yesterday.

The Commission had done preliminary work on the Long Lac diversion, intended to turn water now flowing northward, into the Great Lakes and thus supply additional water at Niagara Falls.

"We're going ahead with the dam on the division channel with the idea that pulpwood can be passed down to Lake Superior by it," said Dr. Hogg. "No development will be made for power purposes until it is legalized by International agreement."

(Premier Mitchell Hepburn yesterday charged the Ottawa and Washigton Federal governments had agreed Ontario would not be permitted to divert additional water at Niagara Falls until she consented to the St. Lawrence deep waterways project.)

The Ogoki diversion project, a $3,000,000 plan to divert waters now flowing into James Bay into Lake Superior, also to provide additional water for diversion at Niagara, is also in abeyance, said Mr. Hogg. Surveys were continuing but no work would be done until the diversion was permitted.

The Long Lac, Ogoki and Niagara diversion plans are dependent on an agreement between the United States and Canada as all three affect the levels of the Great Lakes, an International waterway.

Unity, Dunning Slogan; Arm, Publisher Warns

TORONTO, Dec. 18 (CP)—Solutions to Canada's pressing problems can be found within the framework of the British North America Act, in the opinion of Hon. Charles Dunning, federal finance minister. The difficulty to be surmounted is in applying the principles of confederation to conditions not seen when the act was drafted 70 years ago.

He told the annual banquet of the Commercial Travellers Association of Canada here last night that the B.N.A. act was not outdated. He advocated the application of its principles to present-day conditions, adding: "We need vitally to square the economics of Canada with the principles of confederation, many people are saying."

Canadians "hang together or hang separately," Mr. Dunning said. "It is essential today to show a loyalty to Canada. It is vital to our continued liberties as a people." The minister said it was his hope that Canadians "unite in the name 'Canadian' — not just Ontario or Nova Scotia — and failing that we drift ever further apart."

Time To Arm

John Bassett, president of the Gazette Printing Company, Montreal, told the association that Canada "must arm and arm quickly." He commended the national government for defence expenditures but deplored "that there has not been enough spent and that the defence policy is one spread over a period of years."

"Our enemies will strike with lightning quickness," the Montreal publisher said in urging that Canada rapidly rearm. "Canada is within the range of aerial attacks from Europe."

Mr. Bassett said he believed the people were well satisfied with the manner in which Mr. Dunning handled their financial affairs. But he expressed alarm at the "mounting debt structure of Canada." It is staggering in its immensity," he said. "When the citizens realise how this Dominion is being hamstrung there will be such a call for action that governments will be compelled to act."

Court Investigates If Survivors Deliberately Shot

Tokyo Gets Second Secret Note From Washington; Japs Deny Any Surface Craft in Vicinity of Panay

TOKYO, Dec. 18—(AP)—The Japanese foreign office disclosed today that United States Ambassador Joseph C. Grew had delivered a second note in connection with the sinking of the United States gunboat Panay.

The nature of the new representations was not made known but they were reliably understood to concern reports the Yangtze river patrol ship had been machine-gunned by Japanese launches before it sank under the pounding of aerial bombs last Sunday.

The note also was believed to have carried a strong protest against the reported boarding of the Panay by Japanese officers before it went down about 20 miles upriver from Nanking.

Court Gets Down to Work

SHANGHAI, Dec. 18 (AP) — An official United States naval court of inquiry pushed investigation today of Sunday's Japanese airplane attack on American shipping in the Yangtze River.

The naval court hoped to complete its investigation before the United States cruiser Augusta, flagship of Admiral Harry E. Yarnell, commander of the United States fleet in Chinese water, sails for Manila tomorrow.

Naval officials aboard the Augusta said they were informed a Japanese officer had boarded the Panay seeking information when the gunboat was 10 miles down the river from the scene of the attack.

They said, however, the officer's call had no connection with the bombing.

Japanese announced they were undertaking a thorough investigation of the incident in which the United States gunboat Panay was sunk, three Standard Oil Company vessels were destroyed and four lives were lost.

Was It An Accident?

Both boards of inquiry attempted to settle a disputed question in which the United States took a serious view—did Japanese deliberately machine-gun the Panay's survivors?

Descriptions of the attack by survivors who reached here yesterday contended that low-flying Japanese planes strafed them as they fled the sinking ship.

They asserted "machine-gunning Japanese planes flew so low they should have seen our flags" and that two Japanese army boats went to the Panay before she sank, colors flying.

(Japanese have denied the sinking Panay was machine-gunned. Japanese also have declared they had no surface craft in the vicinity.)

The direction of Japan's next offensive in China, meanwhile, was clouded in doubt.

LOYALISTS TIGHTEN SIEGE OF TERUEL REACH INTO CITY

MADRID, Dec. 18 (AP).—Teruel, southern spearhead of General Franco's Aragon line, was ringed today by besieging government forces, a war communique announced, and a battle was progressing within the city.

Teruel's communications were cut by the government's three-day surprise offensive. The city, one of Franco's most important Aragon outposts, about 135 miles east of Madrid, had been held by the insurgents since the start of the civil war just 17 months ago.

(An insurgent communique reaching the French frontier denied the government claims of success. It insisted "We are pursuing the enemy with success.")

(Another dispatch said 11 government vessels attempting to run the insurgent blockade at Cartagena, southeastern Mediterranean port, were engaged in battle by insurgent warcraft and forced to turn back to sea).

Government reports said the republic's Teruel army had captured 15 positions surrounding the city.

In bitter cold and through drifted snow, the attackers stormed insurgent entrenchments in the municipal cemetery, driving their foe out from the protection of tombstones.

The insurgents failed in a powerful counter-attack yesterday to smash through the tightening ring of siege.

Wage-Hour Bill Is Sent Back

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18—(AP).—A climatic House of Representatives' rebellion which shelved the wage-hour bill checkmated administration leaders to-day in their efforts to push through much of the Roosevelt program before adjournment next week of the United States Congress.

In a tense, overtime session, the House sent the battered measure back to the Labor committee last night, despite an appeal from majority leader Rayburn (D-Tex.) that such a step would mean "the death of wage-hour legislation."

POACHERS LIKE SNOW

GUELPH, Ont., Dec. 18 (CP)—Illegal killing of pheasants and rabbits has increased with the heavy blanket of snow in the countryside. Tracks of the animals and birds are easily followed. Recently police cooperation was asked by the Wellington Fish and Game Society to check the use of ferrets in rabbit hunting.

Tweedsmuir Given Barrie's Post

EDINBURGH, Dec. 18. — (CP Cable.)—Lord Tweedsmuir, Governor-General of Canada, to-day was elected Chancellor of Edinburgh University, succeeding the late Sir James Barrie.

A postal poll of the entire graduate body of the University in the British Isles gave Lord Tweedsmuir 4,802 votes against 2,562 for the Marquess of Lothian, secretary of the Rhodes Trust. About 50 per cent of electorate responded to the poll within the time limit.

Lord Tweedsmuir's presence here will not be necessary while he is Governor-General.

ROMANS SET UP SOUP KITCHENS IN FLOOD AREAS

ROME, Dec. 18. —(AP).— Soup kitchens were established and temporary shelter provided to-day for thousands of Romans driven from their homes by the flooded river Tiber.

The river had dropped slightly early to-day after causing millions of dollars of damage and six deaths. Engineers were alarmed, however, that unceasing rain would swell the flood still higher. Already it was within a few feet of walls built 25 years ago to hold the river to its course.

Thousands lined the banks to watch the swirling Tiber, whose rise to 56 feet 7 inches, highest in 67 years, has caused more excitement than any event since the conquest of Ethiopia.

Two of the city's 16 bridges and dozen of streets and highways were closed. Whole sections of Trastevere, a low-lying section, were under water. Some families were removed in boats from upper stories of buildings in the submerged area.

LORD TWEEDSMUIR LOSES HIS MOTHER

PEEBLES, Scotland, Dec. 18 (C.P. Cable). — Mrs. Helen Buchan, mother of Lord Tweedsmuir, died today.

Before her marriage to Rev. John Buchan, the Governor-General's father, Mrs. Buchan was Miss Helen Masterton, daughter of John Masterton, of Broughton Green, Peebleshire.

She was 80 years of age, and had been ill for only a short time. The end came early this morning at her home, Bank House, where she lived with her daughter, Anna Buchan, the novelist who writes under the pen name of O. Douglas.

Despite her great age, Mrs. Buchan travelled to Canada in June last year to visit Lord Tweedsmuir. She was a devoted worker in the cause of the sick and poor, and a keen supporter of the Scottish League of Wives and Mothers. She missed her first meeting of the local branch in 20 years last Wednesday.

She was born on her father's farm at Broughton Green and married Rev. John Buchan when in her teens. Besides Lord Tweedsmuir and Miss Buchan, she leaves another son, J. Walter Buchan, Town Clerk of Peebles. Two other children, William, at one time a Judge in India, and Alistair, predeceased her.

Ontario To Investigate Loan Shark Fees

Test Cases To Be Tried In Court With Attempt At Control To Follow

TORONTO, December 18—(CP)—Cecil L. Snyder, Assistant Crown Attorney of Toronto, has been appointed to investigate the operations of high - charging money lenders throughout Ontario, Attorney-General Conant announced yesterday.

It was expected that after Mr. Snyder has compeited his investigation ,two or three test cases will be launched in the courts. If the prosecutions are successful, control over the operations of "loan sharks" will be established.

It was believed that if the test prosecutions failed, the Attorney-General would seek new provincial legislation at the next session of the Legislature. In some quarters it was said it may be necessary for Ontario to ask co-operation from the Dominion Government for new and more concise Federal legislation.

Mr. Snyder has been Assistant Crown Attorney in Toronto for the past seven years. It was understood he planned to put before the courts some especially "bad cases," but whether these would be launched under the provincial law respecting money lenders or the Dominion act has not yet been decided.

Queen Better Thrower Than King George

London, Dec. 18 (AP)

QUEEN Elizabeth today beat the King throwing darts when they stopped in at Slough Social Service Centre while motoring from Buckingham Palace to the Royal Lodge at Windsor.

"I would like to try that," the Queen said after watching a crowd of clerks and factory workers playing the game.

Flinging three feathered darts at the target, she scored 21 points. Then the King, who threw left-handed, made three throws and scored 19.

STOREKEEPER SHOT BY UNKNOWN MAN

SAINT JOHN, N.B., Dec. 18 (CP) —Police continued a wide spread check-up today in search for the slayer of Aaron Cohen, 58, Jewish proprietor of a clothing store here.

Identity of the burglar who shot Cohen through the head last night remained unknown. "He seemed to look like a young man and I think that he was wearing a light brown sweater," said Cohen's daughter, Minna, 16, in the family residence upstairs when she heard a shot and saw the assailant run across the street and leap a fence.

Cohen died an hour after the shooting. Whether anything was stolen from the store was unrevealed, although one report said about $80 was taken.

Cohen was found outside his store after a pedestrian turned in a fire alarm to attract authorities when he heard cries for help. It was believed the victim followed the burglar to the street, probably grappling with him when the shooting occurred.

One of the first women to reach the scene toiled over the body in a faint. A neighbor said she had seen two men lurking in a dark doorway near the store.

Minna Cohen rushed to the window when she heard the shot. On the pavement below she saw her father's crumpled form while the

Beaten Settlers Propose Land Be Given Back To Indians

Hope Washington Will Buy Ancient Navajo Holdings Back For Them

CROWN POINT, N.M., Dec. 18.—(AP).—Discouraged, weather-beaten homesteaders proposed to-day to give their land back to the Indians.

Several score work-hardened settlers met with blanketed Navajo in a pow-wow at the white man's kiva here to-day, uniting efforts to get the white father in Washington to buy up the high, wind-blown plateau homestead lands and present them to the Navajo.

To the Indian, success would mean a return nearer "Dinetah"—the sacred, immemorial homeland of the Navajo in North Central New Mexico.

To many a white homesteader, it would mean a chance to sell out lands on which he has battled heat, drought, bitter cold, dying range and all the pioneer vicissitudes.

The immediate goal of this unique association of Indian and paleface is passage in Congress of the Navajo boundary bill. The measure would add approximately 250,000 acres to the Navajo reservation—land now "checkerboarded" in alternate strips of public domain, homestead lands and Indian holdings.

Buries A Stranger As His Brother

New York, Dec. 18 (AP)

LORENZO B. Brown, Assistant Postmaster of Jamaica, said today he would like the public to know he made a mistake two years ago when he buried a man in the Brown family plot in Springfield Cemetery in the belief it was his brother Clarence.

Clarence, it appears, turned up alive last Friday, to the astonishment of Lorenzo, who had spent $400 on the stranger's funeral. However, he said, he won't disturb the stranger's rest. The identity of the stranger is unknown. Incidentally, the real Clarence has vanished again Lorenzo said it's a habit he acquired when he was about 17.

The letters were printed in pencil on school paper. One to Crawford demanded he place money in a tin can and leave it on a city bridge "by midnight Friday."

Crawford notified police and on instructions from them left a tin can on the bridge but it contained no money, only a note reprimanding the senders.

Crashes Due To Poor Piloting Break China's Air Force Wreck Four Planes To One Shot Down—No Foreign Fliers Except 50 Russians

(By G. Yates McDaniel)

SHANGHAI, Dec. 18. — (AP).— Four times as many Chinese planes crashed from poor piloting as Japanese guns shot down. That tells the story of what happened to China's air force.

Not one North American flier took to the air in action against the Japanese. Russian airmen, who flew in 50 planes from the Soviet, were the only fighters to join the Chinese air force in action.

China's Italian air advisers ended their services when hostilities began because of political cooperation between Japan and Italy.

(Japan, Italy and Germany are joined in an anti-Communist agreement).

Furthermore, the Chinese were in constant fear the Italians might aid the Japanese.

When the government moved from doomed Nanking, its air force flew off, leaving the capital's defenders entirely without aerial support during the Japanese siege.

Anti-aircraft batteries, which fired hundreds of rounds every day, shot down only one enemy plane during the attack, leaving the Japanese wings over Nanking the freedom of the skies to bomb, power-drive and strafe within a few hundred feet of the ground.

Find Woman 76 Guilty 13-Year-Old Murder

Northeim, Germany, Dec. 18 (AP)

A JUDGE and jury yesterday condemned to death 76-year-old Henrietta Hesse for the murder of her stepdaughter 13 years ago.

The court found she had pushed the stepdaughter, with whom her husband had sought to have illicit relations, into the River Rhume while the husband was standing by fishing. A stepson some 200 feet away witnessed the deed, but reported it only recently, after his father's death.

Hitler Aims At Cheap People's Car So Germans May Equal Americans

Berlin, Dec. 18. (AP)

CHANCELLOR Hitler announced last night Germany would begin within a few years to export a cheap "people's car" on a large scale.

The automobile is to be produced in what is to be Germany's largest factory, of which the cornerstone is to be laid soon.

"Many hundred thousand cars will be manufactured annually," he declared. "So we may soon reach the point of American motorization, namely, one automobile per five inhabitants."

He made his announcement to 2,000 autorad workers whom he invited to a theatre, dinner and sightseeing tour through Berlin on the occasion of the completion of 2,000 kilometres (1,242 miles) of national autoroads.

He told the workers that first-class highways rather than a so-called liberty of press testified to the culture of a nation.

FALSE NEWS CLAIM MADE BY HEPBURN DRAWS GLOBE'S IRE

TORONTO, Dec. 18.—(CP)—The Globe and Mail in an editorial today replying to Premier Hepburn's charge that the newspaper carried "false news" in its Friday stories of Premier Duplessis' speech at Shawinigan Falls, Que., and of possible export of power to the United States regardlessof the present stand of the federal government, says in part:

"We leave it to the public to judge Mr. Hepburn's ability to appraise the difference between truth and falsehood, keeping in mind the fact that he travelled up and down Ontario denying his government's intention to purchase additional power from Quebec companies, notwithstanding that negotiations, in which he participated were already under way and have since been consumated.

"He states that the Globe and Mail called Mr Duplessis a liar. Although the Globe and Mail did not call the Quebec premier a liar, the charge does seem strange coming from a man who, in one of his fits of rage a little more than a year ago, definantly called Mr. Duplessis' predecessor, Premier Taschereau, a liar in no uncertain terms.

"The Globe and Mail has heard frequently of politicians running to shelter under the oldest of alibis, alleging misquotation, and for this reason took particular care to check and recheck at authoritative sources as to whether or not Mr. Duplessis did make the statements credited to him. The editorial was written based on the news reports of reliable journalists, and not on the denial of a rudely awaked provincial prime minister."

ENGINEER IS HURT, NORTHERN WRECK

NORTH BAY, Ont., Dec. 18.—(CP)—North Bay-Toronto line of the Canadian National Railways was blocked today as the result of a passenger train wreck last night two miles north of Callander, home of the Dionne quintuplets. Engineer William Park, Allandale, Ont., suffered bruises and leg injuries. No passenger coaches were derailed and the passengers received only a shaking.

The big engine, derailed along with the tender and a buffer baggage car, was resting on its side with its nose only a few feet from the provincial highway. More than 150 yards of track were torn up. Cause of the derailment was not known.

Passengers rushed to aid the engine crew when the train jolted to a stop. Engineer Park and the fireman were seated on the track, having escaped from the overturned engine. A motorist brought the engineer here.

The passenger coaches were taken to North Bay by another engine and re-routed to Toronto via Capreol. Wrecking crews from Allandale and Capreol are at the scene.

Alfred Steele, Kirkland Lake, Ont. Pullman passenger, said there was no panic among the passengers.

"There was nothing much to it. We felt the train slow up and there were several slight jolts when it stopped. Most of the passengers left the train and went around to see what happened. I was about the first one to get to the engine, I guess. The engineer had an injured leg and I gave him first aid."

CANADIAN GOLDS HAVE LIVE WEEK WITH PRICES UP

TORONTO, Dec. 18 (CP)—Interest in the Canadian gold stocks livened this week and the buying expanded with United States investors participating at advancing prices. Base metal and western oil stocks also pushed ahead moderately while the industrials weakened narrowly. The market was not noticeably hampered by the Christmas shopping rush.

Heavy recent buying in the big golds is credited by brokers mainly to New York interests.

Dome stood out in the week's operations, advancing $4.35 to $54, the stock's high price since November, 1936. Lake Shore advanced $2, McIntyre $2.50 and Buffalo-Ankerite sold up $1 to $13.50, a record price. Moneta registered a new high ground at $2.22 and other medium-price golds to do better were O'Brien, Kerr-Addison, Hard Rock, MacLeod - Cockshutt, Pamour and Wright-Hargreaves.

International Nickel bulged to $46, its top price since the break of Oct. 19, trading in heavy volume. A net gain of $1.50 for the week was held. Noranda did better, showing a $3 advance to $62.50 and Consolidated Mining and Smelting added 50 cents. Gains among the cheaper base metals were limited to a few cents each.

Silver A Problem

There is mild speculation as to how the silver stocks will act after the end of the year when the international agreement providing for absorption by certain nations on part of the world's new white metal production, comes to an end. So far there has been no sign of uneasiness although Eldorado posted a decline of 12 cents for the week.

Western oil stocks came in for wider accumulation. Royalite hopped up to the $50 mark yesterday, the best price registered since July. Among the cheaper issues Okalta was a feature, rising 37 cents to $1.89 in heavy trading. Calgary-Edmonton advanced 25 cents to $3, Home 14 cents to $1.55 and Vulcan nine cents to $1.31.

Interest lagged in the industrials and nearly all the interlisted leaders reflected New York uncertainty by losing ground. Quite a few of the losses were merely ex-dividend adjustments. Fanny Farmer was down 75 cents, the amount of the dividend.

PROTEST OTTAWA GRABBING PASTURE

REGINA, Dec. 18—(CP).—Protest against the Dominion Government taking possession of titles to prairie land being returned to pasturage under the Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Act is registered in a brief for submission to the Rowell Commission today by the United Farmers of Canada (Saskatchewan section).

"This means the Federal Government is again taking back a portion of the natural resources which were turned over to the provinces only a few years ago," the U.F.C. states in their brief.

By its action in thus undertaking to remedy mistakes in land settlement of years ago, it is contended the government was recognizing that such work was of national interest, since crop failures reflected themselves in business conditions in all parts of Canada.

The U.F.C. urges that the British North America Act should be amended to include such work under items "for the general advantage of Canada," as the Federal Government might feel its responsibilities in that direction at an end when this rehabilitation work was completed.

The U.F.C. supported the suggested amalgamation of the three Prairie governments for greater efficiency. It was felt amalgamation might not result in any impressive saving from reducing Legislature members and Civil servants, but would produce greater efficiency through co-ordination of agricultural administration officials.

The same would apply to health, treasury, natural resources, highways, telephones and other departments with like interests. It was claimed the Dominion Government had converted its own debt to lower interest rates but refused the provinces the same interest-reducing privilege.

The asphalt is mixed in a hopper at the LEFT, and is pumped through conduits in the foreground which spread it evenly.

WHEAT FUTURES CONTINUE GAINS

WINNIPEG, Dec. 18.—(CP). — Winnipeg wheat futures, spurred by bullish southern hemisphere crop estimates, increased interest by importing countries and scarcity of December offerings, climbed for the third successive week to show a net gain of 16¼-5⅝ cents since Nov. 27.

Despite profit-taking and light selling toward the end of the week, apparently with nervous Liverpool and Chicago fluctuations, futures ended the six-day trading period Friday on Winnipeg grain exchange with net gains of 6⅝-⅝ cents. Volume of business for the week was final with December at $1.26⅝, May $1.17-$1.17⅛ and July $1.11⅜-⅞.

Confirmation of the small Argentine wheat crop—estimated at 192,000,000 bushels, 48,000,000 bushels below the last 10-year crop average, offset continued pressure of Australian new-crop wheat on overseas markets. Unofficial reports Friday that timely rains were needed in Kansas' winter-wheat belt imparted strength to North Ameerican wheat markets.

A large share of operations for the week was credited to local and inter-market spreading, involving puchases of Winnipeg futures against sales at Chicago. Exporters and continental firms offered support frequently with Canadian wheat export sales for the week estimated close to 1,500,000 bushels.

Cabinet With Him Says Hepburn

TORONTO, Dec. 18.—(CP).— The Ontario Cabinet is a unit behind him in his dispute with Prime Minister Mackenzie King and the Federal Cabinet, Premier Mitchell Hepburn said to-day.

"I submitted the whole matter to the Cabinet and I have their full support," he said. "Every minister feels exactly as I do towards Ottawa and the treatment we have received," The Cabinet met yesterday.

Mr. Hepburn said tentative agreements between Ontario and Quebec on constitutional and economic questions, accords reached when Mr. Hepburn and four ministers met Premier Duplessis and a cabinet representation in Montreal, were endorsed by the cabinet. A formal statement will be issued after Monday's meeting here with Mr. Duplessis.

Garner introduced the guest speaker of the evening, Mr. Scrutton of the Heins Co., Mr. Garner commenting on the fact that Mr. Scrutton was a very pleasant man to work for or to do business with. Mr. Scrutton's topic was Salesmanship, and how it applied in every day life. The speaker related some of his experiences in Montreal with the boys of that city and how they formed a club for the under privileged boys with only a few members at first and of the many discouragements, but the club grew to be of importance with a large membership. Mr. Scutton told of how he first came to Peterborough in the horse and buggy days for this firm. He gave the different points of salesmanship and the best way to apply them in the right way. Cliff Boate moved a vote of thanks to the speaker on behalf of the club members for his fine speech. A collection was taken up for the toy fund to go to the Firemen for toys. The next meeting of the club is to be held on Wednesday night.

TRUCKER AGREES PRODUCE BOOKS

TORONTO, Dec. 18.—(CP).— The Chevrier inquiry into the Ontario motor transport industry stood adjourned to-day after three weeks' hearings here at which the case of the small trucker and his employees was presented.

Before adjournment yesterday until Jan. 10, Commission Counsel Joseph Singer said heads of the large transport companies will testify when the inquiry resumes. He said he believed a "brighter picture" of the industry would be presented by the larger companies.

Mr. Justice E. R. E. Chevrier, Commission chairman, expressed the hope that recommendations to be made the Ontario government by the Commission would be to the general good of all interested parties as well as the province at large.

The probe adjourned in an amicable atmosphere after a tense 24 hours during which George Carr, owner of Carr's Transport, of Owen Sound, defied the Commission's demand he supply it with his business books and records.

Yesterday his counsel, William Judson, told the Commission there was a possibility the inquiry did not come within the scope of the Ontario Public Inquiries Act and it had no right to demand detailed business information as outlined in a subpoena sent Carr and other transport operators.

The court granted Hudson several hours to consider the matter and just before adjournment he informed the court that Carr would provide the information desired, conceding that the Commission was empowered to ask for such information.

SIX GUARDSMEN KILLED

The men, who had just left a Christmas party of their artillery company in Stockton, were: John D. Plumb, 27, David A. Connard, 21, Joseph N. Green, 20, Raymond Meadow, 21, and Anton Dee Bray, 20, all of Stockton, and Gail Borden Lewallen, 22, of Isleton. Their automobile crashed into a tree.

POTATO SOUP FOR WEEK

WENATACHEE, Wash., Dec. 18 (AP)—Ernest Johnson, 46-year-old veteran of four major battles, died yesterday, while endeavoring to send help to his starving wife and four children.

Johnson, emaciated, hiked 40 miles from his undeveloped ranch in the rugged hills around Lake Wenatchee to appeal for aid. The trip, requiring 48 hours, was too much. He died half an hour after he arrived. Sheriff Tom Cannon said the impoverished Johnson family had existed on potato soup the past week.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, Dec. 18 (C.P.). — Futures on Winnipeg Grain Exchange rallied from one cent low points on buying induced by a late recovery at Chicago, where unofficial reports emphasized need of timely moisture to develop the winter wheat crop in Kansas. Wheat closed ⅛ higher to ¼ cent lower, in an erratic but dull session.

Canadian wheat export sales estimated below 200,000 bushels and a moderate trade in United States hard-winters supplied strength to wheat both at Chicago and Winnipeg at the start. Winnipeg futures then tumbled from ⅜ to 1 cent high points on Southern and local selling, part of which was attributed to bear-spreading.

A fair demand came out for durums in the cash wheat pit with improved spreads obtainable on round lots. However, only a small business was confirmed. Red springs prices closed unchanged.

In coarse grain trading, oats appeared to go into strong hands, but other trading was quiet.

Biblical Thoughts For The Shut-Ins

By Rev. E. R. James, Toronto

THE CHRISTMAS SPIRIT

"A Little Child Shall Lead Them."—Isaiah 11:6.

"A little child shall lead the wolf, the leopard and the young lion." Do you expect a literal fulfullment of this prophecy? If so, you are in the same class with those very poor people, educated though they may be, who tell their children there is no Santa Claus. Such people are very poor for though they have eyes they see not. Have you never seen a lion dressed as a man roaring and frightening all his work people? He can discharge any of them and they not only fear but hate him. Have you ever met a man who is cunning, crafty and as cruel as a wolf? There is that charming woman who tears to pieces and devours her absent friends. Their characters are torn to shreds. Behold the treacherous leopard. Surely you understand the inward meaning of this prophecy that the beast in us will be changed so that the little child may lead us.

When your son asks the frank question: "Is there a real Santa Claus?" you can truly say: "Yes, my son; he is a man with a great big heart who loves little children." You have implanted a true idea in the child's mind which he will develope for himself as he grows up. You have followed sound psychology in teaching a child what he will not have to unlearn.

This prophecy was uttered perhaps three thousand years ago. Imagine the astonishment of strong, mighty men, warriors of renown, standing as body guard to their King, and hearing the prophet-statesman say that the day would come when a little child would lead the wolf, the leopard and young lion. They would understand the inwardness of the prophecy. They would dimly realize that the new Spirit of the Lord would change the characters of such men and people that they would become harmless. "They shall not hurt nor destroy."

Have we advanced far towards that ideal? Today multitudes are looking to the strong man for leadership. They rely, not upon love, gentleness and integrity, but on mighty armaments and the mailed fist; on leaders who do not hesitate to have a blood purge of their closest friends.

Did you see a horrible picture in the daily press recently? Gas masks for little children and a little girl looking with amazement at a Midsgus mask on a babe's face. Did your heart burn with bitter anger that such is not only possible but happening today in other lands. We have read of cities sacked in ancient days by barbarians. We cannot afford to look down on them. The spirit of the beast lives today in the hearts of cultured scientists who devise such horrors as marks of their intellectual primacy.

Is the prophecy true? It has been fulfilled more or less in every age. Do you remember the day you held your first born in your arms. Your child. The mystery of it all. The wonder of it all. There swept into your soul the desire to be better, truer, gentler. Perhaps, the Holy Spirit flashed into your mind the prayer: "For his sake I consecrate myself." There you saw a partial fulfilment of this prophecy. By the help of the Holy Spirit you resisted the wolfish desires, the lusts of the flesh, which are so strong in you. As the years went by the Spirit of the Lord Jesus changed your animal instincts so that you are more fit to follow the leadership of a child. You would not consciously "hurt or destroy."

Can a little child lead you? You meet a little one, a comparative stranger. If he sits on your knee and tells you of the terrible lion he saw in the garden chasing his puppy and how he shot him with his gun; can you nod approval? Or he tells you of the chattering monkey who sat on his window sill and kept him from his afternoon nap; can you understand his wakefulness? Does your heart warm to that little lad for he does not see the lion or leopard in you? You are harmless; you will not hurt nor destroy. Thank God that through the Holy Spirit the lion and the leopard is being changed into the lamb and the little child tells you so. The impossible is taking place. The leopard is changing his spots.

"Except ye become as little children ye cannot enter the Kingdom of God."

"The Birth Of Jesus"

"BRASS TACKS" ON THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By DR. ALVIN E. BELL

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for Dec. 19 is Luke 2:1-20, the Golden Text being Luke 2:11, "There is born to you this day in the City of David a Saviour, who is Christ the Lord.")

CAESAR AUGUSTUS little realized that a Ruler infinitely superior to himself was using him and his decrees and taxing machinery to bring to the City of David a Nazarene carpenter and his wife so that an ancient prophecy concerning the birth of the Prince of Peace might be literally fulfilled in the fullness of God's time and in the very place he had prophesied, viz., in Bethlehem of Judaea. So God works in mysterious ways His wonders to perform, and He can still make the wrath of men, even of dictators, to praise Him and carry out His program.

Good Tiding to Poor

Thus "it came to pass, while they were there, the days were fulfilled that she should be delivered. And she brought forth her firstborn son; and she wrapped him in swaddling clothes, and laid him in a manger because there was no room for them in the inn." What an opportunity that innkeeper of Bethlehem missed that first Christmas in passing up this poor couple from Bethlehem, and thereby missing the chance of playing host to the Christ Child and Saviour of the world! An opportunity it is that many are passing up today as the same Saviour stands at the door and knocks for admittance to their hearts, and homes, and businesses and even their so-called "peace conferences" only to meet with the rebuff "no room." Yet God makes choice of very common folk as the recipients of the world's very first Christmas greetings. Not to the rich who crowded the inn, nor even to Herod in his palace, but to the humblest of workingmen, "shepherds abiding in the field keeping watch by night over their flock," came the visit of the heavenly host, and the greeting, "Be not afraid; for behold, I bring you good tiding of great joy which shall be to all the people; for there is born to you this day in the City of David a Saviour, who is Christ the Lord." These good tidings came to the poor, concerning a Saviour, "who, though he was rich, yet became poor, that we through his poverty might be made rich." The manger, the swaddling clothes, the offering of the poor his parents elected to make for him, the shepherds attending his birth, all speak of the kinship between the world's poor and the world's Saviour that first Christmas and this year too.

Tidings of Peace

"Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace among men in whom He is well pleased." These were the tidings of great joy of which the heavenly hosts sang to the shepherds that first Christmas. How the message of joy and peace and good will is mocked by the cruel warfare waging in China and Spain and Palestine and threatening to break out on a dozen other fronts! Has the Prince of Peace failed? No, not He, but we, in that we are not "men in whom He is well pleased," or "men of good will." There is still "no room for Him in the inn." Yet only in Him and His principles can the world ever have any lasting peace. "He is our peace who hath made both one, and hath broken down the middle wall of partition, so making peace." Why not make Him our peace in domestic, industrial, national and international life?

The whole chart of world history lies open before us at the present time. The major part of secular history is taken up with the telling of the story of the Empires which were founded, defended and overthrown in turn by conquest and military power. What a tragic story it is, to be sure.

Look underneath all that the historians have written of the exaltation and glory of this and that line of rulers, to the people who have been suffering underneath.

Look at the conquests of Rome, and see how they carried out from the military standpoint; and how the people toiled, laboured and died under the weight of the superstructure of State which was builded upon their quivering bodies. It is a gruesome story. Look at the modern repetitions of it, from the days of Charlemagne down to 1914-18. Is it any wonder that the French Revolution broke out when it did, and for reasons that it did? Is it any wonder that Russia rebelled against the insensate rule of the Grand Dukes, involving the Czar and his family in ruin?

Nothing was ever gained by conquest which could not have been gained by colonization and evangelization. Of colonization we have had some experience. Large experience as to extension. Some experience as to experimentation. The evils of the economic system, especially in the exploitation of land values, have marred what otherwise has been a wonderful advance in that department of the Kingdom of God.

But of evangelization in the realm of national administration we have as yet had no experience. The principles for which Jesus Christ stands have not as yet been applied in any large degree, or in any country.

We shall soon begin to evangelize the nations of Israel, and of the world, with the gospel of the economics of the Kingdom of God.

But now we are face to face with a coming tragedy. It may not come this year or next. But it is coming. That is to say, the nations have not yet given up the dream of securing the world by conquest.

The nations who are arming so heavily at the present time—nay, who are armed so heavily—say that their reason for such armament is "defence." That is the case with the non-militaristic nations. But it is not the case with those who believe that the world lies at their feet to be obtained by conquest. They are about to try conclusions once more.

Choir Will Sing Handel's Messiah

The choir of St. Andrew's church will render the Christmas portion of "The Messiah" on Sunday night.

Handel, the composer, was born in Lower Saxony (Germany) in 1685. His father was a doctor, and wanted his son to be a lawyer. One of the Dukes of Saxony saw the lad's musical genius and had him educated by the finest musical masters. His life was erratic and varied, one time he was lionized by the crown, at another he was neglected.

He had many fine qualities in his character, and though he was twice bankrupt, he made an honest effort to pay back all his debts. He lived in three different countries during his time, Germany, Italy and England. Handel is noted for his marvellous industry, scarcely any great composer has such a record of notable works to his credit.

It was in Ireland, however, that "The Messiah" was first given; in Dublin on April 13, 1742, and it won the enthusiastic appreciation of the large audience. The performance was given for the benefit of prisoners for debt. It is very creditable to the English speaking people that this great oratorio has never waned in popularity ever since. We have seen the great Ulster Hall in Belfast packed for three consecutive nights to hear this music. In Dublin the largest churches are packed on a week night to listen again to the story of Christ's birth in song.

The music on Sunday next will be in the capable hands of R. B. Harle, L.L.C.M., A.T.C.L. The following artists will take solo parts: H. C. Treneer, Adam Hawley, Mrs. Ford Turner, Mrs. A. H. Radford, Mrs. J. Johnson, Mrs. Ross Williamson, A.T.C.M.

The Birth of Jesus (Christmas Lesson) ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By the Rev. Alvin E. Bell And Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Luke 2:1-20

When the Roman governor ordered his subjects to go to their native towns to be enrolled for taxation, Joseph and Mary were required to travel from Nazareth to Bethlehem, a journey of from 70 to 100 miles each way.

When they arrived at Bethlehem the inn was crowded and "there was no room for them in the inn". So they found shelter in the stable of the inn, and here the baby Jesus was born and wrapped in swaddling clothes and laid in a manger.

Near Bethlehem shepherds were guarding their sheep when an angel appeared to tell them of their Savior's birth. Then other angels came singing, "Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace among men in whom he is well pleased!"

As soon as the angels disappeared the shepherds went with haste to Bethlehem. They found the babe in a manger in the stable and they worshiped him and returned joyfully sharing the good news with their friends.

THE TWO YOUNG CRATCHITS HUSTLED TINY TIM OFF BOB'S SHOULDER AND BORE HIM INTO THE WASH-HOUSE, THAT HE MIGHT HEAR THE PUDDING SINGING IN THE COPPER BOILER.

"HOW DID LITTLE TIM BEHAVE IN CHURCH?" ASKED MRS. CRATCHIT. "AS GOOD AS GOLD," SAID BOB. "HE TOLD ME HE HOPED PEOPLE NOTICED HIM, BECAUSE IT MIGHT BE PLEASANT TO THEM TO REMEMBER UPON CHRISTMAS DAY, WHO MADE LAME BEGGARS WALK AND BLIND MEN SEE."

THE PUDDING'S SONG SOUNDED SWEET TO TIM, BUT SOON HE TIRED AND HIS ACTIVE LITTLE CRUTCH WAS HEARD UPON THE FLOOR AS HE RETURNED AND SAT UPON HIS STOOL NEAR THE FIRE.

BOB TURNED UP HIS CUFFS AND COMPOUNDED A HOT MIXTURE WITH GIN AND LEMONS AND STIRRED IT 'ROUND AND 'ROUND AND PUT IT ON THE HOB TO SIMMER.

He Said Too Much

Premier Duplessis of Quebec made a speech at Shawinigan Falls and ever since he has been trying to unmake it. The Quebec Premier has recently been much in conference with Premier Hepburn of Ontario regarding the power contracts, and it may have been he felt that Ontario and Quebec were being drawn so closely together that they might even become greater than the federal authority at Ottawa.

Premier Duplessis said Ontario, Quebec and the Maritimes were tired of being run for the benefit of the West, and that of course had reference to the amount of direct relief which it has been necessary to provide for the people of the prairie provinces. It was the idea of the Quebec Premier that the country from the head of the lakes east to the Atlantic seaboard had been called upon to give too much and would therefore give no more.

Such a thing may have sounded well enough when it was being delivered. It may have given Mr. Duplessis opportunity to know he was saying something which was making people sit up and gasp or wonder whether their ears were playing tricks. It was indeed big news that Ontario, Quebec and the Maritime provinces were coming together to form some sort of an alliance to tell Ottawa how the Dominion of Canada was to be run, and it was also quite a large calibre saying that this section of the country was not going to be the milch cow to provide relief for the western provinces. Certainly the gentleman from Quebec was putting big stuff through the banquet mill.

It seems to have looked different when Premier Duplessis found out what the rest of the country thought about it; when the maritimes said they knew nothing of it and when Premier Hepburn was moved to mild form of denial. The spokesman for the new movement was left standing somewhat alone, and he took refuge in that fine old saying: "I have been misquoted." We do not believe for one moment the man had been misquoted. The report as it appeared in the Examiner was from the Canadian Press and Canadian Press writers do not misreport people. Premier Duplessis said more than he should have said, and the question is: "How much should he have said to correctly interpret what had been going on at the inter-provincial conference?"

There will be small patience regarding his crack at the West on account of the mount of direct relief which has been necessary there. It causes it to appear as though the rest of the Dominion were in the class with those who would willingly wash their hands of the responsibility of looking after their own people, preferring to consign them to some sort of federal house of refuge.

The people in the large sections of Western Canada have been suffering sufficiently without having Premier Duplessis of Quebec rise to say or suggest that the rest of the Dominion had grown weary of the burden and would have no more to do with it. It is not so many years back since Eastern Canada was receiving its most impressive business from the Canadian West. There are factories in Ontario and Quebec which would be running full blast today if the volume of Western business could be restored.

This business of trying to set one section of our Dominion against the other, or of trying to bring a number of provinces to the point where they would combine to challenge federal authority is about as mischievous an errand as could be devised. We want nothing to do with it because it is utterly unwholesome and unworthy. It would be well if Premier Hepburn intends to hold more conferences with Premier Duplessis of Quebec that he keep the people of this province well and plainly informed of the matters which come for discussion.

A Fair Request

Members of the City Council are to interview the Fire Underwriters' Association in Toronto and seek a reduction in the city's key insurance rate. For twenty-one years the citizens of Peterborough have been penalized on account of the disastrous Quaker Oats fire which occurred on December 11, 1916 and the loss of which amounted to $2,225,000.

During this period the council has sought to improve the fire protection, new mains have been built, old ones laid years ago have been replaced and the fire department completely motorized. Added to all this under Chief Gimblett a thorough system of inspection has been put in force. Our fire losses have decreased; they have been as low as $6,165.93 and only twice in those twenty-one years have they exceeded $100,000.

Peterborough's key rate is 50 cents while St. Catharines has a 25 cent rate, Oshawa 40 cents and Kingston 40 cents. Our losses in the past ten years have been $464,630; Oshawa had a loss of $489,579 and Kingston $952,526.

Every property holder, every business man, every industrialist, every citizen is vitally interested. They have paid the penalty for 21 years imposed on the entire city to make up the indemnity the insurance companies had to pay the Quaker Oats. Surely now it is time that the citizens were given a fair rate and the City Council is to be commended on the step it plans to take.

Does Not Add Up Right

Barbara Hutton is said to be worth $40,000,000. She inherited the money from her grandfather, F. W. Woolworth, who made the money out of his string of chain stores. Barbara Hutton married a Danish nobleman and she then became Countess Barbara von Haugwitz-Reventlow. She left New York where she formerly lived and now has given up her American citizenship. In order to do so she arrived in New York on one rather stately liner, attended to some little legal business, and next day started off on another liner of equal stateliness.

The one day when she was in New York girls were parading in front of the Woolworth store carrying placards which announced they were on strike. They have been receiving $15.60 per week, and claim it is not possible to live in New York on that amount, a claim with which any person will agree who has even a cursory knowledge of living costs in that great city.

The Countess seems to have fared better than the girls who work in the stores which made her fortune. She has $40,000,000, and that is a great deal, while the girls quit work because they received but $15.60 per week. Admittedly there is something in that situation which does not add up right.

The Way Is Still Open

A report from Schenectady, N.Y., says that Charles E. Wilson, of Bridgeport, Conn., has been named executive vice-president of the General Electric Co.

More interesting is the added information that Charles E. Wilson, now in his early 40's began his business career as an office boy. Later he became assistant superintendent, then sales manager.

Probably there are those who will smile broadly when they read of such a thing and regard it as one of those success stories which they used to print in papers for young boys to read.

It is not the intention of this paper to try and hold Mr. Wilson up as an example of what can be done, but rather to note that the day of advancement has not passed.

In a recent issue of the Saturday Evening Post there was a two-page advertisement, illustrated with photographs, showing that the presidents of the various Bell Telephone Co. state organizations across the line are almost without exception men who started with the company in junior capacities. The high places in industrial or commercial life go to men who have the ability to fill them, who thoroughly understand the work in hand, who can make wise decisions and meet with sincerity and honesty the problems of the day. One who has started as a junior and worked his way up from the ranks stands a pretty fair chance of being selected as a senior executive. And it takes a good deal more than what is called influence or pull to reach such a place.

In The Same Class

Police in Toronto raided a printing office and also arrested an editor. The charge is that the magazines being printed in the place are obscene literature.

It is interesting if not encouraging to find that the circulation of these magazines which are said to be obscene is 10,000 for one, 20,000 for another, while the third has 35,000, or a total of 65,000 copies.

These magazines are not given away. People pay out their money to buy them—65,000 of them. And police seem inclined toward the belief they are not fit to read.

If people did not want to read that class of literature there would be none of it published because there would be no sale for it. So it all comes back to the dull and bad-smelling fact that the 65,000 people who read this material are in the same class as the people who publish it.

The Extent Of Taxation

In the current number of the Imperial Oil Review is an explanation of where the dollar spent by the motorist for gasoline goes. The average motorist would have little reason at any time to know very much about it. Now and then he has it brought to his attention that the government takes six cents per gallon for what is somewhat erroneously called highway tax, but apart from that he had no occasion to worry about how the dollar is split.

According to the table published in Imperial Oil Review it goes this way:

Crude oil cost	18 cents
Manufacturing and marketing	35 "
Freight	15 "
Taxes	27½ "
Imperial Oil Profit	4½ "

Attention is drawn to the fact that it means a profit of 1¼ cents per gallon. But more interesting is the fact that our taxing bodies are getting more out of it than is the company which has invested millions of dollars in the business. No doubt all our taxing bodies, including federal, provincial and municipal, have seen to it that they have tapped the oil and gas business, and they have done it so successfully that the consumer's dollar spent for gas yield's 27½ cents in taxes and 4½ cents in profit.

War And Apologies

This business of modern warfare is hard to understand. Japan bombed both British and United States vessels, and the American vessel, the gunboat Panay, was sent to the bottom.

That is as much an act of war as anything could be as an American gunboat would be plainly marked; Japanese bombers would know what they were attacking. They are too skilled to claim they made a mistake.

Then what? It passes to a stage of writing notes and offering apologies. If the offending gentleman bows low enough when offering an apology and says he is willing to pay for the damage which he has done, then it seems the apology is acceptable. The fact that several people have been killed in the operation seems to escape notice although it is plain to the point of being abundantly so that an apology can have little bearing upon a dead man.

If one nation like Japan which insists on bombing and fighting were to grow sufficiently schooled in the fine art of making apologies, then it could do about as it liked—provided always that a representative bowed low and apologized.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Perhaps when Mr. Hepburn was talking about turning back to Niagara he really meant turning his back on Niagara.

In Quebec a minister was convicted in court of having too many wives. It appears that when his wife became forty he changed her for two twenties.

Just how great the dairy instinct is in Woodstock can be judged by the finding of 228 milk bottles in the cellar of one home.

We have an idea that a boxer with a name like Baby Yack would just naturally have to do a great deal of fighting.

According to an American professor maternal love is a mere matter of chemicals. Somehow we would hate to think that he is right.

Canada's dairy industry has enjoyed its best year since the depression and there is still any amount of room for expansion.

It is said that the traffic problem in London has become so bad that people find walking quicker than buses. And more dangerous too we surmise.

Music is being taught in 128 class rooms in the rural schools of this district. In spite of that fact we imagine that many of the pupils still continue to tune in Cab Calloway.

The opening of a school for transatlantic pilots at Croydon is another evidence of the fact that regular passenger service between the United Kingdom and North America will soon be a routine affair.

Two motorists convicted at Hamilton of reckless driving go to jail for 30 days and their driving permits have been suspended. The authorities should see to it that the second part of this sentence is effective for some time.

Anthony Eden has been telling the British House that the situation in the East is grave and at least Britain's foreign minister has not left himself open to charges of having been guilty of exaggeration.

Thermometer has been down below zero two or three times and we hope that after showing the prophets of open winter there has been something wrong in their calculation, the mercury will now be satisfied to move up a few degrees.

REAL WINTER

(By A. R. K.)

¶ When I lived on Concession Ten, along with other little men, I heard of pioneer times; of winter storms that swept on them, and landed hard on pioneer men, and well night froze their spines.

¶ Grandfather used to spin a yarn, on how he could not find the barn, the snow banks were so high; he searched and dug for nigh two days, then found the error of his ways, he'd passed the barn straight by.

¶ When he went out to milk the cow, he found one day the fatted sow, 'twas frozen tail to snout; he dragged her to the kitchen fire, and had her trussed with rope and wire, so he could thaw her out.

¶ The snow fell awful thick they say, they measured it by yards one day, for weeks 'twould never thaw; it covered all the windows tight, they couldn't tell the day from night, the stove it wouldn't draw.

¶ And I have heard grandfather say, he froze his nose most every day, 'twas just a trifling thing; it was no use to worry then, and he did like the other men, just thawed it in the spring.

¶ And I have listened to them tell, how poultry didn't do too well, and that it never paid; it was too cold on chickens' legs, and zero also froze the eggs—before the things were laid.

THE recent U.S. Economic committees' report on tobacco, published in Britain recently revealed that Industry as one of the world's most flourishing businesses. In 90 years the amount of tobacco smoked in the United Kingdom has almost doubled.

Though pipe tobacco which in 1907 accounted for almost two-thirds of home consumption in Britain has slumped to a little over one- quarter, five cigarettes are smoked today for every one smoked 90 years ago.

The changes in American smoking habits are even more startling. Thirty-seven years ago half the United States consumption was of chewing tobacco, cigars came second and pipes third while cigarettes accounted for barely 3 per cent. Today cigarettes cover one half the total consumption, cigars have dropped to third place and chewing tobacco has lost four- fifths of its former popularity.

Although 22 cigarettes are smoked now for every one smoked 90 years ago America's total per capita consumption of tobacco has been on the down-grade since 1920.

In Britain well over 75 per cent. of the leaf used in pipe tobaccos was imported from Empire sources in 1935. The prejudice of cigarette-smokers against Empire-grown tobacco still lingers but even so about seven per cent of the leaf used in manufacturing English cigarettes last year came from within the Empire compared with less than one per cent ten years ago.

This progress is all the more notable because the total consumption of cigarette leaf itself has increased by more than 50 per cent. in the same period.

Cigar-smoking in Britain has declined by three-fifths between 1907 and 1927 but lately a recovery has been indicated.

Getting Too Expensive.

ACCORDING to one English newspaper the authorities in several parts of Africa are now seriously considering the question of vetoing private airplane flights across Africa unless a sum of money is deposited to defray the expenses of a possible search. The rescue operations involved when Brigadier-General Lewin and his wife were forced down in a swamp near Malakal recently was nearly $40,000.

The animal strength of the British Army, we are told, is 11,650 horses, 818 mules, one donkey and one ox. The donkey is stationed at Gibraltar where he is employed in carrying laundry about the Rock and the ox in Mauritius where he drags the refuse cart attached to barracks.

Rory de Valera, undergraduate in engineering at Dublin, and said to be the most brilliant of all the de Valeras, was given a gold watch by his father on his 21st birthday. He is the third son of the President of the Irish Free State.

Before starting on a six months trip to Africa Chief Scout Lord Baden-Powell who is eighty said that he might be going to Africa to die. "I would like" he said "to go up to the gold coast to have another look at Ashanti. I'd probably catch fever there but I wouldn't mind. I'd rather die in Africa, where my heart is, than anywhere else."

In Ireland many folk are fearful that the new constitution presages a dictatorship and, mindful of past civil wars, they are of the opinion that conflict can only be avoided by restoring the ancient Kings of Tara.

To ensure that the Japanese air force has enough gasoline taxis have been ordered to cease cruising streets in search of fares and by midnight all vehicles must be in their garages. Building in Japan has virtually come to a halt as all metals are required for armaments, and the Finance Ministry announced recently that nickel five and ten sen pieces are to be replaced by paper money.

Nazi Economies.

RECENTLY a crusade was launched in Germany for using waste materials and every month the refuse of all towns with a population of over 35,000 must be closely inspected by official uniformed dealers. A particularly watchful eye is kept on waste-paper. Housewives and shopkeepers are told to avoid unnecessary wrappings but every care is taken that export orders are well protected so that foreigners will not receive the impression of a Nazi paper famine. Empty jute sacks must not be cut up or sold except to official buyers.

Reference has been made several times in this column to the feudal dues dating back to ancient times that were paid to the King during his recent visit to Launceston Castle. In addition to those that have already been mentioned the gifts also included a pound of cumin, a herb introduced into Britain by the Romans and used by them to cure colic, a bunch of faggots and a bow of alder.

This year King George and Queen Elizabeth will send out nearly a thousand Christmas gifts, mostly small and inexpensive but much treasured by the recipients. Queen Mary has always had a list of several hundreds and the Gloucesters and the Kents send out between two and three hundred gifts each. Details of the personal gifts exchanged between members of the Royal family are never known but King George is said to have ordered some aquamarine jewelery for the Queen on this occasion.

THEN WHAT?

Editor Examiner:

Sir: Many years ago there was a movement to have a Parks Commission for Peterborough but it fell through. At that time the Council made a grant of two or three hundred dollars to the Horticultural Society and they carried out the job of getting the flowers planted and the grass attended to. At the present time we have a Park Committee with Alderman Stocker as Chairman. This has been all right so far. It is probably costing the City as much as it would do under a Commission, but the thing is, suppose the present Chairman is turned down at the poll this year? This may happen for they don't like this hounding of other officials. Where would be be then, or is the job on ice?

PARKUS.

CRITICAL

Editor Examiner:

Sir: It would not have seemed possible a few years ago that a bylaw that was passed by a majority of the electorate could be used as simply a scrap of paper, by a council just because a minority class requested the council to do so. Yet this is just what happened here. Are we as Citizens going to allow this to happen again?

At the time of the strike in the textile mills there were several speakers who thanked the citizens for their support. The wealth that some have was not lessened very much. It has been stated many times the strike was justified, but the strikers are still waiting for their increase and the juggling is still going on by the government.

Our Council as a body did nothing to stop the strike or to get a settlement for people who elected them. What are the working classes to do? Must they be simply used as tools or are they a part of the organization to keep the wheels of industry turning? Would a labor board in the council be a benefit where the labor disputes can be taken and action used to try and stop a strike? or if a strike, to work on a settlement? Could they not have some pressure on a government?The rents are increasing on the homes and the tenants are told to pay the increase or get out. Get out where? Out along the side of the road? With the present high cost of living people are paying more than they can now. We have in the city several buildings along our streets with the upper storeys vacant. They do not look good especially when we consider the unemployed were left out in tents to suffer, and then when houses could not be procured for them, to shift some out of the city.

Why could not our council request the owners to put partitions and where necessary some plumbing in these buildings and rent these flats? If the owners will not do this why would it not be good business for the city to take a lease of these buildings and put the unemployed to work to put them in shape and let the unemployed have what they require and the rent allowance go to the city treasury? The rest of them will bring in a revenue to cover the expense by renting them to others. It would be hoped that the council would have a better heart than some landlords.

Has the market hall been inspected lately? Is it safe for large crowds to use? A great many are wondering. Will some one in the know please answer?

Yours truly,
MAURICE E. KETCHESON.

DAYLIGHT SAVING

Editor Examiner:

Sir: Kindly allow me through your columns to congratulate Maurice Ketcheson for bringing day-light saving before the last meeting of the council, and I also wish to congratulate the council for deciding to take a vote on it at the municipal elections, and I will congratulate the incoming council if they obey the voice of the electors.

It matters little to me personally whether we have day-light saving or standard time; but as a citizen of our fine city, I think of my neighbor the farmer who is a great asset to our city. I know well the position they are placed in, their day is from sunrise to sunset, and they must do their work when the Lord permits. Now let the citizens of our city by their vote practice the Golden Rule do unto others that they would have others do unto them if they were placed in the some condition. Now I would suggest that the Ministerial Association take firm stand on this question and set an example in the practice of the Golden Rule as all of our churches have many farmers coming a good many miles to attend the church of their choice in our city and if daylight-saving should carry I would suggest that they call their evening services at 8 o'clock p.m., as it is impossible for the farmer to do his necessary evening work and attend the evening service at regular hour daylight-saving time.

THAT PETTY THIEVING

Editor Examiner:

Sir: If you, as head of a family find that occasional coins are being taken from your pocket, there are two forms of procedure that you might follow. Would you prefer to remove the temptation, or to establish contact with the person involved?

We citizen taxpayers realize that in the task of administering a great urban educational system, petty thieving does not warrant major consideration. To date officialdom has been content with warning students against leaving money in their pockets and lockers, but scholars are prone to forget (aren't we all?) and meanwhile the espionage continues.

During this month we are being made acquainted with various candidates seeking election to the Board of Education. Dare we hope to find among them one who will pledge himself to at least look into this matter? You will agree Mr. Editor that even a minor ailment affects the efficiency of any organism, and you have read long ago, I have no doubt, about little worms which eventually sank the big ship?

Signed by one who prefers to see waywardness corrected than to remove the candlesticks.

When Peterboro' Hadn't Any Sidewalks

Reminiscences of Late William Cluxton Recall Early Days in History of This Community

IN A JUBILEE number of the Peterborough Review of June 19, 1907 which a reader of The Examiner has kindly called to our attention there was a most interesting article by the late William Cluxton, one of the city's best known citizens of yesteryear in which he gave some most reminiscences of Peterborough in the early days.

"In 1836-37" wrote Mr. Cluxton "there were four large—for those days—general stores in Peterborough. These were Nicholls', Perry's, Crawford's and Fortune and Shaw's. E. Perry and Company carried on business in Cobourg and Crawford in Port Hope and the Peterborough stores were branches. Perry's was managed by William Eastland and Crawford's by the writer of these reminiscences.

"I took charge of Crawford's branch store when I had arrived at the mature age of 17 years and for that responsible office I was paid the magnificient salary of $120 a year and board. The salary continued at that rate for five years until Mr. Crowford's death, then I got $220 for the sixth year for winding up the business."

"In the early days of Peterborough fires in the large places and large stoves were seldom allowed to go out as it was no easy job to light them in the morning. The coals at night were covered with ashes and raked out in the morning.

"I have in my office a large Dundee (Scotland) box stove which has warmed me for sixty-one years. I managed it in this way. If a fire went out a steel, flint and tinder box had to be used to strike fire. When lucifer matchers came in this was all changed."

By Candle Light

"Moulded tallow candles—home-made—were used for lighting shops and houses. In the evening the candle—in the candlestick, with snuffers, tray and extinguisher—was set on the table. One reading had to keep constantly turning round to snuff the candle. I remember passing the small one-storey clap-boarded house of Postmaster Sandford at Fairweather' corner. The window was open and I saw two candles burning on the table. I thought that was extravagance and putting on style."

I remember when buyers on the street used to run after every load of grain that came to town wildmen—bidding over each other. Those were the palmy days for Peterborough which was for many years the best market in Canada. Then the streets especially at the storehouses were lined with farmers teams, some of them from the neighborhood of Lindsay and other distant points.

The journey from Port Hope to Peterborough in the fall in a common lumber wagon when the deep muddy roads were frozen up was not pleasant for a gouty or rheumatic person.

I have travelled on this road on dark nights when one could not see his hand in front of him and the horses were allowed to find the road. All the goods from the front were carted in wagons over the natural road of the county to Peterborough."

Weekly Mail

"After some years we got a weekly mail to the village. I remember very well the first handsome coach and four driving across the market square to the old Government House situated where the Bank of Montreal now stands (now the Peterborough Club). It was a gladsome sight to see a mail coach. We felt civilization had begun to dawn upon us."

"There were overshoes or rubbers in the early days and people were much subject to coughs and colds from wet feet. When rubber did come in they were roughly made without lining and I think without heels. The soles were as smooth as the upper and the life of a man who attempted to walk in them on icy roads was not worth six pence."

"There were no sidewalks in Peterborough then. After some time there was a ditch made on the east side of George Street to Hunter Street the gravel being thrown up for a sidewalk. Before that people walked in the middle of the road. Whiskey was only six pence a quart. Temperance people who now dictate so much had not then come into existence."

"Between Ormond and Walsh's and the Bank of Toronto there was only one log house—occupied by a most excellent citizen Mr. Richard Winch. There was a great stone chimney built outside of this house to carry off the smoke from the great log fire within. On the opposite side of the street where Gough's store is now there was a vegetable garden owned by Mr. Almond a watchmaker. The half acre between Ormond and Walsh's corner at Simcoe St. to 196 feet west was sold for a pair of cart wheels and on the other side from Oak Hall corner to Mr. LeBrun's store to one Bailey for $30. Speaking about cart wheels we had no wagons. In the early days of Peterborough people came to the village in ox carts, drawn by oxen."

A Bible Message For To-day . . . .

FOR THUS saith the Lord unto the house of Israel, Seek ye me, and ye shall live: but seek not Beth-el, nor enter into Gilgal, and pass not to Beersheba: for Gilgal shall come to nought. . . . Ye who turn judgment to wormwood, and leave off righteousness in the earth, seek him that maketh the seven stars and Orion, and turneth the shadow of death into the morning, and maketh the day dark with night: that calleth for the waters of the sea, and poureth them out upon the face of the earth: The Lord is his name. . . . . Seek good, and not evil, that ye may live: and so the Lord, the God of hosts, shall be with you, as ye have spoken.— Amos v, 4, 5, 7, 8, 14.

For, lo, he that formeth the mountains, and createth the wind, and declareth unto man what is his thought, that maketh the morning darkness, and treadeth upon the high places of the earth, The Lord, The God of hosts, is his name.— Amos iv, 13.

My son, if thou wilt receive my words, and hide my commandments with thee. . . . Yea, if thou criest after knowledge, and liftest up thy voice for understanding. . . . Then shalt thou understand the fear of the Lord, and find the knowledge of God. For the Lord giveth wisdom: out of his mouth cometh knowledge and understanding.—Prov. ii, 1, 3, 5, 6.

Government Will Pay No Longer For Relief Wood Cutting

North Monaghan Council Has Been So Informed By Welfare Minister

At the final meeting of North Monaghan Council for the year on Wednesday, Reeve James Milby reported that he had interviewed the Minister of Welfare, Hon. Eric Cross, and had been informed that the Ontario Government would not contribute any more money for relief work for wood-cutting.

All the members of the Council were present at the meeting, which was held in the Courthouse on Wednesday afternoon.

The Vannest brothers waited on the Council re building a small wood-working shop on Herman Avenue and the matter was laid over for further consideration on account of it being too close to the Confederation School.

Reeve Milby reported that he had made an inspection of the South Monaghan boundary road with Reeve Waterman and Councillor Thompson of South Monaghan and that he recommended that the two municipalities continue the agreement for the maintenance of the boundary road for another five years, with a clause to be inserted that the weed cutting and brush cutting must be attended by them and that all gravel must be properly spread.

A resolution was passed that Archie Patterson, road superintendent, be authorized to go over the placing of poles and braces for the Bell Telephone Company lines in North Monaghan, east of Park Street, and that when the said road superintendent agrees as to the position of said poles on the public streets that the Bell Telephone Company will not be responsible for the cost of changing the said lines on township streets in this area, but that the Bell Telephone Company is responsible as notified in a previous letter for the removal of poles or braces on property owned by the township and acquired by tax sale deed if the said poles or braces are at any time obstructing the use of the said property.

Ernie Saunders, assessed for $1,550 on tax bills with the schedule showing $1,500.

A resolution was passed that the errors made in the assessment rolls as shown on the schedules be corrected and that refunds be made accordingly, also that H. P. Laing be relieved of the weed cutting, it being clearly shown that no weeds had been cut on his lot, that the assessment of Ernest Saunders be reduced $50 to comply with the assessment notice, and that all taxes be adjusted accordingly.

Clearing Approaches

A communication was read from J. A. P. Marshall, department of highways, asking that the road superintendent receive special instructions from the council to have approaches to railway crossings in the township properly cleaned of brush and trees and that proper advance warning signs be erected at the required distance from all crossings.

So Bad With Nerves Would Lie Down and Cry

It is generally admitted that nerve troubles are more frequent than formerly and growing more so every day.

Wherever there are people whose health is poor, and their nerves shattered, they will find in Milburn's Health and Nerve Pills a tonic that will help to restore the deranged centres, and bring the nervous system back to its old time condition.

Mrs. K. M. Harvey, Bramber, N.S., writes:—"I got so bad with my nerves I would lie down on the bed and cry. Most of the time it just seemed I could not help it and would not know what I was crying for. I used to feel as if I would go crazy I was so bad.

I tried several different medicines, but received no relief. I then took Milburn's Health and Nerve Pills, four boxes of them, and started to feel better after the first few doses. Now I feel better in every way."

COUNCIL FAVORS BASKET PROGRAM HASTINGS NEEDY

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HASTINGS, Dec. 18.—Tax collector R. W. Mongomery, in his report to the Hastings Municipal Council Wednesday night, announced that $1,850 was still outstanding and that $11,447.86 had ben collected. The total amount of taxes collectable is $13,300. These figures compare with last year within $5.

W. Wellman, poll tax and dog tax collector, in his report stated that $108 had been collected from dog owners and that four owners were in arrears. He was instructed to see that those in arrears be paid up. Poll taxes amounted to $65.50 for the year and had all been collected, as were the milk licenses, he also reported.

A hospital account received by the council from Peterborough regarding a child which had been under their care for some time, was disputed. The clerk was instructed to advise them that said patient was not a resident of this municipality.

Jake Killenbeck interviewed the council requesting permission to cut a tree near his residence, for fuel. The council will have a look at it Thursday. Cyril Blackbourne, Sr., was granted permission to use two drums at Christmas time.

Constable Wellman was questioned regarding some oil drums, property of the town, which had been placed on his residential property. Three drums valued at $1 each were missing. Their whereabouts were determined and he was instructed to collect $1 each for two drums from the resident who took them.

Bylaw No. 782, appointing deputy returning officers and poll clerks for the municipal election, received its several readings. On a motion of Kelly and Lynch, Miss M. Hannick will be given a rebate of $19.00 in error of taxes.

Fire chief Fred Dodd, read his annual report on the year's activities of the fire department. He stated everything was in good shape and that they needed new boots and hats. His report was accepted on a motion of Kelly and Lynch.

Mrs. G. Kerr, on behalf of the Women's Institute, made a request for some financial assistance for a community Christmas Tree, they were planning to have erected on the park, for the festive season. The Institute would give $10, if the council would give them assistance. Reeve Fairman, expressing his views stated he was not in favour of a community tree where the gifts were handed out in a wholesale manner. He stated they would be willing to offer financial assistance if they could arrange to get together and make up baskets and have them delivered by a "Santa Claus" to the respective homes of the needy. Councillor Kelly thought this was a good idea as they would know where the gifts were going. Reeve Fairman obtained a price of $25 approximately to wire a community tree with colored lights and this was regarded as more expensive than the gifts. Reeve Fairman and Councillor Kelly are to meet members of the Women's Institute on Thursday on this matter.

The reeve, in commenting near the close of the last statuary meeting to be held this year, stated they had come through the hardest year since he had been in the council, which is six years. Accounts totalling close to $6,000 were ordered paid on a motion of Stevenson and Dodd.

The 1937 council for the municipality then dissolved.

Collegiate Notes

PURPLE PATCHES

The students are starting early this year in the production of material for the Purple Patches section of the annual school magazine, "Echoes." Through their own magazines, students of other schools have expressed appreciation of the poems, short stories, and other pieces which P.C.V.S. students composed last year.

The Literary Society have not yet selected awards for Purple Patches contributions

P. T. classes have been interrupted this week as the gymnasium is being decorated in preparation for the annual "At Home". This delay for basketball practices may be costly to the senior and junior girls' and boys' basketball teams since the schedule opens on January 7. The teams travel to Port Hope for their first games.

HOCKEY

W. E. Jackson attended the meeting of the Junior City League Hockey Association on Tuesday evening. He has definitely entered a school team into this grouping. A fine schedule is promised as already three teams have entered the circuit. All games will be played at the Brock Street rink.

It is hoped that inter-form hockey will be promoted this year. In this way more interest will be taken in the game and talent developed for the school senior team.

OBSERVATION PLATFORM

We regret to hear of Don Henderen's arm injury, which he received in the rugby game last Saturday in Hamilton. Last year Don starred as snap on the P.C.V.S. rugby team. Since Don was not attending school this year, he entered gridiron warfare with the Peterborough Orfuns. He is in the hospital now and is recovering rapidly . . . . A cheerful Christmas atmosphere prevails in the morning assemblies as the students joyously sing Christmas carols. . . . . Cheer up, first and second formers, the examinations will soon be over and holidays lie before you. . . . . Phil Turner was certainly given a rousing sendoff Wednesday morning when P.C.I.'s rugby mentor assisted him to the door with a couple long punts. Fortunately the only casualty was a badly broken geometry set, which was lodged in Phil's back pocket. . . For further information on the "Final Kickoff" consult Phil.

LINDSAY ELECTION POT IS SIMMERING

(Examiner Correspondence.)

LINDSAY, Dec. 18.—The municipal election pot is simmering in real earnest and a lively election is assured the first Monday in the new year. Merle Dikerson, who was disqualified from a seat on the local Hydro Commission two years ago, has announced his intention of again running for a seat on that body. Alderman William Langdon, it is announced, will oppose Reeve Alex Horn for that office, while Fred Broom will oppose Deputy-reeve Baker. The latter has held that office for four years.

Transient Sentenced

Six months in the Guelph Reformatory was the sentence handed out to Gordon Anderson, a transient, by Magistrate Gee Friday on the charge of vagrancy and the theft of fowl. A lighter sentence was planned by the magistrate, but the accused requested a sentence that would get him in the Reformatory. "When I get out of the Reformatory I will be given some clothing and a little money to get started," Anderson stated.

Set Owners Fined

Standing room was at a premium at the police court Friday when an army of radio owners from different parts of the district answered summonses to appear in court for failure to buy licenses. All paid fines, together with the cost of the license. The charges were laid by inspectors from the Department of Transport, Ottawa. After the holidays the inspectors intend investigating conditions in Lindsay.

ANNIVERSARY HELD BY ORANGE WOMEN

The building was filled to capacity and during the first part of the evening euchre was enjoyed, 18 tables being played. At the conclusion of the game, lunch was served by the members of the lodge. A huge birthday cake, prettily iced in white and silver and graced by two glowing candles, was a feature of the evening and was included in the refreshments.

The euchre prizes were won by Miss Evelyn Campbell and Mr. Fred McNeil. Mr. Osborne McMullen won the door prize and Miss Geraldine Wallace of Kinmount won the lovely "dresden plate" quilt. The remainder of the evening was spent in dancing to music supplied by Mr. P. Hamilton's orchestra. The net proceeds of the evening amounted to forty dollars.

Charlie Davidson Resigns Post As Campbellford Fire Chief

Clarence Williams Is Named As Successor At Council Meeting

(Examiner Correspondence.)

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 18.—After serving for nearly fifty years as a member of the fire department and fire chief for thirty-two years the resignation of Charlie Davidson was received and accepted by the council at their statutory meeting held on Wednesday. Council passed an expression of appreciation to the chief for his long years of faithful service. It was revealed in the letter of resignation that at a meeting of the members of the fire department held on Tuesday Clarence Williams was appointed to succeed the chief.

Reporting on the Christmas welfare work the Mayor told council that Mrs. George Hawthorne and Captain D. Sharpe were placed in charge of the purchase of toys and provisions for the baskets at a meeting held last Tuesday evening. The Ministerial Association will sponsor a Christmas Carol concert in the Hollywood theatre on December 19 when a silver collection will be taken to be added to this fund.

The mayor made the recommendation that council should make a contribution towards the purchase of toys to be added to the Christmas baskets of the children. Councillor O'Sullivan and Reeve E. H. McKeel expressed strong objection to the suggestion of taking money from the public accounts for this purpose. "I don't see how we have any right to throw away fifty or one hundred dollars for this purpose and I think the majority of those sitting on this council would be willing to donate from their own pockets," said the Reeve. The mayor stated that it was his feeling the children should be provided with some small toys.

On motion of Deputy-reeve Calver and Councillor McColl, Reeve E. H. McKeel was appointed to canvas all town employees to raise funds for the Christmas baskets.

Councillor McColl announced that the cenotaph fund had been closed and that he was handing over to the town treasurer the sum of $245 which was the total amount of the subscriptions. A motion was passed whereby all accounts with the exception of $100 to the Water and Light Commission, were added to the pay sheet.

In reply to Councillor MacMillan, Mr. McColl stated that although definite figures were not yet available the treasurer's report to date indicated the town would come within its budget for the year. Councillor O'Sullivan objected strongly to making the taxpayers pay this additional amount estimated at $649 but received little support from the other members and the matter was dropped.

Proposes New Agreement

The matter of a new agreement with the Water and Light Commission was placed before the council by Councillor O'Sullivan who stated the old agreement made in 1924 was out of date. A recommendation that the new council make no payments to the commission until a new agreement was reached was passed on motion of Councillors O'Sullivan and McColl.

A by-law was passed for the renewal of the lease for the property on Front street used as a hospital by Dr. E. A. Stuart. The by-law incorporated the same terms as the one previously made and was for a term of five years dating from December 1, 1937. The by-law providing for the holding of the municipal election was then passed. Nominations will be held on December 27 at the parish hall and polling booths will be located as follows:

Ward I, Police Office; Ward II, Herald Office; Ward III, Armouries; Ward IV, Henson's Shoe Store.

Deputy returning officers and poll clerks were appointed as follows:

IA—D.R., Robert Bullen; P.C., Miss Callaghan. 1B—D.R., C. P. Rouhan; P.C., Alex Little; II—D.R., Free Clark; P.C., William Hume.

Ward IV—D.R., H. Conwell; P.C., George Boyd.

Sadly missed by his colleagues, was R. M. Stuart, who holds the distinction of being the oldest cricketer in Ontario, and is usually an active participant in the club's activities. Orders for ten turkeys were awarded as prizes in a Christmas contest during the evening. The hall had been attractively decorated with blue and white streamers around the walls.

Christmas Treat
Caledonian Club.

The annual Christmas tree entertainment of the Caledonian Club was held on Friday evening in the Woodmen of the World Hall. This is really the main children's event of the club's social season, and the senior members spare no effort to give the children a night of real enjoyment and fun.

Mrs. O. Supden, as convenor, with a willing staff of assistants, had the hall in readiness for the little guests who arrived for supper at 6.30 o'clock. A large lighted and decorated Christmas tree placed on the platform made the proper background for the long tables laid with white damask and decorated with red and green streamers. Small cherry trees and other Christmas novelties were placed at intervals along the centre.

Fifty happy children each adorned with a paper hat, enjoyed a sumptuous treat of sandwiches, cake and ice cream.

A color scheme of red and green was carried out in the hall decoration, which was done with paper streamers. After the small folks had done full justice to the eats, a musical program was staged, under the direction of Mrs. J. Wyllie. J. Miller was in the chair, and announced the numbers, which were greatly enjoyed by the parents and friends who always gather in goodly numbers for this annual outstanding event of the club.

After the musical program, Santa Claus (R. Hendry) decked out in the traditional garb, arrived to the delight of the children. He proceeded to the platform while the hall resounded with cheers. After greeting the children, he proceeded to distribute the presents, which were piled around the base of the tree. Each child received a gift, accompanied with a bag of fruit and candy. Games were played, with Mrs. J. Harrison and Mrs. R. Bugg taking turns at the piano.

The program was as follows: "Hark! the Herald Angels" (everybody singing); song, Bobby Sugden; song, Betty Harrison; recitation, Vernon Tarkington; song, Freda Grey; song, Eileen Townsley; recitation, Margaret Storey; tap dance, Joan Dooley; recitation, Patricia Ann Wyllie; recitation, Joan Parks; recitation, Arleigh Ballard; song, Jean Mary Findlay; recitation, Shirley Storey; song, Nell May; recitation, Edith Cummings; recitation, Margaret Hutton; recitation, Marion Brown; song, Edith Miller; recitation, Marion Julian; song, Jean Shadgett; recitation, Margaret Boggs; song, Nancy Leigh; recitation, Doris Hendry; song, Clifford Pirie; violin solo, Jack Wilson; song, Jean Jackson; tap dances by Shirley Gardner and Kenneth Simmons. Next Friday the members will meet as usual on Christmas Eve for a social evening.

Cuddy-McCarvey.

MARMORA, Dec. 18.— The marriage of Mary Olive, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Matthew McCarvey, of Marmora, and Wesley Herman Cuddy, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. S. Cuddy of Cloyne, took place at the residence of the bride's parents on Wednesday evening at 8.30. Rev. S. S. O'Brien of Campbellford, performed the ceremony.

Mrs. H. O'Brien played Lohengrin's Chorus and before the ceremony, Bruce Hobson sang "O Perfect Love" and during the signing of the register "I Love You Truly."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, looked lovely in a dress of brown Burgundy crepe and cut velvet caught with brilliants at the throat, with silver buttons down the front. She wore a bandeaux of brown and orange marigolds done with silver. A corsage bouquet and orange chrysanthemums completed her costume.

The bridesmaid, Rose McCarvey, sister of the bride, wore a gown of apple green krinkle crepe, with the neckline caught with a brilliant at throat. The pointed yoke was finished with two rows of buttons and bishop sleeves of chiffon and silver braid completed her gown. She also wore a bandeaux in her hair of silver and green.

The best man was Clifford Robertson. The rooms were decorated with white streamers and wedding bells.

The bridal couple received beneath a canopy. They will reside in Marmora.

Lovely Color Harmony for Adjoining Rooms

Work magic with color, as professional decorators do.

Tie adjoining rooms together with clever variations of harmonious color accents. Keep backgrounds the same color for spaciousness.

Let us say walls in both rooms are ivory, rugs dark brown. Use clear green, yellow and coral for the connecting color links.

The living room is gay with a vivid green and yellow bird print above the sofa, yellow pottery lamp base and perky foliage plant on the end table, a green slip cover for one chair.

And flecks of crimson in patterned draperies, cut flowers or a rosy begonia plant on the low coffee table pick up the solid coral glow of the dining room draperies.

Tall green candles on the dining room sideboard and flower prints on the walls blend with living room color accents.

Smart, fascinating color schemes, tonics for tired rooms, clever ways of combining old furniture with new—you'll find them all in our 32-page booklet.

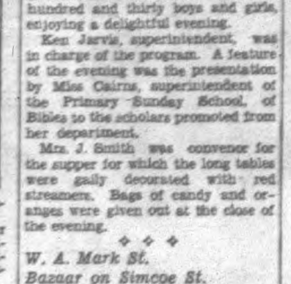
BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

VULNERABILITY DECIDES

BIDS WHICH would be terrible when vulnerable can be brilliantly sound when you are not vulnerable. It is all a matter of what you risk in comparison to what you stand to gain. If the possible loss from the bid is more than the opponents' game would be worth, then you may be sticking your neck out too far. If, however, the points you can lose by the bid are less than the opponents might take from you anyway, then you are within the bounds of good winning contract.



(Dealer: East. East-West vulnerable.)

East and South passed here and West started the bidding with 1-Diamond. North overcalled with 1-No Trump, which passed around to West, who doubled. North now tried 2-Clubs, which East doubled. Three diamonds were cashed, on which East discarded two spades. A spade was led to East's A, who then returned a heart to West's K. A second spade was led and ruffed by East and a heart led to West to return a third spade for East to ruff. The East-West pair were pleased with their success until they discovered they could have made a heart game.

Had North been vulnerable, his bid would have been dangerous in view of his partner's original pass, but in this particular instance he had very little to lose if the opponents could make a vulnerable game.

Tomorrow's Problem

How should South play to make 3-No Trumps after the lead of the club 3?

Rev. G. S. Easton Addresses Club

Appropriately lovely was the program for the Christmas meeting of the Lyceum Club and Women's Art Association on Friday afternoon in the Green Room of the Y.W.C.A.

The members having been invited to each bring a guest, there was an exceptionally large attendance, the ladies being most cordially welcomed by the president, Mrs. Fred Hooper.

As guest pianist, Agnes Logan Green presented a program of charm and variety and played with a brilliance of technique and beauty of touch that held her audience entranced from beginning to end. She played first three chorales by Bach, "I Call on Three, Lord", arranged by Busoni; "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desire" arranged by Myra Mees; and "Jesu, Christ, the Son of God", with arrangement by Walter Rummel.

Her second group included the little "Jig" by Kammel; "Lento" by Cyril Scott; Godowsky's arrangement of "The Moment Musical" by Schubert, and "Ballade in G Minor" by Chopin. A third group included "The Fairy Speaks the Epilogue", by Korngold; "Arabesque" by Leschetizki; "Londonderry Air" by Percy Grainger, encore, insisted on by the audience, Mrs. Green played Brahm's "Lullaby", arranged by Percy Grainger.

Guest speaker of the afternoon was the Rev. G. S. Easton of Trinity United Church, who brought a Christmas message to the Association. "Let us now go even unto Bethlehem, and see this thing which is come to pass." Speaking of his visit to the Holy Land in 1930, Mr. Easton said, "Imagine a hand representing a high plateau of rock, with fingers representing jutting ridges of limestone running out to merge into a valley 1,400 feet below sea level, and separating the ridges, dark, deep canyons. On the side of one, 2,000 feet above sea level is a cluster of white, flat roofed houses hanging as it were midway between Heaven and earth. That is Bethlehem, five miles south of Jerusalem.

The speaker, who had made the journey from Jerusalem to Bethlehem, "every inch of which is packed with history", recalled for his listeners the many stories connected with that "immortal" piece of road. "And the many stories around Bethlehem all lead up to the greatest story of all, prophesied through the ages, the coming of the Messiah, and the best way to tell that story is to read it just as it is given in the Bible," said Mr. Easton.

Describing a visit to the Church of the Nativity, and going down the 12 marble steps to stand where had been the stable with the manger where Christ was born (marked with a silver star) the speaker said, "Emotions surge up as one stands there, realizing that Bethlehem is not just a geographical position on the map, but an influence in the whole world for out of Bethlehem has come the influence of Jesus, the influence of love, peace and goodwill."

The thanks of the association to the Rev. Mr. Easton and to Mrs. Green were expressed by Mrs. C. S. Thompson. The meeting closed with the National Anthem. Hostesses for tea, served in the library were Mrs. W. B. Harvey and Mrs. C. S. Brown, and assistants were Mrs. J. E. R. Munroe, Mrs. Dewart, Mrs. K. S. Wightman, and Miss Jean Harvey. Silver predominated in the attractive table arrangement, with contrast in red Christmas clusters and candles. A little silver tree placed on a reflector, with "snow" at its base, silver reindeer, and great bunches of silver grapes, made the lovely centrepiece for the Italian cutwork cloth.

THE STARS SAY . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Sunday, December 19.

Sunday's horoscope is a most propitious one for affairs of church and clergy. Look for solid growth and stability of property values or investments. Elders and work should thrive and real estate increase. Change is likely, as are some peculiar private anxieties and adventures. Sign papers with care.

Those whose birthday it is may expect a profitable progressive year, with much occurring to put affairs on a solid foundation and to increase real possessions. There may be strange problems of a personal nature. Be sure to sign all manner of writings with care.

A child born on this day may have many brilliant, original and constructive talents, and, at the same time, it may be steady, dependable and practical.

For Monday, December 20.

Monday's Astrological forecast is for a particularly exciting day, with much commotion in the business and private lives. The latter is under high stimuli, perhaps in social or romantic affairs. Elders may figure in these, perhaps perplexingly. A sudden disruptive force may cause unexpected adjustments. Be cautious with papers, law and speculation.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a very lively year, with much stirring in the business as well as social, domestic and romantic lives. An element of the strange or disturbing may cause change or certain readjustments.

A child born on this day may be versatile, energetic, changeable and adventurous, with proclivities to exaggerate, boast and "show off," unless properly directed and educated in early life.

Surplus On 1937 Exhibition Will Be Reported To Board

Cost New Fence And Moving Race Horse Barns In Current Expenses

At their annual meeting in January the directors of the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition will report an operating surplus of $2,716.74 from their 1937 exhibition, the total receipts having been $28,889.90 and the expenses $26,113.16.

Included in the expenditures are the cost of building the new fence last summer and also the removal of the horse barn to the southwest corner of the park. The statement was recently reported to the directors with a complimentary reference by the auditor, J. D. Lawrie, to the accounting of C. D. Cowling.

In spite of the cost of the fence and barn, the board is able to show for the first time in many years a substantial balance which will no doubt be applied on the personal note the directors have given the Bank of Commerce. The deficit several years ago was around $11,000, but by their confidence in the Exhibition and the community, and their refusal to let adversity get them down, the directors are now in a position of comparative security. Another year should wipe out the last of their outstanding debt.

Some of the directors have probably done considerable worrying occasionally as their planning and work failed to get them out of the red, but the tide for the last two years has been turning in a favorable direction, and it is hoped that it will not be long until their courage and enterprise and public spirit have received the reward they have so well deserved.

Some of The Receipts

Some of the items listed in the receipts are listed as follows with special emphasis on the $4,000 for admission tickets that were sold in advance, an item which demonstrated impressively the co-operation of the public. So here are some of the receipts items: Gates, $7,863.35; grand stand, $3,149.95; midway, $2,229.50; advance sale of tickets, $4,000; concessions, $1,381; prize list, $505; horse races, $231; membership, $326; grants, county, $500; city, $2,000; province, $800; dominion, $3,500. Donations, $489; donations for prizes, $184; miscellaneous, $100; and other items totalling $28,889.90.

Expenditures included the following items:—

Junior farmers, $720.57; horses, $1,684.00; cattle, $2,103.90; sheep, $505.00; swine, $480.00; poultry, $1,-085.07; grain, $176.50; winter wheat, $83.00; vegetables, $263.50;; fruit, $74.75; dairy products, $37.50; cheese, $42.00; honey, $82.46; domestic science, $55.50; fine arts, $79.20; ladies' work, $238.50; horticulture, $372.18; horse races, $1,072.00; gates, $310.04; grand stand, $3,818.35; midway, $150.00; draw, $3,417.39; prize list, $619.64; general expenses, $6,358.25. FASCISM LEADING WORLD TO WAR

The onward march of Fascism is threatening the whole world with war, including the British Commonwealth, civilization's only remaining bulwark of democracy; were the opening words of Eric B. de Pencleton, former missionary of Wilberforce, and now representing the British-Israel World Federation to a mass meeting in the Paragon Hall on Friday evening.

The blackness of the pit is strangling the liberty of the earth in the steel clasp of international capitalism. The steel Berlin to Rome axis has been extended to Tokio, swinging the orbit of Central Europe into line. In addition to Asia, Africa, and Europe being swamped with subversive propaganda, South America is on the verge of revolution. Japanese Imperialism, German-Italian Fascism are waging a terrific battle for economic and financial control, against British-American democracies and Sovietism.

The Empire is being undermined from within, and her cables to foreign countries are being slashed by forces who are determined to wreck that structure. The Scripture speaks of the ten dictators being used by the three, "and these shall make war with the Lamb, but the Lamb shall overcome them."

The speaker traced the setting up of the Babylonian succession of the empires from the time of Nebuchadnezzar to the time of the break-up of that system of organization in 1918. Thus the Empire is on the threshold of the kingdom age, because Christ said, "When these things begin to come to pass, know ye that the Kingdom of God is nigh at hand." The new social age will be inaugurated under the sovereignty of Christ Himself Who will sit upon the throne of David as King, which throne is being kept in trust, until He comes Whose right it is.

Two Convicts Escape

From the United States' "famed escape-proof prison (TOP) on rocky Alcatraz Island off the coast of California, the two long-term convicts pictured below fled eluding both the guards which patrol the walls and natural barriers of isolation, rocky shores and swift ocean currents which flow between Alcatraz and the mainland. The two are Theodore Cole, (LEFT), and Ralph Roe, (RIGHT), both Oklahomans and both regarded as desperate criminals. An extensive manhunt was organized along the Pacific coast in an effort to track the men and coastguard and prison boats patrolled the waters of San Francisco Bay.

Coronation Medal Presented To "Mother" Of The Regiment

Presentation To Mrs. Joseph Mills Is Made By Lt.-Col. M. H. Park

Numbered among the comparatively few women in Canada to be so honored, Mrs. Emma L. Mills, widow of Colonel Joseph Mills, was on Friday evening presented with a Coronation medal.

Lieut.-Colonel M. H. Park, V.D. who referred to the close association he had enjoyed with the late Colonel Mills, presented the medal to Mrs. Mills at an enjoyable function in the recreation room at the Armouries, attended by officers, N.C.O.'s and men of Prince of Wales' Rangers and their guests.

Major G. R. E. Melton and Major James Turnbull, both officers of the Rangers, also received Coronation medals. Their presentations were performed by Lieut.-Colonel W. Gordon Hall, V.D., who announced that each of the three recipients had been specially recommended by the district officer commanding, "In recognition of their outstanding services to the Canadian militia."

Colonel Park, likening Mrs. Mills to a Spartan mother of old, declared, "During the war she sent her husband and son overseas, and not content with that, gave of her very best services in the cause of the war, here in Peterborough." He did not believe there was another woman who had done more.

Since the war ended, Colonel Park recalled Mrs. Mills had devoted almost her whole time and energy in the cause of the militia and in the greater cause on behalf of ex-servicemen. "She was and is actively engaged in work among ex-servicemen and I say there is no greater work to be done in any community than that," he said.

After she had received her medal, Mrs. Mills was presented by Captain Douglas Loomis, M.C., with a bouquet of roses on behalf of the members of the unit.

Almost overcome with emotion, Mrs. Mills declared she could not trust herself to respond that evening, but would express her thanks on some future occasion.

Declaring it was evidence of Mrs. Mills' modesty, Colonel Park told her, "We know what you want to say and we'll take it as said."

Affectionately known as "the mother of the regiment," Mrs. Mills was greeted with the singing of "Old Soldiers," which was enthusiastically chorused by all present.

MAIN STREET TOPICS

By an Examiner Reporter.

AT BROCKVILLE CONFERENCE

Fred Marsh, local organizer of the United Electrical and Radio Workers Union was in Brockville today attending a provincial council meeting of the national union, it was announced.

WHITE GIFT SUNDAY.

Tomorrow is to be White Gift Sunday at St. John's Church, and the children as well as grown-ups who wish to attend are expected to bring gifts to be included in the Christmas parcels.

MANY EARLY AUTOMOBILES.

The peak of Christmas business was reflected this morning in packed parking areas all around the centre of the city. Buyers and sellers both came early and crowded into the available spaces for their cars.

POST OFFICE OPEN IN EVENING

In order to facilitate early mailing the stamp vendor, register, insured parcel, money order and general delivery wickets will be open in the evening commencing Saturday, December 18th to Thursday, December 23rd, inclusive, until 9 p.m.

SOME COMPARISON

An action involving an alleged theft of logs came before the Supreme Court of Ontario here this week, and one of the attaches afterwards remarked this case involving log value of $4.80 was brought into a court costing the people $500 a day. The Judge tossed it out without letting it go to a jury.

RECEPTION IS GOOD.

Peterborough radio listeners report excellent reception of the new radio station CIBL, now on a regular broadcast schedule after a period of testing. CIBL is the strongest station on the dial on local radios, with other Canadian and American stations in less prominent order.

CHRISTMAS ATMOSPHERE.

There is a distinct Christmas atmosphere in the vicinity of Nicholls Hospital at the present time. In the hospital grounds a large illuminated Christmas tree has been erected, while across the street Sorenson the florist has an illuminated colored display that sets a cheerful note.

CHRISTMAS TREES.

Large numbers of Christmas trees were brought into the city by farmers to-day. Many were sold wholesale to the grocers and others were offered for sale on the Market Square. Prices of trees offered on the Market ranged from 20 cents to 35 cents, depending on the size and fullness of the specimen.

TO HOLD TWO MARKETS.

In the hope of serving Peterborough Christmas needs without dangerous overcrowding which occurred in the Market Hall last year, two farmers' markets have been scheduled for Christmas week. The first will be held on Wednesday, December 22, and the second on December 24.

GOT RESULTS.

To the Examiner office this morning came a letter asking for cancellation of a "For Sale Advertisement." This ad appeared in Friday night's issue and was scheduled to run for three days offering a baby carriage for sale, but the carriage was sold within two hours of the time the edition appeared on the streets.

PROGRAM ARRANGED.

A full program has been arranged for the community Christmas carol service to be held on Sunday evening in the Collegiate Auditorium under sponsorship of the Y.M.C.A. Friendly Hour Group. Mrs. James Goldie will be a guest soloist and one of her numbers will be "The Holy City." Beautifully colored slides will embellish the presentation. Adam Hawley will sing and an instrumental trio composed of Stanley and Harry Northrop and Tom Smith will have several numbers. Accompaniment for the carol singing will be provided by George Street Church Orchestra. The doors are to open at 8.20.

LIKED THE CANAPES.

Two well-known young men about town spent recently a brief and somewhat precarious holiday in Ottawa, with the Chateau Laurier as their daytime headquarters. On their first afternoon they luckily arrived at the canape hour in the Chateau, and were so delighted with the free confections that they managed to get in line for three servings the next day. "The waiter certainly gave us a mean look the third time we reached out for a helping," one of the cheaps said.

APPEAL FOR SAFETY.

Chief Gimblett has asked The Examiner to remind its readers of the extra fire hazard from tinsel and candles and other decorations of the Christmas season. One precaution is to lessen the danger by careful arrangement of the festive trimmings when they are being hung in place. Many of the decorations are quite inflammable, Chief Gimblett said, and urged the people to safeguard their own homes and families during the holiday period.

BEQUEST FOR ST. JOHN'S.

The will of Mrs. Eva Coulthard, who died last month, contains a bequest of $1,000 for St. John's Church, the first clause of the will reading as follows: To St. John's Anglican Church, Peterborough, the sum of one thousand dollars, of which five hundred dollars is to go to the Chancel Guild Fund, to be expended by them in carrying on their work, the receipt of the rector and wardens to be a sufficient discharge to my executors. I request the said officials to see that the money is expended for the church work and not reserved."

POULTRY PRICES REMAIN STEADY

Police and firemen guarded against overcrowding as Peterborough housewives jammed the Market Hall this morning in search of their Christmas turkeys. Due to the scheduling of a market on December 22 and another on December 24, the dangerous situation which arose last year when police held back hundreds was not repeated.

Many tons of turkeys were purchased from a heavy supply. Prices ranged from 25 to 30 cents a pound for gobblers and hens, 28 cents being the common price at which good hens went. Geese were offered in large numbers and sold between 22 and 24 cents a pound. Chickens were 20 to 24 cents.

Eggs showed a tendency toward further price decline when they were offered by some farmers below 30 cents a dozen. Although they could be bought for 28 cents, 32 and 33 cents a dozen were the figures more general. Butter was 30 to 32 cents a pound.

On the outdoor market, potatoes brought 65 to 75 cents a bag. Pork was 12 to 15 cents a pound, lamb 16 to 18 cents, and beef 11 to 14 cents.

One Million And Half Feet Of Lumber To Be Cut At The Nogie's Creek Mill

ONE of the bellers of the Peterborough Lumber Company's old plant at Burnham's Point has been overhauled for a thorough testing in preparation for its removal to the saw mill that is being operated at Nogie's Creek in Harvey township by Hugh Given. The company also has a logging camp on the Squaw River in Galway, and expected to employ 65 men steadily throughout the winter.

Already they have 500,000 feet of lumber cut in log lengths and ready for the saw mill, and their estimated output for the winter is 1,500,000 feet. They are carrying on hard and soft wood operations and also cutting cordwood.

USE OF LIQUOR AID IN SELLING IS CONDEMNED

Use of liquor as an accepted aid in salesmanship strategy was soundly condemned by Charles Shaw, A. Wander Limited manager, in an address to the Kiwanis Club on "A New Salesmanship" Friday.

"Recently while travelling through the West I was astounded to find so much mixed social business drinking going on." Mr. Shaw declared. "I talked with several responsible business men about this matter and they informed me that last year twelve so-called successful business men earning from $10,00 to $25,000 a year had lost their jobs through overindulgence. I also found it very difficult to get a quiet room especially over the weekends. There are concerns paying their men $25 a week for the support of these weak-kneed selling methods which are so antiquated that by this time they have sprouted a good-sized crop of moss."

Mr. Shaw told the club an era demanding a new type of salesman was at hand and that the salesman who is to be successful in the present day must conform. Describing the old standard type of salesman, he said:

Hip Pocket

"He must have a book in his left pocket with all the current questionable stories listed and arranged with thumb index so that he can immediately tell upon looking up his card reference which type his customer appreciates. In his right pocket he must have, especially if he is a married man, the names and addresses and phone numbers of the best looking girls in the town. In his left hip pocket he must have a half pint pocket and on the right inside overcoat pocket he should have a quart pocket. He must always be in on every bet or pool made, the funds for the same being taken out of his swindle sheet known in better circles as his expense report. He must also know where all the secret places are for getting a crock."

"Not so the new type of salesman," Mr. Shaw said, listing qualities which he said are now demanded in their salesmen by up-to-the-minute concerns. "The sales executive states the following essential characteristics as compulsory: Cleanliness, morally and physically; honesty, willingness and desire to work, ambition, ability of expression, sobriety, intelligence, loyalty."

High Pressure

Condemning high-pressure salesmanship, he speaker said: "Too much has already been said and written about the kind of salesmanship which advocates mesmeric methods to induce actions that may not be in the best interests of the buyer. There has been, too much said about sales psychology, buying emotions, dominating personality, and the various other terms that are used so frequently by the proponents of high-pressure salesmanship.

"Salesmanship has come to be regarded by many as something akin to buncombe, trickery and even treachery. It is time that concerted effort be made to lift the world salesmanship into its proper high place in public esteem. Concerns and salesmen regardless of their lines and those who deal with them will be benefitted by every effective effort to create more respect for the great art of selling."

Mr. Shaw was introduced to the club by W. A. Richardson. Bill Ovens moved an expression of thanks.

Five Aldermanic Candidates Selected By Labor Groups

Two Candidates Be Selected To Board Of Education— None For Mayor

Selection of a slate of five aldermanic candidates to contest municipal elections here New Year's Day, is announced by a special labor municipal committee representative of various labor and trade union groups and the C.C.F. and Communist parties.

The slate of aldermanic candidates is announced as follows: William S. Johnson (who unsuccessfully contested the recent provincial election as C.C.F. standard bearer); Gordon Powell, Joseph Vinette, M. E. Ketchenson and Frank Lundy.

Announcement was made by the publicity committee there would be no candidate for Mayor or Utilities, but the labor group does propose to select two candidates who will seek seats on the oBard of Education.

Since the original meeting held a week or ten days ago and which was called under the auspices of the local Trades and Labor Council, representatives of the various groups have each appointed two delegates to compose the labor municipal committee, that made selection of the municipal candidates.

The slate and platform was submitted to the Trades and Labor Council and was ratified by that body, it was learned.

Organizers claim the labor municipal committee to be representative of the International Typographical Union; United Textile Workers' Union; Women's Auxiliary (U.T.W.); United Electrical and Radio Workers' Union; United Automobile workers of America; Moulders' Union; Carpenters' Union; Trades and Labor Council; C.C.F. and Communists.

Canadian Legion Notes

The officers and members of Post 99 of the Canadian Legion regret the retirement of Mayor G. A. Macdonald, a good friend of the Legion who never spared himself when called upon. They also regret the retirement of Ald. McIntyre who always gave his hearty support to the Legion. However the City's loss will be their gain, for they will have less worry and more time for their own pursuits.

The four-handed cribbage tourney finished on Wednesday evening last in a blaze of glory and the winners are Comrades P. Golds, R. Long, H. Lewis and T. Bagnall. The prizes were chickens and the winners beg to intimate to their many friends that a chicken is a chicken and not a centipede, and the many requests for a leg cannot be entertained.

The carpet ball tournament, comprising six teams is well under way and is providing a lot of fun. A few weeks ago it was quite an effort to raise a team for entry in the city league, but now we have bowlers galore, and some of them first class.

A motion picture of the last Armistice parade will be shown, through the courtesy of R. E. Knox, at our monthly meeting on Monday, Dec. 20th, at 8 p.m. A draw will also be made for a number of geese and turkeys. A number of new members will be initiated, and a record attendance is expected.

We heartily congratulate Mrs. Joseph Mills on being presented with a coronation medal. Mrs. Mills kindly and thoughtful consideration for all exservice men has made her a much loved figure at the legion hall.

Bombers Salute Aviation's Cradle

Pointedly depicting the rapid development of aviation is this demonstration staged by two of the new four-engined bombers of the United States army air force over the monument to the Wright Brothers at Kitty Hawk, N.C. The flight was made in commemoration of the 34th anniversary of the world's first successful aeroplane flight, that made by the Wright brothers at Kitty Hawk on December 17,1903.

News From Correspondents

THE ROAD BACK SCORES BIG HIT

(Examiner Correspondence.)

APSLEY, Dec. 18.—The three act comedy drama "The Road Back" performed by local talent, drew a capacity audience to the Parish Hall on Wednesday evening, which was delighted at the quality of the performance. Somewhat handicapped by the short period devoted to rehearsals and the makeshift stage setting, the characters nevertheless, acted their parts most creditably and thoroughly deserved the applause accorded them.

The play was directed by Mrs. McMullen and Rev. C. A. G. Spence, both of whom also were members of the cast which was as follows: "Ma Fowler", a slack, complaining and incapable housewife, Mrs. McMullin; "Pa Fowler", a discouraged, meek and timid husband, who recovers his manhood in the third act, C. A. G. Spence; "Milly", their daughter, a loud, slangy girl, Margaret Hastings; "Jenny," another daughter, quiet and forceful, Doris Whitmore; "George," the ne'er-do-well son, Jack Birch; "Arthur McLeod" a friend of Jenny's, Bert Munro; "Blake Chester," in love with Milly, Sid McCauley; "Mrs. Chester," Blake's aristocratic mother, Eva Tucker; "Mr. Harrison", Jenny's employer, George Carr; and "Ben Fowler", Pa's brother from Arizona, wealthy, but who poses as a poor relation, Elgin Peters.

Marshall McCauley and Norman James had a collision with their cars at the corner of Apsley house on Wednesday evening with fortunately only slight damage amounting to dinted fenders.

ST. PAUL'S W.M.A. ELECTS OFFICERS

(Examiner Correspondence.)

BETHANY, Dec. 18.—Ladies who attended the annual meeting of the Women's Auxiliary of St. Paul's Anglican Church, which was held at the rectory on Wednesday afternoon were, Mrs. D. Cairns, Mrs. McCartney, Mrs. Holden, Mrs. McGill, Mrs. Sid Armstrong, Mrs. F. W. Reynolds, Mrs. Calvin Reynolds, Mrs. Elizabeth Reynolds, Mrs. H. Kennedy, Mrs. C. Stevenson, Mrs. Fallis, Mrs. C. Porteous, Mrs. W. Morton, Mrs. H. Padgham and Rev. A. R. Holden.

A very substantial sum of money was placed at the disposal of the wardens for church expenditure by unanimous vote of the W.A. Ladies. Election of officers was the main item of business to be taken care of at this meeting, requested, by a Deanery officer, Mrs. Cuttell, before the New Year as has been previously the custom at Bethany.

Vote was taken by ballot and resulted as follows: President, Mrs. Rev. Holden; Honorary President, Mrs. McCartney; Vice-President, Mrs. E. Reynolds; Secretary, Mrs. A. H. Monk; Assistant Secretary, Mrs. McCartney; Treasurer, Mrs. Dave Cairns. Committee, retained; same positions for another year, namely: Dorcas committee; Buying committee of fancy and staple goods to be used for bazaar work and knitted good.

Mrs. Cairns invited the ladies to meet at her home for the January meeting; which was gratefully accepted. The hostess later served refreshments provided by Mrs. W. Morton, Mrs. F. W. Reynolds, Mrs. R. W. Price and Mrs. Walter Rowan.

Demonstrations Made Cavan Girls' Class

(Examiner Correspondence.)

CAVAN, Dec. 18. — The third meeting of "Le Sentier du Lait," a club organized for the study of milk, was held at the home of Mrs. O. V. Carley on Saturday. Those present included Mrs. D. Tinney, Helen Smith, Jean Trumpour, Mrs. N. Braithwaite, Nan Fallis, Bernice Richards, Norma Gillis, Dorothy Armstrong, Joyce Trumpour, Mary Richards, Audrey Nill, Jean Gillis, and Elaine Argue. Mrs. Tinney's offer of her home for the next meeting to be held on Tuesday, December 28, was accepted.

It was moved by Jean Trumpour and seconded by Audrey Nill, that Joyce Trumpour and Dorothy Armstrong be demonstrators at the next meeting. For the roll-call at the next meeting each girl was asked to bring a custard. Mrs. Carley read an article on "Milk in the Family Menu." Mrs. Tinney demonstrated the making of baked custards. The making of a milk sauce was demonstrated by Audrey Nill, and the pasteurization of milk by Norma Gillis.

A vote of thanks was tendered to Mrs. Carley for the use of her home, and the meeting broke up.

HASTINGS WOMAN WINS C.W.L. CAKE

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HASTINGS, Dec. 18.—Mrs. Felix Turcotte, of Hastings, held the lucky ticket in a draw for a large Christmas cake, which took place at the Catholic Women's League Yuletide Tea, held in the parish hall, Thursday night. Master Allen Smith drew for the lucky numbers. Misses Evlyn Moore and Helen Moore won a turkey each, also part of the draw.

The president of the league, Mrs. J. A. MacDonald, and her executive received the guests for the tea. Mrs. T. A. Walsh and Mrs. V. Faux poured tea at a table prettily decorated for the occasion in festive colors, gay poinsettias and red candles.

The tea was well attended and the proceeds will be used to provide Christmas cheer.

RECORD COLONY TRAVEL

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana, Dec. 18 (CP)—More than 75,000 additional people travelled on the trains and steamship of the British Guiana Transport and Harbors Department in the first nine months of 1937, compared with the corresponding period of last year. The 1936 traffic returns constituted an all-time record in the history of the Department.

The nine-months' increase was a record gain for the Department, and left little doubt that year-round figures for 1937 would exceed last year's high-water mark by a considerable margin. Passengers carried in 1936 totalled 2,582,291.

LES. REFUSES $20,000 OFFER FOR SON LYNN

NEW YORK, Dec. 18 (C.P.). — For the present at least, Lester Patrick made known last night, the hockey stars of New York Rangers are going to stay in the Blueshirt livery.

This was the way in which he countered an offer from Toronto Maple Leafs of $20,000 for the services of young Lynn Patrick, the sharpshooting left winger who sparkplugged Rangers to a National Hookey League victory over New York Americans last night.

Conny Smythe, chief of the Maple Leaf outfit, made the offer. He went $5,000 over the bid he made a year ago for the youthful son of the Ranger mentor. But Patrick would have none of it.

"We have gone to a lot of trouble developing stars," said the Ranger head, "and we are going to keep them. Thats what we developed them for. I was in a listening mood, that's all. I told Smythe to go ahead and offer, but for the present we'll keep our stars."

LOU AMBERS IS NOT TIMID SOUL

NEW YORK, Dec. 18.—Everybody but Lou Ambers appears to feel sorry for the lightweight leader in connection with a fight with Henry Armstrong, which scarcely can miss taking place either in New York or Los Angeles early next summer. This match will rank only behind the second edition between Max Schmeling and Louis in interest. They're wasting their sympathy on Ambers, however, for the personable young Italian from upper New York State doesn't require being swatted by Armstrong to go to sleep these wintry nights. He has his own ideas regarding the capabilities of himself and the muscular Negro youth who came roaring out of St. Louis to become the outstanding knockerout and scrapper of the year.

"Armstrong first must find my head before he can hit it," smiles Ambers, "and I believe that I definitely have proved that I can take not only a whale of a belt, but a whale of a belting as well."

Ambers speaks of a Christmas afternoon engagement with one Joe Firpo in Philadelphia four years ago and his two meetings with Tony Canzoneri in compiling evidence tending to show that he can take it, but it was his 10-rounder with Jimmy McLarnin at the Garden a year ago that positively convinced him that there isn't the slightest danger of his withering under fire.

Different Types.

"That one with McLarnin taught me a good lesson," says Ambers. "It taught me to remain in my class and not to get too cocky. I tackled McLarnin less than three months after I lifted Canzoneri's title. I had a pretty good opinion of myself, or I wouldn't have spotted a murderous puncher like McLarnin eight pounds. If anything, Jimmy had a greater pull in the weights by ringtime."

A splendid boxing head, which he bobs out of harm's way about as well as any lightweight you ever saw, and a remarkable pair of legs and a whip-like left will be Ambers' biggest assets against the vicious Armstrong. The Herkimer Hurricane and Hurricane Henry are vastly different cyclones, with the latter carrying the more savage bolts of lightning.

A Cleveland Christmas fund show would have provided a fine chance to compare the two had not one Tony Chavez lost his equilibrium when pasted on the ear by Armstrong right under the gun. It was the coffee-hued lad's 25th knockout in his last 26 starts. Ambers cut up an old playmate, Frankie Wallace, in taking a 10-round award by a comfortable margin. The Cleveland program was another tribute to Armstrong's tremendous bucks office magnetism. The production set an all-time Ohio indoor record, with 12,888 paid admissions and a $35,000 gate.

SPORTS DAY BY DAY

Dishing Up the Local Dirt With the Odd O'nchie or Two

By CEC. PERDUE

PAT HAYDEN is manager of our Colts this year in the O.H.A. junior grouping of Peterborough, Havelock and Belleville. While he is no stranger to many puck followers around here, still perhaps a glance over his record might be enlightening. Hayden is no novice at the game—though he is a young fellow of hardly 30 winters, we'd say. In recent years he has been an officer in various Peterborough sports, but he was a good puckist not so long ago, too. He began in junior O.H.A. competition back in 1923, at the age of 15, when he played for Port Hope. Was a junior three years and then an intermediate O.H.A.-er for the Hopers. Then played for a winter in Rochester, N'Yawk, in a mercantile league. Returned the following winter to Port Hope and, getting by under the student's clause, played intermediate again for a season.

* * * * * *

NEXT PLACE Pat pops up is in Peterborough and he performed for the intermediate O.H.A. Petes for three winters, 1929, 1930 and 1931. In one of those campaigns—forget which one just now—the Petes went quite a distance before R.M.C. put 'em out by a single goal on the round, the winners going on to cop the Ontario title. Pat performed some in the E.P.L. and Senior City Loop around here since, and managed and coached the Westclox squad. Is a keen student of hockey, a quiet chap, but a battler all the way. Popular with the boys, too.

* * * * * *

SOME OF Pat's playing pals here around 1930 included Jim Gillespie, George Lackey, Ted LeBarr, Scotty Maudsley, Red Creighton, Ira Dundas, Doug Hatton and Red Legon. The only one of this crew still in action in the O.H.A. around these here parts is Creighton. They were a scrappy bunch of players and rival squads found it a rocky path to Goalie Jim Gillespie's doorstep. Some of 'em are in the Senior City League—ye blood and thunder circuit—now. We imagine Hayden will make a good manager for the Colts and the kids will soon learn to respect his judgment in puck matters.

* * * * * *

THE COLTS haven't much of a group this year. Just as bad as the one last winter. Then, they were in with Tweed and Belleville, while this year sees Havelock replace Tweed. And we only have a single schedule for the 1938 season. Which means, the Colts have but four scheduled games! But probably two more in the playoffs, if they get into them. We don't know much about the junior teams in Havelock or Belleville—haven't the faintest, in fact—but it is unlikely the Colts, even after losing most of their good 1936-37 players, will be kept out of group playoffs. Just how far they will go in playdowns, if they get into them, we dunno. They're starting late and not having many games. Too bad they didn't get into a bigger group Lindsay wanted in with us and possibly some of the Lakeshore towns, too. Well, the Colts will just have to practise that much harder to keep clicking.

* * * * * *

BOTH OUR intermediate Bees and the Petes are in much better groupings—even if we don't like that screwy senior "B" playoff system. The Bees—as we call 'em—are in with Whitby, Oshawa and Port Hope, and none of these teams will be too weak, nossuh. They should be doggone nearly as strong as the so-called senior "B" squads, since the name of a class in the O.H.A. doesn't generally mean much. Probably the locals and Oshawa will be the stronger teams in the group, but don't bet too much dough on it. In the other setup we have the Petes, Fliers, Belleville and Queen's. And we feel that, though the Petes and Fliers are favored, there will be no weaklings in this group So there ought to be plenty of keen puck tilts here this winter, mes amis.

* * * * * *

IT MIGHT be messing things up a bit to arrange that rumored exhibition practise game here betwixt the hockey imports and the 1936-37 regulars next week. On account of the boys mightn't be content to keep it clean but would tear into each other. Some of the newcomers here resent the I'm-from-Missouri attitude of officers, coaches and players here, regarding their class; while many local players sort of resent the fact they are likely to be replaced by a stranger. They will all be battling hard for berths, so it is probably just as well not to throw them at each other in a game. We might inform these newcomers that they will be most welcome and greatly beloved if they really click in Peterborough, but that we've seen a lot of imports come and go—and mostly go! This is no puck village—you've got to play hockey here to satisfy the customers.

DOWN IN Cobourg, the Cobourg Hockey Club in the O.H.A. intermediate ranks has been taken over this winter by the firm of Edwards and Edwards, leather factory. As the team is practically handled by the firm anyway, with players working there, et al, they feel that they might as well have a controlling interest. But the firm officials hurry to add that the club will not be a closed corporation by any means All players will be given an equal chance of making the team. This company was mainly responsible this autumn in bringing the O.R.F.U. intermediate "B" title to Cobourg.

WITHIN THREE weeks, some lively leather-ladling will be seen at the Armouries when the Riverview A.C. presents its second program. As the first fight card by this club went over with such a bang, the officers feel this next one—with two rematches on it—should be even more successful. They will again bring down four topnotch Toronto pugs. Bev Carter and Nick Orlando are rematched and Joe Genovese and Len Minicola meet again. Both the fights between these chaps here a couple of weeks ago ended in victories for the locals but the Toronto boys and many local fans felt they were poor decisions. So you can look for blood on the moon when they meet again. Then Art Darnbrough boxes Norm Bowler, and Tom Foster (Toronto Negro) tackles Pat Jordan. Rest of the fistic program will be announced shortly.

DETROIT TIGERS SHOW PERCENTAGE IN INFIELD PLAY

CHICAGO, Dec. 18— (AP).—If the rest of the Detroit Tiger machinery had operated as efficiently as its famous "barbed-wire" infield, New York's Yankees probably would have had to settle for a lot less than their 13-game margin over the American League last season.

The Tigers won team fielding honors for the third straight year, the final batch of official averages show to-day, and it was those infield stalwarts, Charley Gehringer, Billy Rogell and Marvin Owen, who made it possible. The Tiger team average was .976, a point better than last year's mark, and two points shy of the 1935 figure.

Gehringer, the League's most valuable player and batting champion, paced the second basemen for the fourth consecutive season, at .986, his best mark since joining the Tigers. Rogell headed the shortstops for the third straight time with .968.

Owen, whose removal to Chicago White Sox this fall broke up the great combination, gained the third-basing leadership, registering a .970 average.

Jimmy Foxx, of the gold-plated Bostons, regained the first base field after a lapse of one year, compiling an average of .994.

JUVENILE RUGBY GAME ABANDONED

TORONTO, Dec. 18 (CP).—Harold Bailey, secretary of the Ontario Rugby Football Union, announced last night a series between Thorold Mountaineers and Toronto Malverns for the juvenile title of Ontario had been abandoned and that no juvenile champion would be declared this year.

It was announced that the Thorold home field, covered with 15 inches of snow, was not in condition for play for a proposed post-New Year's game and that the Malverns had definitely decided they were through for the season.

The Mountaineers, defending the title which they won last year, defeated the Malverns 17-10 in the first game of a two-game, total-points series for the 1937 title in Toronto November 27. The second game has several times been postponed. It had been hoped it could have been played January 8.

NO. 1 SPORTS UPSET PROVIDED BY LOUIS

NEW YORK, Dec. 18 (A.P.). — Joe Louis' failure to do better than outpoint Tommy Farr in their heavyweight title match last August was rated the year's No. 1 sports upset by the United States sports-writing experts voting in the seventh annual Associated Press poll.

For the second consecutive year Louis and Minnesota football team figured in the happenings that occasioned th biggest surprise in the sports world.

While football upsets were a dime a dozen, the general view of the sports writers was that no even subsequent events overshadowed Nebraska's surprise early season victory over the Golden Gophers. This was voted second place.

Louis' showing against Farr polled 18 first place votes and a total of 83 points tabulated on 3-2-1 basis. Eleven experts put Minnesota's defeat at the top of their list and it took runner-up honors with 52 points.

Newark's Bears, who came from behind to win the last four games of a seven-game "Little World's Series" from Columbus were credited with baseball's biggest surprise.

TORONTO WINS CURLING CUP FOR FIRST TIME

TORONTO, Dec. 18 (CP).—For the first time since its presentation nine years ago the Thorburn Memorial Trophy will spend a season at Toronto's High Park Curling Club, sponsor of the annual bonspiel that ushers in Ontario's curling season.

R. Earl Green's rink brought the trophy to High Park by trouncing Perry Hall's defending Kitchener champions in the final here last night. Hall conceded victory to the Toronto quarter after 19 ends and High Park was out in front 15-3.

The winners turned in the outstanding efforts throughout the final day of the bonspiel. Green's players eliminated Col. W. O. Morris' Toronto Vics in the quarter-finals and T. G. Graham's Toronto Vics in the semi-finals, each time by 12-4 scores.

Hall's skatemen ousted H. H. Chisholm's Toronto club qfarter 11-9 in the semi-finals after beating J. M. Rothschild's Stratheonas 12-10 in the quarter-finals.

W. H. Weller's Hamilton Thistle rink defeated W. B. Walton' Agincourt quartet 12-6 to enter the final against S. Meredith of Barrie in the secondary event. Meredith defeated G. A. Downey's Toronto Granite Club rink 9-8 in the semi-final.

HAROLD HAMILTON, Mgr.

Inside Sportin' Dope

BY A. WISE CRACKER

Mister Sporting Editor:

Well Mac, I aint got a great deal of dope for the customers today owing to the Christmas rush being on and me trying to make a quarter-back sneak through the basement bargain crowds and pick out a few nifty nick nacks for the in-laws and the rests the crowd. I kinda left things to the last, for 1 reason being a little short of the collateral and the other reasons not counting anyway.

Locally Mac, the only thing since my last was the passing out of the Orfuns 21 to 6 up at Hamilton Saturday and the election of officers of the ball club which same took place on Mon. nite and lined up a lotta the lads in harness again. They got enough officers on the list to make a nice crowd at the games if nobody else don't never come.

As for the Orfuns Mac, they went down fighting, took a early lead, was on even terms half way home and if they hadn't of lost Mister Crowe early in the 2nd period they might of made the 2nd fixture mighty close. They run into a mighty tough intermediate team, did the Orfuns, and they give all they had in the final battle.

It's a Bit Amusing

The pro hockey race Mac during the past week has been more amusing than anything else. The Toronto Leaves after getting bumped off at home by the Rangers went to Boston Tues. nite and took another on the chin and by that time the Toronto scribes had all the crying towels out and was going to sell or trade half the team. Then Thurs. the Smythe gang slammed the Canadians back on their heels 4 to 2 at Montreal and now the press agents has got them all figured out as champs again. How they can change their minds so often on the strength of a game or 2 when you figure out the schedule calls for 48 battles and only 2 teams is out of the running when its all over is more than I can dope out.

My Detroit selection for the honors again this season is getting worse looking all the time but sooner or late that outfit is going to snap out of it and mebbe they will be the bunch that will hit into the playoffs sizzling. Surely a team that could cop the Stanley cup 2 years in succession couldn't get so bad as the Red Wings look at the present writing.

Well old timer that's about the issue for the week so let's call it off here and now.

Sportfully Yours,
A Wise Cracker.

Buddy Baer Wants To Meet Braddock Because He Took Title From Max

NEW YORK, Dec. 18 (AP). — Buddy, the younger, larger and more level-headed of the California Baers, is mapping a boxing plot with revenge as its chief motive.

Asked, after his three-round knockout of Eddie Hogan at Madison Square Garden last night, whom he would like to meet next, the 243-pound Baer didn't hesitate a moment.

"First I want to fight Jim Braddock, because he took the title away from my brother Max," he said. "Then I want Joe Louis, because he has the title."

It's a nice program as far as the confident but not cock-sure Baer is concerned. When it comes to Manager Ancil Hoffman and Promoter Mike Jacobs, the program develops a few hitches.

"Braddock? Sure, Buddy's ready for him," said the plump and pleased Hoffman. "He's ready for Braddock or Tommy Farr. But Louis—well, I'd rather wait a while."

Jacobs, despite the decisive fashion in which Baer, Jr., stowed away Hogan, wouldn't commit himself. "I'll wait until after the Braddock-Farr bout, January 21," was his comment.

Buddy, against Hogan, took everything the Waterbury, Conn., heavyweight had to offer, most of it on a turtle-shell defence of gloves and shoulders, and waited for his spot.

During a harmless third-round sparring session a long, looping right dropped Hogan. He rose, stumbled back and reeled into two more knock-downs and intercession by Referee Jimmy Crowley.

BARGAINS PAY IN RACING GAME

NEW YORK, Dec. 18.—(CP.) — Man o' War set the racing tradition that the cheapest often are fleetest and when they post the 1937 winnings alongside cost prices of 1936's auction sale gallopers it will prove Sam Riddle's super-horse was right as usual.

"Big Red" cost $5,000 in the Saratoga auction ring in 1918. In two seasons of showing Nellie—and all other competitors—home, he earned the sizeable fortune of $249,465.

And the records showed to-day that many bargains among the 819 yearlings auctioned at Saratoga and the blue-lawned Lexington, Ky., track in 1936 were fastest down the pay-off stretch in 1937.

Contrariwise, many colts and fillies who looked like a million under the auctioneer's hammer and brought fancy prices proved to be "saw horses" after leaving the barrier.

A brown filly with dancing feet and no respect for the reputedly "domiannt sex" proved to be the season's best bargain, while two women almost proved the truth of the adage that feminine shoppers are the best bargain hunters.

Jacola, queen of the two-year-old fillies who cost Mrs. Edward Friendly $1,000, won $31,715 in 1937.

Scoreless Tie Counts In American Football

NEW YORK, Dec. 18 (AP).—United States college football annually supplies not only the greatest aggregate collection of thrills in American sport but contributes heavily to the log of bizarre or freakish events.

Last year Yale's Larry Kelley pulled the prize oddity by executing a 'soccer kick' of a loose ball that helped beat Navy and caused a revision of the playing rules.

This year, on the basis of a poll covering all sports by the Associated Press, the football teams of Fordham and Pittsburgh rated No. 1 distinction by playing their third successive scoreless tie.

On percentage that was the bargain of bargains.

Tiger won Mrs. Ethel V. Mars $54,735 but he cost $4,500 at auction. The Mistress of the Milky Way Farms plucked another plum in sky larking. The long-gaited colt broke a leg at Belmont and had to be destroyed, but not before he had earned $41,135 against his cost of $13,500.

The Milky Way Farms enjoyed no "walkover" in their 1936 purchases, however. Mrs. Mars paid $18,000 each for Warbridge and Farrell. Warbridge remains a maiden, unplaced in six starts while Farrell earned $90 by finishing third in one of three starts.

TORONTO SENIORS SWAMP BRANTFORD FOR 16-5 VICTORY

TORONTO, Dec. 18 (C.P.). — It looked like a Toronto-Oshawa battle for Senior A honors in the Ontario Hockey Association to-day.

The teams were tied for first place with six points apiece, but the Toronto club had the better spot with three straight victories and no defeats against three wins and a defeat for the G-Men.

Toronto's third victory came last night when Goodyears slapped a 15-6 black mark on Brantford's scoring record. Before the program was over seven Goodyears scored twice each. Desperate measures taken by the Redmen to stop the ever-rising score were useless. Goodyears outscored them 2-1 in the two minutes the Brantford team used a six-forward defence to try and bring up their total.

While Brantford lost at Toronto the other Senior A team in Western Ontario, Kitchener Greenshirts, went down 7-1 before the onslaught of Oshawa's G-Men. Oshawa scored three times in the first period against Kitchener's singleton and twice in each of the remaining periods.

Disrupts Third-place Tie.

The losses failed to disrupt the third-place tie gained by Greenshirts and Redmen when they fought to a 2-2 overtime draw earlier in the week. Down in the cellar and still without a win was the idle Port Colborne entry. The Sailors have lost to Goodyears and G-Men.

The Brantford team was weakened and disorganized when they faced off at Toronto. Red Dunn and Bota Baird, Hamilton icemen expected to join the club, failed to make connections, and a delay of half an hour in starting the game was caused while Brantford tried to find them. They failed, however, and faced Goodyears with only two subs.

Besides, George Baumgart, regular goalkeeper, was out of action with a broken rib, and Ray Krieger and Webster, members of the first string forward line, were missing due to injuries and ill health. Eddie King, Goodyears' doubtful starter because of an injured knee, was able to play and sank a pair of goals for the Goodyear cause.

The other game marked the return to Kitchener of senior hockey after an absence of several years. Although strengthened by two reinstated professionals, Roy Hinsperger and Red Kampman, Greenshirts failed to match the speedy play of the Oshawa club.

CANADIAN MARCONI COMPANY

Actually it is easier to tune short wave on the Marconi band spread dial than to tune your local station on standard broadcast. The reason is simple: on the new Marconi dial the standard broadcast band and each of the five short wave bands have separate scales as shown on diagram, upper left, each clearly marked and extremely easy to read. Old style receivers had one scale for standard broadcast and only one scale for all five short wave bands, shown at lower left. That meant many stations crowded into very short space, making separation and tuning very difficult.

DIED

SPROATS, Malcolm David. — Suddenly, at the family residence, 349 Reid street, on Friday evening, Malcolm David Sproats, in his 34th year. IN MEMORIAM

SUCEE—In loving memory of a dear Wife and Mother, Jane Sucee, beloved wife of Richard Sucee, who passed away December 19, 1936.

God knew that she was suffering
And the hills were hard to climb.
So he closed her weary eyelids
And whispered, "Peace be thine."
The Golden Gates were open,
A gentle voice said, "Come";
With farewells unspoken
Our dear Mother entered Home.
—Ever remembered by Husband and Family.

READ THIS FIRST:

Jerry Chandler, son of a country clergyman in modest circumstances, after a course at Yale, finally meets Mimi Le Brun, now a St. Louis society girl, whom he has admired for years. She is a cousin of Lionel Clark, Jerry's only close friend at college. All three, with several other young people, are at a Maine camp presided over by Olga, an attractive young woman who married Mimi's wealthy grandfather shortly before he died. Jerry has just met Andy Fuller who is in love with Mimi. And now Jerry is with Mimi herself. More impressed than ever with Mimi's charm, Jerry feels he is going to enjoy the house party. At a nearby dance the first evening, Jerry begins to resent Andy's attentiveness to Mimi. Now, back from the dance at 2 a.m., Lionel decides that Jerry must read to the group a play they have written. Jerry reads the play that he and Lionel have written to the house party guests. Later he goes outdoors where Mimi finds him —to tell him that she likes his play, and its idealized hero, Andy, angered, finds them. Suddenly Mimi tells Jerry she has promised to marry Andy. Jerry is called home by his mother's illness after begging Mimi to marry him. She doesn't promise but she gives him hope, declaring she will return a brooch Andy has given her.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY:

Outside my mother's room the whole house bore the stamp of Rose. Drury's occupation. Her personality pervaded everything. The bare beauty of shining cleanliness was no longer apparent, although it was clean enough; it was only that it was not so shining nor so orderly. Yet there was a certain color and glow which the place had lacked in my mother's time—Rose's pink sweater on a chair, the bright pink of the gingham dresses which she wore, wools out of which she was knitting another sweater heaped high in a basket, a bunch of pink roses crushed into a bowl on the center of the table.

The meals which she put on the table were most generous and, I may as well admit, more tempting than my mother had ever served. Our menus had been in a sense ascetic; we had always had enough to eat, but no time or money had been wasted on our appetites. Rose gave us great dishes of meat in their own rich gravies. She baked cakes for us —black with chocolate, or white with coconut. And she ate them herself, sitting at the end of the table in her pink dress and with her pink cheeks matching the roses of the bowl.

Because death stalked under that roof, I swung back once more to the things I had forgotten. Forced to face a future without my mother, I asked myself again questions about eternity. When the breath left that frail body, would the spirit live on and on, as my father believed?

Yet I did not want to think of death. I wanted to drink of life—to share with Mimi youth and joy, all vividness of experience. I felt that every moment away from her was a lost moment; that even now she might be drifting toward some destiny which would shut me out. I wrote her long letters of eloquence and entreaty. If she would only—wait.

Her notes in reply were brief. She had nothing to promise. And gradually I lost the assurance which had come to me in that one moment of her surrender. I grew depressed, wishing to escape from among the shadows into some space illumined by hope and happiness.

Every day my mother was growing weaker. When the pain was not too great, she liked to have me sit beside her and talk to her of my future.

"What are you going to do with your life, Jerry?"

"I should like to write, mother."

She pondered that "What kind of writing?"

"Books."

What I really wanted was to write plays. But I should never have dreamed of telling her. Nor that an almost finished manuscript of one was at that moment in my desk upstairs. To my mother, the theater was a place of evil influences. She would have been shocked and startled to know of my ambitions. So I did not tell her.

Her bright, pain-filled eyes were upon me. "I wish you might have preached like your father."

"I shall never be as good as my father."

"You mustn't say that. He was a boy like you when I met him, not yet having found the world's need of him. I felt that he could do bigger things—and he has done them. I hope that you may meet a woman some day, Jerry, who will bring the wish for bigger things into your life."

I had met the woman. But I kept that to myself. The big things seemed small in my mother's eyes. To write a play? To marry Mimi? To be lord of my own wide acres? She would have blown all these ambitions away with a puff of her breath. To know the Lord and serve him. All else counted as nothing in the sum of her hopes for me.

So it was, as always, to my father rather than to my mother that I poured out my heart. I told him first of the manuscript in my desk.

"I'd like to read it to you. I didn't do it alone; Lionel Clark and I are collaborating."

"Bring it down."

I was glad to do it, and I read it to him as we sat under a big maple tree in the front of the house. The sun was setting as I finished, and as I looked up, I saw that my father's gaze was on the luminous sky where two golden clouds floated in an almost breathless clearness.

"There's talent there. And your theme is big. Fix your eyes on the stars, Jerry. You can't go far wrong if you do that."

Yet I knew that he had fixed his eyes on the stars, and to what had it brought him? Poverty—this bare parsonage—a lonely old age when my mother left him. Never would I set my feet in such a path—never, never, never!

CHAPTER 18.

It was on the day before my mother died that I told my father about Mimi. Confession was easy. I was consumed with a desire to speak her

BEDTIME STORY

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY'S POP OUT.

"Here's your piece of string, Wiggy!" called Mrs. Longears to her rabbit husband one day as he was about to hop out of his bungalow to go adventuring.

"Piece of string, my dear," he said, twinkling his pink nose all on one side to give the other side a rest. "Why do I need a piece of string? Unless," he said, looking down, "I have lost my shoe lace."

"No, Wiggy, my dear," said his wife, "your shoe lace is all right. But you are going out. The snow is still deep and there may be another storm.

"Remember how you and Mr. Twistytail got lost and how the Police Dog had to bring you home by following a string tied to the bungalow?"

"Yes, I remember," said Uncle Wiggily.

Easy Way Home

"Well, when you go out now unwind this peice of string, one end of which will be fast to you bungalow back here. Then when you want to come home just follow the string."

"It was lovely of you to think of this, my dear," said the bunny gentleman to his wife, "but it isn't going to storm and the warm sun has so melted the snow that it isn't very deep now. I shall be all right without the string."

"Well, then I'll give it to Nurse Jane to play cat's cradle with," said the rabbit lady. "And I hope you have a nice adventure."

"Here give me that?"

"Thank you," replied Uncle Wiggily, twinking his pink nose on the other side now. "I'll hop along."

So he hopped along and soon he was out in a snow covered field. The snow wasn't deep so Uncle Wiggily didn't go down in it over his ears. It was just a teeny weeny bit deep.

All of a sudden, as Uncle Wiggily was hopping along, making queer paw tracks in the snow as rabbit gentleman always do, he saw some other marks in the snow.

"Oh, ho! I know who made those tracks!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily.

"I hope they aren't the marks of Bad Chaps!" sang a little Snow Bird sitting on a bush.

"No, indeed," answered Uncle Wiggily. "They are the marks of a very jolly chap, indeed. Or, rather they are the marks of the reindeer that pull his sleigh."

"You don't mean to tell me, it is" chirped the Snow Bird.

"Yes, it is!" said Uncle Wiggily not giving the bird a chance to finish. "Why Next week is Christmass you know!"

"Oh, so it is!" laughed the Snow Bird. "Hurray!"

"You don't mean to tell me, it is—" chirped the Snow Bird.

"Yes, it is!" said Uncle Wiggily not giving the bird a chance to finish. "Why Next week is Christmass you know!"

"Oh, so it is!" laughed the Snow Bird. "Hurray!"

Guess Who?

"Hurray!" cheered Uncle Wiggily. Then he hopped on a little farther and he saw, lying in the snow, a toy that had ropped from the pack or sled of—well, you know who I mean. It is best not to mention names. But you can guess.

"Ha!" exclaimed the rabbit as he picked up the toy. "It's a pop out and a large one. His pack must be very full when he drops toys like this. But I'll take it home with me to keep for Christmas."

What Uncle Wiggily called a Pop Out was really a Jack In the Box toy. Inside a box was a little doll man, or Jack and when the box cover opened out popped the Jack.

Uncle Wiggily was carrying the Christmas Pop Out toy home when, all of a quickness, out from behind a bush jumped the Bog Cat.

"Mew Mew! Mew!" howled the Bad Chap. "Here! Give me that!" He made a grab for the toy, most impolitely when, all of a sudden, open flew the cover, out poped the Jack. "Oh, wurra! Wurra!" howled the surprised Bob Cat. Dropping the toy away he ran.

"Ha! Ha! Ha!" laughed bunny. "It's a good thing I had Pop Out."

And if the pumpernickle will take the Swiss cheese to the movies I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's mystery.

County Seed Growers Plan Big Membership Campaign

Howard A. Quinn Is Re-elected President Of County Association

Officers of the Peterborough Seed Growers' Association were re-elected for the second year at their annual meeting in A. D. Runions' office Friday night, and Alex Houston and Chas. E. Moore were apointed captains of two teams for a competitive membership campaign ending at 6 p.m. March 24, the concluding evening of the Quinte Seed Fair which, pent, Howard A. Quinn; vice-presi-

Re-election of the officers by acclamation was moved by Wilbert Rosborough and seconded by C. E. Moore, and was unanimously adopted. They are as follows:— President, Howard A. Quin; vice-president, Robert Armstrong; secretary-treasurer, Gordon Hancock. Directors; Smith—C. E. Moore and A. Armstrong; Cavan—Fred McIndoo and Carman Seymour; North Monaghan—W. G. Waterman and F. Campbell; South Monaghan — H. Bebee and W. C. Dawson; Douro—V. Campbell Ralph Garbutt; Asphodel—James Humphries and Wm. Heffernan; Otonabee—Alex Houston, R. Drummond and E. O'Toole; Ennismore—Jas. Gifford and R. Hanbidge; Emily—Harry Jackson; Harvey—G. Elliott; Dummer — Jas. Hawthorne; Belmont—W. G. Barrie.

The Reds and Blues

The personnel of the opposing membership teams is:— Reds—Alex Houston captain, W. W. Dawson, Gordon Hancock, Robert Armstrong, Earl Petrie, Ralph Drummond, Ralph Hanbidge, Harold Bebee, Jas. Humphries, Eddie O'Toole and Jim Moore.

Blues—C. E. Moore, captain, W. Rosborough, W. G. Waterman, C. Seymour, H. A. Quinn, James Gifford, Chas. Whittington, Gordon Stocker, Joseph Tully, Clarence Mann and Earl Houston.

The membership fee is twenty-five cents and at that rate it is expected that several hundred farmers, at least, will be enlisted in the drive that began with Tom Brown, president of the Exhibition Board, contributing the first "quarter" to Alex Houston's account. Each membership fee counts ten points, and an additional five points is allowed for every dollar paid by the farmers who will receive credits for the cleaning of their seed at the association's mill.

Oyster Supper Reward

And the penalty is payment for an oyster supper by the losin gteam. Too many farmers, it was said by Mr. Quinn and others, are unaware of the advantages of the seed cleaning plant which is located along the C.N.R. on King Edward street, and north of the Children's Shelter, east of King Edward Park.

The financial statement showed that $200 had been received from members of the association. It was used in buying machinery, leaving a debit of $60.42 which is owing to Mr. Runions.

Henry Borland, operator of the seed cleaning plant, reported the following quantities of seed cleaned from February 15 last to May 1—Oats 1862 bus.; barley 1345; wheat 464; mixed grains 362; peas 18; buckwheat 23; other grains 86; timothy seed 7820 pounds, red clover 2667; alfalfa 115; alsike 1630; sweet clover 4649; flax 653; other seeds 400 pounds.

During the summer months 200 bushels of buckwheat and barley were cleaned, 1300 bushels of wheat for the show purposes; and several small lots of grain.

From September until this week, the cleaning operations were: Alfalfa 7648 pounds; timothy 7,000; red clover 1100; alsike 644; millet 888; barley 116 bus.; wheat 165 bus.; and there are 300 bushels of oats on hand to be cleaned.

Mr. Borland reported that 126 farmers had seed cleaned at the plant.

"There shouldn't be a farmer within fifteen miles of the city who is not a member of this association if they want to get away from dirty seed," Tom Brown said, and Mr. Runions added that the membership should certainly be doubled. The plant had proved its worth to the district, and Mr. Borland had given every satisfaction.

Classes At Seed Fair

Gordon Hancock, president of the Quinte Seed Fair, stressed the importance to this district of having the fair here in March. He suggested that farmers should begin to prepare their seed to make a strong local exhibit, and also said that efforts would be directed to providing prizes for the boys' wheat club as well as a senior class for this immediate district.

Appreciation of Mr. Runions' assistance in promoting grain culture in the county and in helping to get the association organized was expressed by Mr. Quinn.

F. C. Patterson Greeted

F. C. Patterson, successor to Mr. Runions, was cordially welcomed to the county as representative of the Ontario Department of Agriculture. He congratulated the association on the enthusiasm they were manifesting, and also on their accomplishment in obtaining a seed cleaning plant for the district.

Mr. Patterson said he was particularly interested in Peterborough county's embarking on a soil survey, and spoke of his work in this branch of agriculture in Norfolk and Welland counties. Soil was a fundamental factor in farming, he said, and during the last few years Ontario was finding out that its land was not what it used to be. A survey of the soil was only a beginning of the work of restoring normal mineral content and balance.

"Mr. Runions is recognized as one of our outstanding young agricultural representatives," Mr. Patterson said in a compliment to his colleague. "I expect that I can't keep the pace he has set in certain lines, but I am glad to come into a county where such a lot of good work has been done. I can say that from certain experience I have had, and which Mr. Runions understands."

John Lawson Seymour Pioneer Is In Best Of Health On 89th Birthday

(Examiner Correspondence.)

TRENT RIVER, Dec. 18. — Another milestone has passed for Trent River's oldest and most highly esteemed resident, John Lawson, who has his 89th birthday to-day. Born in Prince Edward County in 1848 he in a log shanty and helped his father clear the land.

Mr. Lawson has followed farming all his life, and tells many interesting stories of early days when he carried a bag of wheat on his back to the rivers —mile distant, and there rowed a boat up the Trent to Hastings, where the wheat was ground into flour. In winter the trip was made by ox-cart, a distance of seven miles. Coarse grain was hand-flailed and taken to the village of Marmora by oxen—17 miles —taking a whole day to accomplish the journey. The grain was sold to Gilmour and Rathbun Lumber Co for shanty purposes.

Mr. Lawson recalls the time they made 1,000 pounds of maple sugar in one season and sold it for 10 cents a pound. All fruit at that time was preserved with maple sugar. When clearing the land, ashes were saved and leached and boiled into potash and sold for $6 to $7 a hundred. Large quantities were taken to Healey Falls, 7 miles, and traded for goods. Notwithstanding his advanced years, Mr. Lawson often walks to the store and post office, two miles each way. He has been twice married and since the death of his last wife, the late Mary Jane Collins of Dummer, in 1930, resides on his farm with his sister, Mrs. John Free and her granddaughter, Eleanor Brown. He enjoys the best of health, and is seen in his seat at the United Church regularly each Sunday.

He has retained all his faculties, and can see to read without the aid of glasses. His many friends and neighbors wish for him many more happy years in the sunset of life.

PREMIER KING DENIES CHARGES

as far as he knew the United States had not sought to bring pressure on the Dominion Government to obtain Ontario's co-operation in the St. Lawrence scheme. Neither had the Dominion Government brought pressure to bear on Ontario to that end.

"The further allegation that an agreement exists between Ottawa and Washington that Ontario should not be allowed to develop more power at Niagara Falls until the province becomes a party to the St. Lawrence development is also wholly without foundation," he said.

Mr. Mackenzie King added the legal position regarding use of St. Lawrence waters, whether at Niagara or elsewhere, is based on provisions of the boundary waters treaty concluded in 1909. "In that sense," he said, "the question of diversion and use of waters is governed by terms of the treaty between the two countries."

"The terms of the treaty," he said, "necessarily become a subject for consideration on the part of all Governments concerned in any plans for modification of existing arrangements respecting boundary waters."

This last paragraph was believed to refer to a proposal of Ontario to spend $3,000,000 diverting the waters of Long Lac from James Bay to Lake Superior, raising the level of the Great Lakes and providing a greater flow at Niagara for power development.

Nothing to Say.

The Prime Minister left unanswered a declaration by his former colleague that "Mr. King is still licking his wounds from personal defeats suffered in this province and he hasn't recovered, even though for the first time in his political career this province sent him a majority of supporters in the last Federal election."

He did not answer Mr. Hepburn's accusation that "Mr. King was never friendly to Ontario. I happen to know that because I was with him and watched him at Ottawa."

name to someone. I wanted to dwell on her beauty, her remoteness from the rest of the world, her graciousness to me. I was bursting with big thoughts— dreams—hopes—and these things cried for utterance.

We were in the church when I talked to him. It was Saturday night, and we had brought flowers from our garden for the vase by the pulpit. This had always been my mother's office, and she had worried lest it should not be done. My father had not let her illness interfere with his preaching. Heavy-hearted though he was, he still spoke to his people and found refreshment, I think, in doing it.

When the flowers were arranged finally to where he stood waiting for me in the dim aisle.

"I want to tell you something," I said. "Do you remember, years ago, you said that some day I should find the woman who would hold my soul in her hand? Well, I've found her!"

He did not seem surprised. He stood there beside me, tall and stiff in his black coat. "I thought it might be so Jerry. You are much changed."

"How am I changed?"

"You live in a world of your own. Your body is here, but your thoughts are far away."

Enjoyable Concert Staged By Class

(Examiner Correspondence.)

WARSAW, Dec. 18.—There is no regular Sunday School held in Warsaw Baptist church. In the south of the charge there are quite a number of children of Baptist parentage. Miss Helen Tedford, eldest daughter of Mr. Archie Tedford, goes to these homes in turn and teaches a good-sized class in which a great interest is shown. This has been carried on for nearly three years. On Wednesday evening, December 15, this class with the assistance of a few friends, put on a very interesting entertainment in the church, which was much appreciated by the splendid number who turned out to witness it.

Rev. Mr. W. B. Walker, pastor, was chairman for the evening. Master Marvin Kidd recited "A Christmas Wish"; the Sunday School sang a chorus "While Shepherds Watched"; an amusing dialogue "Selling of Sally" by some of the pupils; recitation by Walter Tedford; selection of music, two mouth organs and a guitar, three boys; dialogue "What do you want for Christmas", by school children; recitation, "A Wish" by Vera Kidd; guitar selection, Walter Walker; representation "O, Little Town of Bethlehem"; dialogue, "Courting Mary Jane," Orville Kidd recited the Seventy-third Psalm; all present sang a Christmas hymn.

Awards were given for regular attendance, verses and memorizing passages of Scripture. Zelda Tedford recited "Have you any stars in Heaven?"; "Away in a Manger" was sung by three tiny tots; dialogue "A cure for rheumatism" by two boys, caused much amusement; Arden Clements gave a recitation; Walter Walker gave a guitar selection; "Jerry and the ice cream" was an amusing dialogue by two girls, one representing a boy; music selection by three boys; Noreen Clements recited; chorus by the school "Once in Royal David's City"; Leslie Kidd recited; the last number was a school chorus "Merry Christmas."

Santa Claus distributed gifts to the pupils at the close.

HEPBURN RELEASES PRIVATE SEAWAY LETTERS

EXTRA POWER SEEN USELESS, SLUMP COMING

Hepburn Lays Seaway Stand to Arms Race

TORONTO, Dec. 20 (C.P.)—Ontario's refusal to support the St. Lawrence Waterways project, subject to correspondence and conversations between the Dominion and United States Governments, was set forth to-day in "confidential" correspondence made public by Premier Mitchell Hepburn of Ontario.

In a letter addressed on November 25 to Prime Minister Mackenzie King at Ottawa, Mr. Hepburn outlined his position regarding the St. Lawrence Waterways in three concise paragraphs:

"Having finally arrived at a tentative arrangement with respect to a settlement of our power problems with Quebec companies, I am advised by the Hydro Commissioners and technicians that Ontario's power requirements have been taken care of for many, many years to come.

"We are, therefore, not in need of power nor in my opinion, having in mind our acute railway problem, any additional avenue of transportation.

Another Depression Coming.

"In my judgment the purchasing power of European and Asiatic countries will collapse with the continued dissipation of gold reserves for armament purposes and this continent will, as a consequence, witness an era of depression comparable to the one through which we have just passed."

Premier Hepburn's letter was in reply to a letter from Prime Minister King, dated November 12. Mr. King said the Dominion Government had been asked by the United States Government if it was prepared to take up anew the St. Lawrence matter "and allied matters, among which were mentioned the Niagara position and the possible developments in Northern Ontario affecting the Great Lakes levels."

Blocked by Dominion In '24

The correspondence showed Ontario first planned diversion of Kenogami and Ogoki river water into Lake Superior in 1924. The federal government decided in 1925 that water so diverted would be considered belonging to Canada and not to Ontario, as the province had asked.

On July 21, 1927, Provincial Secretary Harry C. Nixon wrote to Hon. Fernand Rinfret, secretary of State, asking (1) Permission to divert water into the Great Lakes system and (2) An agreement for the retention for Canada of the benefits of the diversion.

Prime Minister King set forth the Dominion government's position in a reply to Mr. Nixon, dated September 7. He said the suggested Long Lac diversion in Northwestern Ontario would "properly require a

RICE LAKE SQUAW IS GIVEN FREEDOM

(Special to The Examiner)

MONTREAL, Dec. 20. — A few well-chosen words in Algonquin by Chief Len Big Canoe, uptown departmental store employee, spelled freedom today for Mary Oquish, of Rice Lake, Ontario, Ojibway nation.

The accused was charged with stealing $50 worth of hospital supplies during the past year while she was a patient at the Sacred Heart Hospital at the local Caughnawaga Reservation.

Big Six Jooks, chief of the Iroquois reservation, failed to understand the women's language at an earlier hearing, and Chief Big Len Canoe, an Ojibway, was called in.

Under his questioning, the woman revealed how she had taken the goods and given them to visitors. In view of the circumstances, the Crown refused to proceed against her. She was admitted to a Montreal North Hostel.

MORE BUILDING

OTTAWA, Dec. 20—(CP). — The Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported to-day value of building permits issued in 58 cities in Canada last month was $4,006,680, a large increase compared with $3,087,508 in November, 1936. In the first 11 months of 1937 value of building permits was $53,042,087 compared with $38,063,527 in the same period last year.

Let Public Judge Self Or King Nearer The Truth

No Use in Keeping Public in Doubt Day Longer If King to Release It in House, Says Ontario Chief

TORONTO, Dec. 20.—(CP)—Premier Mitchell Hepburn today made public correspondence, marked confidential, between the Ontario and Dominion governments, relating to the St. Lawrence waterways project and Ontario's plan to divert water into the Great Lakes system.

The correspondence, which Prime Minister Mackenzie King said yesterday at Ottawa would be tabled in the House of Commons during the coming session, was given to reporters as Mr. Hepburn and Premier Maurice Duplessis of Quebec went into conference at a downtown hotel.

Premier Hepburn accompanied the release with the following statement, dictated to reporters:—

"Im going to release the correspondence. Mr. King says hes going to release it in the house. Why keep the public in doubt a day longer?

"Mr. King now is trying to create the impression that there has been no correspondence or conferences between himself and the government of the United States regarding the St. Lawrence waterways, and no correspondence between me and him, but in a letter dated November 12, 1937, he makes reference to both conferences and correspondence.

"Mr. King refers specifically to a conference with me when he was on his way to the White House to be a guest of President Roosevelt, and when he sought to secure from me assurance of support on the waterways plan and other matters to be discussed between himself and Mr. Roosevelt.

Let the Public Judge.

"The public can judge for itself as to which of us is nearer the truth.

"I wish to emphasize the seriousness of the situation created by Mr. King's refusal to attempt to secure permission for diversion of Long Lac and other waters. Not only would it be an aid to transportation but it would create water for power de-

ONTARIO, QUEBEC HEADS IN HUDDLE WITH W. H. MOORE

TORONTO, December 20—(CP)—Premier Mitchell Hepburn of Ontario and Premier Maurice Duplessis of Quebec, lining up to resist alleged federal encroachments on provincial revenues, to-day renewed here their hotel-room conference started a week ago in Montreal.

The two premiers with cabinet members and officials were joined by W. H. Moore, M.P. for Ontario riding, former chairman of the Tariff Board, and known to be a close adviser of Premier Hepburn on economic problems.

At the conclusion of the Montreal conference it was announced agreement had been reached in principle on matters being discussed and details were to be attended to at the Toronto meeting. Mr. Hepburn announced no statement would be made to-day. There might be one to-morrow night when the conference ends.

Mr. Duplessis had little to say to the press before going into the conference. Asked what results might flow from it, he said:

"We are dealing with present-day problems. We'll attend to the future when we reach it."

Mr. Duplessis had nothing to say regarding his recent speech at Shawinigan Falls. He was quoted as saying there, the Maritimes would join Ontario and Quebec to resist efforts to sap provincial autonomy. Later he said he had been misquoted.

Pulp Export On List

Mr. Hepburn said one of the objects of the conference was to resist federal efforts to obtain succession duty revenues now accruing to the province. It was understood,

Power Shut Off For 25 Minutes

Peterborough's industry and commerce was brought almost to a halt when voltage throughout the city Hydro system dropped to a very low level then went off entirely at 2 o'clock this afternoon. The ause of the interruption was not learned immediately from Utilities men who said they believed the trouble might be at the Auburn sub-station.

The dimming of lights gave the lead for many wisecracks up and down the main street.

"Mitch' must have sold all our power to the United States this afternoon," one Conservative wit declared.

Voltage returned to normal after 25 minutes.

CHINESE FIRE BIG JAP MILLS TSINGTAO CITY

87 Million Damage; Reprisals Held Likely

SHANGHAI, Dec. 20 (A.P.). — An imminent Japanese offensive in Chekiang and Anwhei, rich Central Chinese provinces, was disclosed today by General Iwane Matsui, Japanese commander. The pressure of Japan's campaign, however, was felt the whole length of coastal China from Tsingtao, important northern seaport, to Canton, metropolis of the south.

A Japanese naval attack on Tsingtao, highly developed by Japanese industry, was feared because of the destruction of Rich Japanese properties by Chinese troops there.

Samuel Sokobin, United States Consul at Tsingtao, informed Consul-General Clarence E. Gauss at Shanghai early to-day "all was quiet last night."

"No looting," Sokobin reported. "No Japanese forces in sight.

"All damage confined to burning Japanese mills."

A Japanese spokesman said he was informed Chinese had destroyed all Japanese cotton mills in Tsingtao. Since all Japanese had evacuated the port at the outbreak of the war, Chinese had held the property as hostage against attack. Its value was estimated at more than 500,000,000 yen (about $87,000,000).

Canton Next?

Heavy concentrations of Japanese warcraft were reported along the Kwangtung Province coast, presumably indicating Japanese plans to strike at Canton.

Thousands of Japanese troops were said to have been shifted from the Shanghai-Nanking area to the south, where an offensive would strike close to Hong Kong, Great Britain's commercial centre.

(In London, British newspapers reflected anxiety over the prospective Japanese thrust into South China. Informed opinion expected Great Britain to take strong defensive measures. The Cabinet, it was believed, would make an important decision on Wednesday on disposition of British armed forces in the Far East.)

Plea Of Self Defense Hinted By Japs In Panay Incident

Deny, Then Admit Nipponese Craft at Scene; Claim Crew Thought Americans Firing at Them

TOKYO, Dec. 20.—(AP)—The Japanese foreign office spokesman reversed today a previous statement in which he had denied United States charges that the gunboat Panay had been fired on by Japanese river vessels.

He indicated Japan would plead self defence for the river boat attack on the United States ship as it was sinking under bombardment Sunday by Japanese planes, and would claim the Panay had changed position without sufficient notice to Japanese.

"I had denied the report (of the attack on the Panay by surface craft) because I was so informed and believed," the foreign office spokesman said.

"On the basis of information received only a few moments ago I must change the statement. It is true that a Japanese boat was near the Panay.

"The most important point to be cleared now is which (The Panay or the Japanese boat) fired first. The army personnel on board the Japanese boat believed the Panay fired on them."

A Different Story.

Earlier to-day in Shanghai the Japanese military attache had issued a report in the sinking of the United States gunboat Panay which contradicted virtually every statement previously made by American naval officers and British, Italian, and American survivors.

The report of Major-General Kumakichi Harada purported to be "the sum total of staff officers' investigation" of the bombing of the Panay and three Standard Oil Company vessels on December 12.

In conflict with the stories of survivors, Harada's statement:

1—Denied that Japanese Army boats had fired on the Panay as it was sinking.

2—Asserted the gunboat was moving at the time of the incident when officially it had been reported anchored for more than two hours in the Yangtse River 27 miles above Nanking.

Chinese All United To Continue War

HANKOW, China, Dec. 20 (AP).—China refuses to make any peace overtures to Japan, several of China's highest officials said here today.

China is united as never before, they said, and the loss of Nanking has only intensified the government's determination to resist Japan until China's last resources are exhausted. They declared complete union prevails in favor of continuing the war.

Recent peace gestures came from Japan through Germany, not from China, they asserted.

When China signified her willingness to negotiate, they declared, Japan suddenly changed her mind, apparently because she was making such rapid military progress she felt she could delay peace discussions.

Germany's shortage of skilled labor is growing more serious.

Eight Men Perish As Pt. Stanley Dam Crumples

Timbers, Steel and Water Pour in on Victims 5 Minutes After Engineer Reports Job Satisfactory

PORT STANLEY, Ont., Dec. 20—(CP)—After three bodies of the eight men who lost their lives when a coffer dam collapsed here last night were removed from the tangled debris today, further recovery efforts were halted when the diver, working in 30 feet of water, tore a rubber glove of his diving suit. Ice formed over Kettle Creek, the scene of the tragedy, and a tug was brought up from Lake Erie to smash a channel and enable recovery work to proceed when the second diver arrived from Toronto.

Thirteen "muckers" were at work on the bottom of Kettle Creek when the protecting walls of interlocking steel sheets of the dam collapsed without warning last night. The five who escaped death were injured. Five others, working on top of the 65-foot-long structure, were thrown into the water and were rescued.

Cause of the collapse was unknown. At 9:50 p.m.—10 minutes after an engineer of the Ontario Department of Highways had climbed the only stairway from the dam to report the work was progressing nicely—a crash resounded through Port Stanley, a Lake Erie port seven miles south of St. Thomas. Within seconds, steel, timbers and water poured upon the trapped workers.

The dead: James McFarlane, Port Stanley; Archibald Jones, Port Stanley; James and Joseph Olsen, St. Thomas; A. Blabee and his son, C. Blabee, St. Thomas; George Besley, St. Thomas, and Douglas Beatty, Union, Ont.

The Injured: James Sealey, 22, St. Thomas, suffering from shock; William Hume, St. Thomas, shock; Elmer Sherring, shock and arm injuries; Alvin Thompson, White Station, Ont., shock; William Duffy, Union, fracture of spine. Duffy's condition was said not to be critical.

James Sealey, brother of the dead George, said of the disaster: "I heard the timbers going crack—crack—crack. Then the beams started to move—they all started to give. Then everything seemed to start piling in. I grabbed a big timber and held fast. I kept hold of the timber and started swimming the best way I could. It seemed the Lord was telling me to keep going. I did and finally got to the surface."

Almost Ready for Cement

The dam was in the centre of Kettle Creek, which runs into Port Stanley harbor and over which a $250,000 lift bridge is to be built by the Bermingham Construction Company of Kingston. Pouring of cement for the foundations was to have been started Tuesday.

John Bermingham, a partner in the construction firm and its representative on the job, was in his hotel room at the time of the accident. He heard the crash of collapsing steel. Of its probable cause, he said: "I don't know. I have no idea."

Divers brought from Hamilton, Toronto and Oshawa were to descend into the water to view the situation but whether they would be able to extricate the bodies from the jumbled wreckage could not immediately be determined. Bermingham said it was possible that a new cofferdam would have to be built around the old one before the water could be pumped out and the debris removed.

After the disaster, the worst in the history of the port, the surface of the water presented a picture of twisted steel and broken timber projecting a foot out of the water. Only the east side of the oblong

OLD GERMAN ARMY IDOL LUDENDORFF DIES IN MUNICH

MUNICH, Dec. 20 (AP).—General Erich Ludendorff, 72-year-old idol of the German Army, died to-day.

The Great War commander apparently was recovering from an operation on an infected bladder, but last night his heart failed.

Throughout his illness of more than three weeks, the aged soldier showed the same spartan self-discipline that had made him a symbol to Germany's army when he was chief of staff under Marshal Paul von Hinderburg during the war.

By a strange coincidence, this arch enemy of Catholicism and militant apostle of a new, Aryan anti-Christian religion spent the final days of his life attended by nuns in a Catholic hospital.

The choice of the hospital was dictated by Professor Ludwig Kiel-leuthner, who operated on the general, and who would attend clients at no other institution.

The sudden relapse last night, however, showed his weakened constitution was unequal to absorbing transfused blood.

Chancellor Hitler and Marshal Werner von Blomberg, War Minister, were informed immediately. Hitler sent condolences to Ludendorff's widow, Mathilde, who had moved to

8 EX-RED CHIEFS DIE AGAINST WALL

MOSCOW, Dec. 20 (AP).—Secret execution of eight once high-ranking Communists shared attention today with celebration of the 20th anniversary of the Russian Secret Political Police.

An announcement last night said the former party leaders were tried for high treason and shot. It was the first disclosure even that most of them were under arrest.

Two of the most conspicuous of the erstwhile leaders were known to have been in custody. They were Leo M. Karakhan, Vice Commissar for Foreign Affairs, and Boris C. Steigerbn, former Baltic baron and friend of many ambassadors.

To celebrate the anniversary of the secret police organization which has been purging Soviet ranks of "enemies" an official radio broadcast announced completion of a new, 1,300-mile railroad paralleling the Far East section of the Trans-Siberian Railway.

Millions Dead Fish Dot Niagara 16 Miles

Third Time In Month—Pollution From Waste In Buffalo River Blamed

BUFFALO, N.Y., Dec. 20 (AP) — For the third time within a month, millions of dead fish were killed by pollution in Niagara River today.

"Millions of dead fish, particularly minnows, were observed in the river yesterday and early today," state conservation inspector Zillard E. Tillman said. "Pollution killed fish all the way from Buffalo to Niagara Falls (approximately 16 miles)."

Tillman said there was no doubt the fish were killed by the same type of pollution which caused the death of millions of fish on the two previous occasions. Canada, United States and New York State officials recently conferred on means of stopping the fish slaughter but reached no definite agreement.

On the two previous occasions the poison in the fish was found to be cyanide and traced to the industrial waste from the Buffalo River.

Quints Romp In Twelve Below Talking Of Old St. Nick

Big Day Ahead With Presents But No Turkey Or Candy, Just Usual Diet

CALLANDER, Ont., Dec. 20.—(CP).—Yvonne plunged down a slide today, somersaulted from her sled into a snowbank and bobbed up spitting snow and shouting "Pere Noel S'en Vient! Pere Noel S'en Vient! The fact Santa Claus is coming has been all the Dionne quintuplets have been able to talk about for days and even a new slide in their front yard was dwarfed in importance by the old gentleman's imminent arrival.

The slide was ready yesterday and the quints stopped talking about Christmas long enough to troop out in 12-below zero weather and test it. Before you could say Yvonne, Annette, Emilie, Cecile and Marie they had the thing figured out and were slipping down its icy surface, lying on their sleds in expert fashion.

But Pere Noel was the chief topic of quint conversation again to-day after Yvonne took her tumble, a little shaking up that seemed to jog her memory. Her sisters gathered around her and discussed his coming in the mixture of French and quint-talk that is for quintuplet ears alone.

They have a clear idea of what the old fellow looks like because

It has been in the neighborhood for some time this winter, but as yet has caused no damage.

Lads Hunt On Roof With Church On

Toronto, Dec. 20.

TWO small boys in search of stray pigeons climbed to the roof of St. John's Anglican Church Woodbine Avenue and Kingston Road, during the Sunday evening service.

The youngster endangered their lives on the slippery roof as they crawled to the top in search of the birds roosting for the night.

The noise of the boys on the roof could be heard by the congregation inside the church, and the police of Main Street station were called. A police cruiser was despatched to the scene.

The boys came down when ordered by the police, and after receiving a lecture from the constables were sent to their homes.

Parmalee Back In Canada To Face Charges For Three $3,800 Bogus Cheques

TORONTO, Dec. 23 (CP)—Lucius A. (Santa Claus) Parmalee was remanded today until Dec. 28 when he appeared in police court on charges of forgery involving $11,400. No bail was allowed.

The 49-year-old cheque artist arrived here last night after a quick trip from San Quentin Penitentiary in California with a short stop at Windsor, Ont., where deportation was arranged and a pair of Toronto detectives took him in charge.

Parmalee was sought by Toronto police for a long time because of three charges of forgery preferred against him in 1930. He arrived just at the Christmas season—his preferred time for passing bogus cheques and the reason for his nickname, police said.

Awaiting transportation to police headquarters on his arrival by train here, Parmalee talked to reporters.

"Crime does not pay—this I have found out," said the man who was alleged to have forged cheques to a face value of $50,000 in the last 17 years in Canada and the United States. "I am reformed and expect to get a break. Police said the three charges against Parmalee were for bogus cheques worth $3,800 in each instance and passed at branches in Toronto of the Bank of Montreal, the Canadian Bank of Commerce

Internes Try Out A "Burglar Dance" To Repay Phantom's Victims

New York, Dec. 20 (CP).

INTERNES at Bellevue Hospital invited their friends and their friends' friends to attend a "burglar dance" tonight in the hope of defraying losses incurred during the past two years from burglary.

No one, a spokesman for the Internes' Association said, has seen the "phantom burglar" who has been preying on the hospital attaches and police aid so far has been ineffectual.

So the internes trying to live on small incomes, promoted tonight's dance. The receipts are to be turned over to those hospital attaches who have been the victims of the phantom.

WEEKEND TOLL CLAIMS 14 LIVES

TORONTO, Dec. 20 (CP). — Ontario entered Christmas week with a death toll of 14 after weekend accidents. Eight of the fatalities resulted from collapse of a cofferdam at Port Stanley. Most of the others followed traffic accidents.

Two traffic deaths occurred in London area Saturday. Harold Marshal died of injuries received when struck by a truck in London and 82-year-old Isaac Payne was killed when a truck struck him three miles east of the city.

An automobile-truck crash at Langstaff, north of Toronto, Saturday resulted in death of Grant Cooper of Toronto. Mrs. Henry Fitzsimmons, 76, of York Township, died of injuries Saturday when hit by a car as she crossed the street near Toronto's west-end.

A Canadian National Railways engine killed James Toch, 23-year-old sectionhand, as he walked along the track to work near Geraldton in Northwestern Ontario Saturday. It was to have been his second day on the job.

Fifteen-year-old Kenneth McEwen of Freelton died in Hamilton hospital Saturday night of a thigh wound suffered when a shotgun accidentally discharged as he walked through the bush near his home.

HAVELOCK PUPILS STAGE CONCERT

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HAVELOCK, Dec. 20. — There was a fine attendance this year at the annual Sunday School entertainment of St. John's Anglican Church held on Friday evening in the church basement. A splendid program, one of the best in some years, was provided with each class represented, and as a climax Santa Claus appeared and addressed the gathering in his usual jolly manner. Members of the choir completed the program with a Christmas scene "The First Noel."

A beautiful table lamp was presented by the members of the congregation to Rev. and Mrs. R. E. Lemon.

Christmas Sale.

The Parish Guild of St. John's Anglican Church held their annual Christmas sale of work and afternoon tea last Thursday afternoon, in the church basement, which presented a very attractive appearance for the occasion. The organization realized almost $45 from the event.

Rev. R. E. Lemon opened the tea at 3 p.m., with prayer. In charge of the different tables were: Fancy goods, Mrs. William Fraser and Mrs. F. Thompson; baking table, Mrs. Robert Jones and Mrs. William Rice; tea tables, Mrs. T. W. Quinn, Mrs. William Woodbeck, and Mrs. M. Woodbeck.

KING PROPOSES TABLE LETTERS POWER DISPUTE

Denies All Charges Made by Hepburn

OTTAWA, Dec. 20 (C.P.). — Prime Minister Mackenzie King and his erstwhile supporter and co-worker in the Liberal Party, Premier Mitchell Hepburn of Ontario, faced each other to-day over a yawning gulf of discord arising from their differences on the question of power export, made wider by week-end exchanges.

Replying to political and personal charges voiced on Saturday by Mr. Hepburn, claiming United States influence had dictated Mr. Mackenzie King's power policy and protesting alleged Federal designs upon Ontario's succession duty administration, the Prime Minister and two of his colleagues issued denials last night.

Mr. Mackenzie King denied he had ever attempted to persuade Mr. Hepburn to support him in proceeding with the St. Lawrence Waterways Development or had intimated refusal of Ontario to support the project might bring United States trade barriers in retaliation.

The Prime Minister did not refer to Mr. Hepburn's declaration that Mr. Mackenzie King had exercised "his usual cunning" in marking "confidential" letters that would substantiate the Ontario Premier's charge of United States influence. Publication of such letters, Mr. Hepburn said on Saturday, would "brand King in his proper light with respect to this controversy."

State Documents.

His letters had been marked "confidential," Prime Minister King declared in a statement last night, because they concerned "another Government" and were state documents. Mr. Hepburn had similarly marked some of his communications on this subject "confidential."

He would table these letters in the House of Commons, the Prime Minister said in a telegram sent Mr. Hepburn last night in reply to a wire asking for permission to make them public. He suggested Mr. Hepburn table a similar return in the Ontario Legislature.

The Prime Minister denied Mr. Hepburn's statement of Saturday that, when Mr. Mackenzie King was en route to Washington last spring he had "spent an hour in my office in a futile effort to persuade me to accede to the Roosevelt request re-

MRS. STOCKDALE AGAIN PRESIDENT

(Examiner Correspondence.)

LAKEHURST, Dec. 20.—The regular monthly meeting of Lakehurst United Church Ladies' Aid was held in the church on Thursday afternoon. In the devotional service the president, Mrs. W. J. Stockdale, was assisted by Mrs. Walter Harrison, Mrs. Raymond Hunt and Mr. Kenneth Stewart who gave a Christmas address.

In the business period splendid reports of the year's work were heard, showing that the organization had been busy and had a financial balance of $110.94.

Monthly meetings were held with an average attendance of 22, the sick and shut-ins were remembered, electric lights installed in the church, five quilts and much sewing and knitting completed, individual members cleaned the church month by month and a bazaar and supper was held in August.

Mrs. Stockdale, in her usual capable manner, addressed the group. Others who spoke were Mrs. P. Hunt and Mrs. W. Shearer. Mr. Stewart conducted the election of officers for 1938, which resulted as follows:

President, Mrs. W. J. Stockdale; vice presidents, Mrs. John Coones and Mrs. Peter Bell; secretaries, Mrs. Lorne Stockdale and Mrs. Bert Eason; treasurer, Mrs. Russel Flynn and Mrs. Walter Harrison; sick convenor, Mrs. Raymond Hunt; work committee, Miss Gertrude Shearer, Mrs. J. Coones, Mrs. P. Hunt, Mrs. W. J. Stockdale; organist, Mrs. Bert Cassell.

Mrs. W. R. Thompson offered her home for the January meeting.

A large number of Lakehurst people attended the funeral of the late John Deck, a former resident, which was held in Peterborough on Saturday, with interment in Lakefield cemetery.

The concert and basket social sponsored by the community in aid of the new skating rink was held on Friday with Mr. Art Stinson as chairman and Mr. Bob Smith as auctioneer. The proceeds were very gratifying.

At the regular service in the United Church on Sunday afternoon Mr. Ken Stewart, the student minister, received eleven persons into the membership of the church.

NEW WHEAT FIND IS RUST-RESISTANT AND DISEASE FREE

WINNIPEG, Dec. 20 — (CP). — Farmers will be freed from the scourge of smut, stem rust and other wheat disease that has cost them millions of dollars if hopes of Dominion Research scientists materialise.

Dr. Cyril H. Goulden of the Dominion Rust Research Laboratory at Winnipeg to-day has a new wheat, known only as "Rust Laboratory 1097," claimed to be superior in quality to other rust resistant varieties.

Just 10 years ago, Dr. Goulden worked with a few seeds developed from a cross between a United States wheat, H-44-24, and Reward. These few seeds have multiplied under the vigilant care of Science, and now 500 bushels of uniform RL 1097 are in store.

"Although rust resistant wheat, Thatcher, Renown and Apex, which all have certain undesirable characteristics, will be grown in Canada next year, attempts now are being made to produce better wheat," Dr. Goulden said.

"Most desirable factors to consider are earlier maturing and higher yielding wheat which has more disease resistance, greater straw strength, good kernel appearance and of high milling and baking quality," the Winnipeg plant breeder stated, adding RL 1097 most nearly fulfills these requirements.

An Earlier Variety.

"The new grain is earlier than rust-resistant wheat now being grown, yields well, and is particularly suitable in northern areas. It is resistant to leaf rust and loose smut to which Thatcher is highly susceptible."

The Associated Committee on Grain Research at its annual meeting here next spring will consider recommending this wheat to the Dominion for licensing and distribution, said the committee secretary, Dr. W. F. Geddes, chief chemist of the Dominion Grain Research Laboratory here.

Dr. Geddes declared RL1097 is forma] agreement to be submitted both to the United States senate and to parliamentary approval here."

What King Thought

In discussing what he called the "practical chances" of obtaining a new treaty to replace international rules governing boundary waters, Mr. King wrote:

"The United States administration would be unwilling to sidetrack the St. Lawrence treaty for such an object. Even if negotiated, such a treaty would have less chance in the United States senate than the incidental provisions to the same effect in the St. Lawrence treaty, since practically it would be for Canada's benefit only so far as power is concerned.

"And while such a diversion into boundary waters would help both countries as to navigation, that aspect is difficult to separate from the St. Lawrence treaty provisions regarding the Chicago diversion and the compensation works questions."

also, the present meeting would agree on the substance of the submissions of the two provinces to the royal commission on federal-provincial relations.

Also on the agenda was Quebec's proposal Ontario should again prohibit the export of pulpwood cut from Crown lands. It was argued that prohibition of such export, now the rule in Quebec, would result in busier Canadian newsprint mills.

Ontario formerly had such a prohibition but it was removed by the present government.

Representing Ontario today were Premier Hepburn, Attorney-General Gordon Conant, Provincial Secretary Harry Nixon, Hon. Peter Heenan, Minister of Lands and Forests, Highways Minister T. B. McQuesten, Chester Walters, controller of finances.

Accompanying Mr. Duplessis were Provincial Treasurer Martin B. Fisher, Provincial Secretary J. H. A. Paquette, Labor Minister William Tremblay, Hon. T. J. Coonan, minister without portfolio, Revenue Comptroller George Shink and Relief Director Michel Guimont.

velopment and by increasing flow in the Detroit, Niagara and St. Lawrence Rivers help handle the increasing problem of pollution by industries. Within the last few days 500,000,000 fish have been killed in the waters adjacent to Buffalo, N.Y.

"Apart from this great areas of timber and pulpwood lands will stay inaccessible for development and power for mines will not be available. If the unauthorized Chicago drainage canal can lower the level of the lakes without international agreement, surely Ontario should be able to divert much needed water into the same chain of lakes.

"This whole thing resolves itself into whether Ontario is to be dominated by Washington and Ottawa and coaxed into obligating its citizens into useless expenditures for an avenue of transportation not needed and for power we could not use for generations to come.

"I tried to get the Federal Government to separate the two problems—that of diverting the water above the Niagara from that problem having to do with St. Lawrence deepening but he (Mr. King) insists on tying the two together."

Fashion Service

Home tasks become a pleasure in a comfy smart apron like this. It costs so little . . . . you'll want to make half dozen or more. Cut it out! Sew ric rac, along all the edges . . . . . It's finished except to attach the tie belt. With the same pattern, you can make quite a different looking apron with deep vee neck with contrasting bias binds (that by the way can be bought already folded to stitch). Note it has two deep patch pockets. The sash is simply slipped through openings at the front and tied in a bow. This one piece apron opens right out flat for ironing.

Style No. 3334 is designed for sizes small, medium and large. The medium size requires 1¼ yards of 36-inch material with 4 yards of ric rac braid.

Primers and Beginners
Have Christmas Party.

On Saturday evening from five to eight o'clock the Primary and Beginners' Departments of Murray Street Baptist Sunday School enjoyed their annual Christmas entertainment.

Nearly 60 happy kiddies sat down to supper at half past five, at tables gay with Christmas decorations, candles, little decorated trees, and red and green streamers. A musical program afterward included the following: Chorus, (by all the children); song by Marion Cox, accompanying herself; song, Jack Sutcliffe, accompanied by Raymond Sutcliffe; song, Anne White, accompanied by Miss R. Burgess; chorus, "Snowflake" song, by all children; dialogue, eight girls, "The Christmas Rainbow".

"Jingle Bells" was sung to welcome Santa Claus, who arrived to distribute gifts from the decorated tree, each child receiving a candy bag and an orange as well as a gift.

THE STARS SAY . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLLE

For Tuesday, December 21.

Social and confidential matters are uppermost in this day's activities, according to the prevailing planetary directions. There may be some pleasurable excitement in this connection, with secret plans possibly in relation to gifts or social, domestic or affectional functions. Work and business seem to be negligible quantities.

Those whose birthday it is may find their work, employment and serious matters rather irksome, but should find excitement and interest in social, artistic, romantic or domestic concerns.

A child born on this day may have a very happy and sociable disposition, with leanings toward art, literature, social or humanitarian vocations rather than the more commonplace. It may be gifted in poetry, music or mystery writings.

Christmas Concert Is Held By St. James' Sunday School

Children and adults alike look forward each year to the Sunday School concert as the chief event of the Christmas season. Proof of this was the record crowd which assembled in St. James' Sunday School Hall for their annual festivities on Friday night.

Every department was represented on the splendid program, each vieing with the other in the excellence of their selections.

With the pastor, Rev. F. W. Craik as the genial chairman, the numbers were run off with despatch, and heartily encored by the appreciative audience.

Beginning with the tiny tots of the primary department, over which Mrs. Ernest Lee is superintendent, the Christmas story was told by Alan Lee, Helen Samis, Glenn Hagerman and Marion Butcher.

"Christmas" was the theme of the charming recitation by Audrey Sargent, after which "A Child's evening prayer" was given by a group of fifteen children.

With Mrs. R. Kitchen superintending her department, the juniors were heard in some excellent parts, under the direct supervision of six teachers.

Leading in these, Miss May Welch's class presented "The Seven Days of the Week" in playlet form, which was very entertaining.

Misses Hazel Palmer and Helen Hartman directed a clever pantomime put on by their combined classes and received much applause.

The boys of the department were partial to drills and led in two unusually fine ones entitled "Father's Drill" and "Tramp Star Drill," while Miss Marie Casey's class of girls gave the Star Drill with fine rhythm.

A pleasing variation in the program was the musical number given by the junior department choir.

Of a rather more ambitious character was the work of the intermediate and senior departments, when the classes were represented in drills, solos, readings and pantomimes.

Among these the classes led by Miss Zetta Wood and Miss J. Harvey as teachers, in the "Evergreen Drill" were warmly applauded, while "The Glow Worm" by Miss D. Drysdale's class claimed equal attention.

Miss Geneva Sedgwick in sweet voice, sang "Low in a Manger" while Miss Gladys Langton gave "The Christmas Angel's Message" as her appropriate reading.

In dialogue form "The three Christmas Eves" was presented by Mrs. Craik's class of girls in fine style.

The Boy Scouts made a special hit in their number which was one of the best.

Last on the program, but not least was the splendid pantomime acted by Miss Jessie Martin's class, and directed by Mrs. Payne.

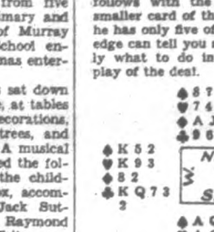
In wishing the gathering of over 400 people, the compliments of the season, the superintendent, E. R. Frost, thanked all who had helped in making this one of the most successful concerts held by the school.

During the evening the usual treat of candy was presented to the children, the bags being arranged by the "Cheerful Workers" and Miss Martin's classes, with Wm. Hogan acting the part of Santa Claus in realistic style. Thanks were tendered Sherman Rowe and H. Welch who were treasurers at the door, Robert Hardie who had charge of the lights and curtain, Arthur McLaren who attended the lantern and all others who assisted.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

COUNTING FIVE CARDS

WATCHING the fall of the smallest cards can furnish the key to the play of the big cards. If a conservative player, who leads the fourth best of his longest suit against no trump, later discards or follows with the only remaining smaller card of the suit, you know he has only five of it. This knowledge can tell you sometimes exactly what to do in completing the play of the deal.



(Dealer: South. East-West vulnerable.)

South arrived at a contract of 3-No Trumps on this deal, after opening with one, his partner responding with 2-Diamonds and he jumping to 3-No Trumps.

The club 3 was West's opening lead and South ducked one round. He went in on the second lead, realizing that any finesse would have to be to West. The diamond suit broke, so that he now had cashed one club and five diamonds and had only two other tricks in sight with his two aces. West had retained his three setup clubs and a guard for his heart K, but blanked his spade K. The declarer now finessed a spade and West cashed his remaining clubs.

When it was pointed out to South that by throwing West in with a club he could have made his game, he argued that West might have had six clubs, whereas the finesse might have worked. However, had he remembered that the original lead was the club 3 and that on the return of the suit West dropped the 2, it would have been quite evident to him that the original holding was one of five cards.

Tomorrow's Problem

(Dealer: South. North-South vulnerable.)

What is the correct bidding on the North-South cards of this deal?

Young voices sang, "Our Christmas Party's Over and We're Going Home" to conclude the evening. Mrs. J. H. Sutcliffe, Mrs. L. Ingram and Mrs. A. Ray, who have charge of the Beginners and Primers, with assistants, were in charge of the party, attended by nearly ninety, including mothers of the scholars.

JUST BETWEEN US WOMEN

A Daily Chat With Examiner Neighbors, Conducted by Roberta.

"Delude not yourself with the notion that you may be untrue and uncertain in trifles, and in important things the contrary. Trifles make up existence, and give the observer the measure by which to try us; and the fearful power of habit, after a time, suffers not the best will to ripen into action."
—G. M. von Weber.

Dear Friends:

Isn't it the truth? If you let yourself become careless in trifles such as being late for an appointment, one day you will be late for something important, and your carelessness will cause you to lose something you really want.

I wrote once before on dependability, and it is the keynote of a person's character. (All music has a keynote, and without it, music would be worthless.)

But, you cannot go on day after day breaking your word in little things, skimping on your work, doing little dishonourable things, without forming habits which will wreck you in the long run.

You think you can pull up your socks at any time and be the person you would like to be at a moment's notice, but habit is a strong wench and will trip you up.

Just realize how you dislike this trait in other people. I'll swear there is more real trouble caused by little things than is ever brought on by large ones.

The tongue is a small part of the body, little venomous words are not large either, but what havoc can be caused by them. Little mannerisms can annoy and irritate beyond endurance.

Letting yourself get into a sloppy way of dressing seems a small thing, but one day when you want to look your best, some little thing you have let yourself get habituated to, will mar the whole effect.

Stand erect both in body and spirit. Be dependable. If you once let yourself begin to tell little lies to cover up something you had said you would do, the first thing you know you will have developed into a liar. If you want to condemn another, you say they are little or small. Yet life is composed of small heart-beats, small breaths, little happenings which make us happy or miserable.

Let a child eat as he likes at the table without correction, and he will be an unlovely thing to look at even when he is grown. Let him get away with little pilferings from your purse or home, and you will develop a thief. Little swear words lead to big ones, little nastinesses into badness.

So, if you find yourself slipping on the little things, jack yourself up before they become a habit. If you desire to be great, decide to drop all the small things which are holding you back, and develop the small niceties which lead to greatness.

If you let yourself be accustomed to anything, it becomes a part of you, and it is just as easy to form a good habit as a bad one. So, early in life form the habit of sincerity in everything, and your whole life will show the effects bringing order, peace, and well-being.

ROBERTA.

To Plead His Own Case

Edgar Garneau, a habitant farmer living on the North Shore about 15 miles below Quebec, is going all the way to London to plead his own case before the Empire's highest tribunal. Garneau some time ago brought action against a brick company which owns property adjoining his land claiming that the earth slides as result of operations of the company were damaging his farm.

The Superior Court of Quebec rejected his claim but he won in the Quebec Court of Appeals but lost when the case went to Supreme Court of Canada. Loaded down with dossiers and documents he is on his way across the Atlantic. There is nothing in the whole story to show that Mr. Garneau is a man of means but it would appear he is just a poor habitant farmer unable to engage expensive counsel but a man who believes an injustice has been done and he will not be satisfied until the highest tribunal in the Empire has expressed itself.

Garneau will plead his own case feeling with certainty that Their Lordships will listen just as carefully to him as if he were one of the most learned counsels of the nation. And that is what will take place.

Just What Can He Mean?

Freeman Hart of Belmont township is the oldest resident of Peterborough county, and to attain that standing it has been necessary for him to live long enough to reach the century mark. Mr. Hart is inclined to believe the world is going a bit too fast at present, but having said that Mr. Hart puts to shame many folk not nearly as old as himself by executing a step dance at a birthday party held in his honor. He also admits that it is not so far back when in one day he chopped two-and a-half cords of wood before calling it a day's work. It would appear at first glance that while Mr. Hart considers the world in general is moving too fast he goes about a path and way of his own which few would dare to follow.

We know there are many men well advanced in years, and yet lacking by a score or more an approach to the century mark who would not consider doing a turn at step dancing. They might advance several reasons but chiefest among all reasons would be that they could not make their feet and limbs work. The old joints would creak and the hinges would move as though long and badly rusted. We are equally certain that men of advanced years would scoff at the suggestion that they might chop, saw, split or otherwise cleave two and a-half cords of wood in a day. Such a thing would be entirely out of the question.

As a rule we are inclined to agree with anything and everything which a centenarian has to say. Length of years has given to such a person a great background of experience and wisdom. But when Freeman Hart of Belmont, now in the charmed circle of full century folk, makes his toes and heels beat in the measured tread of the tap dance, and when not long since he laid low two and a-half cords of wood in one day—when this gentleman is moved to speak of the world moving at too rapid a pace, we pause to wonder just what it is the speaker has in mind.

They Say She Was Crazy

When Mrs. Linnie Beneke died a few months ago in New Orleans she left an estate worth about $50,000. She owned a cat which bore the name Kit-Cat, and was so mentioned in the will, and for the care of the cat $10,000 was set aside.

Now the cat is dead. We learn death came because the cat lived high and was lazy. It was fed well and felt no urge to get around and do things which would have kept it in fair enough shape. It did not feel the urge of finding a living nor did it have to fight its way as the bob-tailed alley cat must do.

All of which is asinine enough in itself without the relatives rushing to court to start battle for the remainder of the funds which had been set aside to care for the cat. They desire to upset the will and all that was in it on the grounds that Mrs. Linnie Beneke was insane. It is said none of the relatives was ever on very good terms with the lady during her days on earth. There was none of what we call visiting back and forth. They waited until she was dead and her cat was dead before rushing to court to unitedly declare she was crazy.

All of which seems to point with a big finger to the plain fact it would be better for a number of people to spend their money for some good purpose while living rather than waiting for a crowd of scalping relatives to go tearing to court chanting in unison that the person who owned the money was crazy as a loon.

No Adequate System

In a circular sent out recently by the Liquor Control Board, beverage room proprietors are notified that the board intends to enforce strictly the regulation prohibiting the sale of intoxicants to person who are drunk. The hotel men are warned that it is their business to see that the law is enforced.

This notice is all right as far as it goes. The trouble is that it does not go far enough for it puts the responsibility upon the beverage room proprietors, without any indication that the board itself proposes to do anything on its own account to check against infractions of the law.

In the old days of open bars there was a system of regular inspection. There were two inspectors constantly on duty in Peterborough county and they made frequent rounds of the hotels in their district and in addition advertised for information as to irregularities and acted upon it promptly. It may not have been the most efficient system possible but at least the hotel men knew that inspectors were on the job and that tended to keep conditions under control.

We have nothing like that today. In our own section of the province there is one inspector who is expected to look after the beverage rooms in seven or eight counties. The holder of the position, a genial gentleman whose chief qualification for the post was that he labored in the interest of the party in power, could not possibly be asked to provide an efficient check of that much territory no matter however zealously he might try to do the job. The result is that inspection is merely a camouflage.

There are some hotelmen who appreciate their responsibilities and who do their utmost to live up to the letter and spirit of the law. In their case there is no need of the warning that has been sent out. The other type who is out to get the last cent will pay no attention to the board's notice as long as it is realized that nobody in authority is keeping tabs on the situation. It is because of this second class that a real system of inspection should be set up.

It Was Deserved

The presentation of a Coronation medal to Mrs. Joseph Mills will appeal to most people as a most fitting recognition of many years of self-sacrificing and sincere service.

The returned soldiers of Peterborough and their families will be particularly delighted that a woman who has done so much for them should be singled out as a worthy recipient of His Majesty's medal for they know, as few others have had the opportunity of knowing, of how faithfully and sympathetically Mrs. Mills has worked in their interest ever since the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Canadian Legion was formed twenty years ago. The veterans of Peterborough have had no more faithful and kinder-hearted friend than Mrs. Mills, herself the widow of a veteran and the mother of two more and the honor that has been conferred upon her now has brought pleasure to every returned man in the community.

The title "Mother of the Regiment," conferred upon her at the impressive presentation function the other night has been richly merited.

From Curve Lake To Ohio

The fact that Chief Dan Whetung and Sam Taylor, Indian constable, are guests of honor at the annual Sportsmen's dinner of the City Club of Akron, Ohio, carries a significance that should not be overlooked. It shows, beyond a doubt, that in that factor that is of the most vital importance in the development and maintenance of the tourist industry, the Curve Lake district must be about 100 per cent efficient. It is almost axiomatic that if that industry is to continue and thrive it must be built upon a solid basis of courtesy and hospitality to our summer visitors. Getting them over here once is not a difficult task but the real job is to treat them in such a friendly and a neighborly manner that they look forward every summer to coming back to this district for their annual outing.

Curve Lake has undoubtedly made that kind of an impression upon the scores of good fellows from Akron, Ohio, who visit here during the summer. If it had not, Chief Whetung and his fellow villager would not be over in the Ohio city as featured guests at this annual sportsmen's gathering. They are there because the Ohio fishermen have learned to like and respect them and because of the treatment the Akron visitors got at Curve Lake.

We have an idea that there will not be a more effective piece of tourist propaganda launched in the interest of this district than is represented in this trip across the border by the Indian representatives. There is nothing about fishing or hunting they do not know and meeting, as they are, with representative sportsmen, they will have a story to tell of the fishing possibilities of this section of Ontario that will fall upon fruitful ground.

Too Good To Drop

There have been rumors that the Ottawa government is considering dropping the Home Improvement Plan. It is to be hoped that there is nothing in the story. The plan has had such happy results from a number of viewpoints that it would be a pity indeed if it were to be scrapped now, after demonstrating its ability to serve a useful purpose.

In its local application we have had an opportunity to appreciate the fact that this scheme of home improvement under a system of easy financing has materially improved conditions for the men who are engaged in the building trades and for the concerns which sell or produce building materials. More than that it has helped to improve many homes, raising the standard of home comfort because it has made possible alterations and equipment that in many cases would have been out of the question had it not been for the facilitated financing.

There is this to be remembered, too. The effect of launching a program of home improvement is by no means confined to those who actually avail themselves of the opportunity to secure loans. It spreads over to a good many other people who are well able to finance operations for themselves and who catch the infection from their neighbors. They see a sunporch added to a neighbor's house and decide it is time their own property was improved by a similar addition. The Smith's modernize their bath-room and immediately Mrs. Robinson decides that if her family wants to keep up to the parade new plumbing fixtures are a vital necessity.

The Home Improvement Plan has worked out in just that way and the total amount it has brought into circulation for repairs and alterations in Peterborough alone must have reached a very sizable total by this time.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Premier Mackenzie King spent his birthday working and in that respect he followed the example of most Canadians—if they happen to have a job.

We learn that the 1937 car markers will be good until the 15th of January. And the ones in use after that will be not so good.

Fliver planes to sell at $1500 are being manufactured in the United States we suppose half the young people up there will want one for Christmas.

It has been ruled in Manilla that a forced kiss is justification for shooting the offender. A similar practice here would materially reduce the population.

Stratford has finished up the year's operations with a surplus of more than $8,000 and that is not a bad showing with which to go to the people.

It costs 60 per cent more to live in the United Kingdom now than in 1914. The people of the British Isles will probably say however that it is worth it.

The Japanese are self-sacrificing folk. They are cutting down on gasoline so their aviators can use it to drop bombs on Chinese towns and kill women and children.

Perhaps after all the Manitoba rural municipalities are not so far wrong in their belief that Provincial legislatures should be scrapped. That may be the only sure way to Canadian unity.

The Reconstruction Finance Corporation in the United States has announced it will assist hard-pressed railways and that takes in about half the lines across the border.

We read a story the other day about a Nova Scotian blacksmith who is still working at 82. That is interesting but if we could hear of an apprentice who was learning the smith's art that would be real news.

McGill University has received an anonymous gift of $50,000. Perhaps the idea is to permit the Montreal institution to find a half back who can kick like Bob Isbester.

University of Minnesota professor says he has found from 2,000,000 to 4,000,000 dust particles per cubic foot in a single room. He must have made that test in a law office.

Does anyone remember the good old days when the electors were told that all that was needed to bring contentment and harmony in Canada was to have the Federal government and the provincial administrations all of the same political stripe?

PUZZLED

(By A. B. K.)

¶ I got a Christmas box today, it says to put the thing away, it can't be opened now; but I'm so curious to know, that fifteen times a day I go, and gaze at it some how.

¶ I find it hard to just believe, that it has come from Cousin Steve, the parcel is so big; and it weighs pounds and pounds I know, I wonder if it might be so, that it is half a pig.

¶ Or it might be from Cousin Jake, unless I've made a bad mistake, for he's a generous jay; perhaps there are two turkey's there, if so with friends I'll go and share, and give one bird away.

¶ I go around and do my chores, and then again I come indoors, and puzzle yet some more; perhaps it is some goodly treat, sent to me from brother Pete, he owns a good-sized store.

¶ I've looked at all the marks and stuff, and they are written fair enough, my name's as plain can be; it's not in Uncle Eben's hand, I find it hard to understand, just how it came to me.

¶ I'll have to wait a few days now, content and hold myself some how, for I can't cut the string; just wondering what it's all about, I fear I'll have the box worn out—just looking at the thing.

LONDONERS passing Buckingham Palace generally look up at the windows in the hope of spotting the King and Queen or catching a glimpse of the Princesses. A little crowd gathered along the railings one day recently, their necks craned toward something they had not seen before.

Over the Palace flew a strange flag, a yellow quarter bearing a red lion within a red framework, a white quarter with a blue lion inside a blue border and the Royal arms.

The flag which aroused so much curiosity was the personal standard of Queen Elizabeth, incorporating the Bowes-Lyons family arms and the reason why it was flying was that the Queen was in residence at the Palace alone.

King George had taken a few days off from the Royal round to go shooting in Norfolk with one or two friends and got up at half-past four in the morning to catch the ducks flying out to sea after a night inland. When the King reached Wolferton Marsh the first streaks of dawn was showing in the sky. He had good sport although the weather was not considered blustery enough to make it perfect.

The long list of jubilees celebrated this year by ruling Indian Princes ended recently with a lavish Diamond Jubilee display by the 57-year-old Maharajah of Kapurthala, Sir Jagajit Singh. Kapurthala consists of only 598 square miles within the Punjab and is by no means among the wealthy states. Sir Jagajit nevertheless put out an impressive show of elephants, always taken as an evidence of an Indian ruler's power and influence.

This was in striking contrast to the arrangements made by the Nizam of Hyderabad, the richest man in the world, on the occasion of his silver jubilee. For that extremely careful ruler a couple of elephants and two cars of ancient vintage were considered good enough.

Women Police.

LONDON'S ninety women police include one superintendent, five inspectors, ten sergeants and 74 rank and file. Comparatively few are noticed in public as many are engaged in plain clothes duty.

Women police must be over 5ft. 4 inches, and be between 24 and 35 when they join the force. Married women or spinsters are eligible and occasionally young widows without children have made efficient officers.

Starting at weekly the pay rises to £4. Sergeants get £5 a week and inspectors £6 12s. All receive medical and dental treatment free and so eager are women to join that there is always a waiting list.

In a stiff medical examination flat feet and hammer toes are barred. Other reasons for rejection include varicose veins, glandular swellings, defective teeth, facial deformities and enlarged tonsils. Personal integrity and stainless character must be attested by two householders who have known the recruits for at least five years.

Leave days number 12 a year and the hours of duty are seven-and-a-half including one hour for refreshment when on patrol and eight hours when not on patrol.

The duties of women police include patrolling streets and open spaces, detecting prostitution, accompanying women in charge of men constables to court, observing and joining in raids on disorderly houses, investigating cases of concealment of birth, child murder and bigamy and collecting evidence from women who have been criminally or indecently assaulted.

It is pointed out that one of monarchy's best advertisements at the present time is Scandinavia where Sweden, Denmark and Norway are unperturbed by European war clouds. Unworried by colonial or raw material problems Scandinavia as a whole is prosperous and peaceful and saved from the tax burdens which huge armament programs entail.

Popular themselves Scandinavia's three monarchs behave in strictly constitutional manner and are relied on by their people to safeguard the constitution.

White Versus Black.

UNREPORTED in British newspapers there were angry scenes in South Africa recently when indignant whites flogged blacks near Vereeniging, the scene of the treaty on which the South African Union was founded.

This incident following the stoning to death of two European policemen who attempted to collect the hut and poll taxes from natives. Amounting sometimes to £10 a year and collected from negroes whose annual wage varies between £20 and £40 these taxes were withdrawn during the depression years.

Interpreting their revival as a broken promise natives all over the Union have formed murderous bands to resist collection.

Smuts has been both criticised and praised for his method of dealing with riots which has usually been to do nothing until the last possible moment and then with cold courage pull off a brilliant coup.

Once when he was speeding to quell a riot on the gold-mining Rand strikers fired at his car and punctured a tire. Iron-nerved Smuts left his seat and sat by the roadside while the wheel was changed. His brilliant oratory has been his best weapon when dealing with rioting mobs.

PARACHUTING DOGS.

("Air Review," London)

EXPERIMENTS in parachute-jumping for dogs are being carried out in the Soviet army. After Soviet soldiers have landed by parachute behind the lines in enemy territory, their messenger dogs should be able to follow them by the same means.

One recent experiment was carried out by a Soviet airman who climbed to 1,800 feet. At a word of command, and without showing a trace of fear, the dog is stated to have jumped into space. The automatic parachute opened and the animal floated slowly toward the ground. The dog's trainer jumped simultaneously, and was thus able to watch the dog as it descended. The trainer stated afterwards that the animal kept perfectly still during the descent. When the trainer called to it by name it tured its head towards him and barked. Finally it landed gently on the ground.

THE LOAN SHARKS.

(St. Catharines Standard)

THE TORONTO Mail and Globe carries a story of a young married man in Toronto paying 273 per cent. interest on a ten dollar loan he was forced to make through the serious illness of a five-year-old child. The story is an exposure of the Loan shark game in this province which should not be possible. There are reputable companies governed by law which are doing business, and these should be the only resort.

A Bible Message For To-day . . . .

AND THEY went into Capernaum; and straightway on the sabbath day he entered into the synagogue, and taught. And they were astonished at his doctrine: for he taught them as one that had authority, and not as the scribes. And there was in their synagogue a man with an unclean spirit; and he cried out, saying, Let us alone; what have we to do with thee, thou Jesus of Nazareth? art thou come to destroy us? I know thee who thou art, the Holy One of God. And Jesus rebuked him saying, Hold thy peace, and come out of him. And when the unclean spirit had torn him, and cried with a loud voice, he came out of him. And they were all amazed, insomuch that they questioned among themselves, saying, What thing is this? what new doctrine is this? for with authority commandeth he even the unclean spirits, and they do obey him. And immediately his fame spread abroad throughout all the region round about Galilee. . . . And at even, when the sun did set, they brought unto him all that were diseased, and them that were possessed with devils. And all the city was gathered together at the door. And he healed many that were sick of divers disease, and cast out many devils and suffered not the devils to speak, because they knew him. And in the morning, rising up a great while before day, he went out, and departed into a solitary place, and there prayed.—Mark 1: 21-28, 32-35.

BUFFALO FOR DINNER.

(Winnipeg Free Press)

BUFFALO meat for dinner is a novelty, and many persons serve it as though doing so is as unique as would be serving bird's nest soup. Eating it invites a habit formed, for when buffalo steaks or joints are selected with discretion they make provender fit for the meal of any man.

The meat has little, if any, of the game-taste of meat from other wild animals, such as has that of moose or bear. Probably most persons are likely to get too little of it to dull a taste for it, as does other game soon pall on the palate and satiate the hunger of persons obliged to eat such game for any continued length of time.

Buffalo meat gives the impression that it can be eaten and endured in a dietary next longest to beef. It used to be, when the men of the West fed off meat more completely than do men of the West in these more vegetarian times. They did not fare badly either, so long as the roaming herds gave them their fresh meat, for its tenderness can belie the shagginess of the beasts from which it is cut.

The committee appointed to investigate the opening of Hartley street reported that no action could be taken for the present.

Council adjourned to meet on January 10, 1938, at the hour of 11 a.m.

MOBILIZATION PLANS

PARIS, Dec. 20—(A.)—Mobilization of the Comite Secret D'Action Revolutionnaire, an organization which French authorities said conspired to overthrow the Popular Front Government, have been seized, operatives of the Surete Nationale disclosed to-day.

They reported finding them in a raid yesterday on a home in Eastern Paris after a tip by Gaston Jeannit, owner of a garage where a large arms and munitions cache was uncovered two days ago.

SEVEN HELD AS FORGERS

MONTREAL, Dec. 20—(CP).—Arrests of seven men and a woman on forgery charges were announced by police last night. Amount involved in the alleged charges, police said, was between $8,000 and $10,000.

Those arrested were: Sam Lamar, 37, clerk; Marie Charbonneau, 37, secretary; Samuel Reinblatt, 30, traveller; Morris Singer, 37, lawyer; Sam Sholsky, 39, salesman; Irving Fishman, 37, agent; Randall M. Victor, 34, salesman, and Harry Cohen, 48, salesman.

With The Boy Scouts

The Christmas season is showing the effects on the Cub and Scout meetings. At St. George's, the Cubs and Scouts held a joint meeting.

The Cubs were given a supper to start off, thanks to the following ladies: Mesdames Moscrop, Hopkins, Curtis and Hines, with Akela Mrs. Langhorne and Miss R. Parr. A series of games were played including pinning the tail to the donkey.

Red Flower was in charge of Ronald Gyrane. Scout stories were told by District Commissioner L. Grant, District Cubmaster G. Clegg, and the Skipper. Rev. Mr. Gault supplied ice cream for the lads. Singing of Christmas carols and songs were enjoyed by all. A. Downed did his tap dancing act, while Maurice and Maren Lefave rendered duets with song and guitar. Our old friend Mr. Moscrop was present as was A.S.M. G. Siddall. After the closing, each boy got a bag of candy, an orange and an apple. Two new tenderpads were invested last week in Ken Downey and Bill Goodwin.

At St. Peter's, Cubs and Scouts held a joint Christmas party with refreshments supplied by the troop committee, who were on hand to see that everyone got their fill. Each boy brought a present, and these were exchanged during the evening.

Other items on the program were: Violin solo by M. McLaren; Christmas carols by George Clarke, and modern music on the harmonic by Aleka Bob Baldwin. Mr. and Mrs. McCarney, Mr. Ryan and Dr. O'Brien, the troop committee, were in attendance.

At St. John's the troop had some instruction periods and plenty of games. After camp fire, refreshments were served.

St. John's Cubs are requested to meet at the Sunday School at 9 a.m. sharp on Friday morning, December 24, for a sleighing and tobogganning party.

At St. Andrew's Pack, four new tenderpads were invested: David Johnson, Douglas Morrison, Arnold Brown, and Clifford Smith. District Commissioner L. Grant and District Cub Master G. Clegg were present.

Akela Mr. Ingham was taking a squad, second star work, whilst his assistant, Miss Whalon, took others in tenderpad and first star work. On Thursday next, December 23, the Cub pack is putting on a Parents' Night and annual Christmas tree party. Each boy is requested to bring a gift to cost not more than 15 cents.

Akela Frank Pammett from St. John's Pack will be guest speaker and will address the mothers on mothers' auxiliary work. One of the chief items on a splendid program is a skit, "Gaining a Friend." The actors in which will be J. Dindedale, J. Hill, Billie Crowe, Jim English, Alex Richardson and Arnold Johnson. The District Commissioners are invited to attend.

A chain of Scout radio stations has operated for some time now in the United States, and has on innumerable occasions proved its worth, by affording a means of communication during storms, emergencies and throughout flood areas.

Let us be prepared to be of service if such emergencies should arise in Canada.

Scouters, Rovers and Scout Amateurs interested in the formation of a Canadian network are invited to communicate with the Yeoman immediately; please send a copy of your Q.S.L. card, giving details re type of set, power, wave lengths, call letters, and operating schedule, addressed to The Yeoman, 27 Beisse Drive, Toronto (12). If sufficient numbers are interested in this plan, a special card will be issued to all Scout amateurs who register with us.

I told a little story to St. George's boys the other evening, and it is my Christmas message to all Cubs, Scouts, and friends of Scouts in Peterborough and elsewhere.

Little Tim awoke on the morning of December 25th, and rubbing the sleep from his eyes looked at the calendar—25th of December—looking at the foot of his bed he saw no stocking hanging in its place for such a day. Getting up and dressing Tim went downstairs, looking around, nothing was different than any ordinary day. No Christmas tree laden with gifts; no decorations hanging from tree or ceiling; putting on his overcoat and hat, Tim made his way up town. Still that expected sight was missing; the store windows just carried the usual good; so Tim went his way to church. Here he found everything quiet; no carol singing or happy faces. Tim turned from the church door feeling terribly lonely and happened, following his thoughts to look up in the sky, and there he saw a bright star shining in the rags that formed the sign of the cross; and in the heavens above this sign he read these words, "If I had never come."

Scouts and friends of Scouts, at this Christmas season let us think of Him whose coming we commemorate at the season. The Chief of all Scouts, our Lord and Saviour Christ the King; and when we receive or give gifts, just remember that all these things were made possible because He came on earth for us, and to Him let us give all praise and glory. And as we travel along the road of 1938 let us act as well as sing: Peace on earth, goodwill to all men.

May all joys of Christmas be with you all through the coming year. Happy hunting and goood Scouting. —The Skipper.

LAKEFIELD DRAMA IS WELL RECEIVED

(Examiner Correspondence.)

LAKEFIELD, Dec. 20. — "The Winning of Joy," a three-act comedy, made a hit with a Lakefield audience when the Brotherhood of St. James' church, Peterborough, presented the play in the United Church Sunday School here on Tuesday evening, December 14.

Although the audience was smaller than usual because of several counter-attraction and the busy Christmas season, the play was well received.

It was a good piece of comedy with a moral, and although the characters in the main were not too well presented, the good work of the persons depicting Uncle Joe, Joy and the gossiping neighbor, kept up the interest of the audience and put the play across successfully.

Between acts, musical numbers and a reading by the members of St. James were enjoyed.

MAKE THE OTHER PERSON FEEL IMPORTANT

HOW TO WIN FRIENDS AND INFLUENCE PEOPLE

By DALE CARNEGIE Author of the famous book of this name

"There is one very important law of human conduct which, if obeyed, will bring us friends and happiness. The law is this: Always make the other person feel important—and do it sincerely.

"The greatest teacher of all time summed it up in these words 'Do unto others as you would have others do unto you'."

"But how? When? Where? The answer is all the time, everywhere.

"Almost every person you meet feels superior to you in some way. Then let these people feel that you appreciate their importance in their respective worlds. But remember, flattery is useless. You must be sincere."

"Considerate little phrases such as 'I'm sorry to trouble you,' 'Won't you please,' 'Would you mind,' used throughout the day will make the people with whom you come in contact feel that you look upon them as fellow human beings, and recognize their individual importance. And don't forget to give praise whenever you can."

"There is no better place for you to begin applying this magic formula than right in your own home. Your wife must have many good points—at least you thought so once or you wouldn't have married her. But how long has it been since you told her how much you appreciate her? How long?"

garding proceeding with the St. Lawrence project."

He had only asked Mr. Hepburn's attitude toward the project so that he might convey it to President Roosevelt if the question were asked, the Prime Minister said. At no time had he ever attempted to persuade any Provincial Minister to support the project. At the proper time he would tell Parliament all that was said in his meeting with Mr. Hepburn, and what he himself said to Mr. Roosevelt, he added.

No Trade Threats.

Mr. Mackenzie King also denied Mr. Hepburn's charge that in conversation on this subject he "intimated to me that unless we did (support the St. Lawrence project) Roosevelt might retaliate with trade barriers. The question of trade barriers was never even mentioned, the Prime Minister said.

Finance Minister Dunning and Revenue Minister Ilsley also issued statements denying Mr. Hepburn's charge the Federal Government was designing to get control of Ontario's succession duty collections, and had failed to co-operate by furnishing information from income tax returns in cases where fraud was suspected.

It was expected here the Christmas season would bring a lull in this controversy and that its next appearance would be in Parliament which meets January 27.

Cabinet Council is called for Tuesday, probably the last time before the holidays. Already a large section of the Cabinet has left for Florida and others will join in the Christmas exodus which customarily leaves few but the Prime Minister in the capital.

SANTA FORGER ADMITS CRIME

and the Royal Bank of Canada.

Out After Three Years

The former Canadian bank clerk and native of Waterloo, Que., had just completed serving more than three years in the California prison when brought here. He was captured by a Canadian woman in Sausalito, Calif., near San Francisco, in 1934 and convicted of forgery.

Parmalee was captured by Mrs. Charles W. Wilson, a native of Calgary. Mrs. Wilson flung her arms around Parmalee's neck after her war-wounded husband, a teller of the Canadian Bank of Commerce branch in San Francisco, pointed him out. The hug netted her an $8,000 reward.

Wilson, who lost a leg in the war, said he recognized Parmalee as the man who passed a $3,500 forged cheque at the San Francisco bank shortly before he was captured. When he pointed Parmalee out to his wife she jumped out of their automobile, seized him and shouted for help. A nearby policeman collared Parmalee.

Police said the forger's favorite method of procedure was to pose as a clergyman. He would open small bank accounts, cash several small cheques, then put over a forgery for a large sum. The time favored by Parmalee for his operations was the Christmas rush.

5 OTHERS ESCAPE DESPITE TUMBLE

"box" remaining upright. Through the wreckage floated cakes of three-inch ice.

"Clam" Threatens Tragedy

Work was started immediately to move to firmer ground a steel "clam" operated from the top of the dam. Used to dig out the creek bed for bridge foundations, the clam, after the collapse, threatened momentarily to topple into the water. The rescue work proceeded as the big piece of machinery toppled and seemed about to fall upon the struggling men.

Maurice Hynes, superintendent, inspected the interior of the dam at 5 p.m. He said he had found it in good condition. M. U. Ferguson, highway engineer, was on the job all day and said that when he left at 9.45 everything appeared to be all right.

Bridge Almost Collapses.

The injured were treated in nearby Memorial Hall and in a company shanty, then taken to hospital at St. Thomas. An old bridge over the creek, lined with spectators, was ordered cleared in fear it would collapse and a second tragedy occur.

For a time, it was hoped some of the eight men unaccounted for might have reached shore. But an hour after the accident company officials said this hope was vain. The majority of the victims were in their early 20's. A. E. Bisbee, who died with his son, was among the older of the men employed on the project. Several of the men had been employed only a few days.

The dam was built of interlocking steel piles, driven into the creek bottom. Shoring timbers criss-crossed the interior to support the walls. When the water was pumped out, the "muckers" dug up the clay creek bed to reach bedrock on which the bridge foundations were to rest.

In Kingston, William Bermingham, senior partner of the firm, said: "I have been doing all kinds of marine work around the lakes for 40 years and this is the first serious accident I have had." He added: "We cannot yet understand just what caused the dam to collapse."

Daily inspection of the dam had been regularly carried out in accordance with company regulations, he said. An inspection had been made Saturday and another Sunday, when everything had been found in order. The excavation work was nearing completion, he said.

Port Stanley officials were keeping in touch with the Kingston office, Mr. Bermingham continued. He had learned, he said, the first indication of the collapse had appeared at the farthest end of the dam away from the spot where the 18 men were working.

Neighbors of Premier's

Premier Hepburn's home is in the Port Stanley district. In Toronto, the premier said of the tragedy: "That's terrible — that's frightful. Why, I know every one of those men intimately. Three or four of them lived within a mile of my home. They're all my neighbors."

"Personally, my deepest sympathy goes out to all the homes so suddenly and so tragically bereaved," Mr. Hepburn added. "And if the government can be of any assistance, that assistance will be made available immediately."

Only once before in Elgin County history has there been a tragedy approaching the present in extent. In the summer of 1925 a "Swan boat" sank in Pinafore Park Lake, St. Thomas, during a Sunday School picnic. Seven children were drowned.

Port Stanley residents are accustomed to danger lurking near them, especially in the later months of the year when gales sweep Lake Erie. The tragedy saddened the village of 800 citizens. The eyes of many of those who looked down upon the scene from the nearby bridge, to be replaced by the one under construction, were dimmed by tears.

Bruce Robertson, one of the survivors, was operating the crane atop the dam. He said he did not see the collapse but that he heard it going. "I jumped and ran," he said afterward. "I was afraid the crane would be pulled down into the wreckage also."

Alvin Thompson said he noticed the cables on the ends of the timbers begin to slip. Then the structure started to collapse, he said. "I shouted to the men to run, but there wasn't time for everyone to get out."

Thompson is the nephew of Bisbee who with his son was killed.

A mad scramble for safety ensued when the men heard the first crack of breaking timbers. Sealey said "they were scrambling for the ladder."

THREE MEN SHOT DOWN

DETROIT, Dec. 20—(AP)—Three young men strolled out of an east side beer garden last night and were shot down on the sidewalk by four gunmen who fled on foot.

The wounded wouldn't talk and the police homicide squad was puzzled. The victims are Edward Kaminski, 23, and Raymond Swantek, 18, and Edmund Siwak, 23. Swantek and Kaminski were given blood transfusions.

ROBBED OF CASH AND CAB.

TORONTO, December 20—(CP)—George Parkhouse, tax driver, reported to police to-day he was robbed of $7 and his cab. He said he answered a call and a man about 25 was picked up. The passenger ordered him to drive to Exhibition Park and there took his money and cab, Parkhouse fearing he had a gun in his pocket.

excellent in baking strength. Milling and baking tests conducted in the prairie provinces, showed this grain to be outstanding, he said.

"It is higher than Thatcher in test weight per bushel, of better kernel appearance, lower in carotene or yellow pigment content in the flour and equal in baking strength."

Tests of the 1936 crop are being made not only by Canadian research chemists but also by cerealists in Canada, United States and Great Britain. If outside statistics confirm previous data, RL1097 probably will be distributed next spring.

QUINTS ROMP OUT IN TWELVE BELOW

their nurses and teacher have been showing them pictures and they remember that several weeks ago a man with a white beard and red costume fondled them while another snapped pictures for the newspapers. No one around the Dafoe nursery has been able to find out whether they identified the bearded man with Dr. Allan Roy Dafoe, but they were pretty affectionate if they thought him a stranger.

Cause For Confusion.

Their teacher, Miss Clare Tremblay, and their nurses had trouble convincing them they should say "Pere Noel" to identify pictures of Santa Claus. When Miss Tremblay said "Pere Noel" the Quints giggled and pointed to Miss Jacqueline Noel, their head nurse.

But they have it all straightened out now, even if there is a lingering idea that the old chap may be Miss Noel's father. They know he isn't their father, because they call him "Papa" and he is coming over to the nursery next Saturday with "Mama," Daniel, Ernest, Therese, Pauline, Rose and Oliva, Junior to a big family party that will be the highspot of the Quints' Christmas.

There will be a turkey with all the trimmings but the Quints won't have any. Dr. Dafoe has decreed they must stick to their diet, and that means no turkey or candy even for Christmas.

Although they don't know it yet, the Quints have bought presents for their mother and father and all their brothers and sisters, and there will be a tree from their own estate large enough to hold them all.

And presents for the Quints themselves are piling up in the nursery. While strangers do not send gifts to the wealthy Quints now as they did when they were poorer, a few still come from strangers, and there are scores from their friends. More than even five little girls will use for many a month.

People of Tanganyika are reported to be protesting against any move to return it to German rule.

ROBERT SCOTT BELL

(Examiner Correspondence.)

OLD GERMAN ARMY IDOL LUDENDORFF DIES IN MUNICH

the hospital to be with her husband.

General Ludendorff died at peace with Hitler and consoled with the thought that the last great battle of his life had been won—recognition of his Germanic faith movement.

New Faith Recognized

By a decree last May 12, Ludendorff's new religion, approaching neo-paganism, was put on an equal basis with the Catholic and Protestant faiths of which he was a bitter foe.

Official cognisance of the new faith came after the general and Hitler had ended years of misunderstanding and distrust at a peace talk. Ludendorff's incisive pen and tongue had attacked Nazism as well as Protestantism and Catholicism.

Their reconciliation was sealed publicly during the Nazi's annual celebration of the beer cellar Putsch last Nov. 9 when Ludendorff already was ailing and had undergone an operation.

"On the occasion of today's anniversary,' telegrapher the fuehrer to the man who had marched with him at the head of the brown shirt column in 1923, "I think with reverence and thankfulness to that time of your cooperation in the midst of our ranks for the rebuilding of the German nation."

Ludendorff's death, as that of von Hindenburg, who became the president of Germany, raised a question of how far a popular hero's own burial wishes would be respected.

Ludendorff had written in his semi-monthly personal magazine "At the holy source of German power," that "I have made known in my last will that in connection with my burial, no ceremonies of any kind of state or military nature shall take place."

A government spokesman, however, declared "Ludendorff, of course, will be given a state burial with the highest military honors."

It was believed Ludendorff might be buried next to Hindenburg in the Tannenberg scene of his greatest victory, over the Russian, in the war.

CARGO TONNAGE UP

HALIFAX, Dec. 20 (CP)—Increase of 15 per cent in cargo tonnage handled through this port during the first 11 months of this year over the corresponding period of 1936 was announced by R. O. Campney of Ottawa, chairman of the National Harbors Board.

Cargo movement into and out of Halifax for the 12 months was greater in 1937 than in any other similar period in the port's history. Figures this year were 2,133,907 tons, an increase of 279,941 tons over last year.

The skating rink was opened for the first time this season on Tuesday evening when the hockey fans rallied together for an informal game. On Wednesday evening a large crowd was present to enjoy skating, the ice being in splendid condition.

Jap Not Yet The Conqueror

NEW YORK — Japan has not conquered China and, says Very Rev. Yu Pin, Catholic bishop of Nanking, the setback to "the fine advance of a nation that asks only to be left alone" will be only temporary. "We do not hold the entire Japanese people responsible. This is not a War of people against people. It is simply the crime of a 'military caste'."

Chemists Analyze Explosives

TORONTO—Chemists today analyzed packets of what police believed were explosives taken from the pockets of Victor Colley, 17-year-old Toronto high school boy. From his pockets police took a bottle containing a liquid resembling nitro-glycerine in appearance, a small jar containing gun-powder and a packet of black pepper.

Big Increase In Accidents During Christmas Season Said Due To Use Of Liquor

Committee Of Ministerial Association Drafts Message To Citizens

At the last meeting of the Peterborough Ministerial Association, a committee was appointed to make study of the liquor question and also to draft a suitable message to the citizens prior to the Christmas season. The committee was composed of Adjutant C. Warrander, Rev. J. H. Sutcliffe and Rev. E. W. Young. This committee in its message states that it believes that sobriety is a necessary element in genuine happiness and is alarmed at the excesses to which some people go in the consumption of alcoholic beverages. It also points out to the large number of fatal accidents, last Christmas, many of which it believes were caused by the use of alcoholic beverages. The committee's statement is as follows:

"The Ministerial Association of Peterborough wishes the citizens a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year. It is our earnest hope that the celebrations of the festive season will be in harmony with the spirit of Jesus, whose birth we commemorate. We believe that sobriety is a necessary element in genuine happiness, and are alarmed at the excesses to which some people go in the consumption of alcoholic liquors as beverages. This we maintain is not compatible with the mind of our Master.

"Receipts from the sale of liquor in Ontario for the fiscal year ending March 31, 1937, have reached the staggering sum of 72 millions of dollars, according to The Toronto Daily Star economist. This sum is equivalent to the amount spent on the following six essential commodities: candy-confectionery stores, fruit-vegetable stores, meat markets, dry-goods stores, shoe stores and florists. Surely every reasonable man will say that our sense of values is utterly distorted and insane.

"We would call your attention to the following concrete factors in the present situation: (a) Last year there was a frightful list of accidents at Christmas not only in Toronto, but all over the province, most of them, we believe, were due to the use of intoxicating liquor. (b) Acoholic indulgence is in many cases a cause of poverty, under-nourishment and distress. (c) The case for 'moderation' has been urged with great plausibility in the brewers' advertisements, that we are informed will soon be renewed. There are many fallacies in their arguments. Small doses of alcohol impair the critical faculty, weaken the judgment, and slow down the power of reaction to stimuli. The menace on the road today is not the drunkard but the moderate drinker. No total abstainer ever becomes a drunkard. The Christian man is responsible for his example, the strong should refrain for the sake of the weak. No man can indulge in liquor without approval of drinking customs, and giving his support to a traffic which causes much crime, and poverty. (d) A disquieting sign of the times is the increase of drinking amongst women and girls. This practice is bound to have serious psycological, physiological, and moral results. (e) A vigorous educational temperance program should be carried on by the whole Christian church, especially among the boys and girls of our Sunday schools. (f) We are glad to express our concurrence with the action of Christian churches in other parts of the world.

"The following is a statement of a recent General Assembly of the Church of Scotland:

"The General Assembly frankly recognizing and acknowledging Christian liberty of conscience, recommends the adoption and practice of personal abstinence as justified on its own merits and for the sake of others, as the best method of removing the evils of intemperance.

"The Conference of the Methodist Church of Great Britain and Ireland made the following declaration:

"In view of the church's responsibility for the upbuilding of a Christian order of life throughout the world, the Conference appeals to Methodists at home and abroad to abstain habitually from the use of intoxicating liquors as beverages. Example is service, and for this reason the Conference urges all our people to refrain for Christ's sake, and for the common good, from the use of strong drink.

"(Signed) Adjt. C. Warrander; J. H. Sutcliffe, E. W. Young.

INDIAN HISTORY

PHOENIX, Ariz., Dec. 20 (AP).—Dr. Helge Ingstad, Norwegian explorer, informed friends here today he had found "apparently unmapped Indian caves and Indian writings on rocks" in his search for the "Lost Tribe" of Apache Indians.

These, he said in a letter mailed from Sierra Madre, Mexico; December 5, were of "extreme interest" and may uncover "much unwritten history about the lives of the Apaches of the Sierra Madre Mountains."

The Rambling REPORTERS

CAT VISITS CADI.

Showing little or no respect for the august majesty of the law, a grey cat who came from nobody knew where, performed her morning toilet in Magistrate's Court to-day. While the Cadi disposed of the docket, the cat sat near the prisoner's dock, there to wash her furry face with saucy complacency. Having completed her toilet she stalked with noiseless tread between the outstretched legs of the spectators on the public benches, pausing now and then to rub her head against some friendly pair of trousered ankles. "I see you have a police cat," Alderman G. N. Gordon, K.C., remarked to one of the court officials. "All you need now is a police dog."

MANY SPEECHES OF POOR QUALITY

Passing of the day when banquet gatherings were allowed to sit around with their wine glasses enjoying a pleasant social time rather than forced to sing community songs and listen to a tiresome parade of after dinner speakers, was deplored good-humoredly by Adrian Macdonald, English instructor on the Normal School staff, in an address to the Men's Forum at George Street Church Sunday afternoon.

"The next person who introduces me as the speaker of the evening is apt to get a bun in the eye," Mr. Macdonald declared, saying the contemporary practice is to introduce one speaker after another and, finally, with midnight approaching, introduce "the speaker of the evening." The great portion of public speeches made are of poor quality, he said. Whereas the painter studied under the art instructor and the writer under the English instructor, the public speaker just got on his feet without instruction and trusted in Providence to help him. Public speaking was just as much an art, however, as painting or writing.

Not Difficult

Mr. Macdonald told his audience the matter of making a speech before a large audience was actually not difficult. A more difficult thing is to speak before an audience of just four or five persons in a living room and hold attention in the face of interruptions from persons with better stories to tell, he said. The experience of standing before an audience and speaking for twenty minutes knowing interruption need not be expected is a pleasant one, he declared.

Remarking that emotion raising is an important part of the speaker's art, he suggested that Mussolini is a past master in raising the emotion of hatred. He said it was not infrequent that an intoxicated man is so swept away by a speech that he is reduced to tears or that he is whipped into a practical fighting mood.

He summed his advisory remarks on speaking in a plea that the man taking the floor on any occasion for a twenty minute speech should be certain he has something to say.

President Charles Elliott was in charge of the meeting.

FRANK FAIREN NATIVE SON DIES IN HIS 80TH YEAR

A native son of Peterborough and lifetime resident Frank Fairen, attendance officer of the Separate Schools of the city, died at St. Joseph's Hospital on Sunday. He was born on Water street opposite Victoria Park seventy-nine years ago, son of Patrick Fairen and his wife Ann Martin. His father died from injuries in an accident a month after his son's birth. Patrick Fairen had come to Peterborough from Ireland, and for some years drove a stage from Peterborough to Bridgenorth meeting the boats which at that time had an extensive freight and passenger service between Chemong and upper lake centres as far as Bobcaygeon.

Frank Fairen learned the machinist trade at Peter Hamilton's farm implement factory at George and King streets where he worked for quite a number of years. Later he conducted "The Pullman" billiard room on George street somewhere in the vicinity of the present site of Routley's store, and from that business he was appointed to the staff of the Trent Canal in Peterborough as storekeeper. He was superannuated twelve years ago, and since then has been associated with the Separate School board of the city as their attendance officer.

Host of Friends

Mr. Fairen was widely known in the city and throughout the district, and will be greatly missed by a host of friends. As a young man he was one of the many citizens who were active supporters of the old Peterborough lacrosse team, and when the old town grew and expanded to city proportions Mr. Fairen had the gift of friendship and kindly interest in others that steadily increased the number of his friends. For years he was literally a man about town, keenly attached to the city of his birth and to the exceptionally large circle of acquaintances. And finally his position as attendance officer brought him into contact with many of the younger generation of the Separate Schools. He was an admirable choice for that position, taking a fatherly interest in the progress of the children he met. Mr. Fairen was a charter member of Peterborough council of the Knights of Columbus, and a life long member of St. Peter's Cathedral. He is survived by his wife, formerly Mary McCarthy.

The funeral will be on Wednesday December 22 at 8.45 a.m. from Mr. Fairen's late residence 202 Simcoe street to St. Peter's Cathedral where solemn high requiem mass will be celebrated, and interment will be at St. Peter's cemetery.

AUTOS COLLIDED ON ICY STREETS

Accidents of a minor nature only, found their way on to police records over the week-end. On Saturday evening Miss S. Crowley, 6 Inverlea street was knocked down by a car driven by Gordon Whatman, 47 McDonnel street. The accident occurred at the intersection of McDonnel and George streets, but fortunately did not result in serious injury to the pedestrian, it was reported.

L. Casey, 577 Bolivar street was driving west on Bolivar street when a car ahead of him proceeding in the same direction pulled over to the left side of the road and stopped opposite a truck that was standing on the other side of the street. Seeing he did not have enough room to get between the two vehicles, Mr. Casey reported, he applied the brakes but his car skidded into the rear of the other car ahead of him. Damage was slight.

F. S. Potter, 627 Walkerfield avenue was involved in collision at Water and Charlotte streets with another car. Identity of the driver of the other car was not known to Mr. Potter.

Harvard White, R.R. 3, Peterborough halted his car for a red light on George street when he was reportedly struck from the rear by another car driven by Allen Lockington, R.R. 9, Peterborough. Damage was slight.

Edmund Boyier, Otonabee street was driving his car west on Hunter street and pulled out to pass a car at the east end of the bridge when he collided with another automobile coming from the opposite direction and allegedly driven by Leonard Little, 383 Rogers street. Both cars were damaged.

REMEMBER RURAL MAILMAN

One group of men especially deserving of remembrance at Christmas time are the rural mail carriers. These men working for a very small pittance are out in all kinds of weather and roads delivering the mail every week day of the year.

EXTRA POSTAL HELP.

Extra helpers both in the inside postal service and in the letter-carrying department will go on the job in the Peterborough post office Tuesday. The rush of holiday mail is beginning to assume very large proportions, both incoming and outgoing mails being very heavy.

17 BELOW AT APSLEY.

Residents of Apsley claimed today to have taken overnight temperature readings as low as 17 below zero. The temperature at 9 a.m. this morning was 8 below zero, it was reported. The descrepancy between those temperatures and the temperatures recorded by the official weather observer at Peterborough, however, would suggest that thermometers in the northern village might have been slightly in error. Minimum overnight temperature in Peterborough was 5 degrees above zero and the 6 a.m. reading here was also 5 above. On the envelope of a letter which was delivered at The Examiner office from Apsley there was this note written on the corner: "17 below zero in Apsley this morning (Monday). It was 8 below at nine this morning."

FINDS OLD COIN.

While digging a storm drain at Auburn, Bartley Reid, 468 Cambridge Street, found a Bank of Upper Canada half-penny token, which is eighty-three years old. On one side the coin had a George and Dragon design with the words, "Bank of Upper Canada—Bank Token—One Half-penny," and the date, "1854." The other side of the coin bore a design embodying a sword and anchor and the horns of plenty.

CARDS FROM LORD ASTOR

Three of the Peterborough men who recovered from war injuries in the hospital erected on the estate of Lord Astor overlooking the Thames River have received Christmas cards from "The Cliveden Astors." They are rather large pictures in water colors showing a vista of the Thames and well remembered view of Cliveden. Three of the local men who received cards are George H. Moore and S. L. Ballard of the Post Office and D. A. Loomis.

CHRISTMAS SHOPPING HOURS.

While it is probable some stores may remain open late to-night, the majority of Peterborough's merchants will close at the usual time. From Tuesday to Friday (both days inclusive), however, late closing will be general, and all the city's stores will remain open until 10.30 or 11 o'clock p.m., according to J. W. Geraghty, president of the Business Men's Association. Housewives are reminded, too, that the city's stores will be closed all day on Monday next, when the city's merchants are observing Boxing Day holiday.

LIKES BOTH CANDIDATES

A North Monaghan farmer told the Examiner Saturday that the rural section of the township was not perturbed by the suburban organization. "We are not doing anything that I know of," he said, "and I don't think we have anything to fear from Alex Archibald and Will Grady. I have known them both for many years; they are men of character and they know the full meaning of the oath of office. So if they are elected I won't do any worrying. At the same time I don't think one section of the municipality should organize against the rest of us."

INVITED TO INSPECT TOYS.

Fire Chief George Gimblett today extended an invitation to the Peterborough public to inspect the great array of repaired toys in the Fire Department toy repair shop between to-day and Thursday. More than 1,500 pieces are on display in the Department. Delivery of the toys to the homes of the city's needy people will be carried out all day on Friday. In this connection, the generosity of any persons wishing to loan trucks to the firemen will be gratefully accepted. Six or seven trucks are needed, the firemen providing the drivers.

ONLY ONE CASE HEARD.

Albett reports that Supreme Court would be continued this week to dispose of further cases on the long list, the County Court Room remained vacant this morning. Expected to continue the sitting after the departure of Mr. Justice MacKay, Mr. Justice Kingstone is still unable to resume his duties, convalescing from a recent illness, it was reported. Only one case, James Logan vs. Asphodel, was given attention last week. Voluminous evidence concerning the details of a motor accident on the 12th Line of Asphodel was taken, the plaintiff claiming his car fell into the hole left after a culvert collapse. As the court arose on Friday, Justice MacKay instructed F. D. Kerr, K.C., counsel for the plaintiff, and Hon. G. H. Gordon, K.C., counsel for the defendant, to submit arguments in writing.

EVOLVED BY ATOMIC FORCE?

"Is the universe, including man, evolved by atomic force?" was the subject of the lesson-sermon for First Church of Christ, Scientist on Sunday. The Golden Text was, "Thou, O Lord, shalt endure for ever; and thy remembrance unto all generations. Of old hast thou laid the foundation of the earth: and the heavens are the work of thy hands." (Psalms 102:12,26.) Selections from the Bible included the following from Deuteronomy 10:14, "Behold, the heaven and the heaven of heavens is the Lord's thy God, the earth also, with all that therein is." Corrolative citations from the Christian Science textbook, included the following, "The true theory of the universe, including man, is not in material history but in spiritual development. Inspired thought relinquishes a material sensual, and mortal theory of the universe, and adopts the spiritual and immortal."

REDUCED RATE EARLY IN YEAR ON FIRE INSURANCE

From their interview Saturday with executives of the Fire Underwriters' Association, members of the deputation from the council returned with a strong impression that Peterborough's key insurance rate may be reduced early in the new year. No decision will be made before then, possibly some time in January, and it is expected that this city will be given a lower rate.

Alderman E. R. Wilson organized the deputation on instructions from the council, and received valuable assistance from Alderman Cotton, who had been a member of the previous deputation to the Underwriters, and also from Ald. Glover.

Department Undermanned

It is reported that the deputation was cordially greeted by three representatives of the Underwriters, and in the course of the interview all the points which had been prepared by the committee were generally discussed by the little assembly. Peterborough's low fire loss and the efficiency of the department were emphasized, but the Underwriters were inclined to stress the fact that the number of firemen was not up to the mark for cities of this size.

The deputation's report will be presented to the council at a special meeting tonight at which several concluding details of the city's business for the year will receive attention.

BOY ON SLEIGH RUNS INTO CAR

The perennial warning of the danger to life and limb caused by children sleigh-riding on city streets was stressed over the week-end when a small boy crashed his sleigh into the side of a car, but forunately escaped injury.

James E. Whitfield, 233 Lauder avenue, Toronto, reported to city police he was driving his car south on Reid street on Sunday afternoon, when a hand sleigh being ridden down Park Hill Road by a small boy streaked across the intersection and crashed into a rear wheel of the car. A runner on the sleigh was broken. The young sleigh rider blissfully unconscious of the unenviable position in which he had placed the driver of the car and of the fortunate escape he himself had experienced, declined to give his name when requested to do so. He told the autoist he was not hurt.

1,350 Children Remembered At C.G.E. Christmas Tree

Collegiate Auditorium Crowded For Annual Yuletide Entertainment

Children of the employees of the Canadian General Electric Company, from babes in arms to boys and girls of fourteen, received a foretaste of the Yuletide's significance and favor for the little folks in the tenth annual Christmas tree and concert, featured by a visit of Santa Claus in person, in the auditorium of the Collegiate Institute Saturday afternoon, as arranged by the Social and Athletic Association of the plant.

Gifts were distributed among 1,350 children, bags of candies, nuts and oranges, chocolate bars, hockey sticks, books, games, dolls and many other products of toyland. At one time during the ten years since the first of these Christmas entertainments was organized the number of children who greeted Santa Claus dropped to around 850, but since then their ranks have been steadily increasing. Santa Claus has had to pile up his load more and more each year, and apparently he delights in crowds of the little ones, for there has been no shading off in his generosity.

Carried Magic Bag.

Santa seemed to carry a magic bag this year, for the Collegiate auditorium was crowded beyond the doors with boys and girls long before his arrival. Employees of the C.G.E. Company, assisted by some of the city's firemen, directed the affair in excellent order and when the hundreds of children on the ground floor had received their gifts the other hundreds from the gallery were getting anxious about what was likely to be left for them. But the magic bag Santa Claus brought with him appeared to be packed with an inexhaustible supply of the things children like.

The arrival of Santa Claus was preceded by a concert, including song and tap dance by Lenora Gordon; violin solo by Nancy Spring; vocal numbers by boys of St. John's Church choir; a duet, "Jesu Bambino," by Petro Yon, sung by Ernest Lee and Leslie Groombridge; and a quartette, "The Wondrous Birth" (Mann), sung by Ernest Lee, Leslie Groombridge, Joey McMahon and Robert Scott.

Composed By Mr. Mann.

The Christmas hymn, "The Wondrous Birth," was composed by Fred. G. Mann, organist of St. John's, and was sung for the first time in public on Saturday. There was also community singing, especially the old seasonal favorite, "Jingle Bells," that heralded the approach of Santa Claus. The accompaniments were played by Miss Rome, Mr. Mann and Harry Northrop.

The chairman of the concert was Alfred Day, the convenor of the entertainment committee of the C.G.E. Social and Athletic Association. E. G. Hardie, the general chairman of the Association, was present to supervise the plans which clicked together so smoothly. W. G. Shiner was in charge of the committee that was assigned the main duty of distributing the gifts. The personnel of the men who helped in making the afternoon a big success follows: B. I. Burgess; Ian McRae, assistant works manager; B. Pammett, J. McCarney, P. Edwards, B. Smith.

W. G. Shiner, D. Miller, R. Dyer, F. Williams, C. Mowry, L. Calladine, T. Alcock, A. Heather, S. Richardson, J. Dunslow, E. Hubel, B. Julian, E. McDonald.

H. Grasswell, R. Leach, A. Kelsey, W. Constable, W. Farris, D. Kinmond, J. Clark, W. Carter.

A. R. Church, B. Bolam, W. Bennett, B. McMaster, F. Robinson.

Door men—W. Allen and R. Parnell.

Directors—A. Weir, A. Day and Fred Batterson.

Assistance Appreciated.

C. A. Salmonsen, works manager, thanked the members of the Social and Athletic Association, on behalf of the children for the pleasant afternoon provided for them. He added his own tribute to the men for the thoroughness of their arrangements. Mr. Salmonsen also thanked the Board of Education for their co-operation, and said he gained a great deal of pleasure from the happiness of the children. In wishing everyone a Merry Christmas and a happy and prosperous New Year, Mr. Salmonsen added, "And let us remember, too, the One Whose birth is commemorated by Christmas Day. Sometimes we lose sight of Him."

Albenie Perry, drowned with all his shipmates when the freighter Caigadoc went down somewhere between Nova Scotia and Newfoundland. Perry previously served with the local naval unit.

CHRISTMAS CAROL SERVICE IS HELD

The Collegiate Auditorium was filled almost to capacity Sunday evening to enjoy the eighth annual community Carol Service which has been a feature of the Christmas season, looked forward to by a host of people. The singing together of the old familiar and lovely carols gives a tone to the whole of the week preceding Christmas Day. The large audience responded heartily to the leadership of George Nicholls and the singing of such beautiful carols as "Noel," "Silent Night" and "Once in Royal David's City," were particularly effective. The orchestra from George Street Church, under direction of W. H. Cunningham, assisted in their usual excellent manner. The special numbers were of outstanding quality. Mrs. James Goldie sang "The Holy City" and "The Birthday of a King," by Neidlinger. Adam Hawley sang "Night of Nights," by Shelley, and "Thus saith the Lord," from the Messiah. The instrumental trio, composed of Messrs. Stanley and Harry Northrop and Tom Smith, accompanied both soloists and played a group of two numbers, "Pasquita" by Lehar and the "Dance of the Hour," by Ponchielio. The audience insisted on an encore, to which the trio responded. The special program was a revelation of the high quality of the talent of local artists. The chairman, Cameron Gorrie, one of the members of the staff of the association, was introduced by the general secretary, G. H. Roper. The carols used were: "Oh Come all ye Faithful," "Joy to the World," "Hark the Herald Angels Sing," "Christians Awake," "Once in Royal David's City," "Silent Night," "While Shepherds Watched Their Flocks," "The First Noel," "Oh Little Town of Bethlehem," "As with Gladness Men of Old," "Abide with me."

The benediction was pronounced by Rev. Dr. A. T. Barr.

The friendly hour will resume its weekly service at the Y.M.C.A. building after the holiday season, commencing Sunday evening, January 9.

Chief Dan Whetung Is All Wrong Declares Andy Newpagisti

CHIEF Dan Whetung is all wet! If you don't believe that the respected Indian Chief of the Curve Lake Reserve is at least slightly damp, you need only to listen to Andy Newpagisti, of the Hiawatha Reserve.

Chief Whetung announced to a listening world the other day that there would be fine weather for Christmas People listened because the previous prophecies by the same man came true. Andy Newpagisti, however, doesn't think Chief Whetung is much of a weatherman and he goes out on a limb with the declaration that there will be a big storm, a real one, here on Christmas afternoon. "See if I'm not right," says Andy.

Degree Of Intoxication Determined By The Toss Of A Coin With Constable

A PUZZLED bachelor living in the eastern part of the city called Police Headquarters about 11 o'clock to ask a question.

"Am I drunk?" he wanted to know.

The police sergeant on duty replied that it was hard to tell over the telephone.

"Well, come on over and see," the man invited.

At the house the constable was doubtful.

"Let's toss a coin," suggested the drunk. "Head's I'm drunk; tails I'm (hic) sober."

The coin came down with the head on top.

So the constable obligingly assisted the bachelor-drunk to bed.

Britain Views Silver Lining In 1937 Sports Calendar

Ring, Track And Links Show Reverses—Reverses In Cricket, Tennis

LONDON, Dec. 20 (C.P.).—Three sparkling stars flashed in Britain's crowded sports firmament in 1937, a year clouded by loss of the Davis Cup, failure in the America's Cup, Ryder Cup, Wightman Cup and the "Ashes." Tommy Farr in the ring, Sydney Wooderson on the track and Henry Cotton on the fairways provided the illumination.

But if the international sky provided meagre food for the sport astrologers they were not disappointed by the local constellation. Coronation year brought record dividends to the widest range of sports enterprise the country has ever known and some promoters, notably the controllers of the big sports palaces at Wembley and Wimbledon, watched thousands turned away by "full house" signs.

This tradition-laden country started the sports season approximately by following precedent and losing the annual cricket "World Series" with Australia. Gilbert Allen and his stout eleven raised hopes by winning the first two matches, but Don Bradman's persistent band got down to brass tacks and won the next three in a row to retain the "Ashes."

A few months later a million-dollar expedition set sail from Gosport bent on winning the hundred-dollar America's Cup and demonstrating Britannia ruled the waves, even those around Newport, R.I. But like its many predecessors the expedition of Yachtsman T. O. M. Sopwith failed.

Without the great Fred Perry, now a professional, British Davis Cuppers were unable to withstand the tennis invasion of Donald Budge and his mates from the United States.

Welshmen Up.

So the nation's sport pulse was at a low ebb when a rough and tough young coal miner from Tonypandy, Wales, emerged from the obscurity of a county fair boxing booth to fame. Before the year was half over Tommy Farr had put British boxing back in the vertical pos' on it had been left by batting Bo'o Fitzimmons.

While Tommy was knocking the noses of Ben Foord, Max Baer, Walter Neusel and finally placing himself in the top flight of world heavyweight championship contenders by his sterling performance against Joe Louis, the jolly old name of Britain was also being honored on the cinder path and golf links.

First of all a combined Oxford and Cambridge track team did something their predecessors had never been able to do before—they met and vanquished on American soil the fiery opposition of some of the United States' best collegians.

But it was left for a bespectacled bank clerk, slongated Sidney Wooderson, to provide the crescendo. On August 28 he ran a mile in a new record time of 4 minutes 6.4 seconds which shone especially bright on the year's program as Glen Cunningham, the flyink Kansan, had previously undermined the record of another son of Empire, Jack Lovelock.

Then along came that old fox of the fairways, Henry Cotton. He completes the distinguished triumvirate and his achievement in winning the British Open from the best golfers of United States and the Empire makes him second only in importance to Farr.

To make his win conclusive Cotton beat the ranking American golfer, Denny Shute, 6 and 5 in a 72-hole exhibition match. In the open Cotton turned in a card of 290, six strokes better than the nearest American, Byron Nelson. But the United States visitors took the Ryder Cup by a tally of 8 to 4.

Take all the upsets of the year, including Midday Sun's 100 to 7 victory in the Derby, and added together they wouldn't equal the stir aroused by the win of Oxford University from Cambridge for the first time in 13 years on the famous Thames boat race course.

Rowing also provided the second biggest stir. One of the last bulwarks of the old amateur definition, which drew the line at "men who worked with their hands" fell when the Royal Henley Committee decided to throw open the classic water meet to the public in general in 1938. One of the first entries under the new plan is a muscular Metropolitan Police eight.

Canadians, like Johnny Coulson and Chuck Campbell, both of Toronto, who failed in this year's Henley singles, will find themselves pitted against a wider range of brawn in future as a result of the Henley Committee's decision. Coulson proved one of the most successful Canadians in English competition this year. He was beaten in the Diamond Sculls finals by the Austrian ace, Jr Hasenohr, only after his oar struck a boom. Campbell was beaten by England's No. 1, P. H. Jackson, in the first round.

Lions Fight Hard But Lose To Tigers

Tigers took a 30-18 victory over Lions Saturday night in a "Y" pre-seasonal basketball squabble. After being down 14-3 at the halfway mark the Lions roared into action and made it a hammer-and-tongs fight the rest of the way. Gadd got 10 points to top Tigers in scoring and Marsh led Lions with six. The teams:

Lions: Marsh, Magee, E. Creighton, Archibald, Sedgewick, Harle.

Tigers: M. Hunter, Gadd, A. Holmes, Broadley, Weir.

Referees: V. Holmes, C. Hunt.

HAMILTON ITALOS DEFEAT REGINAS IN JUNIOR FINAL

HAMILTON, Ont., Dec. 20 (CP).—Picture a Canadian championship football team which didn't throw a pass, make a first down and only used seven line plays to win the title. That's the way Hamilton Italo-Canadians did it.

Snatching every opportunity presented by Regina Dales, the Italos completed an unbeaten and untied season Saturday by defeating the Western champions, 27-2, in a game generally recognized as for the Canadian junior title though it had no recognition from the Canadian Rugby Union.

It was the first defeat in 17 starts for Dales, but they were far from disgraced as they disregarded a water-logged field and took wide-open chances that gave 3,000 fans the only thrills.

But amid the water and mud Italos were a far superior defensive team. They never were threatened seriously after a first-quarter touchdown erased a one-point lead Tom Springstein gave Dales with a place-kick attempt; that was partially blocked but rolled over the Italo line.

Six of Hamilton's life plays were used up to score two touchdowns after Dales fumbled first on their two-yard line, then on their four. Hardy Awrey smashed over for the first major score and George Stevens got the second in three thrusts at the Regina centre.

Remember When—

(By the Canadian Press).

Murray Murdoch, the Lou Gehrig of hockey, played his 500th successive National Hockey League game with New York Rangers two years ago tonight. He performed in six exhibition matches with the New Yorkers in October this year, bringing his streak to 600 before he was sent down to Philadelphia Ramblers.

TREND WAS WEST FOR SPORT WINS AS YEAR PASSED

TORONTO, Dec. 20—(CP).—The rise to full stature of a fresh crop of champions almost, but not quite, overshadows the main conclusion that the West pinned the East's ears back with a convincing array of triumphs in 1937 sports. The trend in intersectional affairs was markedly to the west—as far west as you can go in Canada.

Championships in lacrosse, basketball, soccer and badminton went to British Columbia, giving the West an edge in its major contests against the other section. Manitoba followed along with champions in hockey and golf. To make it a banner year the West wanted Winnipeg Blue Bombers to win the national football title, but the Bombers missed.

As it was Winnipeg Monarchs won the Memorial Cup and junior hockey championship, University of British Columbia captured the basketball title, New Westminster Salmonbellies landed the Mann Cup and lacrosse honors, Vancouver's Johnston Nationals went home with the soccer title. All these victories were scored in East-West engagements.

In addition, Vancouver provided the country's two badminton singles champions, rangy Dick Birch and red-headed Mrs. Anna Kier Patrick. Winnipeg had both Canadian women's golf champions. Mrs. John Rogers won the open title and 18-year-old Heather Leslie followed on to win the close championship.

Where East Won

The East put over its biggest triumphs in hockey and football. Sudbury Tigers took the Allan Cup and senior amateur hockey honors to Northern Ontario for the first time since the famed Sault Ste. Marie Greyhounds accomplished this in 1926. And Toronto Argonauts topped off the struggle between the section by beating Winnipeg's Bombers in the football classic.

This wasn't all, because dour Sandy Somerville of London, Ont., won the Canadian amateur golf championship for the sixth time and the best tennis player in the land was Bobby Murray of Montreal, though Murray was defeated in the final of the Canadian singles by Walter Senior of San Francisco.

Only some of the thrills were produced by intersectional combat. The year's greatest hockey team, Detroit Red Wings, was an all-Canadian outfit led by Jack Adams of Napanee, Ont. For the second straight year the Red Wings won the National League title and then the Stanley Cup.

Even the recent collapse of the great Detroit machine fails to take lustre from last spring's achievement when the Wings upset Montreal Canadiens in a thrilling five-game series for the N.H.L. crown and stagged on into the Stanley Cup final, beating New York in another five-game hair-raiser.

Professional hockey's greatest players, as selected for The Canadian Press all-star team, were: goal, Normie Smith, Detroit; defence, Babe Siebert, Canadiens, and Ebbie Goodfellow, Detroit; centre, Marty Barry, Detroit; wings, Harvey Jackson, Toronto, and Larry Aurie, Detroit; coach, Adams.

But there were other sensational performers, notably Toronto's Syl Apps who all but led N.H.L. league scorers in his first season as a professional. The former Olympic pole-vaulter from Paris, Ont., and McMaster was adjudged the best rookie of the year. Top point-maker, by the margin of one point over Apps, was Sweeney Schriner of New York Americans.

Amateur hockey's biggest upset was provided by Winnipeg Monarchs in the junior finals at Toronto. The western champions, one of the strongest under-age outfits ever formed, burned back Copper Cliff Redmen with loss of only one game in a best-of-five series and captured the final 7-0.

In the senior amateur finals at Calgary, the powerful Sudbury Tigers won the first two games from North Battleford Beavers, dropped the next two and won the fifth. Then the Tigers hurried back east and won a "world tournament" in Toronto, other entrants being Montreals, Wembley Lions, winners of the English National League, and Hershey Bears, eastern United States champions.

Canadian sport's biggest loss in 1937 was also hockey's. When Howie Morenz died at Montreal shortly before the N.H.L. playoffs, the game lost its most glamorous player and Canadiens their inspired leader.

In Summer Sport

Lacrosse had its best season in years with Orillia Terriers winning the eastern championship for the fourth straight time, then succumbing in three straight games to a New Westminster force that had taken some of its strongest players from Orillia. In soccer the Vancouver Johnston Nationals won the final two games to one from Toronto Ulster United.

Golf's champions were unusually brilliant. Best Canadian professional was Stanley Horne of Ottawa, winner of the P.G.A. title for the second straight time. Horne also won the Quebec open and tied with Bobby Alston of Ottawa as leading Canadian in the open at Toronto.

Jules Huot of Quebec put over one of the best wins in the $4,000 General Brock open at Ponthill, Ont. Lighthorse Harry Cooper of Chicago succeeded to the open crown won in 1936 by Lawson Little and Somerville succeeded Freddy Haas of New Orleans as amateur champion, defeating Phil Farley of Montreal in the final.

Outstanding in tennis was Murray who won the Quebec and Ontario singles titles, each time beating Ross Wilson of Toronto in the final senator required five sets to turn back the young Montreal star in the national final. Top women players were Jean Milne of Vancouver and Mrs. Clive Wade Wemley of Toronto, but national titles went to members of England's Wightman Cup team.

Football had dozens of great players, perhaps none greater than Fritz Hanson of Winnipeg in the west and Hugh (Bummer) Sterling of Sarnia

Lepage Is Human Dynamo

You've heard all these years about "human dynamos." Well, here's actually a picture of one. It's a new device designed to show how much human effort it takes to light an electric bulb or run a waffle iron. It is a bicycle-propelled generator which can supply power to various electrical utilities. The rider is Henri Le Page, Canadian bike sprint champion, and the test was made in New York.

Joe Cooper, of the New York Rangers, is pictured here as he muffed an easy shot, the puck missing the goal by a hair when Goalie Smith, of Detroit Red Wings, slipped to the ice leaving the net wide open. The Rangers scored their fourth straight victory by defeating the wilted champion Red Wings 3-1 before a crowd of 12,000 fans at New York. The other players in the picture are "Bucko" McDonald, No. 3, and Larry Aurie, No. 6, both of Detroit and Cecil Dillon, New York Ranger forward.

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd C'uckle or Two

By CRC. PERDUE

IT WAS with considerable pleasure that we heard of the entry of the Hiawatha Indians into the Senior City Hockey League for this winter. Bill Howard and his buddies craved a lively loop and they applied to the local blood and thunder circuit. They did not blink when told of the entry fee nor the referee's cost each game—nope, they just wanted action in a good loop and to heck with the cost. President Leo Allen remarked: "Your players may be charging right through the end of the rink here, after being used to the wide expanses of Rice Lake!" Yeah, the Hiawatha gang played last winter in the Rice Lake loop and made an excellent showing, though beaten out by the winning squad. They will be one of six entries in the local loop along with Lakefield, Millbrook, Bewdley, Westdale and the Southenders.

* * * * * * *

THOSE INDANS are used to a lot of room. They don't like a rink that fits too snugly under the arms—they want freedom to swing their arms and their sticks. Not that they're the scalping kind, golly no! It is a base libel to refer to this tribe as scalpin' Indians—not even where tourists' rates are concerned. But rumor hath it that the 1936-37 Rice Lake Puck Loop topped the Great World War for action and for casualties. The Indians take to hockey as they do to fishing—also an amateur game, at least when in season—trapping, and hunting.

* * * * * * *

YOUR REAL North Americans—your forefathers and ours were just immigrants—probably quite often sort of scorn us palefaces and no doubt they feel they can lick us handily when the chips are down. Like in hockey when there is no army and modern artillery behind us. They must often sort of scoff at the so-called "civilization" which we brought them, with its attendant ills. But let us not mount a tub to preach. Those braves from Hiawatha will leave their tepees decked in warpaint and ready to massacre the enemy if given half a chance. We don't say they'll win the league title, nor do we predict that they'll cop a great many victories—that remains to be seen—but we do expect the tribe from down Hiawatha way to dish up a lot of dash and add a lot of color to the thud and blunder loop this winter. We will certainly not miss (if at all possible) any of the games between Bewdley and Hiawatha.

* * * * * * *

CERTAIN PUCK authorities claim that the Indians originated hockey in Canada. This has been stoutly denied by Kingston, Ottawa and Montreal claimants. We dunno, as it was before our time. They did start lacrosse and many outdoor games, such as tourist guiding in shallow fishing bees, and they regard 'em all afterward with the same stoical grins. Yeah, we are looking forward to a flock of whoops and heaps of action when those Indians come here to play hockey in a couple of weeks.

BILL PRINDIBLE informs us that five teams have now applied for entry into the Junior City Hockey League, and that one more would be welcome if the application is made this week. Teams are: P.C.I., Monarchs, Bombers, Canadiens, and All Saints. Anyone else interested should get in touch with Mr. Prindible. A snappy young six-team circuit, playing at the Brock and sponsored by the Peterborough Hockey Club, should provide a flock of teen-age pucksters with first-rate training for future O.H.A. company. Two or three of last year's Junior City Loop will be seen wearing the Colts' harness this winter just as sure as there'll be a heavy play on turkeys this week.

WE RATHER like the look of that proposed boxing card here Jan. 6th in the Armouries. These Toronto fighters—Carter who fights Orlando again, and Genovese who meets Minicola in a rematch—claim you have to kayo a guy in Peterborough to get a decision. They wanted return bouts, while the local battlers are also anxious to prove they really can trim 'em. Should be two dandy bouts. And Norm Bowler tells us that he doesn't expect Art Darnbrough of Toronto, a Provincial champ, to again win by a kayo. He says Art will have to hustle all the way to win this time. Norm has a lot more nerve that we'd have, after seeing Darnbrough's dynamite right hand in action, but he seems to think he can give Art a man-sized scrap. The Jordan-Foster fight will be a good one, too, and one other Toronto toreador may be brought down for Jerry Ballard.

THIS DISPATCH from Buffalo the other day, concerning that well-known pro grappling gent "Gentleman Jack" Washburn, speaks for itself: "Supreme Court Justice Frank James granted the plea of Thaddeus S. Skolimowski for a reduction in alimony payments from $15 to $12.50 per week. Skolimowski had termed himself 'only a ham-and-egger.' Skolimowski, who wrestles under the name of Jack Washburn, said he was 'only a clown wrestler who gets a couple of dollars for performing before "the regulars put on their act." Well, well, well! And what does he mean "put on their act"? Looks like Mrs. Skolimowski—who used to be, at least—will have to retrench.

LET'S GET away from this barlapped "sport" of the merry matmen and their matrimonial miseries. Let's see what happened in cage activities at the Y.M.C.A. on Saturday p'm. St. Paul's Juniors copped an 11-7 Church Basketball League nod from St. John's. And the pre-season loop opened with a trio of tilts. Bears beat the Jeepers, 21-15; Lions lost a 30-18 game to Tigers; and the Chimps helped themselves to a 28-12 win over Seals. And those volleyball scores were noted at the "Y": Rangers 15, 15, 15, vs. Shamrocks 13, 13, 13; Skidleys 15, 15, 13 vs. Mayflowers 11, 11, 11; Clippers 15, 5, 15 vs. Rainbows 13, 15, 11; Bluenoses 9, 15, 6 vs. Endeavors 15, 5, 13; Vikings 13, 5, 10 vs. Cambrias 15, 15, 15. A meeting of all basketball players will be held tonight at 7.30 in the Y.M.C.A.

GRAB-BAG: Johnny Ferraro, Montreal grid and cage star, has turned down an invite to coach basketball at Queen's this winter . . . . Don Crowe and Mike Loucks, Orrins' gridders, have been invited to try out with Hamilton Tigers next fall . . . Crowe had to go the hospital the other day with a back injury suffered in the Dundas game . . . Quinte scribe trumpets loudly that Belleville Redmen are very liable to win the senior "B" group—stop it, you're killing us! . . . Neutral referees will be used in this senior "B" setup, and Queen's games with the other teams will count as four points instead of two . . . On account of Queen's have a single schedule while the Flyers, Petes and Redmen have a double one . . . Haven't heard when the ice here will be ole for hockey practises, sometimes this week we trust . . . Time the local Bees had a manager named and their schedule drawn up . . . Petes will be mighty shy of practise when they open next Monday in Belleville, the Redmen playing regularly . . . Xmas comes but once a year—if it came any oftener, we'd be sunk we fear!

AUSSIE YOUNGSTER UPSETS DON BUDGE

SYDNEY, Australia, Dec. 20 (A.P.). — To 19-year-old Jack Bromwich, rising Australian star, fell the honor of handing Don Budge the first singles defeat of his current tennis tour of the Antipodes.

The ambidextrous youngster, unknown outside his native land a year ago, on Saturday whipped Budge, the world's No. 1 amateur, 6-2, 6-3, 8-10, 6-4, in the final match of an exhibition team series which Australia won, four to 1. Earlier in the day, Gene Mako, Budge's teammate, had dropped 6-0, 6-4, 6-4 decision to Adrian Quist in the match that clinched the series.

Presbyterian Gang Beats Anglicans

St. Paul's Juniors took an 11-7 Church Basketball League win over St. John's in the "Y" on Saturday night. The Presbyterians' superior shooting told the tale in this keen contest, with the losers' sniping being off. St. Paul's had a 6-3 lead at half-time. Rutherford led the winning marksmen. The teams:

St. John's: Pinn, Brown, Jeffries, Packenham, Craig.

St. Paul's: Ascott, Ferguson, Rutherford, Taylor.

Referees: D. Oharlton, N. White.

Chimps Easily Win From Seals 28-12

In a "Y" pre-seasonal basketball game Saturday night at the Y.M.C.A. gym, the Chimps won over Seals by a 28-12 score. They had a 14-4 bulge at the rest period and proved too strong most of the route in this opening tilt. Seals battled hard in the clean contest but were checked up closely. Jakeaby and Turner each got four points for the losers, while Galley was the big shot for the victors with 16 points on eight baskets. The teams:

Seals: Jakeaby, Dundas, V. Holmes, Dyer, Hunter, Turner.

Chimps: Smith, Thomas, Thirnbeck, Galley, Turner, Hunt.

Referees: J. McClenaghan, L. Ascott.

WORLD'S CURLING TITLE

EDINBURGH, Dec. 20 (CP).—An event billed as the "world's curling championship" was won here by a rink from Lanmermuir, skipped by H. Wakelin. Wakelin's four defeated a Glasgow rink, skipped by J. Robertson, 15-11, in the final. Rinks from various Scottish and English centres competed.

Imperials in the east. Toronto Argos, however, won the Big Four in a two-game playoff with Ottawa Roughriders, beat Sarnia in the eastern final and Winnipeg in the Canadian final.

Queen's won the Intercollegiate in a dramatic overtime playoff game against University of Toronto.

Badminton

R. O. BENSON

The Central Ontario Badminton Association had its re-organization meeting the other weekend and squared away a few matters of business. Stuart James of Bowmanville was elected permanent secretary of the group. It is probable that the annual tournament, an all-day affair, will be held on March 19th, with the Peterborough Club as host. Each member club may enter three men's, ladies' and mixed teams, but some of the smaller groups may cut down on this a little. Members of this Central Ontario Association include: Lakefield, Lindsay, Millbrook, Cobourg, Port Hope, Bowmanville, Oshawa, Peterborough Club and the Armouries of Peterborough Garrison Club.

St. Andrew's people had themselves a friendly club tournament last week, and the fine turnout makes it look like a good initial season is in the offing. All classes of doubles were played, with much stiff competition in evidence. Mrs. Ken Kingston, tennis star, and Grant Gillespie teamed up in convincing style, turning back Margaret Weir and Jack Gray only after a stern battle. Mr. and Mrs. B. Hamilton took the measure of Doris Tremaine and Jack Richardson in another of the neater clashes of the evening, but the latter pair made it close, just being edged out on a tight 15-12 score. Helen Turner and Herb Hawley let it be known that they know all the answers in their contest with Viola Martin and Joe Watson when they emerged on the juicy end of a 15-8 count. Men's tussles were all right too, particularly that in which B. Hamilton and G. Gillespie whipped J. Richardson and J. Gray. When all the points were totalled, it was discovered that Herb Hawley's "Whites" had shaded Joe Watson's "Blues" 5 matches to 4. The members voted to take up the challenge offered by Knox Club for a meeting of the two squads early in January. Winners and their scores are: Mrs. K. Kingston and G. Gillespie vs. M. Weir and J. Gray, 15-13; Mr. and Mrs. B. Hamilton vs. Doris Tremaine and Jack Richardson, 15-12; Margaret Lillico and Jack McKone vs. Miss J. Walters and F. Fowler, 15-8; Helen Turner and Herb Hawley vs. Viola Martin and Joe Watson, 15-6; Miss E. Hawley and Carl Banks vs. Miss D. Dawson and W. Campbell, 15-9; Miss G. Cox and Jack McKone vs. Miss D. Armstrong and Dr. Young, 15-8. Ladies' doubles: Viola Martin and Mrs. B. Hamilton vs. Helen Turner and Doris Tremaine, 15-12. Men's doubles: B. Hamilton and Grant Gillespie vs. Jack Richardson and Jack Gray, 15-10; Herb Hawley and Carl Banks vs. W. Campbell and Joe Watson, 15-6.

Player Portraits.

Miss Lenore Lyle, who calls this her home town, and one of the originals of the Peterborough Club. Besides being one of their best women players, she also turns in a very respectable golf card in the off-season. Last year in the Central Ontario tourney, Miss Lyle joined with Lahring Parsons, with whom she holds the club championship, to reach the semi-finals. Here they were put out by Mrs. (Dr.) Hewitt and Mrs. Pat Hall by only the slimmest of margins. Miss Lyle always gives of her best and shows to particular advantage under the strain of tournament play. Her smashing style and steady, heady plan of attack place her well up in the list of topnotchers and enable her game to reach the point of brilliancy at times. Presenting: Bill Brown, a five-year man, who began his badminton career at the East City Club and then switched to the Armouries where he holds a real place of prominence. Bill hails from Clark's Harbor, Cape Sable Island, N.S., and his other accomplishments are golf and deep-sea fishing. Last spring Bill was a singles semi-finalist for the club championship, dropping a close decision to Max Risher, who in turn bowed to Jack Green. With Dr. Green, Bill holds the men's doubles crown and he and Florence Adams are mixed titleholders.

Jeep Gang Beaten In Cage Tussle

Beats opened the "Y" pre-season cage season Saturday night with a 21-15 win over the Jeepers. Bears—Hammell, Gadd, Rennie, R. Creighton, Csunrick, Weese.

Jeepers—McArthur, White, Gemmel, Craig, Cross.

Referees, J. McClenaghan, R. Marsh.

GERMAN SYNDICATE OFFERS $750,000 FOR 'HEAVY' BOUT

NEW YORK, Dec. 20.—Promoter Mike Jacobs admitted to-day that he has "almost decided" to shift the Louis-Schmeling title fight in June out of New York because he was disappointed with the $74,109 gate drawn from last week's Schmeling-Thomas bout at Madison Square Garden.

"I'm almost certain now that the championship scrap will go to Chicago, Philadelphia or Berlin," Jacobs said. "Last week's Schmeling-Thomas fight should have drawn more than $100,000 because of the excellent publicity it received. But the anti-Nazi boycott kept away a lot of fans. I can't take a chance on the same thing happening to the big fight."

Mike revealed that Chicago, Philadelphia and Berlin were angling for the title tilt. He had received indications from Germany that a syndicate backed by the Government was ready to offer $750,000 for the bout. He might accept such an offer "with an understanding, of course, that I am to have a hand in the promotion."

Mann Likely Choice.

Meanwhile Jacobs expects to announce to-day the opponent who will meet Champion Joe Louis in the Bomber's first tune-up at the Garden on Feb. 22. It is rumored along Rue de Sock that the opponent will be Nathan Mann of New Haven, Conn., who recently squelched Bob Pastor's championship aspirations.

Jacobs said Louis would have a second tune-up in March, probably in Cleveland, and a third in April, possibly in Los Angeles. Schmeling stages his second tune-up on Jan. 20 against Ben Foord of South Africa in Hamburg, Germany. Maxie's third tune-up probably will occur in Miami early in March.

Tommy Farr, the Welsh heavyweight who gave Louis a hard fight in August, arrives Thursday on the Normandie to begin training for his brawl with ex-champion Jim Braddock on Jan. 21. Braddock already is conditioning at Pompton Lakes, N.J., for his first come-back attempt since losing the title to Louis in June.

CURLING

Echoes From No. 7

By HERB MARTIN

It looks as if the cold dip over the weekend will assure us good curling for Christmas week. The soft spell of the late week put a stop to curling alright but we lost but very little ice and at the time of writing it looks pretty good to us, and with a couple of floods we should be all set to go again.

We wish to impress upon all curlers and especially the skips, the importance of attending our open meeting tonight (Monday). The task of drawing for the rinks is an important factor and we ask every curler to make it a point to be on hand and help the club to get off to a good start....It is considered possible that we may have a bonspiel about the middle of the week.

Reg Hamilton Gets His Nose Badly Smashed As Toronto Leafs Defeat Amerks 3-2

Fans Are Irate As Refereeing Becomes Inconsistent In Closing Play

TORONTO, Dec. 20. — A $50,000 hockey player got his nose actually smashed to pieces without a penalty being awarded; another player got a very technical sort of penalty for grabbing the puck with his hand near his team's net; and the visiting team scored a goal in the last three seconds of play.

All that was jammed into the final minute of play at Maple Leaf Gardens on Saturday night when the Leafs skated and shot themselves into at least temporary possession of first place in their N.H.L. group by virtue of a 3-2 win over the ancient, but aggressive, Amerks from New York. The hectic and rather mystifying finish sent over 10,000 fans (10,487 paid, to be exact) on the homeward journey talking to themselves.

Now, this story is not going to be a general blast at the refereeing —the game was well handled in general — but, if Referee Clarence Campbell had not been (like all his fellow whistlers) so slavishly absorbed in watching that hockey-holy of holies, commonly known as the blue line, he would have seen what happened when Reg. Hamilton, young Leaf defenceman, and Art Chapman, veteran Amerk forward, tangled in a checking episode along the boards as the clock ushered in the final minute of play with Leafs, rightly enough, enjoying a 3 to 1 edge over the New Yorkers.

Is Butt-ended.

Hamilton reeled groggily off the boards with blood spurting from a gashed and smashed nose, a wound which Dr. J. W. Rush, Maple Leafs' Club physician says, could only have been caused by the angular butt-end of a hockey stick. The wound may have been inflicted accidentally, and it probably was, because Chapman is not considered to be a "dirty" player. However, the hockey rules call for a major penalty when any player "carries or holds his stick above the height of his shoulder so that injury results to the face or head of an opposing player."

But, Chapman escaped a penalty because Campbell didn't see the play. Mr. Campbell, who is an Edmonton lawyer in the summer season, should, and undoubtedly does, know his fine points of law, including the hockey law. Therefore, he could argue, that, since he did not see the accident, Hamilton may have bent down to get an Amerk stick in the face before said stick was raised above the Amerk's shoulders.

Hamilton to-day is in hospital after having been on the operating table until about 2 o'clock on Sunday morning—and therefore, one of the most improved players in the entire league is to be out of action for probably a couple of weeks at least.

NEW YORK, Dec. 20.—(AP). — Those two guys getting the old silent treatment (and how) are Van Mungo and Dizzy Dean....Old Jack Johnson appeared in Harry Balsamo's corner in the Garden the other night wearing pearl grey spats...

And "recession" notes: The New York hockey Rangers are $28,000 ahead of last year in receipts and have hit an all-time attendance high for games played so far....Joe Louis has made Max Schmeling agree not to meet five fighters prior to next June....They are the two Baers, Bob Pastor, Tommy Farr and James J. Braddock....

If Max Schmeling isn't the next heavyweight champion of the world, Buddy Baer is as good a bet as any ....The baseball season is three months away, but Cincinnati is sold out for the opening game....

Most of the heavy hitting in the American League last season was done by right handers....Averages show of the 15 men who drove in 100 or more runs, only three were left-hand hitters....Six women owners were among the 12 leading money winners on New York race tracks this year.

N.H.L. All-Stars

(By The Canadian Press)

Cooney Weiland, Boston, propelled Bruins back into first place with a goal in 3-1 victory over Maroons Saturday and two more in 4-2 success against Detroit Sunday.

Buzz Boll, Toronto, scored twice as Leafs downed Americans, 3-2, Saturday, to regain top in Canadian division.

SAILORS HAVE CHANCE TO GET O.H.A. WIN LIST

TORONTO, Dec. 20 (C.P.).—Port Colborne Sailors have two chances to break into the points column of the Senior A division of the Ontario Hockey Association this week in a home-and-home series with Kitchener Greenshirts.

The Sailors have played and lost two games so far this season, once to Toronto Goodyears and once to Oshawa G-Men, top-notch teams of the loop. And it won't be a cinch to remove that zero in the points statistics at the expense of the Greenshirts. They meet on Tuesday and Thursday.

Manager Bill Ross has a fighting Kitchener team with two former professionals on the roster whose hockey lose and defence teamwork means action for any stickhandler approaching the Kitchener crease.

Show Up Well.

Roy Hinsperger and Red Kampman, reinstated to amateur ranks this year after playing with former Kitchener money teams showed up well in their first scheduled game this season that ended with a draw with Brantford Redmen and didn't look too bad when the Oshawa Club trimmed Greenshirts 7-1 last Friday.

The only other Senior A game this week comes on Wednesday when the loop leaders, Goodyears and G-Men, meet at Oshawa. Fighting for their fourth straight victory, the Toronto team has already taken the measure of the Oshawa outfit, but a win either way takes the league leadership.

The league leaders also have a corner on the scoring honors, Goodyears leading with four of the first seven top scorers. The other three are G-Men, Don Metz, Goodyears, leads the list with nine points made up of five goals and four assists.

Los Angeles Times Comes To Rescue

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 20—(AP). —The Los Angeles open golf tournament, threatened with cancellation for want of a backer, will be held Jan. 7-10 under sponsorship of the Los Angeles Times. The newspaper to-day guaranteed the $8,000 purse after the Junior Chamber of Commerce announced it lacked sufficient funds to underwrite the event.

Scoring Splurge Boosts Mantha

GEORGE MANTHA

With a scoring splurge which netted five goals in two games, George Mantha, fast-skating forward of the Montreal Canadiens, has risen rapidly in the scoring race. He is in second position with only Gordon Drillon, of Toronto Maple Leafs ahead of him. George is one of the veteran Canadien players, and is also probably the most brittle-boned player in the National Hockey league. So far this season he has been void of injuries, but that old nemesis of hockey players may catch up with him before very long, considering the speed with which he is patrolling his side of the rink.

Bruins Regain Section Lead With 3-1 Win Over Maroons

Extend Margin With 4-2 Victory Over Detroit Red Wings On Sunday

TORONTO, Dec. 20.—(CP).—Boston Bruins have been kicking around in the National Hockey League attic too long to be bothered greatly by intruders from downstairs. Eventually Art Ross, like every other manager, will have to take extraordinary measures to cope with New York Rangers' thorough schooling system, but right now his Bruins won't flee in panic just because the Bluecoats have come.

Rangers arrived at Bruins' threshhold last week and captured first place over the idle Boston force Thursday with their fifth straight victory.

Bruins advanced on Montreal Saturday and regained the top with a bustling 3-1 triumph over Maroons. They stepped over to Detroit Sunday and slapped down Red Wings 4-2 to extend their margin as Rangers got nothing better than a 2-2 tie with Montreal Canadiens in New York.

A Tight Fight.

The American division's first-place fight became strictly a duel, for New York Americans scored a 1-0 success over Black Hawks at Chicago and Bruins' margin over Rangers was left at two points—over the third place Hawks eight. In the other section Toronto was enabled to regain a first place tie with Canadiens through a 3-2 win over Americans at home Saturday.

Cooney Weiland played a major part in rejecting the Ranger bid. He scored once at Montreal and twice against Red Wings. Just last Tuesday Cooney got his first two goals of the schedule with seven seconds against Toronto.

Weiland hovered around the Maroon goal most of the night but didn't score until the final minute, when the big red team was trying to rally. The opening period was scoreless but Boston went ahead early in the second on Bill Cowley's goal. Russ Blinco stick-handled in to level matters before the chapter ended.

Busher Hollett of Bruins and Bob Gracie of Maroons were off for high sticking when Boston got the winning goal through two members of its "baby line." From a scramble Porky Dumart took Bobby Bauer's pass and whipped a 10-foot shot past Bill Beveridge. Weiland's late counter came on an assist from Leroy Goldsworthy.

Red Wings' 12th Loss.

Red Wings' loss was their 12th in 16 games. Sands augmented Weiland's goals with two and Mud Bruneteau sank Detroit's pair. The teams were tied at 1-1 after a period, but Weiland shot the visitors ahead and Sands increased the margin in the second. Bruneteau and Weiland, who was aided by Sands, finished the scoring in the third.

Alex Shibicky's goal in the last two minutes saved Rangers from a beating by the Flying Frenchmen. He blazed it by Wilf Cude on a relay from Mac Colville and Cecil Dillon after Canadiens had overcome an early lead.

At Chicago, Earl Robertson blanked Hawks for the third time in three meetings. Hooley Smith got Amerks' goal late in the second. Rapping the puck in off Goalie Mike Karakas' knee.

Buzz Boll scored twice as Leafs downed Amerks. He got two goals in the first and third chapters and Syl Apps got the other in the second. Eddie Wiseman and Nels Stewart bagged late goals for the losers.

SYRACUSE STARS HEAD FOR BONUS CHRISTMAS RUSH

TORONTO, Dec. 20 (CP). — It's going to take some hustling, but Syracuse Stars still have a chance to make Coach Eddie Powers dig down for the bonus he offered to pay from his own pocket if his team has 21 points by Christmas.

To get the extra money Stars, who have 18 points now and are heading the International-American Hockey League's Western section, will have to win their next two games. The first is against Providence Reds December 22, and the second falls on Christmas night against Philadelphia Ramblers.

Stars picked up two points towards their 21 when they whipped New Haven Eagles, 4-0, last night. They dropped a Saturday clash, however, to Pittsburgh Hornets, 4-2. Providence made the greatest gain, winning 4-3 against Springfield Indians, and then coming back Sunday with a win over Cleveland Barons, 4-0. Barons dropped a Saturday contest to Ramblers, 7-5.

Reds, in picking up four points, climbed into first place in the Eastern section, going a full game ahead of Ramblers. The race is tightest, however, in the Western grouping, where Syracuse, Pittsburgh and Cleveland come in that order and with 18, 17 and 16 points respectively.

Leads Syracuse Attack.

Murray Armstrong led the Syracuse attack against New Haven, getting two goals in a rough game that saw Referee Gene Chouinard hit with a bottle flung from the gallery by an irate fan. Chouinard was uninjured, and police escorted two men from the arena.

The bottle-throwing occurred in the final minutes of the game while fans were howling their protest at what they considered were unduly rough tactics by Stars. The game, first clash this year between the two teams, was held up five minutes while the ice was cleared of paper.

Armstrong got a goal in the first period and one in the third, while other Syracuse marksmen were Eddie Convey and Norm Locking. Baz Doran and Thompson scored for Syracuse Saturday, while Pittsburgh scorers were Ken Doraty, Johnny Sorell, Jack Sherwood and Wally Kilrea.

Drops Seventh Straight.

Springfield went down to defeat for the seventh successive game, in losing to Providence. Mell Hill, Jack Keating, Johnny Shewchuck and Alex. Motter scored for Reds, while Springfield goal-scorers were Jerry Shannon, Davie and Adelard Lafrance. Hill got two goals against Cleveland, while Keating got his second of the weekend and Doggie Kuhn scored the other.

Bill Carse led the Rambler attack against Barons with two goals and an assist, while Murray Patrick got two also. Charlie Mason, Lude Waresing and Cliff Barton scored the other Rambler goals. Baron scorers were Bud Cook, who tallied twice, Peggy O'Neill, Earle Bartholome and Phil Hergesheimer.

4 TEAMS ENTER TRENT CIRCUIT

(Examiner Correspondence.)

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 20. — Campbellford intermediates will meet Belleville for the first game in the newly-organized Trent Valley League which will be played in the local arena. President Charles Davidson and the treasurer, Dr. Hugh R. McLaren, represented the Campbellford Club at a meeting held in Stirling last week when teams from Trenton, Belleville, Madoc and Stirling were entered in the league making a total of six teams with Belleville the only new team in the league. A further meeting has been arranged for next week when a complete schedule for the season will be drawn up. Norwood, Marmora and Bancroft who were regarded as possible entrants did not send representatives and will therefore be barred from the league this year. Other games scheduled for Dec. 29th are Trenton at Stirling, and Tweed at Madoc. The Campbellford team has been practicing for nearly two weeks and although consisting of somewhat lighter players than of other years it is thought that they should work into a formidable group during the season and even revive some of the brilliant hockey which featured the league several years ago.

BOXERS DEMAND A LIVING WAGE

LONDON, Dec. 20.—(CP)—Declaring the boxing business was underpaid, Len Harvey, former British Empire heavyweight, asked his colleagues to cease being "the cinderellas of sport."

He was the chief speaker at the National Union of Boxers and he made his point by recalling his first fight had netted him three shillings. The Union demands a minimum wage of £1 ($5) for six rounds.

The London News-Chronicle, analyzing the situation, said the Union's demand works out to three shillings and four pence (83 cents) a round or about 10 pence a minute, including rests—voluntary and involuntary.

"On the other hand, look what they do for it. All that dodging and feinting, with, every now and then, a very sudden fall onto a very hard floor. And there is always the risk of being hit—or do they draw workmen's compensation for that?"

ON RECORD NOW

NEW YORK—(CP).—Gene Tunney, retired heavyweight champion, has picked Max Schmeling to defeat Joe Louis, titleholder, in their match next summer.

Real Habitant Red-Head

"RED" GOUPILLE

A new hero has flashed across the scene for followers of Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey League in Clifford Joseph Goupille, big red-headed youngster, who comes from the real Habitant country, Beauce County, not far from Quebec's world-famous shrine of Ste. Anne.

Red-headed Habitants are rare, for French-Canadians run mostly to the Latin types, dark-haired, olive-skinned. When Goupille first broke into senior hockey in Montreal he was hailed as a new French-Canadian "Red" Horner. And now he is slowly getting more confidence, brightening out as a star.

When Canadiens halted Boston Bruns' unbeaten sequence at Montreal recently, Goupille scored his first goal in his National Hockey league career.

He is a good rushing defence player, a strong puck-carrier, and a very hard man to shake off the puck once he gets going. But most of all, to the delight of Montreal's French-Canadians, he is a powerful, rugged body-checker, who steps into all-comers fearlessly, and bounces them around. Canadiens haven't had a hard body-checker since the days when Albert "Battleship" Leduc was spinning incoming forwards around, but they have found one in Goupille. He is being rated as hard a bumper as Bucko McDonald, Detroit's famous steak-destroying bone-crusher.

Cecil Hart, manager of Canadiens, has teamed up Goupille with the veteran Babe Seibert on the defence and with the constant coaching and advice of this veteran star, Goupille is showing steady improvement.

This youngster is 22 years old, weighs 205 in the raw, though he is on most programs at 196. He was afraid Cecil Hart might think he was fat so he verbally cut off ten pounds, though there is not an ounce of superfluous flesh on his big freckled body. He is six feet tall with a thatch of deep red wavy hair.

After playing with lower ranked amateur teams in Quebec province, Goupille moved to Montreal, was one season with Lafontaines, then a team in Montreal's powerful senior grup. He was signed by Canadiens in the spring of 1936, played a few games for the major leaguers. Last season he was with New Haven in the International-Canadian, though up with the Habitant several times when they were short-handed. This year he is a regular with the Flying Frenchmen and it looks as if he'll hold his job.

He was smiling at me, and I knew him for the same man to whom I had poured out my soul as a boy—that whatever might be stiff and formal in his outer aspect, there was softness within and sympathy.

I described Mimi, sitting down in one of the pews to do it, and he sat beside me and listened. When I was through, he said:

"She doesn't love you?"

"She says she doesn't know. She's very proud. And they've always had money. And her family is very distinguished."

"And she wants these things in you?"

"Yes. But—I tell her that some day I'll make a name for myself—and that she won't be ashamed of me."

"Love is never ashamed, Jerry."

"But she has a right to expect that I shall give her something in exchange for all she would give me."

"If you give her youth, hope aspirations, she can give you no more than that."

"I know—" I was eager, assured, "and some day she is going to give it."

"How can you know that?"

"Life couldn't be so cruel as to take her away from me!"

"Life is often what we call—cruel—" I saw him clench his hand as it lay on the back of the pew. "But—we have to bear it, and find the good in it."

"I couldn't bear it if I lost Mimi."

"You would have to bear it, as I have to bear—losing your mother."

It was the first time he had spoken of it. There was a break in his voice—an agony—

I laid my hand on his. Yet even in the face of what he was feeling, I would not admit that losing my mother could mean to him what it would mean to me to lose Mimi.

"Mother loves you—you know she is yours throughout eternity—but if I lost Mimi, I should go alone through all the ages."

Oh, it was utterly high-flown, but I was much in earnest. And he knew it and put aside his own sorrow to help me.

"Perhaps it would be best for you to meet the situation strongly and put her out of your life now."

"Oh, no," my voice was sharp with the fear of it. "Why should you say that?"

"Because you have nothing to offer her, and she wants things offered."

"I—I have my ambitions, Father—and some day I shall have Uncle Jerry's ranch."

His sad, steady eyes met mine. "You are counting on that?"

"Why not?"

"You won't have it until he dies, Jerry. And there is nothing more stultifying than waiting for dead men's shoes."

"But I am not waiting. I—I am going to work and achieve—and make her love me—and nothing else will matter."

He stood up and laid his hand on my shoulder. "No, nothing else will matter. And when it comes to marriage, it is best to say 'hands off' to everybody but the two people concerned. I might tell you that Mimi is neither of your kind nor class—and that there's danger in that. I might point out that she is utterly unfit to be the wife of a poor man such as you must be in all probability for some years to come. I might say that you are on the wrong track when you build your future on so frail a structure as writing a play and inheriting a ranch. Yet what do I know of the fires you two may kindle? Or to what heights your love may sweep you? So it is in the hands of God. I can only ask that He will give you the best—and make you worthy of it!"

It seemed to me that he had never been so fine as when he put behind him all the prejudices which might have ruled him at this moment and thought only of how he might meet me on some high ground of mutual understanding.

"Only remember this," he said after a moment, "that there must always be truth between you. Never anything less."

I assented eagerly. It seemed to me astounding that I should not then have grasped the fact that my imagination was already weaving a web of falsehood which was to enmesh both Mimi and myself. So real to me was the future which I had painted that night under the moon.

It was on Sunday at dawn that my mother died. I was not with her, and my father came to my room in the gray of the morn and laid his hand on mine.

I opened my eyes, startled, and when I saw his face, I knew what had happened.

"She just fell asleep," he said.

He walked to the window and looked out. The world was very still—with now and then the sweet clear note of some waking bird. "Love doesn't die, Jerry," he said. "Thank God for that."

I went and stood beside him. "It was wonderful that you could have all these years together."

"Yes," he said, "it is wonderful."

I think that in both of our minds death gave back to my mother some of the aspect of romance which she had lost in those busy years. I know that my own vision pictured her as she must have seemed to my father on her wedding day. I saw, too, in their faithfulness which might be mine and Mimi's. The love-affair of my father and mother gained in depth and significance because of my own.

CHAPTER 19.

The day my mother died my father did not occupy the pulpit. He stayed in his study or in my mother's room, pacing restlessly between them. The rest of the house was taken over by the women of the congregation, who helped Rose Drury set everything in order, and who brought over cooked food of every kind that we might have enough for any arriving guests.

I too stayed in my room as much as possible. I had been in to see my mother, and had found that my father had placed in her hands a bunch of pansies which had bloomed in her own garden. She looked very pretty and young, in spite of her silver hair, and I was glad to leave her there, serene and waxen, and to go back to my room and pour out my heart to Mimi. I wrote in a perfect luxury of sorrow, embroidering elaborately the theme of my parents' constancy and devotion. It

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY'S MYSTERY

Uncle Wiggily and Baby Bunty were hopping around in the woods a few days before Christmas when, all of a sudden, the orphan rabbit pulled the coat tails of Mr. Longears and said:

"Look!"

"What at?" asked the rabbit gentleman, who was glad Bunty had pulled his coat tails instead of his own tail, for she had pulled hard.

"Look at that pile of leaves," whispered Bunty, pointing to a heap, with a little snow on it, among some evergreen trees.

"What about them " asked Uncle Wiggily. "There are plenty of leaves here in the woods, Bunty. Why should I look at those?"

Baby Bunty pulled Uncle Wiggily's left ear down close to her mouth.

Uncle Wiggily wasn't afraid. He knew Bunty wouldn't bite him. The orphan rabbit whispered:

"Maybe there are some Bad Chaps hiding under that pile of leaves, Unkie Wig."

"Oh, my goodness!" exclaimed Mr. Longears. "I never thought of that! You may be right, Bunty."

Danger!

"Come on, quick! Run" cried the orphan rabbit. "The leaves are moving! The Bad Chaps hiding under them are coming out!"

As she and Uncle Wiggily hopped quickly away something rustled after them.

"Oh, here they come!" cried Bunty.

"Nonsense!" laughed Uncle Wiggily, looking back. "It's just the wind blowing the leaves."

"Aren't there any Bad Chaps?" asked Bunty, holding to the jolly old rabbit gentleman's coat tails so she could keep up with him.

"There may be some Bad Chaps under that pile of leaves," admitted Uncle Wiggily, " but I don't see any coming out. Still it's better not to take any chances, so we'll hop away."

"I think so, too," said Baby Bunty.

Soon she and Uncle Wiggily were safely back at the hollow stump bungalow and Bunty hopped away to play with Jingle and Jangle for this, being Christmas week, the animal children had no school.

Having brought Bunty safely home, Uncle Wiggily started back to the woods again.

"Where are you going?" asked Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy.

"There is a sort of mystery in the woods," Uncle Wiggily replied. "Baby Bunty and I saw a big pile of leaves. Somebody or something must be under them and I am going back to see what."

Mystery

"Supposing it's Bad Chap?" said Nurse Jane.

"Pooh!" said Uncle Wiggily. "If it had been them they would have popped out at us at once. They wouldn't wait. So I'm going to find out about that mystery."

Soon Uncle Wiggily was at the pile of leaves again. They looked just the same. Nothing moved, not even the wind. Going closer, the bunny uncle saw a sign on the leaves. It said:

PLEASE DO NOT DISTURB ME

"Ha! Somebody is under that pile of leaves sure enough," whispered Uncle Wiggily. "I wonder who? Why, there are initials signed to that notice about not disturbing! Initials S. C."

Wondering who could be hiding under the leaves, Uncle Wiggily stood looking at them watching and wondering.

"It surely is a mystery!" he said.

Then all of a sudden the leaves began to move. And the wind wasn't blowing them either.

"The mystery is coming out," said Mr. Longears. "S. C., whoever it is, is going to pop out!"

And if the spinach and cranberries will stop pretending to be a holly wreath I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and S. C.

The Agony Of Eczema

Eczema, or salt rheum, is one of the most torturing of itching skin diseases. The principal cause is bad blood, aided by inactive skin and inflammation. It manifests itself in small, round pimples or blisters which later on break and form crusts or scales, and the intense burning, itching and smarting are almost unbearable.

To eradicate eczema from the system it is necessary to give the blood a thorough cleansing, and for this purpose we would highly recommend Burdock Blood Bitters.

Mrs. Joseph E. Berger, Millbank, Ont., writes:—"Several months ago I was troubled with eczema on my hands. I could not help with the milking my hands were so sore and itching, and could hardly put them in water.

After I had taken two bottles of Burdock Blood Bitters I found my hands were healing very quickly. I have never found a remedy to compare with B.B.B. for purifying the blood."

PEACOCK FEATHERS

seemed to me that she must be touched by it and that her pity would be akin to some warmer and deeper emotion.

The funeral was to be on Tuesday. We had sent word to my father's mother, whose home was in an adjoining town. She was very frail and was unable to come. She lived with an unmarried daughter, my Aunt Mary, who was also kept away by the need of my grandmother for her. Rose Drury became therefore, in effect, the mistress of the house. And I must say that she carried off the honors well. She clothed herself in a black dress which toned down her pink-and-whiteness, and which gave her an air of real refinement. She marshaled the forces of women, and under her direction they made sandwiches and brewed coffee and cut cakes for the crowds who would come from a distance and would partake of our hospitality after the sad ceremony.

So we left my mother in the little burying ground where I had years ago sat with Theresa, and my father and I came home alone.

I stayed on then for some weeks. I could not leave my father when he needed me so much. We had not talked over any plans. I simply drifted; writing to Lionel, writing now and then to Mimi; eager to get back to them both, but held to my father's side by my sense of his dependence upon me.

Finally one night he said, "We must talk about your future, Jerry."

I told him that I had no plans.

"But, of course, you won't stay. I don't expect it. And I have been thinking that it might be well to have my mother live with me, and my sister. Mother will not be with us long, and then Mary and I can go on together. And the home will be here when you want to come, Jerry, and always our warm welcome.

"You must have a wider life than mine, Jerry," he said later. "I have no regrets. My life was, it seemed, planned for me, and I have lived out that plan. But for you there will be something perhaps more vivid, more adventuring. I should like to think it. But you must never let it separate us. I want to feel always that our souls are knit together."

I can never give to you, as I saw it, the beauty of his worn face—the strength of his belief in the rightness of it all. With, it seemed to me, nothing left, he was leaning on faith, as he had leaned in the old days when we had walked and talked together.

I told him that I should like to go west. That I should like to live in the same town with Lionel and work out our dreams together. That I wanted to be near Mimi. "Uncle Jerry says he will keep up my allowance. And very soon I ought to be earning something."

"Don't depend too much on your Uncle Jerry."

"I shan't when I once get started."

He was silent for a time, and then he said, "I sometimes wish that Jerry had not come into your life."

I was indignant. "Why should you say that, Father?"

"I am afraid you may have been weakened by an expectation which may not be justified. Jerry spends as he goes. There may not be much left."

I was cold with apprehension. "But there would always be the ranch."

"Unless some misfortune comes to him. Perhaps you and I build too much on futures, Jerry. I have given you the inheritance of a dreamer. It might have been better if you had had more of your mother's practical nature. But then we are what we are, I fancy. Only you must put foundations under your dreams, Jerry."

I felt that I was putting them. Lionel on his way down from Maine was to stop in New York and see a play-broker. The play wasn't finished—but it wouldn't hurt, Lionel said, to feel around a bit, and have a peep at prospective markets. And I had fancied that in Mimi's note of sympathy there had been a hint of warmth which might be made to burst into a flame.

What more encouragement did I need than this—that my friend and the woman I loved had a welcome for me? These were the firm foundations of my structure of dreams.

I told my father goodby at the door of the parsonage. My grandmother and my Aunt Mary were already settled comfortably under his roof. My Aunt Mary was to occupy my room, and my grandmother the guest chamber. My father kept the room in which my mother had died as his own. My grandmother's taste was like my mother's. Life was for them, I should say, neutral-tinted. Yet in their own way they got a good deal out of it.

I was glad to find, however, that Aunt Mary was different. She wrapped herself now and then as she went about the farm in a great red cape, as colorful as the flame of an autumn tree.

"Mother hatesh it," she confessed to me, "and I never wear it away from home."

"It is very becoming."

"Well, it warms my spirit as well as my body. When I get to heaven I am going to have red wings, Jerry."

We laughed together. "You are like Father," I told her.

"Yes. But Eleanor always held him down, and mother holds me. My red cape is my declaration of independence. I always put in on when I want to show mother that I own my soul. There are days when I feel as if I should like to wear it to church."

"Why don't you? Father would love it. It would be to him like a column of fire in the wilderness."

"I could never face Mother afterwards. No, I shall have to look forward to my red wings, Jerry."

I was glad that my father was to have Aunt Mary. Somehow I felt that her spirit would light the bare, clean house, as her cape would have lighted the church. And that my father's life would be brightened by the glow of her fine humanity.

When I left him, standing alone on the little porch, where my mother had stood so often beside him, I wished, just for the moment, that the old days might come back, when my father had made my world; yet they would never come back. I was being swept on by forces so strong that I could not stem the tide. The world which my father had made for me was to live in my memory of those high moments which we had spent together.

So I entered the big city on the Mississippi—a boy seeking his fortune! Not as in the old days with a bundle tied on a stick and a shilling in my pocket, but coming none the less to my adventure with high hopes and an eager sense of worlds to conquer.

I had taken a room in a family hotel well out in the west end, where Lionel lived with his father. The price had seemed to me prohibitive; but Lionel had insisted that I must be near him. When the play was accepted, he assured me, there would be money enough and to spare.

My training in thrift had made me unwilling to spend unless I knew how I was to meet expenses. I was aware that I need expect no increase in my allowance from Uncle Jerry. His letters had of late lacked the easy optimism of earlier days. Cattle-raising, he said, was not all that it used to be. The ranges were more and more restricted as the land was taken up. His income was, for the moment, much reduced.

Yet even with this he spoke of investments which promised big returns, so that any fears I might have had for my future were dispelled. Nothing could shake my confidence in Uncle Jerry's financial stability as the owner of vast acres. I could not think of him as anything less than as a landed proprietor with wealth flowing towards him on a golden tide.

I felt, however, that this was the moment for the grand gesture. The doors of a new life were opening to me. I must not close them by an exaggerated parsimony. For a few weeks at least I would eat and drink and be merry with the rest of them. Tomorrow must take care of itself.

Lionel met me at the train, and we took a taxi to the hotel. He was overflowing with enthusiasm. The play was the thing! He had had talks with agents, managers, actors. I realized, even as he told me, that none of them had made definite offers. They would be glad to read the play and that was all.

"But if they read it and don't like it," I demanded, "what then?"

"They will like it. Stiles Sanderson says that third act of yours will carry it."

I was not so sanguine. I was, indeed, a better critic of my own work than Lionel. I knew that the play had merits but I knew, too, that it lacked sustained power. But I was glad to be deceived into believing that Lionel was right, and that we were on our way to fame and fortune.

I was, indeed, ready to believe anything on that gay morning as I rode through the streets of the town which harbored Mimi.

Are Believed To Be Spies

This couple who travelled to Soviet Russia on American passports bearing the names of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Louis Robinson, dropped suddenly from sight in Moscow and the U.S. state department peremptorily requested Soviet authorities to discover their whereabouts. Search was quickly dropped by Washington when it was discovered that their passports were faked, and were issued in the name of a child who died years ago and who would, had he lived, been about the same age as the vanished "Mr. Robinson" now. In dropping the search suspicion was voiced that the pair are in the employ of a European power and used this subterfuge to gain entry to the land of the Soviet for spying purposes.

In the absence of the secretary, Mrs. R. S. Staples, Mrs. Milton Carr filled that office. The roll call was fairly well answered by describing a Christmas table decoration or Christmas dainty.

Six dollars and ninety-five cents was contributed by those present for the treatment of victims of infantile paralysis.

Reports were given on the making of a quilt, and from the committee appointed to plan something to augment the funds of the society. There was a short discussion of the latter project and suggestions were made. Nothing definite was decided. The matter was left over until after Christmas.

Hepburn, Duplessis Polish Off Their Alliance

Seeking Unity of Policy on Labor Problems And Laws to Govern Exploitation of Resources

TORONTO, Dec. 21.—(CP)—Ontario and Quebec, senior partners in confederation, today, through their respective premiers, Mitchell Hepburn and Maurice Duplessis, aided by cabinet groups, were putting the finishing touches on an alliance between the two provinces—an alliance that may mean a restating of their position in Confederation.

Conference was seeking a unity of policy for the two provinces on labor problems and on regulations governing the exploitation of natural resources, Premier Mitchell Hepburn said at the conference after remarking good progress had been made yesterday.

The premier said Hon. M. M. MacBride, Ontario labor minister, would join the talks today between the Ontario delegation of ministers and officials, headed by Mr. Hepburn, and a like Quebec delegation, headed by Premier Maurice Duplessis.

"We'll discuss the work of the labor and industry board in Ontario and the Quebec fair wage board," said Mr. Hepburn. "We're seeking a unity of policy in respect to the application of regulations to our natural resources such as mines and forests, game and fish. The two boards do similar work."

Ready to Fight Dominion

It has been made clear in statements by Mr. Hepburn and Mr. Duplessis that the two will resist efforts by the Dominion, if they be made, to take over revenues now coming to the provinces unless adequate compensation is made.

A joint policy in regard to the exploitation of timber and pulpwood resources on crown lands is also being drafted. Ontario may restore a ban on the export of pulpwood cut from crown lands. The ban was removed a few years ago but Quebec did not follow suit.

CHAMBERLAIN OUT, PRESERVE PEACE

LONDON, Dec. 21.—(C P Cable)—In broad strokes, Prime Minister Chamberlain swept today across the tortured international field. "We have a definite objective in front of us," he declared in the House of Commons. "That objective is a general settlement of the grievances of the world without war."

The crowded government benches roared applause.

No dramatic secrets were revealed. He had, however, some strong words for Japan. He was speaking of the Japanese attacks on British ships on the Yangtse. Representations, he said, already had been made to the Japanese government. Great Britain was now waiting evidence of the determination and ability of the Japanese government to prevent a recurrence of the incidents.

"We are still anxious to serve the cause of peace by any honorable means open to us," he continued in grave tones, "but it must not be thought that our desire for peace and our patience under repeated provocation mean that we are either indifferent to our international obligations or that we are forgetful of our duty to protect British interests.

"It is now for the Japanese government to show they are not unmindful of the rights and interests of foreigners, that their assurances and apologies mean something more than words."

CAR THIEF GIVES TROOPER 70 M.P.H. RIDE, HOOD OF CAR

KINGSTON, Ont., Dec. 21 (CP)—The tale of a frosty-midnight ride on the hood of an automobile travelling at 70 miles an hour was told in police court here today by Sergeant Mark McDermott of the Royal Canadian Artillery, when Joseph Hill answered a charge of stealing the soldier's car.

Hill pleaded guilty to the charge and was remanded until Friday. He was arrested walking along a highway shortly after the sergeant had forced the person driving his car to stop by obstructing the man's view as he crouched on the swaying engine hood.

McDermott saw his car moving away early today as he came out of a house where he was visiting friends. He jumped on the running board and tried to make the driver stop, but the car picked up speed.

"I scrambled over the hood to prevent a fall," the Sergeant said today. "Hanging to one hinge of the door on the driver's side and gripping the hood with my knees, I managed to hang on, while the car attained a speed of 70 miles an hour. The driver tried to sway the machine and throw me off and it was only a miracle that prevented me from falling.

Bullet Misses Him.

"I finally was able to crouch in front of the windshield and the driver was forced to stop when his view was obstructed. When the car stopped, I rushed around to the door and just then heard the click of a revolver trigger. I backed away, but before I could get behind the car, he fired. A bullet whizzed past my shoulder.

McDermott then raced away and the other man followed him for about 150 yards before he returned to the car and drove away. The car went only a short distance, however, before it swerved into the ditch.

Provincial Police, called by Mrs. McDermott when she saw her husband set out on his wild ride, arrived at the scene shortly afterwards. Hill was arrested walking along the highway some time later.

At the police station here, Hill said he came from Oshawa. A .22-calibre revolver was found in his possession. Two shots had been fired from it.

Chinese Fear Coast Cities Doomed

300 British-U. S. Women, Children Fleeing Interior Are Turned Back—Japs Change Story in Panay Case

SHANGHAI, Dec. 21.—(AP)—Japanese troop and warship movements today aroused Chinese fears three of the nations great coastal cities would suffer fate of fallen Nanking.

Chinese expected Japanese to drive against Hangchow, Chekiang provinces seaport some 110 miles south and west of Shanghai, Canton, China's southern metropolis, and Tsingtao, Shantung province seaport to the north.

There were authoritative reports that 11,000 Japanese soldiers withdrawn from the Nanking area embarked last night from Shanghai apparently bound for Canton.

A party of 300 British and United States women and children attempting to flee war threats in Central China were turned back toward Hankow, one of China's three temporary capitals.

A military boom across the Yangtse river at Matung, 100 miles above Nanking, obstructed passage of their refugee vessel, the British river steamer Woosung.

The South China situation was considered the most threatening. A Japanese attempt to cut the railway between Canton and Knowloon, which lies opposite Hong Kong, was expected momentarily. The prospect of dangerous incidents in

LOTBINIERE HEARS MUCH WAR TALK IN ITS CAMPAIGN

STE. CROIX, Que., Dec. 20. — (CP).—The Habitants of Lotbiniere county, peaceful district on the south shore of the St. Lawrence river just above Levis, sit around their stoves these cold days and talk of war—"La Guerre," as they say in French.

They smoke and talk—of armaments, military expenditures and war preparations. Every other day or so they bundle up in their bearskin coats, tuck on their cloth caps and drive off over snow-capped hills to the nearest political meeting. They listen to talk on war.

"There is to be a Federal by-election in Lotbiniere county next Monday, just two days after Christmas. At all the meetings, the candidates have discussed the possibility of Canada's participation in war.

Paul Bouchard, candidate, who described himself as an "Independent Nationalist" and who seeks the seat in the House of Commons vacated by the death of J. A. Verville, came out with a platform of "no war, no armaments."

Favors Defence Measures.

J. N. Francoeur, Liberal representative of Lotbiniere in the Quebec Legislative Assembly for 28 years, also seeking to replace the veteran Verville, in the House of Commons as a Liberal from 1921 until his death a month ago, upholds Canada's $30,000,000 expenditure for military purposes as a "necessary defence measure."

A number of the electors of the county, which has chosen Liberal parliamentary representatives since Confederation, came to this little county seat yesterday and heard charges that "armament makers" and "foreign powers" supported both candidates in the Dec. 27 contest.

More than $2,000,000 worth of American products were received in Yugoslavia in the last year.

95 Italian Mothers Bear 738 Children, 10 Years

Average 8 Each, Leader With 10—Duce Presents Each $260 Prize

ROME, Dec. 21.—(AP)—Italy's most prolific mothers, led by a woman who has borne 10 children, gathered in Rome today to receive from Premier Mussolini prizes for their numerous offspring.

A Naples butcher's wife, the mother of 10 children, was declared chief winner under the rules which count only living, healthy children born since April 15, 1926 when the Maternity and Infancy organization was founded.

A Venice huckster's wife had the largest family—17 children, of whom 14 were living. But some were born before 1926.

Ninety-five mothers were awarded prizes. They had a total of 738 children born within the contest period, an average of nearly eight for each mother. The actual total, counting previous births, was still larger.

The prizes were 5,000 lire (about $260) each, plus insurance worth 1,000 lire.

30,000,000 Gold Ducat Horde Sought On Harbor Bottom

New Diving Machine Expected To Find Armada Galleon Sunk By Daring Scotchman

LONDON, Dec. 21.—(CP).—Nearly 400 years ago the Duque Florencs, a galleon of the Spanish Armada, was destroyed off Tobermory Harbor, Isle of Mull. She is said to have carried to her grave untold treasure, including 30,000,000 gold ducats minted when Philip of Spain was at war with England's Queen Elizabeth.

Whether the story is fact or fiction will be determined shortly by Herr Van Wiener, Dutch engineer and inventor of a new type of diving appartus, who has obtained permission to raise the hulk.

Down through the years the search for the treasure has been pursued and valuable articles are reported to have ben recovered near the spot where the galleon is believed to have went down. One haul brought a piece of plat in gold and silver, valued at thousands of dollars. Coins, daggers, scabbards and cannon balls have also been brought to the surface.

The Duque Florencs is said to have been driven into St. George's channel by the storm that scattered the Armada. Reaching the Isle of Mull, the vessel took on large quantities of stores and sailed away before the islanders were paid.

According to the islanders a daring Highlander managed to get aboard and light a fuse leading to the gunpowder magazine. He plunged overboard a few minutes before the ship was shattered by the blast.

Premier Is Positive Extra Service Won't Offend Drys

Sure No Temperance People Patronize Stores, Says Hepburn; Too Busy to Receive Delegation

TORONTO, Dec. 21.—(CP)—Premier Mitchell Hepburn said today the pre-Christmas night opening schedule for Ontario liquor stores would stay as is despite protests of temperance leaders and organizations.

"This shouldn't offend the temperance people," he said "I'm sure none of them would patronize the stores."

(At the Ontario Liquor Control Board offices it was announced stores in the nine larger cities would stay open until 10 p.m. instead of six o'clock Dec. 21 to 24 inclusive. All other stores will stay open until eight p.m.)

Mr. Hepburn said the public demanded the extra service at Christmas and it was necessary to handle the crowds. It had been the policy for years to extend Christmas season hours and extra staff was engaged.

The premier said he would be unable to receive a temperance deputation this week. He was exceptionally busy.

KING SEES SEAWAY HOWL BY HEPBURN POWER "KICKBACK"

OTTAWA, Dec. 21.—(CP)—Publication of correspondence between Prime Minister Mackenzie King and Premier Hepburn on the St. Lawrence waterways and associated power developments has left the Ontario premier still claiming an Ottawa-Washington attempt to dominate his province and Mr. Mackenzie King asserting with equal vigor that his letters provide no basis for the charge.

Although request from Mr. Hepburn for permission to publish the confidential correspondence brought from the prime minister a counter suggestion they be tabled in parliament, it was given to newspapers by Mr. Hepburn yesterday.

Last night the prime minister issued a prepared statement declaring the letters bore out his previous denial of the existence of any agreement or understanding between Ottawa and Washington regarding Ontario's power problems. He did not comment on Mr. Hepburn's action in publishing the correspondence.

Replying to Mr. Hepburn's charge the federal government's refusal to co-operate with Ontario in obtaining United States agreement to diversion of water through Long Lac into Lake Superior had prevented a huge industrial development, the prime minister said this phase of the argument arose only after Mr. Hepburn had been refused a power export license November 29.

Up to that date and during Mr. Hepburn's personal interview with the prime minister and his colleagues on that day, no exception had been taken to the federal government's attitude toward Ontario's water diversion proposal, Mr. Mackenzie King said.

Action Starts After Export Ban.

Until he had been refused permission to export power, the Prime Minister said, Mr. Hepburn "had taken no exception whatever to any action or delay on the part of the Federal Government with respect either to the Long Lac diversion, the St. Lawrence Waterways, or any of the matters which he would have the public believe rendered necessary the contracts for electric power which

CAIRO STUDENTS BACK THEIR KING

CAIRO, Dec. 21—(AP). — With hundreds of howling students at his heels, Finance Minister Ebeid Markram Pasha sped through the gates of young King Farouk's Palace today to confer on the deadlock between King and Cabinet over control of the government.

Police were sent to the palace to protect Markram as El-Azhar University student supporters of the King milled around the minister's empty car, shouting, "Long live the King! Down with Nahas!"

Earlier Makram, who is Premier Mustapha Pasha's right-hand man, planned to communicate the cabinet's views on the impasse to Ali Maher Pasha, the King's political adviser.

King Farouk twice acknowledged the student demonstrators' cheers by appearing on the palace balcony. The crisis centres about the boy king's demand that Nahas dissolve his blue-shirted political army.

King's Reply Weak Says Hepburn

TORONTO, Dec. 21 (CP).—Premier Mitchell Hepburn of Ontario today labelled Prime Minister Mackenzie King's answer to the Hepburn charge of an Ottawa-Washington conspiracy to force Ontario to approve a St. Lawrence seaway scheme as "a pretty weak rejoinder."

Mr. King at Ottawa last night said Mr. Hepburn had omitted from the file of confidential correspondence given to the press a letter from Ontario Provincial Secretary Harry Nixon to Mr. King, in which Mr. Nixon expressed appreciation to Mr. King for the attention being given the subject.

"My position has been amply justified by the correspondence," said Mr. Hepburn. "Mr. Nixon didn't send me his answer so it was not in my file. There is nothing to the letter anyway. But I suppose it is quite important for a very weak defence."

Street-Corner Santas Missed By Busy New Yorkers

Officials Find Response To "Help The Poor" Plea So Low Venture Doesn't Pay

NEW YORK, Dec. 21 (A.P.). — A vague feeling in the minds of many New Yorkers that something was missing from the Christmas scene was substantiated to-day when a survey showed that Santa Claus had almost vanished as a street-corner money-getter and that his traditional competitors, the Salvation Army lassies with their kettles, were not doing so well.

Where there used to be hundreds of thin and fat men in kris-kringle costumes busy ringing cowbells, the while they begged peanutsy, "Please help the poor," now they are numbered by 10's.

The Salvation Army once had as many as 200 men and women in the Army uniform stationed at busy spots throughout the city. Now they have only 120. And, that smaller corps went to work only yesterday for a five-day tour of duty, as against the two weeks' period of previous years.

At the offices of the Volunteers of America, a spokesman said this was the second year that nary a Santa Claus had been put to work by the organization. This informant blandly explained, "It didn't pay. The returns weren't enough for the time and labor involved."

Japs Make Greetings All Verbal

Tokio, Dec. 21 (AP)

PATRIOTIC Japanese will confine their New Year greetings to verbal expressions this year.

A paper shortage, induced by the war in China, has led the Government to discourage the exchange of New Year cards.

Imitation jewelry from America will be sold in London.

U.S. MOBILIZES PACIFIC FLEET MYSTERY MOVE

Destroyers, Aircraft Race to Main Unit

SAN PEDRO, Calif., Dec. 21 (A. P.). — The United States Navy high command threw a screen of silence to-day around the sudden transfer of nine destroyers from their San Diego base to the main body of the fleet at San Pedro.

A radio call in San Diego last night for the entire personnel of the aircraft scouting force to report for duty was described later by an official source as a "serious mistake."

At the time, Rear-Admiral Ernest J. King, commander of the aircraft force, was participating in a surprise conference here with Admiral Arthur J. Hepburn, Commander-in-Chief of the U.S. Fleet. Admiral King flew back to his San Pedro headquarters.

In the absence of other information, shore observers were inclined to believe the destroyer transfer might be nothing more than a "monkey drill," testing the speed of mobilization under holiday conditions.

Except for ships being overhauled in navy yards, the heavy cruisers and battleships of the fleet, together with the aircraft carriers Saratoga and Lexington, are at anchor here for the Christmas holidays.

The sailing of the destroyers under forced draft followed by a few hours the publication of a letter by State Secretary Hull stating the present "does not seem an opportune moment" to withdraw United States ships from the Sino-Japanese zone.

SHACK DWELLER DIES FROM BURNS

SUDBURY, Ont., Dec. 21 (CP)—A midnight race against death over bush trails in the Wahnapitae district east of Sudbury failed to save the life of Nick Harcovitch who died in hospital here today from burns received when his shack burned.

Harcovitch was trapped in his shack, south of Wahnapitae, last night and badly burned about face and body when the cabin was destroyed by a fire of unknown origin.

Tom Karhonen, a neighbor, returning late at night on skis from a Christmas concert at Cleland township school house, noticed the flaming cabin and rushed to the fire.

As he neared the shack, Harcovitch dashed out of the door, his clothes blazing, and collapsed at Karhonen's feet.

Smothering the flames, Karhonen carried the injured man to a nearby lumber camp and assisted by two men, Eino Zylinen and Carl Harju, placed him in a hore-drawn sleigh.

Over the rutted, bushland trails, the sleigh bumped through the night and finally arrived at Wahanpitae at four o'clock this morning.

Unconscious, Harcovitch was then placed in an ambulance and rushed to hospital here where the 54-year-old lumberman died.

Police will open an investigation into the fire.

Canadian Flier Dies In Crack

STROUD, Gloucestershire, Dec. 21 (CP Cable)—Pilot Officer Christie Leslie Taylor, 22, of Vancouver, and Pilot Myles Birch, 19, of Smethwick, Staffordshire, were killed today when their plane crashed on a hillside near here during a dense fog.

The plane was heard droning above the hills, apparently in search of a landing field, a few minutes before it crashed and burst into flames after an explosion.

An eye-witness saw one of the airmen leaning over the side of the machine in a desperate effort to free himself from the wreckage. He fell back as the fuselage became enveloped in flames.

Pilot Officer Taylor came from Canada in August. Both men were attached to the No. 3 Flying Training School at South Cerney, Cirencester.

TO SETTLE MANCHUKUO

The "pressing need for migration" to Manchukuo has caused the Overseas Ministry of Japan to ask the Government for a fixed appropriation to finance a policy of continuous settlement of Japanese there.

U.S. Insurance Companies Will Give Safe Drivers 15 P.C. Bonus

New York, Dec. 21 (CP)

A CASH reward for safe drivers of private United States automobiles, consisting of a 15 per cent return on annual liability insurance premiums to motorists who bring no claims under their policies, was announced yesterday by 26 stock companies comprising the membership of the National Bureau of Casualty and Surety Underwriters.

The plan will be effective in most states of the union probably on February 1 and the 15 per cent reward will be paid to motorists who keep their records clear of claims for the 12 months following.

According to the announcement of the bureau, "this plan is predicated on the actual experience of the policy holder and therefore, enables operators of cars to get a saving in their insurance cost based solely on their own individual operating record."

THOUSANDS SLAIN IN HAND-TO-HAND FIGHT FOR TERUEL

HENDAYE, Franco-Spanish Frontier, Dec. 21 (A.P.). — The fighting for strategic Teruel in which thousands were reported to have fallen, to-day entered its sixth day.

Through last night, while the civilian population of the Spanish provincial capital remained in underground tunnels awaiting word of the city's fate, giant field searchlights illuminated scattered areas of conflict.

The chatter of machine-guns and the pinging fire of rifles echoed through the streets. At times the government attackers and the stubborn insurgent defenders fought hand-to-hand in the narrow thoroughfares.

In the last 48 hours there had been two principal battlegrounds — west of the city where General Franco's crack shock troops, sent from Zaragoza and Soria, tried to pierce the government siege ring to relieve their embattled comrades, and the other in the city itself and its suburbs where the insurgent garrison fought with its back to the wall in the hope relief would come.

A column of insurgent Moors and Legionnaires was said to have been destroyed when it tried to break through the siege lines into the city. Government machine-gunners, nested on the fringe of the city and in planes overhead, cut their foe down.

Cold Adds Its Victims.

The rival forces fought in numbing cold. Snow blanketed the scene, thirty thousand men were believed engaged in the campaign.

(All of Franco's lines in Spain were reported to have been weakened by the drain in manpower from attempts to save Teruel.

(A government communique reaching Madrid, 136 miles west of Teruel, said the insurgents suffered staggering losses while reinforcing the lower Aragon sectors.

(Five insurgent counter-attacks were said to have been repulsed and government lines remained the same as on Sunday when the general attack was opened, after four days of milder skirmishing.

(Two ultimatums for the surrender of the insurgent garrison under a guarantee of amnesty were flatly rejected by the defender. Their position remained critical, the government communique said, while airmen bombed insurgent positions to the north along the 200-mile Aragon front).

The government command announced yesterday the attackers had taken the last line of trenches defending the city on the northwest.

3 DIVERS CALLED TO SEEK BODIES

PORT STANLEY, Ont., Dec. 21 (CP). — Search for the bodies of five "muckers" killed with three others in the collapse of a huge steel and wood coffer-dam, was pursued with renewed vigor to-day with works officials confident an augmented force of divers would recover them before nightfall.

The work of removing the bodies from the death trap in Kettle Creek was made easier by the victims' fellow-workers who labored throughout the night at the task of lifting from the water sheets of shattered steel and broken pilings, all that remained of the 65-foot caisson after its collapse on Sunday night. Three divers were to descend into the chill water to-day.

Half a dozen descents were necessary yesterday before Diver Monture freed the bodies of George Sealey, J. Chester Bisbee, and Donald Beatty from the maze of splintered wreckage. Still missing are the bodies of James McFarlane, Archibald Jones, James and Joseph Olsen, and A. Bisbee, son of J. Chester Bisbee. All the dead were Elgin County residents.

$10 CHRISTMAS GIFT

(Examiner Correspondence)

HASTINGS, Dec. 21. — A donation of $10 was given by the Council to the Women's Institute to aid them in making up Christmas baskets. The baskets will be made up this (Monday) afternoon and distributed to the homes and will contain candy and fruit for the children and groceries for the parents. The Institute has decided not to put up a lighted Christmas tree in the park.

RANCHERS PINNING HOPES IN CHINOOK

CALGARY, Dec. 21 (CP).—Cattle men in Alberta would be satisfied with one Christmas present — a chinook wind—a survey showed to-day. Ice-crusted fields, result of quick temperature chances, have created a serious feed situation.

In districts south of Red Deer River the situation was reported serious. In the foothills, stock was reported in fair shape unless there was a sudden change in weather.

Some ranchers in the Red Deer River country were in desperate straits, it was reported. Cattle are unable to break through the ice-crust and stack feeding has been necessary. At the rate of depletion there would be no feed left in February, it was reported.

The only hope for cattle in many sections was an immediate chinook, the warm over-the-mountain wind, said Jack Byers, manager of the Western Stock Growers' Association.

OBITUARY

ROBERT GODFREY.

KEENE, Dec. 21.—Word has been received by Frank Godfrey of the death of his grandfather in England. Robert Godfrey died at his home at Wolferton, at the age of 87. He was the King's oldest pensioner at Sandringham. Mr. Godfrey started employment at Sandringham 68 years ago, and after working over 50 years, mainly among horses, retired 17 years ago on pension. He was a capable horseman, and had through his hands many prize and racing horses.

The funeral was held in the Parish Church, and the mourners included many relatives employed on the Royal estate. The coffin was made by estate carpenters of wood grown at Sandringham.

Bert and Herbert Godfrey of Westwood are also grandsons and Jack Godfrey is a great-grandson.

ALEXANDER WATSON
(Examiner Correspondence)

MILLBROOK, Dec. 21. — The death of Alexander Watson, which occurred with somewhat startling suddenness on Thursday evening, December 16, removed one of the oldest residents of the village, deceased being in his eighty-sixth year.

Mr. Watson was born in Ballyclaire County, Northern Ireland, and was between twenty-five and thirty years of age when he came to Canada to make his home. He was married to Elizabeth Hunter five or six years before leaving Ireland, and for a time after arrival in Canada, they lived on a farm in Cavan township. Later they moved to Millbrook, their home ever since being on Anne street.

Mr. Watson was an expert on farm drainage, and in this capacity was, in his earlier years, well known among the farmers of the township. He was a life-long Presbyterian, and had lived fifty-nine years in Canada, thirty years of that in this community.

His wife predeceased him by some years, and the immediate surviving relatives are one daughter, Mrs. William Horner (Elizabeth), of Toronto; and one brother Arthur Watson, of Cavan. The funeral took place from F. C. Scott's funeral parlors on Sunday at 2.30 p.m., Rev. H. R. Williams having charge of the service. The pall-bearers were: Jas. Kennedy, William Pritchard, Thos. Armstrong, of Cavan, and Harry Whyte, W. E. Ball and Alex Harkness, of Millbrook. Interment was beside his wife in Gardiner's cemetery.

FINAL CROP CHEQUES

LETHBRIDGE, Dec. 21 (CP). — Cheques for $20,000, the final payment on Southern Alberta's 1936 sugar beet crop, were mailed yesterday. The payment, filling the growers' Christmas stockings, was for 10 cents a ton and brought the total price for the 1936 crop to $6.63 a ton.

CATCHES DEER BY HAND

BROCKVILLE, Ont., Dec. 21 (CP) —Fifteen-year-old James Henderson caught a small buck deer with his bare hands when the animal, evidently chased by dogs, ran into the yard of his farm home near here. After being rested and fed, the animal was turned over to game authorities to be released.

Germany's shortage of skilled labor is growing more serious.

The Rambling REPORTERS

BREACH OF BYLAW

Friends of M. J. Maher, former alderman, are lying in wait for him for alleged breach of a recent municipal bylaw forbidding the posting of bills on telephone, telegraph and other posts. Mr. Maher had charge of tacking up bills announcing the date of the nominations for the city's Separate School Board. John E. Sullivan's name appears on the cards as returning officer. Nominations will be on December 27 at St. Peter's School during the noon hour.

PATTULLO JUMPS CABINET TO NINE

VICTORIA, Dec. 21.— (CP.) — Membership of the British Columbia Porvincial Cabinet will be increased to nine with inclusion of W. J. Asselstine, Liberal member of the Legislature for Northern Atlin as Minister of Mines and of Trade and Industry.

Premier Pattullo announced yesterday the 47-year-old mine mill superintendent would be sworn in this week to head the trade and industry department established at the last Legislature session and to take over the mines portfolio from Hon. G. S. Pearson.

Mr. Pearson will remain as Minister of Labor and Provincial Fisheries Commissioner and will take over from Mr. Pattullo the portfolio of railways. The Premier is relinquishing the railways post because there are "so many important problems immediately confronting the province" that he wished to be relieved of departmental responsibility.

The new Trade and Industry Department will gather information intended to further industrial development and trade and seek to extend the province's tourist industry.

Born in Renfrew, Ont., Mr. Asselstine has been in British Columbia 20 years. He was elected to the Legislature first in 1933 from Atlin and returned in the provincial election last June.

Santa Claus Visits Children's Shelter

Unrestrained joy and merriment attended the annual Christmas tree tendered by the Children's Aid Society Board to the children at the Shelter on Monday night. First of a series of entertainments planned for the children in connection with the festive season, the program was arranged by Mr. and Mrs. Gerald McMillan, supervisors at the Shelter. It included the singing of carols, with Ashton Fife at the piano; and recitations by the little inmates of the institution. Among the children who featured on the program was little Barbara McMillan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. McMillan. President Rev. Dr. A. T. aBrr presided, and on behalf of the members of the board congratulated the supervisors on the excellence of the program and the hospitality that was dispensed. After Santa Claus had distributed gifts to the children from a gaily decorated Christmas tree, they and their elders were served with ice-cream and cake.

Sit-Down Strike Worried Manager?

THE power shut down which dislocated the city's industries for twenty-five minutes on Monday afternoon was due to some cause outside the control of Peterborough Utilities Commission, the Examiner learns. It was officially stated the trouble was in a high tension transmission line near Trenton, but the cause of the trouble was apparently undetermined. At one local factory, it was stated on good authority, the manager found himself on the top floor at the plant when the machinery suddenly stopped because of the effect in the power supply. Some good natured wag informed the boss, it was a sit down strike, and he fell for the yarn and immediately sought to find the cause of the supposed labor dispute.

AMBITIOUS THIEVES

DETROIT, Dec. 21 (CP).—Probably under the influence of pre-Christmas spirit, two young men attempted to steal a railway locomotive at suburban Ecorse yesterday. There seems to be no real motive for the crime, which failed when the engine crashed into two freight cars loaded with scrap iron.

German Youth Hostels entertained 52,800 Britons in 1936.

CHRISTMAS TREAT GREATLY ENJOYED

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MILLBROOK, Dec. 21.—The annual Christmas treat for the scholars and their parents of St. Thomas' Anglican Sunday School, was held in the Parish Hall on Thursday evening, with a large attendance, the platform having a gaily-trimmed tree, and the two long tables being seasonably decorated.

Eager-faced children, as well as the grown-ups, gathered about the tables promptly at 5.30 p.m., the teachers and officers serving the guests, and the substantial menu gave full satisfaction to healthy appetites.

The rector, Venerable Archdeacon William Simpson, took the chair for the program, the opening number being a song by the primary class, "Jesus Loves Me". Other numbers were a song, "Dear Santa Claus," by Bennie and Francis Handley; a recitation by Elizabeth Stinson; a chorus, "Jesus bids us shine." by seven girls of Miss McCorry's class, Rosemary and Anne Stinson, Irene and Helen Yelland, Mary Handley, and Ivy Fickling, each carrying a red lighted candle, which was blown out before the second selection, "Three little kittens."

"Better watch out," a song by Mrs. Handley's class of boys, was followed by selections by Melville McMahon, Arthur Fickling, Tom Howson, and Gordon Trick, "On Christmas Day" and "All the nice girls love a sailor"; Betty Smith sang, "The First Noel", and Mrs. Fallis' class of girls, Joy Howson, Betty Smith, Betty Bristow, Mary Raper, Lillian Fickling, and Marian Harkness, sang a Christmas chorus; Donald Harkness recited, and "Silent Night" was sung by Meegan Abbott, Maud Raper, Mary Smith, Ethel Brooks, Helen Ellsworth and Laureen Handley.

Three little girls, Rosemary Stinson, Ruth Forsyth, and Anne Stinson, sang "Away in a Manger," and the Misses Margaret Simpson and Bella McCorry played a piano duet, after which came the highlight of the evening, the arrival of Santa Claus (Henry Gray), with the distribution of gifts from the tree. In this pleasant task jolly St. Nicholas was assisted by Miss B. M. Turner, Mrs. L. J. Morton, and George Harkness, and every scholar, down to the babies on the cradle roll, as well as the teachers, was remembered, a bag of candies being added with each nicely-wrapped parcel.

Rev. Mr. Simpson then gave out the special awards won during the year for regular attendance, fifty Sundays being the requirement to receive a prize. One pupil, Helen Yelland, had not missed a Sunday in three years, and another, Lyle McMahon, in two years. The list receiving the coveted awards included: Mary Raper, Lillian Fickling, Joy Howson, Irene and Helen Yelland, Ivy Fickling, Melville and Lyle McMahon, Tommy Howson, Arthur Fickling, Donald Trick, Mervin Trick, Gordon Trick, John Fickling, Harold Trick and Joan Yelland.

The accompanists of the evening were Misses M. L. Collins and Margaret Simpson, the happy gathering was dispersed with the National Anthem.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

Slow trading in late stages on Winnipeg Grain Exchange to-day allowed wheat futures to ease from early gains of 3¼ to 1⅛ cents. Final values were 2⅛ to ⅝ cent higher. December $1.26, May $1.17⅝ and July $1.10⅞ to $1.11.

Strength at Chicago was a major influence where traders' attention was focused on the fact the United States wheat visible supply had decreased about 39,000,000 bushels in the last 12 weeks.

Sales of Canadian wheat for export were small though a moderate grade—400,000 bushels—was reported in United States wheats along with good trade in U.S. corn. Light intermarket spreading operations with Chicago accounted for most of other wheat transactions.

TO HOLD RACES IN KIMBERLY

Efforts are being made to revive horse racing in Kimberly, South Africa, once a colorful event in the heart of the diamond-mining country.

4TH BODY FOUND IN DEBRIS OF DAM

PORT STANLEY, Ont., Dec. 21 (CP)—Body of Arch Jones, Port Stanley, was recovered today from the submerged debris of a cofferdam that collapsed without warning Sunday night and caused the deaths of eight "muckers" inside.

Body of Jones was the fourth to be recovered by divers probing through the twisted and splintered wreckage beneath the surface of Kettle Creek where a highway bridge was being constructed when the disaster occurred.

Three other bodies, those of George Sealey, J. Chester Bisbee and Donald Beatty, were recovered by drivers yesterday. Four others have not yet been found.

Difficulty and danger was encountered by the divers in Kettle Creek. Sharp steel and wood punctured their heavy diving suits on several occasions. Jones' body was tangled in wire and had to be cut loose.

Mrs. Martin Kenny Has 15th Child

TORONTO, Dec. 21 (CP) — Mrs. Martin J. Kenny, contender for the Millar Will Baby Race fortune, gave birth to a stillborn baby girl yesterday. It was her 15th, child, nine of which are living.

Mrs. Kenny claims 12 of her children are eligible under terms of the will by which the Toronto mother who gave birth to the largest number of children in the 10 years following the death of Charles Vance Millar, Oct. 31, 1936, would receive the bulk of his estate. Of the 12 children she claims are eligible, seven are living.

Why Try To Sell More?

It is difficult to think of any good reason why the hours of sale in the Government liquor stores should be made greater on the four days preceding Christmas. It is very plain that if the hours of sale are made longer there will be more business done. Therefore we can see no reason for not arriving at the conclusion that the Liquor Control Board desires to sell more liquor during the Christmas season.

We have never heard of a public demand that the hours of sale should be made greater; our City Council did not pass a resolution suggesting that such a step should be taken; the county council did not suggest it. No organized opinion representing the citizens asked for it. So it must have been something which was decided on by the Liquor Control Board itself, and the only possible reason is a desire to do more business.

This paper finds it difficult to reconcile this extra and excess purchasing of liquor with the Christmas season. Basically we are approaching a celebration which is sacred, and if we pass through the season without recognizing that fact then we have missed the whole thing. If our Liquor Control Board can do nothing better than seek the greater sale of its wares through longer hours then the Board is not reflecting the feelings of the people of this province, and it might as well admit openly that the word "Control" has been stripped of all meaning. It has become an energetic sales agency.

Just One Voice

There is an open break between the Liberal government at Toronto and the Liberal government at Ottawa, and it has come by reason of the effect which our dealings with United States as carried on by the Federal government affect the province of Ontario and also the province of Quebec.

Premier Hepburn's charge is that the policy of the Ottawa government is fashioned to gain favor with United States at the expense of Ontario's rights. Ottawa would favor the Roosevelt program of deepening the St. Lawrance in the hope of securing better tariff arrangements with that country, and Premier Hepburn is opposed to the St. Lawrance scheme.

The correspondence dealing with these matters between Ottawa and Toronto has been made public by Premier Hepburn after Premier King announced it would be tabled when the House of Commons began its session in January. Just what is going to be done about it is hard to see at the moment. Neither the Ottawa House nor the Ontario Legislature is in session. One thing is certain—that in dealing with United States regarding any matter of trade or water power development, Canada should and must speak with one voice, and that voice must come from Ottawa.

He Found Out

Police in Canada have wanted L. C. Parmalee for a number of years. Seven years to be exact. And now he is back in this country, having completed a term of three years in California. Forgery was his business in California and forgery was his business in Ontario.

Mr. Parmalee, in returning to this province in the company of police officials made the statement: "Crime does not pay—this I have found out." He knows he has yet to face the charges waiting for him here, but announces he is through with that kind of business.

Of course that is an old saying about crime not paying, but it will do no harm to have it repeated several times. We read so much of crime, and there is tendency in certain quarters to glorify the criminal, so it is well to have one who has waded in the pool say "Crime does not pay."

As far as reasons or ethics go that may be a rather low one for keeping away from crime—simply that it does not pay. But it is still a formidable reason, and this time it comes from Parmalee who has done considerable experimenting before making that noted admission—"Crime does not pay."

Somewhat Of A Record

Dr. C. J. Hamilton of Cornwall, one of Canada's oldest practising physicians, is dead in his 83rd year. He practised his profession for 58 years and he was the son of a pioneer doctor of Huron County but that is not what is unique about Dr. Hamilton, for we are sure many good doctors have come from that county.

Dr. Hamilton's record was that of having brought into this world no fewer than 6,807 babies. To achieve this record in a community the size of Cornwall even in 58 years indicates that he was what in years past has been known as the family physician who brought into the world several generations all in the same house. The day has gone when the family physcian can hold such an enviable record or is looked upon for any more than one generation as the family doctor. There are specialists in the large cities who may achieve this record but there will be few doctors in the smaller communities who will ever reach this figure.

If those 6,807 people were gathered together in one community today they would make a pretty fair sized Ontario town, in fact they would just about equal the persent population of Preston; take in the total population of Cobourg and Norwood and equal that of Whitby and Lakefield.

Three years ago Dr. Hamilton sought to retire but the ageing doctor literally died in the harness. Families to which he had ministered for generations continued to call upon him and he never refused to answer a call day or night until a month ago when he was forced to remain in bed. Surely a notable record for any man to leave to humanity.

Our Own Way Is Better

Moscow announces officially there has been completed a trans-Siberian railway 1800 miles in length, and apparently that is the first announcement made regarding the line. To use a corresponding distance in this country it would mean running a railway line almost from Saint John, N.B., to Winnipeg, as that distance is 1894 miles.

It is beyond belief that we could build so long a line in this country without people knowing all about it. We would have stories of the progress being made printed in the paper, and at the beginning and end there would be some sort of function with a notable man making attempts at trying to pound in either the first or the last spike. And it is certain we would have pictures of it. In a general way we would be telling the entire world what we were about in the building of a railway.

But in Russia things are done in a different way. We read this line was started four years ago because Russia had not forgotten that in the last Czarist war with Japan there was difficulty enough moving troops and supplies from Moscow to the eastern front. And it has all been done without the world in general knowing anything about it.

We learn too that there would be no contract for the building of that railway in Russia; there would be no tenders asked for. The men required for the work were already on hand and they would not be paid a union rate of wages because they were political prisoners. It is announced that 10,000 of these prisoners who made good working records in the four years during which the road has been under construction have won their freedom. How many such prisoners must have been working on that piece of work the world is left to guess, and what the total of such prisoners must be is still a greater piece of guess work.

The whole picture does not commend to us the faith which some people seem to have in the soviet system of doing business. When a great public undertaking is launched it is with the utmost secrecy, and the necessary labor is secured by undoing the prison doors and taking out men who have been placed there because they had offended the government, and there must be thousands upon thousands of these political prisoners. We have a much deeper appreciation for the kind of freedom we enjoy in our own country.

What Holds Us Together?

There must be times when Hon. N. W. Rowell feels that his services to the people of Canada deserves a better reward than he has been accorded in the assigning to him of the task of ironing out Dominion and provincial relations. The mess that seems to be developing is enough to make even a public-spirited Canadian like the Chief Justice despair. With a Quebec-Ontario axis formed to combat western suggestions, battling between provincial and Federal administrations crowding the war news out of the headlines, and western representatives resentful of developments in the east, the whole situation is disturbing.

Out on the coast the cry of secession has even been raised. C. M. Watson, president of the Coldstream local of the British Columbia Fruit Growers' Association made a speech at Vernon a short time ago and declared that the fruit growers might urge that the coast province secede from the Dominion if the Federal government consented to the removal of the Imperial tariff preferences on Canadian fruit, or if United States fruit exporters were given easier access to the Canadian market.

"That sounds like very violent language," Mr. Watson said, "but frankly I can find no other words to sum up the present indignation of the apple growers of the Okanagan Valley."

No one of course will take this threat very seriously. There is very little danger of the Ottawa government doing anything to hurt the Canadian fruit industry and none at all of British Columbia making any serious move in the direction of secession. What makes talk of this kind disturbing is the attitude it indicates toward national responsibilities and citizenship. If what holds us together as a Dominion is made of such frail stuff that it depends upon a few tariff schedules then we are indeed in a bad way.

Putting On A New Ear

We noticed in the advertising matter of a New York store that in the toy department there was to be found the newer and better kind of Noah's Ark, where all the little animals which live in the house are made of some sort of rubber composition. The advertising man claims "They will not break."

People who sell such things informed us the Noah's Ark had been little in demand in recent years and there are stores where it is not stocked at all. The trend is toward mechanical toys; children want something which will move, and of course the little animals from Noah's Ark never moved at all. They seemed to do their full duty if they merely stood still without toppling over.

We were informed too that there are children today of fair age who had never seen a Noah's Ark. All of which seems strange because Noah and his Ark and the little wooden animals was at one time classed as standard equipment at Christmas.

One might almost wish the process of making them from rubber or some substance had been perfected some time ago, because mending the ones made from wood was sufficient to tax the ingenuity of a skilled man and entirely too much for the father in whom there was little skill of any kind.

Noah's Ark always had two little wooden elephants, two pigs and two of many other kinds of animals. And gay colored they were, possibly whittled out by hand by some patient toy maker in a far-remote hut. He had done his best, but he had not reckoned on long distance and hard usage. It may never have occurred to him that the elephant's big ear might get cracked and come off. But such things used to happen, and they generally came to pass in the week after Christmas.

We do not know how many men can put a new ear on a little wooden elephant. It requires quite a different technique to putting up a new pantry shelf or fixing the window in the bedroom so it will not rattle. It means working to small dimensions and with an exquiste taste and love of proportion which is the gift of relatively few people. Especially men. Perhaps you remember having tried it? The little son was somewhat grieved because the elephant's ear had come off. He was then of the age when he believed father could do almost anything. Later on he probably found that father had his limitations, but that is another matter.

Yes, the little wooden elephant had to have a new ear. And it had to be whittled out of a piece of wood and it had to bear at least some slight resemblance to the other ear so the other elephant would recognize it as its partner in life. Some men are good whittlers, but most men are not. Then it was necessary to have glue or perhaps a small tack to put that ear in place and make certain it would remain fixed to its moorings. At best it always looked strange. It stood out like a small porch where it should have folded over gracefully like an elephant's ear does and must. The little elephant which had been repaired looked like one who could claim he had been wounded in the house of a friend. When he was herded or paraded with all the other anmals we always had the fear that the little wooden Noah would refuse to have anything to do with him and would regard him as an utter stranger that should be left outside when the door was closed for the night. Now that the little animals are being made of some material which will not break the Noah's Ark should once more begin to find its way back in the Christmas trade. We feel too that the little elephant with the flapping ear which will not break will have a happier and more pleasant length of days than his forebear who had ears of wood which cracked off and required rebuilding.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Now that the Liberals are leading in Rumania it will be interesting to see how Mr. Hepburn will get along with that branch of the party.

Mr. Hepburn's charge that Premier King has no use for Ontario no doubt has been carefully filed away by the Conservative board of strategy for use in the next election.

TOO LATE

(By A. R. K.)

¶ I'm just a little puzzled now, there are three wrinkles in my brow, there may be six or eight; this Christmas business has me flat, I don't know just where I am at, nor can I get it straight.

¶ I never hear from Cousin Pete, I couldn't name his town or street, he never writes to me; and Pete lives many miles away, I never go with him and stay, one chap I never see.

¶ I send to him no birthday card, I never help him rake his yard, for we live miles apart; I've thought I should be friends with him, but never struck out to begin, and never made a start.

¶ Today a goodly parcel came, and plain upon it was my name, likewise the proper street; and it had neckties red and green, the finest socks I've ever seen, to warm my bunioned feet.

¶ And should I scamper down the street, to get some things to send to Pete, to keep the giving straight; for he lives far away from here, and things move slow this time of year, my stuff would get there late.

¶ I wish I'd thought of Cousin Pete, and found his town likewise his street, that's how things ought to be; for Pete has done the thing I know, I should have thought of long ago—so Pete's one up on me.

THE COURT CIRCULAR is the King's own newspaper in which the Royal Family's official doings are recorded. It does not aim at being always complete and often purposely omits purely private references.

Every afternoon it is written by Brigadier - General Sir Hill Child, Master of the King's Household. At tea-time it is taken to the King, who reads it through, checks it and perhaps makes an alteration.

When the final draft has been initialled by King George it is typed by a male clerk and sent out to the news agencies. They pass it on to all newspapers except The Times Daily Telegraph which are permitted to collect their own copies from the Palace.

No blunders are permissible in the Court Circular and every name and rank in it is checked three times before the copy is issued. When the Court is at Sandringham or Balmoral and the Circular has to be sent by telegraph every word is double-checked by clerks in the Royal post office in order to eliminate errors.

An astute piece of journalism was responsible for an alteration in the reading of the Court Circular a few years ago. The late editor Lightfoot of the Windsor Times noticed one Sunday that the Circular stated "the Queen attended Divine Service" and no mention was made of the King.

This aroused Mr. Lightfoot's curiosity. Scenting a story he began making inquiries and found that King George V was ill again. So as to prevent a similar leakage in the future the court officials decided to change the wording and ever since Monday's Court Circular has stated simply "Divine Service was held . . . etc."

Emerging the Clyde.

WORK IS to begin on an early date upon the deepening and widening of the Clyde River in Scotland in preparation for the passage to the sea of the new Cunard liner No. 552. This is the first step in a gigantic scheme of development now planned which will involve the expenditure of almost $100,000,000 and will consolidate the Clyde's position, not only as the world's premier shipbuilding centre but also as one of the world's greatest commercial and industrial areas. Plans have been made for the greatest development schemes which Scotland has ever known.

Included is the development of the 300-acre Shieldhall estate. It is proposed to construct almost five miles of entirely new quays and wharfage. The river, at this point, will be widened and deepened into a huge basin which will permit of ships of almost any size being manoeuvred with ease.

Two great new basins will also be built below the present King George Dock and a number of auxiliary graving docks, quays and basins will be constructed, together with sheds and storage accommodation.

From Shieldhall to the sea the river is being widened and improved at every point. The channel of the stream will be deepened throughout by two feet, bends will be straightened out and banks will be widened by the removal of millions of tons of earth.

Big developments are also taking place below Clydebank where a number of new factories and docks for oil tankers have been constructed. Further down the river at Dumbarton a great new aircraft factory which has been under construction for more than a year will give employment to 2,000 skilled men, and work will also start shortly upon a new $15,000,000 munitions plant near Bishopton.

Potato Peel Cork.

ACCORDING to Dr. Hans Mayer, director of the Research Institute in Berlin, the time is not far distant when people will walk on potato peel and also use it to stop up wine and other bottles. Dr. Mayer is a "substitute" expert. His latest discovery is a special chemical treatment of potatoes by which their peel is turned into a material which has acquired the natural qualities of cork.

Ninety-three years old, Watson has been figuring before circus and theatre audiences for ninety-years. He was born in a circus and made his debut as a rider at the age of three. Afterwards he became an acrobatic rider in the circus of the famous Lord George Sanger. Then he had the misfortune to break both his legs in an accident and for the last forty years he has been staging his present act of performing dogs. Lindsay Rotary Club Aids Tourist Trade

Has No Desire to Harm Any Other Organized Effort; Spends Its Own Funds to Interest People in U. S.

EDITOR Examiner: Sir—In the December 15th issue of your paper there appeared an account of the annual meeting of the Kawartha Lakes and Haliburton Tourist Association, held in Peterborough on December 14th, in which Mayor H. D. Logan of Lindsay is reported to have said that a faction backed by the Lindsay Rotary Club is doing its best to sink the Kawartha Lakes and Haliburton Tourist Association. We do not know of any party or parties who have any intention or desire to achieve any such purpose as intimated in the report and we wish to state emphatically that the Lindsay Rotary Club have no quarrel with the Kawartha Lakes and Haliburton Tourist Association. We have never backed any so-called faction for any purpose and have no intention of doing so.

Our Club published a 48 page Tourist Guide in 1935 and we distributed 12,000 copies, a large portion of which was sent to the United States. The cost of this booklet was $840, and of this amount the town of Lindsay contributed $50. In 1936 and 1937 we published a smaller pamphlet as the funds available would not permit as elaborate a booklet as that of 1935. During the present year we distributed 35,000 of these pamphlets. We are quoting these figures to show the extent of our activities in advertising this district and also to prove that we have interested ourselves in this work at least two years before the Kawartha Lakes and Haliburton Tourist Association was formed. For the past four years we have also maintained an Information Bureau in Lindsay. We have accumulated in our files useful information regarding the actual accommodation of our tourist resorts and are thus able to give the transient tourists guidance and assistance.

We have evidence that the advertising we have done in the past three years has been of benefit to this community and we felt that we would continue our activities if the Town of Lindsay and adjacent municipalities wished us to do so. We believe this work to be a community service. Any small profit we have made has been derived from private advertising and was used entirely in our Crippled Children's Work.

We would be obliged if you will publish this letter in your paper as we wish to correct the erroneous and unfair impression given in the report mentioned above.

Yours truly,
J. E. HAMILTON.

He Calls It "New Light From Old Lamps"

Dr. A. T. Barr Issues New Volume of Sermons; Works Is Dedicated "To My Friend James Dutton"

REV. DR. A. T. BARR does not believe in leaving people in doubt. A book which he has just issued "New Light From Old Lamps" after a note of dedication "To my friend James Dutton" states plainly "Another volume of sermons! Is there any justification for such?" So one knows all about it from the beginning, a book of sermons by the minister of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church in Peterborough. Nor is there any apology offered for bringing out this volume of sermons, nor is any needed. The writer fears the world is in a muddled condition, but he does not believe the Gospel has yet uttered its last word of assistance for a troubled world. He is certain the solution and cure for it all is in the Gospel and particularly in its application.

As though beating back to find firm ground from which to work Dr. Barr contends there is a divine pan for all things, and he states it this way: "When we consider man, is it conceivable, then, that God would bring into existence countless millions of people, with no plans concerning them, no guidance to give them! Can we think of God as being so unconcerned about those whom he has exalted to the place of being at the summit of His creative acts, as to leave them to themselves, to sink or swim as may be."

The answer of the author to the question which he himself has propounded is in part: "God permits us to follow our own devices, truly; but he wishes us to attain to our best, to achieve the highest happiness. He is ready to receive any individual one of us as soon as we are ready to fall in line with life's main purpose, as designated by Him."

In another discourse on the subject "Nothing New Under the Sun" Dr. Barr states that nearly all the questions raised today which we look upon as strange, dangerous or startling, are actually old ones. They have come before in some form or other and most of them have gone their way. He argues solidly "That which was true at the beginning of time has been true through the centuries and is still true today. In other words there is a norm of truth which has never changed since time began, no matter what sphere it may enter; what has once been true is eternally true."

Admitting there may be some difficulty in grasping the full force of such a statement, the author submits this by way of illustration:

"For example, if you sweeten your coffee with arsenic it will kill you just as surely whether you did it by mistake or by wilful deliberate purpose. The truth is that there is a distinct quality in arsenic that is destructive of the human body; it was so created in the beginning, has so reacted with the passing years, and reacts the same way today. Again, the sovereign laws of God enter in; nor will they be suspended at any time to accommodate our disobedience, indolence, ignorance or mistakes."

Dr. Barr's volume of sermons has evidently not been written to arouse controversy over beliefs or to arouse bitterness over points of contention which at best amount to little. Rather does he seek to point always to eternal truth and to plead for its application to the proolems of men and nations today. It is not smothered in the profundity which discourages the average reader, but rather is the material throughout plain diet of a wholesome variety. One can well read the volume with interest and with substantial profit. —K.

Old Time Stormy Winters Are Recalled

When Three Locomotives Failed to Buck Drifts And Ended Up By Rolling Down Embankment

(From the Kitchener Record.)

THE first siege of winter came as a sharp reminder that "Our Lady of the Snows" has by no means deserted us. Some sections of the province reported 30 inches of snowfall, while we in this favored district escaped with a comparatively light blanket of "the beautiful." When a high wind gets to stirring up 30 inches of new-fallen snow you have what can be termed an old-fashioned blizzard.

Deep drifts on the highways and byways played hob with modern transportation facilities. Schools were closed in some places due to impassable roads, while some areas reported food supplies running low. The unusual part about the whole thing is the early visitation of the kind of Wintry weather we are more likely to have in January and February. Had such a heavy snowfall come in the midwinter months when there usually are deep cuts to be filled by drifting snow, then the transportation tie-up would have presented a problem of far greater proportions. Before the advent of the motor car we used to go over the top of the snowbanks instead of cutting through them. Now that we have changed over from runners to wheels, a storm lasting for a few days threatens to disrupt seriously the flow of essential services.

Some of us can recall winters when even the old reliable—the steam locomotive—had to bow to the Storm King. We can distinctly remember trudging a mile or so out of Listowel along the Stratford-Palmerston line to see three locomotives lying on their side, still coupled together. The steam monsters had been pushing a snowplow through hard crusted snow and in taking a fast run at another huge drift, they jumped the tracks and rolled down an embankment.

On another occasion when a hard crust had formed on a deep layer of snow, railway traffic was almostly completely tied up. A number of towns ran low in supplies. There was no acute bread shortage because most housewives baked their own bread at that time. Some householders in the various towns had a cow or two and that helped to take care of the milk supply. But here was the most serious part of it all. Walkerton hotels, we recall, ran out of whiskey. A farmer was engaged to come to Berlin (as this city was then called) with a team of horses and a sleigh to get a supply of "firewater" that would tide the boys over until railway traffic got back to a normal stage. No doubt the Walkerton tipplers considered that trip the slowest on record.

If an aeroplane had been available in those days, the farmer would probably not have been asked to undertake the journey. This newest mode of transportation puts us a jump or two ahead of the oldtimers in battling isolation by wintry blasts.

A Bible Message For To-day . . . .

THE MIGHTY God, even the Lord, hath spoken, and called the earth from the rising of the sun unto the going down thereof. Out of Zion the perfection of beauty, God hath shined.

Make a joyful noise unto the Lord, all ye lands. Serve the Lord with gladness: come before his presence with singing. Know ye that the Lord He is God: it is He that hath made us, and not we ourselves; we are His people, and the sheep of His pasture. Enter into His gates with thanksgiving, and into his courts with praise: be thankful unto Him, and bless His name. For the Lord is good; His mercy is everlasting; and His truth endureth to all generations.—Ps. 1, 1, 2; c, 1-5.

To the Editor

ON VOTING DAY

Editor Examiner:

Sir: While in accord with your correspondent "Parkus" in his criticism on Aldesman Walter Stocker's attitude concerning the officials and employees of our city, the question is —are two wrongs going to make one right? Ald. Stocker is a born horticulturist as evidenced by the result of his supervision in our parks and gardens also the grounds and out-buildings at the Isolation Hospital. The inside walls and floors of these buildings are free from dirt and dust as the best kept homes in our city; every tool is wiped and dried before being put in its place. This attention gives them the appearance when bought at the store, also gives the maximum of wear with the lowest cost in price.

Personally I have little patience with Ald. Stocker due to his hounding and fault finding, but can't refrain from giving credit where credit is due. It would be ill advised of any voter who is in the same frame of mind as myself to cut off his nose to spite his face by going to the poll to register their vote with a biased mind.

CHRISTMAS SNOW.

(Ottawa Journal)

THESE BRIGHT, sparkling days, these clear sharp nights, are of the genuine Canadian Winter. The air is clean and cold, the ground is covered by a blanket of snow not yet soiled by the season's grime and the spires and chimneys stand out against a background that might have been copied from an English Christmas card.

It is the sort of weather we associate with Christmas, in fact. Done for the time being with dampness and rain, with sloppy sidewalks and puddled pavements, our spirits rise as we see the landscape robed in spotless white, as we breathe air that is like chilled wine. We are in a mood to play with the fantasy of Santa Claus, and to make the spirit of Santa Claus active amongst us.

This nero weather is good for us all, we think. Canadians used to try to conceal our meteocological facts, but not any more is this done. We try now to make a profit out of our snow by telling the world about our unbeaten facilities for Winter sports. And for the residents it is a healthy, invigorating season, it suits our tradition of Christmas, and we would not, if we could, have it otherwise.

Flying In 37th Year Grades British Second To None

All-Around Increase In Air Defence Results In Remarkable Year

By Edwin S. Johnson
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

LONDON, Dec. 21 (CP).—Without fanfare and in the midst of pressing and unprecedented defence preparations, British airmen have written another chapter of glorious achievement in aviation's march of progress during the past 12 months.

Most outstanding has been Britain's rise from a second-class air rating to a position where her air force is regarded as second to none among the powers of the world.

Little has been disclosed about the actual might of the nation's air wing although latest reports estimate 1,750 first-line machines will be available for home defence by April, 1939. This figure is materially increased by craft attached to the fleet air arm.

Factories throughout the land are working overtime supplying the needs of the stepped-up construction program and during the past two years the total strength of all ratings in the R.A.F. has more than doubled.

Since April 1, 1935, applications from 16,800 candidates for short-service commissions have been considered and 3,850 pilots enrolled. The number who have already completed flight training or in the course of training, exceeds 3,500. During the same period 25,200 airmen have entered the special trades such as flight mechanics, armourers, fitters, photographers and wireless operators.

Meanwhile technicians and engineers have contrived to produce machines which from the standpoint of speed, range and general performance would have defied belief only a few years ago.

Much Achieved.

Fortified with this equipment, Britons contributed the following exploits to the year's record of achievements:

Flight-Lieut. M. J. Adam recovered the world's altitude record, reaching a "ceiling" of 53,937 feet in a Bristol monoplane last June.

Ten crossings of the North Atlantic with giant flying boats—experimental flights as forerunners of a regular passenger and air-mail service.

Extension of the "all-Red" Empire service to India, Egypt and South Africa.

Jean Batten's solo flight from Darwin, Australia, to England, late in October, in five days, 18 hours, 15 minutes. This clipped 14 hours, 10 minutes from the record previously held by Jim Broadbent.

England to Cape Town and back in five days, 17 hours, 28 minutes, in November, by Flying Officer A. E. Clouston and Mrs. Betty Kirby-Green. They bettered the previous "shuttle" record by 33½ hours.

These are some of the best past performances. The future program calls for further attempts at conquest.

A special unit under Wing-Commander C. R. Gayford has been formed to make an attack on the long-distance flight record of 6,650 miles at present held by Russian airmen.

According to present plans three specially-fitted planes will take off from England some time next spring on an attempted non-stop flight to Sydney, Australia — a distance of approximately 7,300 miles.

Until the Russians established the new record last summer, non-stop flying honors were jointly held by Gayford and his companion, Squadron-Leader G. E. Nicholetts. In February, 1933, they flew from Cranwell, England, to Walvis Bay, Southwest Africa, a distance of 5,341 miles.

Largest 'Plane

This shapeless appearing hulk on which expert mechanics are lavishing their attention will one day be the largest land transport aeroplane built. It is the Imperial Airways new machine, "Ensign," gradually approaching completion at the factory at Hamble, Hampshire, Eng. Its length will be 110 feet, its wing span 123 feet and the machine will weigh 20 tons. Forty-two passengers and a crew of five will be carried at a speed approximately 200 miles per hour. This is a head-on view of the fuselage.

Will Attack Record.

The Vickers "Wellesley," a type of plane which has been going into the R.A.F. squadrons during the past year, has been selected to tackle the non-stop record.

Commenting on this project the London Times said editorially: "The Wellesley represents only one of the contributions to the cause of wider radius of action. If it should be successful in the spring voyages, it will have served a most useful purpose as a sample of progress, and especially as a reassurance to British territories overseas which might need in emergency to look to Great Britain for help."

The land speed record is also being considered. But the task set has been made more formidable since Capt. Wurster of the Bavarian Aviation Works, recently attained a speed of 379 miles an hour.

It has been suggested by aviation authorities that the air ministry might select the new 'Spitfire' fighter plane, should decision be reached to go after the German mark.

The present world record speed for any type of aircraft is 440.6 miles an hour, established by the Italian airman Agello in a seaplane. Since the Schneider Cup races for seaplanes were abandoned, Britain has made no attempt to regain the record.

GIFT OFFERINGS ARE PRESENTED

(Examiner Correspondence)

LAKEFIELD, Dec. 21.—The members of the Women's Missionary Society of Lakefield United church met at the home of Mrs. E. J. Millage Wednesday evening, to spend a social time together and to present their Annual Love Gift offering.

A large number were present and received a cordial welcome from Mrs. Millage and her mother, Mrs. Waterbury. Mrs. Kelly was appointed mistress of ceremonies an announced a sing-song of Christmas hymns in which all heartily joined. A very interesting reading was given by Mrs. Deck, "The Inn Keeper's Regrets." A pleasing Christmas song was rendered by Mrs. Hull.

Guessing games and proverbs broke down any feeling or reserve and the joyousness of the Christmas season soon became evident in brilliant jokes and repartee.

A delicious lunch was served by the committee and the love gift was received by Miss Sanderson. It amounted to nearly forty dollars, but is not sufficient to wipe out the deficit in the 1937 allocation of $485.00. It is hoped that many of the absent members will forward their love gift to Miss Sanderson as soon as possible.

A very hearty vote of thanks was extended to Mrs. Millage for her kind hospitality.

The Sunday School hall was gay with Christmas trees, shaded lights, and the attractively decorated supper tables, around which the youngsters enjoyed all sorts of good things, served to them by Mrs. George Lockington, with the teachers of the Junior Department and a number of the ladies of the congregation.

The youngsters entered enthusiastically a games competition which took up the first part of the party, and for which prizes were won by Iris Davis and Harold Dunford. Arrangements for the party were in charge of Dr. C. M. Lawrence, the superintendent; Harry Taylor and George Lockington, who were responsible for a well-organized and thoroughly enjoyable entertainment. A sing-song concluded the evening, with the Benediction pronounced by the Rev. Dr. A. T. Barr.

Several Canadians are attending the school. It specializes in cooking and the household arts that go to the making up of a home and the education of a perfect hostess.

THE STARS SAY . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLLE

For Wednesday, December 22.

This should be a day of great excitement and commotion, according to the lunar transits. There may be a sudden change, removal or journey, either of which would be of benefit and of far-reaching influence, if managed with calmness and discretion and not turmoil, quarrels and confusion. Employment, business and finances are well fortified, but in all be cautious and discreet.

Those whose birthday it is are on the eve of a year of surprising progress and opportunity, with sudden change and other surprising developments. But these decided benefits would be nullified by indulgence in quarrels or reckless and impetuous behavior.

A child born on this day may be efficient, original and independent, with many opportunities for signal success in life. But it should have early training and discipline regarding its impetuous, quarrelsome and wayward nature. It should have a sound business training, although possibly in unusual lines.

Salvation Army Christmas Treat

An enthusiastic crowd of over eight hundred gave Santa Claus a rousing welcome when he visited the Salvation Army Temple Monday evening during the annual Christmas entertainment of the Young People of the Army.

Sergeant-Major G. Leggott was the evening's chairman for an exceptionally original and well-planned program, which commenced shortly after seven o'clock, with selections by the Boys' Band, and filled two packed hours of interest and entertainment.

The opening songs and prayer were conducted by Sergeant-Major Leggott. For the attractive first number by the Band of Love, in charge of Mrs. Lashbrooke "A Merry Christmas" was spelled from a darkened platform by means of a light flashing in turn behind each letter, held by a member who called the letter as it was illuminated. Two other pretty and unusual numbers were "The Five Points of the Star," in which a large silver star was used, and 'Decorating the Christmas Tree,' when members of Miss Arbie Bowes' class decorated a tree, with a suitable little recitation said as each ornament was placed in position.

"The Christmas Story" told by means of shadow play was the last number on the program. While members of the Young People's Legion acted the various scenes, Mrs. Ronald Routly read the Bible passages so illustrated.

Santa arrived amidst thunderous applause, carrying instead of his traditional bag, a huge and overloaded stocking, and made his way to the platform, while the Young People's Singing Company introduced him with, "Sing a Song of Christmas, a Stocking Full of Toys." Each child received a gift from the large tree on the platform, distributed by Santa, assisted by the teachers of the various classes. Bags of candy and fruit were given out as the children filed out. It was estimated that eight hundred filled the Temple, overflowing into the vestibule, with many unable to find a corner even there.

The program was as follows: "A Merry Christmas," Band of Love; recitation, Ross Woodcock; "Away in a Manger," Baby Class Rhythm Band; "My Christmas Recitation," Nancy Shadgett; Christmas Finger play, Miss Lizzie Grieves' Primary Class; "How I Know," recitation, Gordon Thomas; "The Five Points of the Star," Miss Ruth Boorman's class; "A Merry Christmas Everybody," Kathie Craig; "Little German Band," Youth Group; "Goodday Everybody," Wallace Panter; "Christmas Eve and Christmas Day," Miss Edith Jones' Primary Class; "What Do You Think?" recitation, Barbara Rose; dialogue, Corps Cadets; "I Wonder How It Works," recitation, Donald Barringer; "Decorating the Christmas Tree," Miss Arbie Bowes' Class; "The Crippled Dolly," recitation, by Sunbeam Audrey Purdy; dialogue, Life-Saving Guards; "Go Tell the Story," Miss Irene Jones' Primary Class; "Wide Awake," recitation, Gerald Jones; "Christmas Dinner," Mrs. Barringer's Class; "Glory in the Highest," The Young People's Singing Company; "The Christmas Story," Young People's Legion.

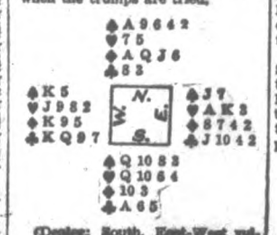
BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

REVERSING THE ORDER

RUNNING a side suit before starting the trumps reverses the usual procedure. On certain hands it is absolutely essential to do so, as a means of discarding losers in another suit, if the opponents are virtually certain to get in the lead when the trumps are tried.



(Dealer: South, East-West vulnerable.)

North and South reached a contract of 4-Spades on this deal with South the declarer. After two passes, North bid 1-Diamond, expecting his partner's response would probably be 1-Heart. However, South bid 1-Spade, which North raised, and after a bid of three by South, North took the contract to four.

The club K was led and South won with the ace. It was immediately evident that the contract would be current with that lead as a trump would be lost, two hearts, one club and possibly a diamond. The declarer, however, decided to go after the diamonds first before he lost control with trumps. He finessed the diamond 10, which held, then the diamond J and on the diamond A discarded one club. He then led the diamond Q, discarding his last club, and West trumped.

West's club return was ruffed by South, who then led a small spade to the A, which picked up West's K. Two heart tricks in addition to the diamond that was ruffed were the only tricks taken by the opponents.

Tomorrow's Problem

(Dealer: South, North-South vulnerable.)

How should South play to make his contract of 7-Clubs?

Demand Board Be Abolished

CAPE TOWN, Dec. 21—(CP). — This city has experienced a butter famine, relieved in some degree by importations from New Zealand, but the women blame the Dairy Control Board, saying the shortage and high price were entirely due to the actions and lack of foresight of the board.

"The board has proven its inefficiency," said Mrs. K. Spilhaus of the National Council of Women, and we must repeat our demand for its abolition when our national general meeting is held in April. The butter, at present being exported, is exported at the cost of the consumer. It is no good to have plenty of food in the country if the people cannot pay for it.

"It is the duty of the government to feed, clothe and house its people in order to build up a fine and strong nation. A beginning has been made with housing and the government should also attend to the question of feeding the people."

Mrs. A. B. Low, president of the Cape Town branch, said she could not understand why the chairman of the Dairy Control Board, E. G. Hardy, "after all this muddle about the butter," had been made chairman of the Marketing Board.

Inferiority Complex Can be Overcome

"Why am I such a dud?" Alice wails. "Am I so lacking in looks? Why can't I be at ease with people?"

It's your inferiority complex—not your looks—that sets you back. You can overcome it by the simple rules of psychology. First, determine to be self-confident. Second, choose a model—your popular friend Margie, for instance. Let her beaming smile and warm interest in people be your inspiration. Third, learn to do some one thing exceptionally well, such as baking the best apple pie in the neighborhood.

Just a few of the valuable suggestions from our 32-page booklet on curing self-consciousness and other inferiority complexes. Analyze your particular case. Learn to deal easily with stubbornness, jealousy, snobbishness, too.

Send 15c in coins for your copy of Overcoming Self-consciousness and Other Inferiority Complexes to Home Service Dept. (name of paper), 60 Front St. W., Toronto, Ont. Be sure to write plainly your name and address and the name of hat booklet.

Send 15c in coins for your copy of OVERCOMING SELF-CONSCIOUSNESS AND OTHER INFERIORITY COMPLEXES to The Examiner's Home Service, Peterborough. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS and the NAME of booklet.

WARNE'S DIAMOND HALL

FAREWELLS SAID TO A. D. RUNIONS BY ROTARY CLUB

The Peterborough Rotary Club said farewell to President Arthur D. Runions and acclaimed his successor, James Dutton, at a most enjoyable Christmas party at the Empress Hotel on Monday, at which wives of the members were the guests of Past President Chris Graham. The affair was featured by the presentation of a past president's medal to Rotarian Runions, of a dressing-gown to Past President Graham and of bouquets of flowers to Mrs. Runions, Mrs. Graham and to Mrs. F. H. Dobbin, mother of Rotarian Ross L. Dobbin, who was an honored guest.

Christmas carols, including "Adeste Fidelis," "Hark the Herald Angels Sing," and "Silent Night" were sung under the direction of Rotarian John Smith. Rotarian Dave Diplock sang very acceptably the Christmas number, "Night of Nights," his fine tenor voice being admirably displayed, and in tribute to Mrs. Dobbin, Rotarian Mack Gordon gave a very effective rendition of "Mother Machree," with the gathering joining in the chorus. Rotarian James Juby presented Mrs. Dobbin with a bouquet of flowers.

The presentation of the past president's medal was made by Vice-President James Dutton, who pointed out that President Runions had exemplified in the highest degree the principles of Rotary in the manner in which he had served as a member of the club and as president, and in the very fine work he had done as Ontario agricultural representative. While every member of the club regretted the fact that President Runions had to leave Peterborough, they rejoiced in the promotion that had been given him, and wished him every success at Kemptville.

Mrs. Runions was presented with a bouquet by Past President Fred L. Roy.

Both the recipients made appropriate replies, Mr. Runions expressing his appreciation of the co-operation that had been accorded him, and Mrs. Runions stating that they were leaving Peterborough with deep regret and extending the hospitality of their Kemptville home to the Rotarians and their wives.

The gathering sang "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows" and gave three cheers for the president and his wife.

Rotarian Fred Roy made the presentation of a dressing gown to Chris. Graham and a bouquet of roses to Mrs. Graham. In so doing he referred to the work done by Mr. Graham and the very fine service that the Rotary Club ha dalways received at the Empress. Rotarian Roy said that he had attended a good many Rotary Clubs and in none of them had he found service such as was enjoyed by the Peterborough Club.

Rotarian and Mrs. Graham acknowledged the presentations in appropriate speeches.

Mrs. W. R. Morris, on behalf of the ladies, expressed their hearty appreciation of Mr. Graham's hospitality. It was not the first time, she said, that they had benefitted by similar kindness.

Before the meeting adjourned, Rotarian James Dutton was introduced as the new president of Rotary and the gavel was handed over to him by Past President Runions. The new chairman said that in taking over the duties of the position he was sure that he would have the co-operation of the members and in that way much could be accomplished.

LOYALISTS CORNER REBELS IN TERUEL

MADRID, Dec. 21—(AP). — An entirely surrounded and greatly outnumbered Spanish insurgent garrison held the city of Teruel to-day in the face of the heaviest government attack on the central front since the drive on Brunete last July.

Last insurgent defences outside the city, the tip of a spearhead thrusting at government communication lines between Madrid and Valencia, were destroyed in three days of siege.

Teruel was cut off from the rest of insurgent Spain. Government forces thwarted repeated insurgent attempts to smash through and relieve the garrison.

(Dispatches to Hendaye, on the Franco-Spanish frontier, said the city's inhabitants took refuge in miles of tunnels under the winding streets).

During the last five days government forces striking at Teruel have captured 20 outlying towns or insurgent positions and have sliced 330 square miles from insurgent territory.

(Hendaye dispatches said Escandon Hill on the Teruel-Valencia highway—long a key point in General Franco's Teruel defences and the closest insurgent outpost to Valencia—was captured by government troops yesterday.

(An insurgent communique stated government attacks south of Teruel were repulsed with heavy losses but gave no details of actions in other sectors.)

Fall of Teruel would be a heavy blow to insurgents, who were caught napping there when the government took the initiative.

Santa Claus Visits C.G.E. Boys And Girls

Santa Claus made his first visit to Peterborough several nights ago by special train, but taking advantage of the snow that had fallen since that time he used the reindeer when he visited the Collegiate auditorium there to be greeted by 1300 children at the annual C.G.E. Christmas tree on Saturday afternoon. (1) Santa in his reindeer sleigh; (2) Ronald and Frankie Van Brandenburg, 177 Sherbrooke street examine the bags of candies they received from Santa Claus; (3) "Waiting for daddy" who has presumably got lost in the big crowd inside the collegiate building; (4) Santa Claus is seen chatting with some of his young subjects in the Collegiate auditorium.

City Solicitor Is Requested To Continue Until February At Final Meeting Of Council

Garbage Collection Agreement Is Extended Until April 1

The remnant of the city council who saw the old municipal year out at a special meeting last night made up a scant quorum for as strange a session, in one sense at least, as the forum of Peterborough's citizenry has ever witnessed.

Four of the aldermen, now ex-aldermen, were missing by the resignation exit, Mr. Hamilton to qualify as a mayoralty candidate; Mr. Sloan gone months ago to a position as assistant assessor; Malcolm McIntyre retiring upon his long record as a public servant after an exceptionally busy year directing the garbage collection department; and Hon. G. N. Gordon, abandoning the second year of the two year term, to which he was elected twelve months ago, to enter the lists again as a candidate.

Mayor Macdonald presided last night with the following Aldermen present: Cotton, Blocker, Wilson, Glover, Dutton and Juby. And of those six all but Alderman Wilson will likely be candidates after the nominations next Thursday evening.

Odds and Ends Session

Several loose ends of the year's business were gathered up last night, leaving the council's desk in order as Mayor Macdonald terminated his administration.

A bylaw was passed extending by an agreement with Herb J. Withers his term for the collection of ashes and garbage from January 1 to April 1, 1938. This arrangement was made necessary by the council's enquiry into the motorization of the department by the purchase of motor trucks to be operated entirely by the city. As the time for arriving at a decision approached the end of the year the council decided to transfer the problem to their successors, and as several months would be required for the new council to examine all the conditions, Mr. Withers fell in with the plans and will carry on for at least three months. After that his contract may be extended for the rest of the year if the motorization scheme is not approved.

The area from which garbage is collected was enlarged by the addition of Centre Street, the south side of Caddy Street, the north side of McFarlane Avenue and the house at 64 Aberdeen Avenue.

Trustee Resigns

Max R. Sloan tendered his resignation as a member of the Nicholls Hospital Trust to which he was appointed as an alderman. His letter was referred to the finance committee.

The Dominion Railway Board extended from November 27 until May 31 the time for installing a wig-wag system at George and Romaine Streets.

Applications from Jacob Low, E. F. Borbridge and W. R. J. Chandler for the position of city solicitor were referred to the committee of the whole council.

Mayor Is Chairman

Mayor Macdonald was appointed chairman of the property committee succeeding ex-Ald. McIntyre until the new council is organized.

His Worship was authorized to have published in the Examiner an advertisement fully explaining to the electors the procedure for nominating and electing a council for 1938 in the unusual circumstances that have arisen out of the multiple aldermanic resignations.

Solicitor's Retirement

City Clerk Armstrong called the attention of the council that City Solicitor J. R. Corkery had requested that his resignation take effect on December 31, and the committee of the whole council recommended that his wish be acceded to. In that event, Mr. Armstrong said, the city would be without the services of a solicitor until February .

"I don't want to embarrass the city," Mr. Corkery said as he agreed to continue his duties until February.

The committee's resolution included the following tribute to Mr. Corkery: "And that a letter be sent to him expressing the appreciation of this council of the excellent work he has done for the city during the time he held this office and of the courteous and prompt manner in which he performed those duties and the deep regret of the council that he has found it advisable to resign."

Insurance Report

Alderman Wilson read a report of last Saturday's interview in Toronto with representatives of the Fire Underwriters' Association. He intimated an expectation that Peterborough would receive a new and better deal from the Underwriters in the coming year.

Mayor Macdonald congratulated Ald. Wilson upon the progress his committee had made and remarked "perhaps something has been accomplished."

"It was well worth while if we are getting a start," Ald. Dutton said.

Tax Plan Repealed

The tax prepayment plan of 1937 memory was bundled officially into the discard by the medium of a by-law, and another of those authoritative documents, the last of this year's vintage prohibits trucks from parking or standing on sidewalks for the purpose of loading or unloading.

"It doesn't say anything about trucks driving along sidewalks Ald. Glover said, and told of having a truck drive at least half a block up a business street sidewalk.

The council wasn't certain about how truck movements on sidewalks could be banned without drawing the order too fine or narrow, hence for the present the amendment stands as set forth to protect cement sidewalks, undermined by trenches for various service connections from caving in under the weight of heavily loaded trucks.

Frank Fairen Dead

POST OFFICE HAS 25 EXTRA MEN

Called in to aid in handling the huge piles of incoming and outgoing mail increasing daily at the Post Office, a special corps of 25 men went to work in the past 24 hours. Nine were added to the inside staff yesterday, and 16 were put into special service on delivery routes this morning. All are returned men.

Postmaster Charles Lacheur predicted to-day the volume of mail this Christmas will exceed anything in recent years. By this morning it was obvious that last year's record avalanche would be bettered. All hands are working at top speed with the object of having the Post Office completely cleared by Christmas night. In order to speed the handling of incoming foreign parcels, the Customs are supplying men for day and night duty on the Post Office floor.

The general public has heeded the "mail early" appeals of the Post Office Department, Mr. Lacheur commented. An improvement in the distribution of the mail volume has been noted, he said.

All five Post Office sub-stations in the city are crowded these days and giving capacity service.

WILFRID HUYCKE WILL SEEK SEAT ON CITY COUNCIL

Seeking to represent East City, unrepresented by a resident alderman during the past two years, Wilfrid F. Huycke, K.C., announced today he would run for a seat in the City Council on New Year's Day.

"I feel that Ashburnham is entitled to a representation on the Council and a number of persons have urged me to allow my name to go before the voters," he said. "If I am nominated I shall be pleased to run."

Mr. Huycke said he was influenced by Mayor Macdonald's appeal for new men in the civic field and the unusual situation resulting from the large number of resignations in making his decision. He stated he has been deeply interested in civic affairs and will go into the Council with free hands, a member of no slate and representing no specific group, if elected.

Son of the late Judge E. C. S. Huycke, 24 years County Judge, Mr. Huycke obtained a bachelor of arts degree at Toronto University in 1913 and then entered Osgoode Hall. His studies were interrupted by service with the Canadian Infantry and later the Artillery between 1915 and 1919. On his return, he was called to the Bar. He took a post graduate course in law at Harvard before entering practice of law in Toronto.

Mr. Huycke established his practice in this city in 1922. He was awarded his King's Counsel distinction in 1934.

LIONS ENTERTAIN MEMBERS OF BAND

Heaping plates of turkey were stowed away with gusto by 28 young members of the Lions Club Boys' Band when Lions' members played host to them at the Hotel Champlain Monday night. The youngsters were entertained with a fine program in addition to the Christmas dinner.

Eric Martin, member of the band, expressed the appreciation of his comrades for the leadership afforded them as he executed a presentation to William Stuart, band leader, and H. J. Parnall, assistant leader. Prize winner at the recent A.Y.P.A. amateur contest at St. John's Parish Hall, Jean Millard entertained with a Highland fling. Harry MacDonald offered a violin solo, and Jack Marshall performed at the piano.

President Fred Cripps declared the past year a successful one in the club's work as he addressed the gathering. He reviewed activities of the past 12 months and predicted a prosperous new year. Five new members were introduced. They were Herbert Jamieson, Tony Johnston, J. E. Girven, J. R. Londerville and L. D. Foster.

Acknowledgment of the club's contribution to the local Western Relief effort from James Dutton, committee chairman, was read. The club announced $2 had been received anonymously to be devoted to the Boys' Band work. Arrangements for the club dance on New Year's Eve are progressing, it was reported. Admission to the dance will be by invitation only.

Magistrate Favors Cancelling Permits

Bruce Spence was placed on suspended sentence for one year and was ordered to pay court costs amounting to sixteen dollars, when he entered a plea of guilty to a reckless driving charge before Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., this morning. He was represented by W. B. Gordon, who urged the accused had made restitution for all damages in connection with an accident on September 18 in which he was involved at the intersection of Aylmer and Hunter Streets, and which resulted in injury to Mrs. Dorothy Coons. Counsel further urged that because the accused was employed as a truck driver with The York Trading Company, the Magistrate might exercise leniency if he considered suspending Spence's driving licepse. Declaring that the power of suspension rested with the Motor Vehicles Branch of the Ontario Department of Highways, His Worship promised to make a recommendation to the Department in his official returns bearing on the case. His Worship expressed the opinion, however, "I have not much sympathy with chaps who are careless in their driving. I feel one of the best features of punishment for this type of offence is the cancellation of driving licenses."

Election Procedure Is Tangled When Come To Voting For Aldermen

City Clerk Armstrong turned up last night another regulation that applies to the municipal elections on New Year's Day. According to the special statute applying peculiarly to the ratepayers of Peterborough, electors must vote for four aldermanic candidates. This year you vote for four of the candidates for the two year term as aldermen, and of the aldermanic candidates for the three vacant one year posts you can suit yourself, vote for one, two or three. So this year there is something definitely new for the ratepayers. To make their ballots valid, they must vote for four of the candidates for two years, and you needn't vote for any of the men or possibly women who are seeking one year terms? That means you can vote for four, five, six or seven aldermanic candidates as you wish.

Nominations for aldermen are from 7 to 8 pm. Thursday evening next, and the nomination for Mayor, Board of Education and Utilities Commission are received in the council chamber the same day, Thursday, December 23, between 10 and 11 a.m.

Growing Disregard By The Citizens For Holidays That Are Proclaimed

"It is unfortunate that when holidays are proclaimed they are not observed," Alderman Dutton commented at Monday night's special meeting of the Council in regard to the celebration of special holidays that may be announced at times. "We are getting to the condition where people please themselves."

The Council was briefly discussing the advisability of making the Monday after Christmas a public holiday. Aldermen Cotton and Glover said that with two Saturday holidays in a week men who were working for a daily wage could not afford another holiday in the intervening week. Ald. Dutton's suggestion was to the effect that the Council refrain from taking action on account of the growing disregard of the people for holidays that are officially proclaimed, but are not statutory holidays.

CLOSING OF LOCAL MAIL.

All mail for local delivery should be mailed at the Post Office not later than Tuesday, December 21, to be delivered by Christmas.

Peterborough had a distinguished visitor this morning in the person of Professor Stephen Leacock of Montreal, famous Canadian humorist who stopped over between trains and had breakfast at the Empress. He was enroute to his old home at Orillia for Christmas.

SEPARATE SCHOOL NOMINATIONS

Nominations for the Separate School Board will be held at St. Peter's School on Monday, December 27. If an election should be necessary it will be held on New Year's Day.

ALDERMANIC POSSIBILITIES

There are rumors that there is to be quite a field for the one-year aldermanic contest. Reports have it that former alderman J. D. Fitzpatrick and possibly Ald. R. M. Glover and James Dutton will go to the post for the twelve-month term instead of for the two-year tenure of office.

ANOTHER OLD COIN

Commenting on the finding of an old coin as reported in The Examiner on Monday H. P. White said today that recently while repairing the building at the corner of Bethune and King street he discovered a copper coin exactly 100 years old. It was issued in the reign of William IV, apparently just a few months before Queen Victoria came to the throne.

SEAMSTRESSES WANTED.

Acknowledging the valuable aid that was given by needlewomen throughout the city in response to his last appeal, Fire Chief George Gimblett still has some more dolls in the firemen's toy repair shop that await clothing. So that the dolls shall be ready along with other toys for distribution to the city's needy children on Christmas Eve, the Chief is again requesting help. Will any needlewoman who wishes to clothe a doll, please phone 23, no fire?

HOUSES ALL OCCUPIED.

Agricultural Representative A. D. Runions reports Peterborough is not the only municipality in Ontario suffering from a housing shortage. He has been experiencing considerable difficulty obtaining a house at Kemptville where he will assume his duties on January 1 in the Kemptville Agricultural School. It is simply a matter of every desirable house in town being occupied, he states.

HEAVY VOLUME OF BUYING.

"Last week I was looking askance at the unusually large stock we put on our shelves for this season's trade, but by Saturday night it was evident we had not overestimated at all," a prominent George Street merchant said to-day, reporting that the current Christmas business is going to surpass completely the business total for last year. Buying is in heavy volume and has been spread out over recent weeks in a satisfactory manner, he said.

CHRISTMAS TREE

There will be a Christmas tree and party at the Capitol Theatre for children of the employees of the Quaker Oats Company on Thursday morning and preparations have been made for a big time.

HOCKEY CLUB'S DRAW

The draw for the prizes to be given in the draw held by the Peterborough Hockey Club will be made at the Capitol Theatre on Wednesday night. The draw will be made by Ald James Hamilton, mayoralty candidate.

LARGER PARCELS

Postmaster Charles Lacheur informs The Examiner that commencing last Saturday the postal regulations have been changed to allow parcels up to 25 pounds being carried through the mails. The previous limit was 15 pounds.

A PROFITABLE BUSINESS

As a sample of the extent to which the Christmas tree industry has grown, the experience of a local young man who finding himself temporarily unemployed at this season of the year, decided to try his luck, may be cited. He reports that he has found a market for 90 trees so far.

ANNUAL CHRISTMAS TREE.

The Peterborough Unemployed Workers' Association will hold its annual Christmas tree on Wednesday evening in their hall at 773½ Simcoe street. A program is being arranged and all unemployed are invited. Some weeks ago the association held a tag day, and since that time the women have been busy making things for the Christmas tree. Skirts for 32 girls have been made as well as stockings and sweaters for 108 boys and girls. The draw will also take place that evening for the comforter blanket and cushion.

CHECK PEDESTRIANS.

"Pedestrians must cross with the green lights" is to be the wording of signs over the traffic lights at Charlotte and George streets, in accordance with an idea proposed by Alderman Juby Monday night. It was agreed that too many people ignore the lights and cause confusion to motorists. An effort is to be made to have the people cross the streets only when the lights say "Go."

ACTING FOR CITY.

A resolution by Alderman Stocker, seconded by Alderman Dutton, at Monday night's meeting of the council, requested John Edgar, who recently resigned as superintendent of the Children's Aid Society, to continue to act in the city's interest in the disposition of a child born out of wedlock, whose parentage is to be considered in Judge Mott's Court, Toronto, in the near future.

IMPRISONED IN ELEVATOR.

Twenty-five minutes' imprisonment between two floors in the Barrie Building was caused the young lady who operates the buildings elevator by the city power interruption on Monday afternoon. The elevator was in motion when the voltage drop came and the automatic brake system brought the lift to an immediate and stubborn halt. The operator was alone in the cage at the time.

TO BE GUESTS OF CAPITOL.

The Capitol Theatre is to play host to the thirty members of the Lions' Club Boys' Band at its matinee performance on Thursday. Originally the Lions' Club itself had planned to stand the treat as a supplement to the Christmas dinner given the boys last night, but when Manager A. E. Cauley heard of the project, he readily extended an invitation.

PRISONER ASKS FOR SIX MONTHS

"You'd better give him a long rest, Your Worship. He needs it," a mother urged Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., this morning after her son, James Murphy, pleaded guilty as a third offender to an intoxication charge.

Perusing the Liquor Control Act, His Worship told the accused he was liable to a penalty of from three to six months. "Then I'll take the six months, Your Worship," the prisoner declared with a smile.

The mother's remarks as quoted above were made after the Cadi sentenced Murphy to 4 months' imprisonment. Agreeing with his mother the occupant of the dock again requested, "You might as well give me six months."

The Crown offered no evidence on a further charge against Murphy of assaulting and beating his mother and causing her actual bodily harm and the charge was accordingly dismissed.

MOULDERS DENY SUPPORT GIVEN

An official of Local No. 191 of the International Moulders' Union speaking to The Examiner Monday flatly denied the report that the Moulders' Union was backing the C.C.F.-Communist-Labor candidates for council.

"The claim made that delegates of the Moulders' Union met with other labor representatives and delegates from the C.C.F. and Communist parties to select a slate of aldermanic candidates is absolutely incorrect so far as our Union is concerned" said he. "We have taken no such action and we have never been approached through the proper channels to give our support to such a move, nor have we ever authorised any member of our organization to act in conjunction with the organizations mentioned in this or any other matters."

William M. Johnston arrived in the city today to assume his new duties as Canadian National Railways city ticket agent. Succeeding to the vacancy caused by the death of the late James Doran, Mr. Johnston was transferred here from North Bay where he held a similar appointment for three and a half months. He was formerly in the city ticket office at Toronto, and has a record of almost twenty years of service with the company. Mr. Johnston will be joined here by his wife at a future date.

Precaution Against Christmas Fires Is Urged By Fire Chief Geo. Gimblett

To make Christmas, 1937, as free as possible from the numerous fire hazards which are particularly associated with this time of year, Fire Chief George Gimblett urges that special precautions be taken with candles, electric wiring, inflammable decorations and toys.

Lighted candles are the greatest offenders, according to Mr. Gimblett, who brands as especially foolhardy the placing of these on Christmas trees, in view of the readiness with which evergreens burn, the intensity of the flames, and the suffocating smoke and gases which are given off. Approved electric lights, with wiring and connections in good condition, are advocated as a substitute.

Other grave dangers listed in Chief Gimblett's statement are the placing of the Christmas tree too near the fire, or allowing it to dry out in the basement after the Christmas season is over, celluloid or other inflammable toys in the hands of children, and the use of combustible or other than approved decorating materials. Above all, he emphasizes the need of free and ample exit facilities for children at concerts and similar events.

Local Selfishness Deplored By North Monaghan's Reeve In Address To Ratepayers

Spirit Of Sectionalism Is Vigorously Opposed By James Milby

Reeve James Milby deplored local selfishness and sectionalism in his addres sto about sixty North Monaghan suburban ratepayers at May's School Monday night. They were nearly all men who would be prevented by their work from attending the township nominations Thursday afternoon. The next meeting of the Ratepayers' Association will be held in Confederation School next Monday night.

Reeve Milby said he ha dearnestly tried during his five years in North Monaghan Council to represent all the ratepayers of the township. He was opposed to the spirit of sectionalism that would divide the municipality, and prevent it from receiving the benefit of concerted effort by all the people.

"The security and prosperity of the individual establishes the security and prosperity of the whole mass of the people," Reeve Milby said. In referring to the suburban school problem, he said: "What would be the good of having a township school board, as has been sometimes proposed, when it would not relieve the taxpayers within No 2 section and only add to the burden of the ratepayers outside this section? The man for whom I have the most sympathy is the farmer who lives in this No. 2 school section. The farmers elsewhere in the township are not so badly off, and that applies by contrast at least to the people in the suburban area; but I think the farmers in this section are hit pretty hard."

A Solution Difficult

Mr. Milby said the Metropolitan School Plan could be used only where the population exceeded 100,000, and for those reasons it was difficult to get a solution of the school financing problem. "Some other way must be found," Reeve Milby said.

In an address of about an hour and a half, he explained every phase of the municipality's affairs, including such topics as street lighting, paving, curbs and drainage, assumption of county roads, relations with the county, relief matters and so on. More than 800 cubic yards of gravel had been distributed over township roads this year, Mr. Milby said, and it was generally acknowledged that North Monaghan roads were in good condition, and the same was true of the treasury report, which would be announced Thursday.

Next Monday night's meeting will consider the results of the nominations, and it was stated that some of the rural candidates would be recommended to the association, providing their record impresses the suburban ratepayers. Only paid-up members can vote at meetings, and the fee is 25 cents a month.

CHANGE SYSTEM NAMING JUDGES

"Law is always made in terms of what life has meant to those who make the law" was the text of Dr. A. S. H. Hill's lecture to the Workers' Educational Association at the Collegiate Institute Monday night on the subject of judiciary systems.

In some places, including 40 of the States of the American Union, judges are elected by popular vote, Dr. Hill said the British system of appointment was the preferable. Canada's system is modelled on that of the Mother Country. Nomination of judges is now in the hands of the federal Minister of Justice. Dr. Hill suggested as an improvement nomination by a standing committee of judges empowered to make recommendations to the Minister of Justice for appointment by him. Canada's system would compare very favorably with the best system found anywhere else in the world, Dr. Hill said. He regarded it as better than that of France where judges are appointed indirectly by the people through the decision of the elected legislative assembly.

FAREWELL DINNER IS BEING PLANNED FOR ART RUNIONS

Plans for a farewell dinner to Arthur D. Runions, representative in Peterborough county of the Ontario Department of Agriculture for the last four years, were outlined at a meeting Saturday night under the sponsorship of the county council, Reeve James Milby of North Monaghan, informed the Examiner today. Details of the program have been transferred to the junior farmers, that group of youths of this county who will probably never forget the instructions and stimulus in agriculture they have received from Mr. Runions.

It is expected that all the farm organizations in the county will be represented at the dinner which will be held on Thursday December 30, The date is the only definite announcement Reeve Milby could make. Nothing has been decided about the place where the dinner will be held, but further information will be forthcoming in the near future.

WANT CHRISTMAS CLOTHES

CALGARY, Dec 21.—(CP).— Refusal of Calgary City Council to grant a special Christmas clothing allowance to relief recipients caused a brief but lively demonstration in the council chamber to-day.

Police were summoned but when officers dashed into the city hall peace had been restored. Police stood guard for 15 minutes and then departed. Relief recipients, many of whom attended the council session, took part in the noisy demonstration.

Railway cranes and wrecking crews are removing the splintered coaches from the line.

NAB RUM-RUNNERS JAIL FARM GROUNDS

TORONTO, Dec. 21 (C.P.) — Two men were taken into custody at the Langstaff Prison Farm last night after guards opened fire on an automobile from which they said an attempt was being made to "run" liquor into the farm. A third man, the driver of the car, escaped.

Shots from the guards' guns are believed to have hit the car as its driver saw the guards approach the machine, hidden near an old barn on the prison property. The names of the two men captured were not immediately learned.

While no official statement was given out at the farm it was believed jail officials had been on the lookout for runners attempting to smuggle "Christmas cheer" to prisoners. The men were caught as they were said to have been about to hide two bottles of liquor beside the barn.

Guards Eldin Matchell and J. Foreman overpowered the men while other guards made toward the automobile. The driver fled. The prison farm is seven miles north of Toronto.

It was sired by a Friesian bull eberkoop, the Netherlands. erkoop, the Netherlands.

An ice-packed Vacuno flask was flown from Amsterdam to accomplish in 28 hours the artificial insemination of a pedigreed cow on one of Lord Rayleigh's Essex farms.

DUKE'S MARRIAGE ALREADY CLASSED AS "MORGANATIC"

LONDON, Dec. 21 (CP)-Havas)—The managing editor of Burke's Peerage yesterday wrote in the Sunday Referee that the decision as to the Duchess of Windsor's rank "can only be settled by the King's intervention."

The editor, C. F. J. Hawkinson, also said the Duke of Windsor's marriage "may already be considered a morganatic one."

"We of Burke's place the Duchess of Windsor, by reason of the date of creation of her husband's dukedom, as the 39th or junior, duchess," the article said.

"We believe that she is debarred from taking any royal precedence by the letters patent governing the title of heirs, held by the Duke, in which it is clearly stated that neither his wife nor his issue can take royal rank."

De Brett's, also an authoritative publication on rank and titles, placed the Duchess in the eighth rank, the article went on, "that is, the eighth lady in the realm or the third royal duchess, ranking immediately after the Duchess of Gloucester and the Duchess of Kent."

Follows Her Husband

De Brett's had reached the decision on the "recognized rule that a wife takes her husband's precedence and that it is already established in the peers' roll that the Duke of Windsor is ranked as the youngest brother of the sovereign, that is, the third royal duke.

"Those are the two opinions. One of them is almost bound to be correct.

"Fears are expressed that the decision, when it comes, will make the Duke's marriage a morganatic one. Those fears need not be entertained for the reason that, as the Duchess and any children are debarred from sharing the Duke's highest rank of royal highness, they cannot rank with him or take the precedence of his highest station, and therefore the marriage may already be considered a morganatic one. This fact has hitherto been overlooked."

England received $23,365,000 in entertainment taxes in the first seven months of 1937.

Trade Centres Capital Stage At Year's End In Politics

Prospects For Pacts, Constitutional Reform, Alberta Dispute Add Spice

OTTAWA, Dec. 20 (CP)—General elections in three provinces and the numerous by-elections of 1937 left the political picture almost unchanged. Whatever crumbs of comfort might be gleaned from results of various tests of public opinion during the year would seem to have fallen into the Liberal lap.

Apart from the statistical aspect of the year's political history there were several developments of interest. These included new trade proposals announced in November, the move toward constitutional reform, the procedure dispute between Alberta and the Dominion and open warfare between Prime Minister Mackenzie King and Premier Hepburn of Ontario which was raging furiously a year drew to a close.

Arising from it all some observers in Ottawa profess to see signs of a general election in the near future—even as near as next fall.

Against that possibility there stands the voluntary statement of the prime minister that late in 1940 would be the best guess for the next general election. He said clearly his party believed the people wanted a Liberal government as long as possible and that he was disposed to wait until the statutory term of five years had expired before going to the country.

Judged from results of the year's elections alone it would seem the prime minister had cause for his opinion. In Ontario and British Columbia heavy majorities enjoyed by Liberal governments were only slightly impaired in general elections during the year.

In Nova Scotia, where the Liberal party already held 22 seats out of 30 in the legislature, the general election returned it with 25 seats to five.

Conservatives, who won only 39 seats in the 1935 Dominion general election, received a further setback when, on Nov. 29, they lost the Tory stronghold of Victoria to the Liberals.

Thus the year ends with seven Liberal provincial governments, three of them with fresh mandates from the people, and the federal party's already record-breaking majority in the House of Commons augmented by one gain from the Conservatives.

Vacancies existed in two federal ridings as the year drew to a close but they were both in Quebec ridings which have sent Liberals to Ottawa.

Survey Trade Situation

In his general election statement the prime minister qualified his forecast of 1940 as the likely year of dissolution by saying "if nothing unforeseen occurs in the meantime."

Some observers cling to the belief that the "unforeseen" occurrence which may precipitate a general election will be the reaction in parliament and in the country to the tariff changes that will arise from the forthcoming negotiation of trade agreements between the United States and United Kingdom, and between Canada and the United States.

It has been officially admitted that in the negotiations between United Kingdom and United States the relations between Canada and the United Kingdom will come under review. Rumors have for some time declared Canada will have to abandon some of her preferences in the United Kingdom. These rumors have not been denied.

Conservative Leaders R. B. Bennett sounded a warning to the people immediately the proposed negotiations were announced. He personally carried his warning to Victoria in the final days of the by-election, but that riding returned a Liberal member for the first time in 30 years.

Undoubtedly the abandonment of any British preferences, if attempted, would furnish a major issue in House of Commons debate and result in efforts by the Conservative group to force a general election.

The Co-operative Commonwealth Federation made no headway in the year's election activities. In British Columbia the party held its own but failed to meet with any great success in other provinces.

Alberta's Social Credit experiment, centre of the world's interest, more or less hung in the balance. The party placed candidates in British Columbia but failed. At the first real test within Alberta, a by-election in Lethbridge, the government candidate was beaten by a Unity candidate enjoying the support of both Liberals and Conservatives.

A notable situation arose during the year when the Dominion government, exercising powers contained in the British North America Act, disallowed three Alberta statutes which formed a part of the Social Credit experiment.

These acts restricted the right of the people to appeal to the courts and gave the provincial government control over operations of chartered banks within the province.

Later three bills passed at the second special session of the Alberta legislature were reserved for the pleasure of the governor-general. These bills renewed efforts of the provincial government to control credit, increase taxation on banks, and provide power by which the government could regulate the publication of news.

Await Court Decision

Disposition of these bills awaits result of Supreme Court of Canada hearings opening in January, to determine generally if the powers of disallowance and reservation are subsisting powers within the constitution, and specifically if the three bills in question are within the competence of the Alberta legislature to enact.

A royal commission under Hon. Newton W. Rowell, Chief Justice of Ontario, opened hearings in November to investigate and report on relations between provinces and Dominion with a view to recommending what changes should be made in such relations. Constitutional reform is expected to be recommended when the report is brought in, probably late next year.

In the meantime the prime minister has asked the provinces to cooperate in an amendment to the British North America Act to enable the Dominion to enact and administer an unemployment insurance system.

Six provinces agreed but Alberta, Quebec and New Brunswick held out for more particulars before deciding, and New Brunswick declared at once the question would have to be settled by its legislature which meets early in the year.

It would seem that the prime minister's announced hope of putting this project through at the forthcoming session may be difficult of achievement, in view of the stand taken by these three provinces.

During Ontario's general election campaign, which ended Oct. 6, the feud between Mr. Mackenzie King and Premier Hepburn was apparently healed. It was opened early in the year when Mr. Hepburn publicly declared he was no longer a "Mackenzie King Liberal."

Just before the prime minister left for Florida in November for his long-deferred annual holiday, he was visited under circumstances of great secrecy by the Ontario prime minister. After 24 hours of mystery it was stated in Toronto news reports Mr. Hepburn had asked the government here for licenee to export power he proposed to buy from Beauharnois.

The reports declared Mr. Hepburn had been refused and that the rift between the two governments had widened. Neither provincial nor Dominion ministers made any public statement but neither did either side deny the truth of the newspaper accounts.

When Mr. Mackenzie King returned from his holiday Mr. Hepburn made a public announcement confirming the reports and declaring refusal of an export license was prompted by the prime minister's hope, influenced by Washington, that Ontario might be induced to alter its opposition to the St. Lawrence waterways project.

Mr. Mackenzie King's attitude was that no further export licenses should be granted until parliament had approved. He said the whole matter would be threshed out in the House which would also be furnished with all correspondence dealing with the St. Lawrence project and involving the federal and Ontario government.

Complete denials were issued by the prime minister of charges of United States influence and other incidental charges brought forward by Mr. Hepburn in the heat of a quarrel that had festered for nearly a year between the Dominion Liberal chieftain and his one-time loyal supporter.

As the year ended it was freely prophesied that the 1938 session of parliament would be one of outstanding interest and significance to the two old parties and fraught with tremendous possibilities.

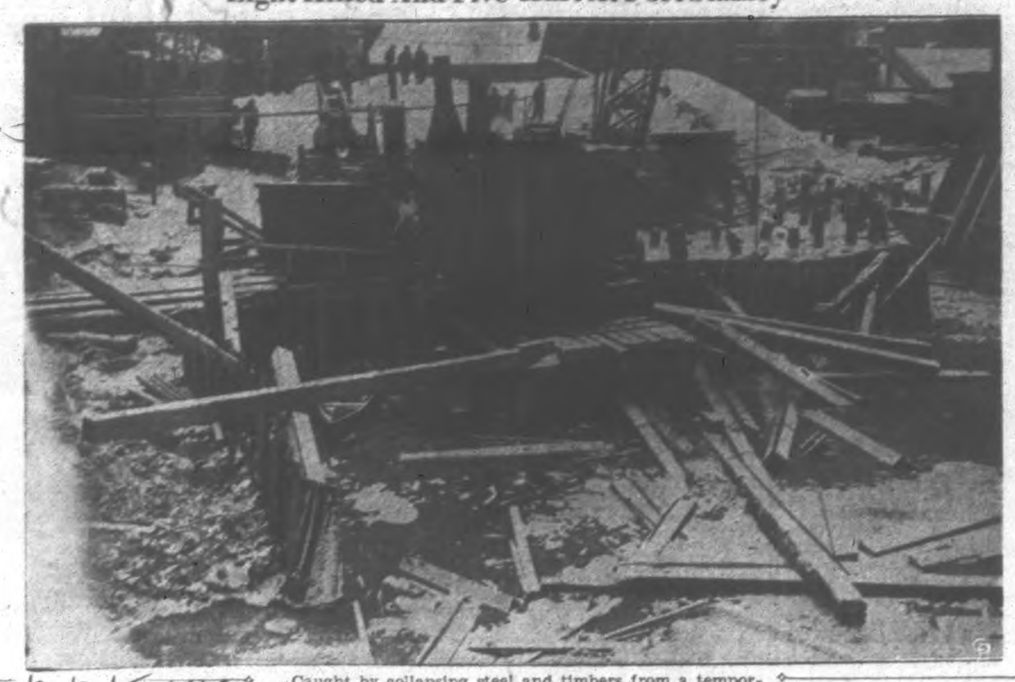
The two sessions of this 18th parliament since Confederation were marked by apparent harmony and a spirit of co-operation as between parties. Most noticeable was the small rift within the government party when certain pronounced free-trade Liberals warmly denounced their leaders for failure to reduce tariffs.

Victoria's endorsation of the Liberal candidate in November was declared by the prime minister as an indication that "the day of economic nationalism and economic imperialism" was past and that the sure path to prosperity and peace pointed toward international trade.

This was taken by some as indication the government would now adopt a policy of lower tariffs and even the sacrifice of British preferences. Possibly in this course it would heal the breaches within the party.

Budget forecasts point to near achievement of a balance between revenues and expenditures but even if that end is not reached there is believed to be little likelihood of any increase in the tax burden.

Eight Killed And Five Hurt At Port Stanley



Caught by collapsing steel and timbers from a temporary dam they were building to hold back the waters of Kettle creek, while a new bridge was under construction, eight workmen lost their lives near Port Stanley. The men were members of a night shift working on the project, a new harbor lift bridge built as a provincial unemployment relief work, and were killed by the falling beams and timbers of the temporary dam, or were drowned when the waters of the creek swept into the excavation following the collapse. A view of the wreckage, with debris floating on top of the muddy waters, and some of the huge shoring beams which fell plainly visible, is given ABOVE.

Death Duty Revenue Past Few Weeks Runs Up Near 5 Million Mark

Toronto, Dec. 21.

PREMIER Mitchell Hepburn provincial treasurer, said today $4,300,000 had been collected in overdue succession duties in the past few weeks and "I expect to announce in a few days the total will be $5,000,000."

A special session of the legislature this month removed sections of the succession duty act that had been assailed in actions arising from the investigation of two Ottawa estates.

Mr. Hepburn said he would give no information regarding a report a settlement had been reached in connection with the J. R. Booth and J. A. Booth estates at Ottawa.

"But we'll announce the $5,000,000 total," he said. "I wish the municipalities would realize succession duties are our main source of revenue. That's why we're fighting to keep them."

Herb Payne Agrees To Manage Intermediate 'B' Ice Squad

Bees Listed With Port Hope, Whitby And Oshawa In Strong Group

Herb Payne will manage the Peterborough O.H.A. Intermediate "B" entry in hockey this winter — the team having been tentatively termed the Bees, to keep them from being confused with the Pete and Colts, other local entries. Payne is a former puckist himself and an ex-manager of ice squads in this district, and was referee of the Senior City Hockey League last winter. Approached by the Peterborough Hockey Club, he agreed to handle the Bees this winter.

The team is in with Port Hope, Whitby and Oshawa in a strong compact Intermediate "B" grouping. The teams will play a single schedule this winter, starting January 3 and ending February 11. Second and third teams then have a home-and-home series to declare a finalist to meet the first team in a home-and-home group finals. Winner goes into the "B" playdowns. Harley Weir and Herb Payne attended the Port Hope meeting last night and helped draw up the following schedule:

Jan. 3—Whitby at Oshawa; Port Hope at Cobourg.
" 6—Peterborough at Pt. Hope.
" 7—Cobourg at Whitby.
" 10—Peterborough at Oshawa.

With winter apparently settling down to business, we'll just get Christmas tucked away for another year, and then be able to swing into action on skis. The first action comes on next Sunday, with a club run, designed to clear away the cobwebs collected on the great day. The locale of the gathering will be decided late, in the week, after a check-up on snow conditions.

Jack Holland is back from a three-day trip to Collingwood, where the Ontario Ski Zone conducted a Ski School, on Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Directed by Sam Cliff, Arliss Flint, Al. Wilson and Bob Gunn, the school was opened Friday evening with instruction films made at a famous Swiss school. These films gave the attending skiers an idea of what was expected of them on the next two days.

Starting at the bottom of the skiers' ladder on Saturday with examinations in running on the flat, hill-climbing, etc., and working right through, it was a very thorough test of all-round skill.

Of thirty-odd skiers at the school, Jack Holland, Peterborough Ski Club representative, who was elected at an executive meeting Thursday night to make the trip, was the only successful pupil.

He was given the standing of Certified Instructor, with an average of 92.5 per cent on the test. On Sunday he was given the honor of conducting a class of Buffalo, N.Y., and Owen Sound skiers.

So we have one of the very few Instructors authorized by the Zone body to teach skiing. Better go to Victoria Park tonight (Tuesday) at 7.30 p.m., and start learning proper technique for ski-control. The class is open to all, and is definitely good for your skiing.

By the way, some skiers will be puzzled by the reference made above to Buffalo, N.Y. It seems, however, that Buffalo is in the Ontario Zone, and the boundary line doesn't exist for skiers.

It is expected that the Jackson Park rendezvous will be opened this week—and with electric lights. Notice will be given as to the date of the house-warming.

And how about a Christmas present to the club? Sure—just drop in at 95 Hunter street, W., and pay your fees to Lahring Parsons.

Only For Experienced – This Youngster Tried It

King Winter sets a new stage for sports, and the browns and greens of diamond and gridiron are transformed into a snowy setting for skaters, skiers and devotees of other outdoor activities. Skiing, which has been growing in popular favor during the last few years, is king of sports across a wide region extending from the Atlantic to the Rocky Mountains on the Pacific coast. Stunting is a favorite pastime for skiers but only an experienced skier would attempt this manoeuvre, but this young man at Lake Placid, N.Y., seems to be having no trouble.

Heads Syndicate?

According to reports from New York, a syndicate headed by James J. Walker, above, former mayor of New York, has been organized to purchase control of Brooklyn Dodgers baseball club. Walker intimated he would have something to say, in the near future, about the report.

FERRARO FAVORS WIDE-OPEN PLAY EASTERN FOOTBALL

MONTREAL, Dec. 21 (CP).—Once captain at Cornell University, Chubby Johnny Ferraro surveyed his four years in Eastern Canada football today and urged that the 'leash' be taken from the game.

"Maybe I'm not qualified to speak," Johnny ventured. "People have criticized the methods I've used at Hamilton and Montreal—but it does seem to me there's something restraining football in the East and I shouldn't be surprised if the West had the answer."

Ferraro, one of the East's great players, no matter what they say about his strategy, has been criticized for going after touchdowns when his teams might have won games by single points. He doesn't attempt to defend himself against the charges except to say: "I've tried for single points when I thought it best, but I like open football and would welcome less emphasis on punting."

An "Ideal" Combination.

A galloping backfielder who can throw and catch passes, Ferraro calls the Western Canada conference rules an "ideal" combination of United States and Eastern codes. They allow unlimited running interference and the forward pass from anywhere behind the scrimmage line. They abolish the point for a kick to deadline while retaining the rouge.

"No Eastern official can be consistent in penalizing illegal interference because he can't tell where the three-yard limit is after a play starts. "Montreal's 1937 field captain declared, "but that's not my main point. I contend that three-yard interference is making potential interferers stop short without taking actual part in the play.

"I know the thrill of stepping up the field in American football and clearing a man aside. I also know what it is to pull back when I reach that three-yard limit—it means I am coasting when not carrying the ball.

"Leash" On The Game.

"I've said little out loud since coming to this country," he said. "I thought the game was adapted to Canadian boys and there was something to it they needed just as much as American boys need American football. But the leash on football here is stopping every player from taking a definite job on every play and isn't doing the boy a bit of good.

"It doesn't matter to me what system the East employs because I'm settled in business and don't care whether I ever play another game. However, without trying to slap at anyone who stands up for all the game's present good points, I should like to see Eastern football step out a little.

"You must admit they have something in the United States to draw such huge crowds week after week. And the West went wild over its new version this year."

SPORTS DAY BY DAY

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Caekle or Two

By CEC. PERDUE

JOHN DeGRUCHY, elderly president of the O.R.F.U., told his listeners at the big P.C.I. rugby banquet here last week that newspapers exaggerated injuries obtained by football players. He claimed it was no rougher than any other game—just a rugged manly sport—and that sports writers got excited when they saw a bloody nose and made the most of it. We agree that rugby is a rugged manly sport, and we have no kicks on that score. It is a good he-man's game and anyone who doesn't want to risk injury doesn't have to do so. And possibly Mr. DeGruchy is partly right inasmuch as scribes sometimes do exaggerate injuries, without intending to do so. But, on the whole, these reporters of athletics are fairly accurate. And we maintain that rugby is rougher than other games.

* * * * * *

DON'T TAKE our unsupported word for it. Just give a look over a few of the fellows who were injured on the P.C.I. and Orfuns' squads here this autumn as these teams battled through to Provincial finals. P.C.I.-ers had a tough season through accidents. Some of the stars who were out with injuries—a couple most of the season—were Al Clark, Duncan, Gee Clark, Kelly, Creighton and Craig. Al Clark had torn ligaments, Duncan a broken collarbone while most of the others were sprains and pulled tendons. Other P.C.I. players suffered minor hurts, such as cuts, bruises, etc.

* * * * * *

AS FOR the Orfuns, Mick Magee was out most of the season with a fractured collarbone. Bill Gerow suffered a similar accident halfway through the schedule. Ross Pulkinghorn pulled a tendon in his leg. Following the final game with Dundas in Hamilton, Don Henriren had to go to the hospital for a week with a bad cut on the arm which became infected. And Don Crowe has also been in the hospital with an injured back. Numerous minor injuries were suffered by the Orfuns all through the season, and yet they never complained of being roughed up unnecessarily by opposing teams. Every squad which they met had its own share of players on the sidelines through injuries.

* * * * * *

FAR BE it from seemly for a young squirt like this writer to pick an argument with the elderly and honorable Prexy DeGruchy of the O.R.F.U., but the latter can't laugh off these local gridiron injuries and say they were merely reportorial hallucinations! They were very real as these players, their parents and Coaches Bamforth and Turnbull will testify. Yeah, rugby is a rough game. Lacrosse and hockey have their share of casualties each season but the injury jinx sees much more action among the heavily padded gladiators of the gridiron.

* * * * * *

FIRST CALL to arms for O.H.A. prospective players here this season is Wednesday night (tomorrow) when puckists will have a workout at the Brock St. rink. Senior, intermediate and junior prospects—and anyone is a prospect if he thinks he can cop a berth—are invited. Got to look lively as the season opens in another week and coaches will not take too much time to whittle down their squads. Ice is good up there today and should be first-rate for this first official workout. The Hockey Club draw for prizes is being held tomorrow night, too, at the Capitol Theatre. With three teams representing Peterborough in O.H.A. competition this winter, an extra dozen or so players will see action in inter-city contests.

* * * * * *

HERB PAYNE has agreed to take over the managership of the local O.H.A. intermediate "B" team—which we term the Bees—for this winter. Herb used to be a goalie himself and has handled a bunch of puck outfits in the East Peterborough League. He had one team also in the O.H.A. playdowns, losing out to Whitby. Last winter, Payne was referee-in-chief of the Senior City Hockey League here. He is popular with the players and knows the game inside out. Herb expects to line up a dandy intermediate squad to represent Peterborough in the Lakeshore group and we wouldn't be too surprised to see this bunch of Bees even eclipse the Petes——of senior "B" calibre—in popularity. With Herb at the helm, the Bees will be a scrappy squad, anyway.

* * * * * *

AT THE convenors' meeting in Port Hope last e'en, Harley Weir and Herb Payne represented Peterborough at the drawing up of the "B" schedule for Peterborough, Port Hope, Oshawa and Whitby. With two O.H.A. games listed here for the first week after New Year's, the locals couldn't arrange a home opening in their schedule before Jan. 17th when Whitby comes here. It is a single schedule, each team playing here once. At the end, the second and third teams have a goals-to-count series, the winner going in against the top team in home-and-home group finals. Schedule, which is in tonight, winds up on Feb. 11th. It ought to be a right lively hockey league.

* * * * * *

TWO NEW rules in basketball this year may make for a lot of changes in the cage sport. One is to start play after a score with a throw in from the end of the court by the team scored on, instead of the jump off at centre. It is meant to speed up play, but is more likely to delay it, since five seconds is allowed to put the ball in play while 10 seconds is permitted to advance it beyond the centre mark. It used to require some four or five seconds to complete the jump at centre. Another rule governs face guarding, which permits almost direct interference instead of the former forced pretense of playing the ball. It may enliven things somewhat, but that first ruling doesn't sound just right. In fact, it tends to penalize the team which scored the basket by giving the other side the ball—and possession is practically everything in basketball.

* * * * * *

HITHER AND yawn: P.C.I. school rings will be presented the championship grid players in the assembly hall tomorrow morn . . . . Don Crowe is not likely to play much hockey for at least a month, 'tis figured . . . . They were skating in droves on the free city skating rinks last gloaming . . . . Max Swanston is shaking his head at all invites to run for the Council this time . . . . Roy Covert is second in scoring lists so far in the senior O.H.A. race—though the season is pretty young . . . . Scribes in those centres will shoot statistics around right and left in ye olde ballyhoo style . . . . Quinte writer, speaking of baseball, says: "Watch Peterborough next summer!" . . . . An Xmas card from Prexy Fred Dufton of the Cobourg Rugby Club bears the line—and we don't blame him—Intermediate "B" O.R.F.U. champions . . . . And the Blood and Thunder Loop can now draw up its schedule . . . . Local boxers are beginning serious training now for the card on Jan. 6th . . . . Fliers lost a 4-3 game to Perth recently due to penalties . . . . Monarchs of the Junior City Loop practise tomorrow p.m. at six at All Saints' rink and all players under 20 are invited to try out . . . . Starting tomorrow we will hold a 10-day New Year's Resolutions rehearsal—we think.

CHICAGO CUBS TOPS IN FIELD AVERAGES SHOW

NEW YORK, Dec. 21.—The Chicago Cubs were the best fielding team in the National League this year, first averages showed Monday. And, by taking that crown, the Cubs completed a sweep of batting and fielding honors that was strangely similar to the situation in the American League.

Both pennant winners—the New York Giants and Yankees—failed to finish first in either department as runner-up nines took the lead-off spots.

The Detroit Tigers led the American League in batting and fielding while the Yankees finished third in batting and tied for third in fielding. The Giants were third in fielding and fourth in batting.

The Cubs led the National League with a fielding average of .9751 and the Boston Bees were second with .9745. The Giants were third with .974. The Giants' strength, however, was shown by the fact that they made 1,964 assists and had 6.226 chances more than any team in either league. They were second to the Phillies in double-plays, the Phils making 157 and the Giants 143.

Gabby Still Top Receiver.

Individual fielding was completely shaken up with only one of last year's leaders, Gabby Hartnett, Chicago catcher, repeating. Hartnett led the catchers for the fourth straight year and for the twelfth season he caught more than 100 games, eight of them consecutive, since 1930.

The other leaders were:

First base—Dolph Camilli, Philadelphia, .994.

Second base—Burgess Whitehead, New York, .974.

Third base — Pinkie Whitney, Philadelphia, .982.

Shortstop—Billy Jurges, Chicago, .975.

Outfielders — Joe Medwick, St. Louis, .9883; Lloyd Waner, Pittsburg, .9876, and Terry Moore, St. Louis, .9875.

Pitchers—Van Mungo, Brooklyn, 1.000, and Guy Bush, Boston, 1.000.

Twenty pitchers fielded 1.000, but Bush and Mungo topped the list by accepting 53 chances each without an error.

Odds and ends from the records:

The Dodgers had the most errors, 217...The Pirates were the worst team in the clutch, leaving 1,213 runners on base...The Cubs were second with 1,136....The Giants left only 1,101....Ernie Lombardi, Cincinnati catcher, had thirteen passed balls to lead that division for the third straight year....

Al Todd of the Pirates, with no passed balls in 128 games, set a new league record, surpassing Al Lopez's old mark of no passed balls in 127 games, made in 1936....Jim Collins of Chicago, by having no fielding chances at first base on June 29, displaced the old record of one, held by himself and many other players....With no putouts, Collins also tied his own record made in 1935, while he was with the Cardinals....

Novel Worm Catcher Introduced

Dr. Carl Omeron, Los Angeles dentist and amateur inventor (LEFT) is shown here, demonstrating to his friend Don Wilson, radio announcer, the "vibrohelminthotator," a worm-catching device which he has invented. Three years ago, while Dr. Omeron was on a fishing trip, he was passing a high-tension power line following a sudden rainstorm. He heard the strange humming and crackling of the wires above. At the base of the tower he saw numerous angle worms which had undoubtedly been attracted by the vibration of the pole itself. With that in mind, he made the vibrohelminthotator, consisting of a steel rod and a corrugated wooden stick. When he puts the steel rod in soggy earth near a tree or pole, and draws the stick across the rod as a violinist would draw a bow across a violin, the worms come out, drawn either by a certain low hum or by the vibrations. The picture was taken at Los Angeles, Calif.

TROPHY OFFERED OMEMEE HOCKEY

(Examiner Correspondence.)

OMEMEE, Dec. 21. — The Hon. Bruce McNevin has offered to donate a silver trophy to the Omemee board of management of the skating rink. The trophy will be used for competition by hockey teams in Victoria and Haliburton Counties. Any team winning three times will become owners of the trophy. The committee in charge of the rink to have full responsibility as regards choosing date and arranging the program.

Needless to say the committee have much pleasure in accepting Mr. McNevin's offer, and are prepared to do their utmost to arrange a program satisfactory to all teams eligible to compete.

The Omemee rink has been completed and the board of management is getting it all fitted out to bring Omemee in a revenue in comparison with its size. It is hoped if the weather is favorable to have skating by Christmas Eve, although the official opening will not take place until later.

The Omemee Black Hawks will play their first league game on home ice on Wednesday night, December 29. The new ticket sellers, Mr. Harris and his daughter Patricia will be in charge of that office while Mrs. T. Forsythe will supervise the refreshment booth.

James Preston is doing his utmost to have a good surface of ice as soon as possible, as well as looking after the many duties of caretaker.

Veterans Closing In On Drillon In National League Goal Race

Johnny Gagnon Of Canadiens Advances From Fourth To Second Place

MONTREAL, Dec. 21.— (CP.)—Youth and age are fighting it out for the National Hockey League's scoring crown. Youth—as personified by Gordie Drillon of the Toronto Maple Leafs—is on top so far.

But age is coming up from under. Little Johnny Gagnon, one of those veterans who never seem to grow old, is moving right up in the standing. Monday night's official N.H.L. statistics show Drillon and the dartine "Block Cat" of Montreal Canadiens running one-two for the honors.

The young Leaf picked up only one point during the week, to run his accumulation to nine goals and ten assists. Old Johnny moved faster, getting three assists and stepping up from fourth into second place with four goals and twelve assists.

The Canadien, too, emerged as the league's best feeder of goal-producing passes to date. His even dozen assists puts him one up on Toronto's Red Horner, who had been top man in this department to date.

Another Habitant, speedy George Mantha, ranks as high man in actual goals with ten. This despite a week's layoff because of injuries. Mantha is in a tie for fourth place in the point standing with [illegible]

Point leader in the United States section is Cecil Dillon of New York Rangers, with eight and eight. (The official list given him one more assist than unofficial counts.) He's two points up on Detroit Red Wings' Marty Barry.

Official bad man of the circuit is Allan Shields of the Montreal Maroons. The defenseman has spent forty-one minutes with the timers four better than his teammate and runner-up, Baldy Northcott.

Jerome Herman 'Dizzy' Dean Is Sport's Biggest Disappointment

NEW YORK, Dec. 21 (A.P.).—Sports' biggest disappointment in 1937 was Jerome Herman (Dizzy) Dean, participants in the Associated Press's seventh annual poll decided on Monday.

The dizzy one of St. Louis Cardinals was in trouble, as well as the headlines, from January until August, when an arm ailment sent him to the sidelines for the rest of the season with his record standing at only thirteen victories against five defeats.

High-spots of Dean's personal record in the year reveal, why twenty of the fifty-three sports writers participating in the poll decided he was the year's biggest disappointment:

January, February, and the first two weeks of March—Dean ready to quit baseball unless given $40,000 salary for 1937.

March 19 — Signs Cardinal contract for estimated $24,000.

May 18—Involved in fight with Jimmy Ripple as Giants and Cards clash over balk called on Dean.

May 20—Fined $50 for fight with Ripple who draws same penalty.

May 28—Goes on "sit-down strike" in game with Phillies, taking eleven minutes to make three pitches.

June 2—Suspended indefinitely by Ford Frick for conduct "detrimental to baseball."

June 4—Suspension fixed at three days after Dean denies verbally (but not in writing) that he had made any of the derogatory remarks of which he was accused.

July 7—Suffers broken toe when struck by line drive in all-star game.

August 26—Arm ailment which has made him virtually useless to Cardinals is diagnosed as bursitis of right shoulder. Is through for season, having won only one game since all-star contest.

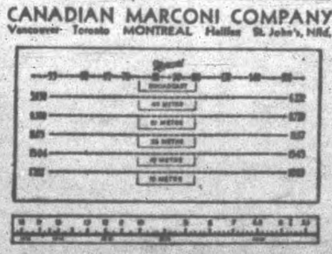
Band Spreading

TUNE IN SHORT WAVE as Easily as Local

Marconi, with Band Spreading, ushers in a new era of tuning ease. You don't have to hold your breath to tune in short wave. You have all the scope in the World to bring in your favourite stations in full, rich, resonant tone, actual "face to face" reception. Think what this means in added entertainment. Think of the fun in store as you embark each evening on a simplified "Marconi Tour" of the World's great radio stations. Remember, Marconi has everything — Ten-Station Automatic Tuning, Electric Tuning, exclusive Exponential Baffle and Band Spreading, the greatest forward stride of the day in simplified tuning. So why be satisfied with less when Marconi brings you so much more at no extra cost.

MODEL 118 A.C.
11-tube performance
This sensational set gives you 10-station Automatic tuning . . . "Fan-Spreading" on every short wave band . . . plus the exclusive Marconi Exponential Baffle at an amazingly low price. Gorgeously beautiful matched walnut cabinet. $189.50

MODEL 98 A.C.
6-tube performance
Covers standard broadcast and police band (530 to 1725 kcs.). Metal cabinet in colourful finishes. $32.95



Actually it is easier to tune short wave on the Marconi band spread dial than to tune your local station on standard broadcast. The reason is simple: on the new Marconi dial the standard broadcast band and each of the five short wave bands have separate scales as shown on diagram, upper left, each clearly marked and extremely easy to read. Old style receivers had one scale for standard broadcast and only one scale for all five short wave bands, shown at lower left. That meant many stations crowded into very short space, making separation and tuning very difficult.

CHAPTER 20.

It was early in September, and the languorous warmth of the summer season lingered; the women on the streets of St. Louis still wore their thin dresses, and the leaves which had fallen were a pale yellow, so that they lay drifted across the sidewalks like faint sunshine.

Lionel had made many engagements for me. We were to dine that night with Olga. "She asked all the crowd that we met at the camp. You are very popular with the Ogre, Jerry. She told Mimi that you were the only one who treated her as a human being and not as a stuffed doll to stick pins in! Not bad, was it? I didn't think she had it in her." He laughed lightly. Neither then or later after would he give Olga her due as a rather fine and intelligent creature. She had stolen his money. He could see no virtue in a thief.

"We go to Bernice's this afternoon for tea. Mimi will be there, and Stiles and Katherine and a lot of the others. They are all crazy about you, Jerry. Bernice says it is because you are as remote as one of the old knights in medieval legends. She insists that you ought to wear silver armor."

"What nonsense!" Yet I liked it!

Lionel surveyed me with a meditative eye. "I'm not sure that it's nonsense. You are a sort of reincarnation, Jerry. You have the spirit of another age. It isn't outside of you, it is inside. I fancy it's the result of the way you were brought up."

"I don't see that I am so different from the rest of you."

"Well, you are. Sanderson says it is genius. He told me flatly that I didn't have half your gift of writing—that I am a farthing dip to your torch. But I am not willing to admit it."

Was it any wonder that all this went to my head? That I was drunk with it? Swayed from my normal balance?

Our spirits were at top-notch. The whole world seemed to glow and sparkle as we whirled up at last to the hotel.

As soon as I was alone in my room, I called up Mimi. A woman's voice answered—a charming voice, but not Mimi's.

I asked for Miss Le Brun.

"She is not at home. Is there any message?"

"Will you tell her that Jerry Chandler called?"

Did I fancy it, or did a breath of coolness deaden the warmth of that charming voice? "I will tell her."

The hours that followed seemed to be empty, although Lionel took me to his father's club for lunch. It was an uptown club, and at this hour most of the men whom we saw were a leisurely group who had either inherited fortunes or had made them, and whose days were spent in killing time. They seemed creatures of another sphere from that in which dwelt my father and Uncle Jerry. They were well-groomed; middle-aged, most of them, but wearing their years jauntily: witty, traveled. Yet I was to find them a bit stagnant when I knew them better—for they touched only the nearest seas of the shores of life, and never sailed it!

But I was sailing it—with a fair wind and spread canvas—towards Mimi. My impatience to see her was almost unbearable.

After our luncheon Lionel and I motored through the park. Ascending a long circling approach a hill crowned with a stately building, we came at last upon a statue which overlooked the city.

And such a statue! Other centers of population may proclaim in marble the achievements of their patriots and statesmen and the glories of the past! It remains for St. Louis to set on her highest hill the figure of a saint!

Never anywhere else had I seen a thing so symbolic. Never anywhere the glorious reach of imagination which placed above the smoke and clamor, above the busy streets, the skyscrapers, the clanging trolleys—this knight in armor—leading men onward and upward beyond the strife and the struggle.

I was thrilled by it—and by the sweep from east to west of that midwestern metropolis where once had been the stockade of a trading post.

"I knew you'd like it," Lionel said. "I wanted you to have it on your first day."

It was there we met, my friend and I—in that lift of our hearts toward all that was beautiful.

Coming down, we passed a lake with swans on it, crossed a bridge, and took a shaded road overhung by great trees. And under the trees, riding slowly and deep in conversation, were two people on horseback. The man was tall and the girl's hair under her stiff hat blazed in the sun.

"It is Fuller and Mimi," Lionel said, and stopped the car as we reached them.

Mimi turned in her saddle and saw me, and a light leaped up in her eyes. I needed nothing more than that. Even Fuller's half-insolent greeting, "So you've turned up again, Chandler?" could not rob me of the rapture of the moment.

It was perhaps to punish his insolence that Mimi said, "I want to talk to you, Jerry. Andy, will you take my horse back to the stable? I'll ride in Lionel's car to Bernice's and meet you there."

Fuller laughed, and it was not a pleasant laugh. "Do you think I am going to let you desert me like that?"

"I am not deserting you. But I haven't seen Jerry for weeks."

Yet I could see that she hesitated, and her next words were a compromise. "I'll ride back with you, and Lionel can pick up both of us at the stables."

He agreed to that, and she waved her hand to me and was off. And then Lionel said, "She doesn't dare push Andy too far."

"What could he do if she did?"

"Heaven knows! Lock her up in a tower," he laughed. "She's afraid of him."

"Why should she be? We don't live in the dark ages."

"Well, she can't afford to lose him. Yet I don't believe she's the least bit in love with him."

I hated that. It seemed to smirch Mimi with a kind of worldliness which soiled the whiteness of my dreams of her. Lionel's words cast a shadow across the bright beauty of the day. Yet when at last we came upon her waiting, I forgot everything in the joy of the moment.

"I called you up," I told her, under cover of the noise of Lionel's quick chatter as he talked to the somewhat sullen Andy.

"I thought you might. Did Mother answer?"

"Someone answered who had a charming voice."

"Mother is charming. But I might as well tell you now, Jerry. She is your bitter enemy."

"My enemy?" incredulously.

She nodded. "Oh, Andy has stuffed her with a lot of things. That you are dangerous to my peace of mind and to his, and that you may

BEDTIME STORY

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY AND S. C.

All of a sudden the pile of leaves scattered as if a fire cracker had burst among them and out popped a jolly little man wearing a red suit all trimmed with white fur.

"Ha! Ha! Ha!" he laughed.

"Ha! Ha! Ha!" laughed Uncle Wiggily for now he saw it was none of the Bad Chaps hiding in the leaves to catch him. "Ha! Ha! Ha!"

"Ha! Ha! Ha!" laughed the jolly little man again and his twinkled as brightly as Uncle Wiggily's pink nose. "Did I startle you, Uncle Wiggily?" he asked for the little man could speak and understand rabbit talk.

"For a moment you did," answered Mr. Longears. "But when I saw your initials signed to that notice about not disturbing you, I sort of guessed who you were, Santa Claus."

Explains

"Ha! Ha! You guessed right!" chuckled the little man.

"But why were you hiding under the leaves, Santa Claus? And aren't you around here rather early? It isn't Christmas until Saturday, you know," said the rabbit.

"Yes, I know," said Santa Claus. "But you see there is so much for me to do this year—so many children's homes to visit—I came down from the North Pole home a bit early. I have been getting the presents ready—there's a lot of 'em there now," and he pointed to the leaves which were not altogether unpiled though he did pop out from among them.

"Did I startle you, Uncle Wiggily?"

"Presents under those leaves?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"Heaps and heaps of them!" laughed Santa Claus. "I sort of store them there to be ready for Christmas Eve, you see."

"Yes, I see," said Mr. Longears. "But why were you hiding under the leaves, Santa Claus?"

"To get a little sleep," said the little Christmas Man. "I am so busy, going around nights looking at chimneys, making sure they aren't stopped up, getting the addresses of houses where children will hang up their stockings or where there will be Christmas trees—I have been so busy nights I must get a little sleep by day."

"I should think so," agreed Uncle Wiggily.

"And it would never do for me to be seen by daylight, or by the children before Christmas," said Santa Claus.

"Oh, no, never!" agreed Mr. Longears. "But weren't you afraid of catching cold sleeping under a pile of leaves that had snow on?"

Hid from Bunty

"I have my warm suit on," laughed the jolly little man. "I was waking up when you and Baby Bunty were here before," he said. "I peeked through the leaves and saw you and heard you talking. I was afraid Bunty might poke in the leaves and see me."

"All she could think of was Bad Chaps!" said Mr. Longears. "And when the wind blew rustling leaves after us Bunty thought she was being chased."

"That was funny!" laughed Santa Claus. "Well, it will soon be dark now," he went on, "so I may as well stay awake and then I will start around again inspecting chimneys. I suppose yours is all right, Uncle Wiggily?"

"Yes, indeed, my chimney is all ready for you and Christmas," said the rabbit gentleman. "Well, I'll hop back to my bungalow."

"I'll be seeing you!" chuckled Santa Claus, waving his hand.

"That's right—it won't be long now," laughed Mr. Longears.

So, having solved the mystery, away hopped Mr. Longears while Santa Claus, carefully covering the presents with more leaves, got ready to go look down chimneys.

And if the rye bread doesn't try to use the Swiss cheese for a Christmas stocking, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's wreaths.

ROBERT BINGHAM U.S. AMBASSADOR TO BRITAIN, DIES

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Dec. 21 (AP). —A special railway car bore the body of Robert Bingham home to Louisville for burial to-day at the scene where an achieved fame as a newspaper publisher before becoming United States Ambassador to Great Britain.

The Department of War, at the request of the State Department, sent four troops of dismounted cavalry from Fort Knox, Ky., to act as an escort of honor for the 66-year-old envoy at the private burial in Cave Hill Cemetery.

Sir Ronald Lindsay, British Ambassador to the United States and bearer to Mrs. Bingham of expressions of condolence from King George and Queen Elizabeth as well as British Government officials, boarded the train at Washington.

Meanwhile attention was turned to the choice of a successor to Bingham.

In Washington, there were prospects the expected nomination of Joseph P. Kennedy, chairman of the Maritime Commission, would meet with ready approval by the Senate. Members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee were quick to commend Kennedy.
